POST-WAR social and economic disturbances have, as always, stimulated immigration. Far pastures always appear greener. Every London agency for emigrants has long waiting lists of U.K. subjects eager to try their luck and exercise their skills in the Dominions.

At this point of time the U.K. Government is not encouraging emigration on any large scale. It cannot afford to do so. There is no surplus labor pool in the U.K. during these present years of reconstruction, quite the contrary. The future, of course, is obscure. Whether or no Britain is over-populated, under-populated, or adjusted in population equilibrium depends on various uncertain factors of which one is whether or no Britain can regain its former industrial supremacy.

One major point in the question that is invariably ignored, however, demands expansion. That is immigration into the U.K. Britain may appear a land of oppression and hopeless frustration to its native-born who long for broader fields. To some of the King's other subjects "beyond the seas" it is still the "Old Land", with a way of life whose appeal is bred into the bones of large masses of Commonwealth and Colonial citizens. Thus British migration is not entirely outward bound; there is always an ebb and flow within the Commonwealth and Empire.

In 1924, for example, some 155,000 U.K. subjects emigrated, while 64,000 British nationals arrived to stay, leaving an outward balance of 91,000. That balance, however, declined throughout the next decade. By 1930 there was only a difference of 26,000 outward, while the following year it had been reversed into an inward balance of 37,000. In 1932 the inward balance was 48,607, and only slowly declined as employment conditions in the U.S. and Dominions bettered. As late as 1939, however, there was still an inward balance of 6,500 British nationals. In the first six months of 1947, some 43,000 British citizens returned to Britain and 88,000 emigrated.

These comparative statistics suggest a number of interesting themes on immigration. Only one, perhaps, now requires emphasis: the interchange of populations within the Commonwealth is not only one way.

Why Does The Woodpecker . . . ?

(THE LONDON TIMES)

IN our very earliest youth, when we were dragged or driven out for a walk along a country road, our reluctant progress (why did grown-ups always refer to a walk as "a nice walk"? It was the very last epithet we would have chosen) was often accompanied by an eerie humming.

This came, we soon discovered, from the telegraph wires, and there was for a time a school of thought which held the sound to be caused by the actual telegrams themselves, flowing along the wires magically, mellifluously, and so continuously that it was a wonder, when we came to think about it, that so few were ever delivered to our own home. Whom could the others be for?

We were the victims of a fallacy. It is true that the attempts of our elders to explain the process by which telegrams actually were transmitted were neither comprehensive, confident, nor convincing; but at least they persuaded us that the humming was caused by the wind. This stage in their education has not yet been reached by the woodpeckers of Great Britain.

These misguided and reactionary fowl have for years past been attacking telegraph poles, and the Post Office has discovered that the only way to discourage them is to silence the humming by lapping lead-strip round the wires and insulator in three spiral turns for a distance of ten inches.

Anyone keen on algebra (and who is not?) could, given the mileage of telegraph wires in the country, the average number of poles a mile and insulators a pole, the controlled price of lead-strip, the estimated woodpecker population, and a few other fascinating data, ascertain within the nearest million or so of what each of these birds will have cost the taxpayer before the Post Office's defences are complete. It will certainly be an expensive business. The only alternative is to persuade the woodpeckers to leave off by moral rather than material means.

What makes this task so peculiarly difficult is that we do not know the nature of the woodpecker's delusion. A telegraph pole has no bark and, if it is in sound condition, presents from the point of view of anyone wishing to bore a hole in it serious disadvantages compared with a dead tree; it is much harder to penetrate and much less likely to harbor the insects which are the woodpecker's staple diet.

This would seem to rule out the normal motives and leaves the whole affair shrouded in mystery, unless we accept a correspondent's suggestion that the idiotic creature is after a notional bees-nest.

It may be that the sound of humming, which to us seems soothing though slightly monotonous, has an opposite effect upon the woodpecker, arousing in him those feelings of indignation and disapproval which are excited in the devotee of classical music by swing or boogie-woogie and causing the bird to attack the installations from which the repulsive noise appears to come.

But there is nothing in the cry of the green woodpecker at any rate to suggest that he has a particularly sensitive ear. And it is best, really, for the layman to leave the matter to the ornithologists. They are for the and can be relied on not to be too hard on a bird who is perhaps only expressing his natural perplexity at being confronted, after many centuries of residence in the forest, for the first time with a tree that hums. We ourselves, it should be remembered, once found the phenomenon a little baffling.

In Praise of Plain English

CAN it be that plain English is actually gaining ground?

Last week a convention of Manitoba Pharmaceutical Association and Manitoba Retail Druggists approved a resolution declaring high school Latin is not an essential subject for pharmacists.

In some professions, Latin words, or technical or scientific words are necessary—for brevity, for clarity. There are also cases where a specialized vocabulary is an international language, making it possible for scientists, or technicians, of different nationalities to understand each other.

But too often these unusual words are batted around as a kind of hocus-pocus—keeping out everyone who hasn't had the benefit of one kind of education.—Winnipeg Citizen.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

NOW the first day of the feast of unleavened bread the disciples came to Jesus, saying unto him, Where wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eat the passover? And he said, Go into the city to such a man, and say unto him, The Master saith, My time is at hand; I will keep the passover at thy house with my disciples. And the disciples did as Jesus had appointed them; and they made ready the passover.

Now when the even was come, he sat down with the twelve. And as they did eat, he said, Verily I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me....

And as they were eating Jesus took bread, and blessed it, and brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat; this is my body.

And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, Drink ye all of it; for this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins.

But I say unto you, I will not drink henceforth of this fruit of the vine, until that day when I drink it new with you in my Father's kingdom (Matt. 26: 17-21, 26-29.)

The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ? (1 Cor. 10:16.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Wherefore whosoever shall eat this bread, and drink this cup of the Lord, unworthily, shall be guilty of the body and blood of the Lord. But let a man examine himself, and so let him eat of that bread, and drink of that cup. (1 Cor. 11: 27, 28.)

Letter To The Editor

LAKEFIELD AND POLIO

Sir,—There is a question in the minds of Lakefield citizens at this time, as to why The Examiner and some Toronto newspapers feel it their duty to give so much publicity to the fact that Lakefield has ONE case of polio; while there are rumours floating around Lakefield that your fair city of Peterborough have several cases of the same dread disease. If this is so, why doesn't Peterborough get the same publicity as Lakefield, so that tourist trade there will be knocked into next summer, same as here?

And why is it that bad news about Lakefield ALWAYS finds its way to the paper in LARGE LETTERS, while good news refers to it as a SMALL VILLAGE NEAR PETERBOROUGH?

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for space in your valuable paper, I remain,

Yours very truly,
GRACE A. YONGE

ED. NOTE: There are no cases of polio in Peterborough; this statement is made on the authority of the M.O.H. Never in this paper, or in a Canadian Press dispatch originating with this paper, has Lakefield been described 'a small village near Peterborough".

The Press And Trials

MAGISTRATE Moorehead of Port Credit, Ont., has performed a public service by upholding the right of the press to be present at a trial from which the public had been excluded. Defence counsel at a trial for indecency moved for the exclusion of the newspapermen. The judge, supported by the crown attorney, rejected the motion on the ground that the presence of the press is one of the justice.

The right of the press to attend on occasions of this kind is not absolute. It depends upon the attitude of the judge himself; for he is empowered by two sections of the Criminal Code and under the common law to exclude the public from trials for indecency. No reservation is made in favor of the press. But more and more judges, relying on newspaper discretion and good taste, take the view that the public should be represented by newspapermen so that there may be no suspicion that a trial is being held in camera to defeat the ends of justice.

It is particularly true in Canada that the press can be trusted to exhibit both discretion and good taste. Newspaper interest in these cases is not prurient. The concern of the press is to report the news accurately and the conviction or acquittal of persons charged with moral offences is news. Moreover, the press has come to be regarded as the trustee of the public interest, a position recognized by both judge and prosecutor in the case under discussion. Probably defence counsel felt the same way, too, but believed he was acting in the best interest of his clients by seeking exclusion of the press.—Montreal Star.

Four Youths Under Arrest After Hectic Crime Wave

TILLSONBURG, July 20 (CP).—Roused early in the morning by the sound of someone trying to steal his automobile, Ed Ebert of nearby Courtland found himself in the middle of a miniature crime wave.

After a hectic series of events Monday, police believed they had nipped the wave in its bud with the arrest of four youths. Charged with breaking and entering and with theft were Gerald Wigle, 17, of Windsor; Sidney Leach, 18, Windsor; Allen Pidgeon, 19, and Adam Dodge, 17, both of Tillsonburg.

Before the four arrests were made a gang had terrorized the countryside, two automobile theft attempts were reported along with an attempted holdup and an attempted armed robbery of a farm home. A hardware store was entered and five rifles with several hundred rounds of ammunition stolen.

The events started with Ed getting out of bed, taking down his rifle and going outside. He saw a man running and fired a tentative shot. This wakened his neighbor, Jack Pettinger.

"We both got in Jack's car and went cruising out on the highway looking for this fellow," said Ed. The two neighbors ran into two men with rifles who started shooting when they refused to obey a shouted command to stop. At this point Ed and Jack went for the police.

A posse of 20 men was soon combing the Oxford county countryside.

Reports began to come in of the various incidents. George Seres, a farmer on the edge of town told of slamming the door in the face of armed strangers. A cordon thrown about a patch of woods failed to effect a capture.

Then constable Ray Nunn spotted a man identified as Wigle. He had a fresh bandage. Blood on a broken window at the hardware store indicated one of the thieves had injured himself. This led to the arrest of Wigle, Leach and Pidgeon. Meanwhile Dodge was arrested outside the town.

Ed Ebert said later he wouldn't have missed the excitement for the world.

Three Leaders Active In Que. Election

MONTREAL, July 20.—(CP).—Quebec political leaders Monday night nailed further planks to their platform as the July 28 elections drew nearer. Premier Duplessis countered Liberal Leader Godbout's promise to make a taxation agreement with Ottawa and then submit it to a referendum, while Mr. Godbout said his party will dig into exaggerated profits of companies to bring down the cost of living."

J. Ernest Gregoire, leader of the Union of Electors, predicted that his party will win the election "with at least 60" of the 92 seats in the provincial House.

Speaking in Quebec City, the Union Nationale leader said voters should not trust the Liberal promise of a referendum on the question of a tax agreement with the Federal Government.

"Mr. Godbout has changed a bit," declared Mr. Duplessis. "His opinions teeter and that's the reason why today we don't want people who are see-saws running the affairs of the province.

"You remember the referendum on conscription?" he asked. "The people said 'no' but Mr. St. Laurent (external affairs minister) and Mr. Godbout said 'yes'."

In Hull, Mr. Godbout said his party will see to it that workers are treated fairly.

"I do not promise that you will become rich overnight, but I will say that after July 28 my government will dig into exaggerated profits of companies to bring down the cost of living," the Liberal leader said.

Federal Works Minister Fournier spoke on the same platform with Mr. Godbout. He said federal members of Parliament and cabinet minister did not enter the Quebec campaign without reason.

Tried By British

NUERNBERG, Germany, July 20 — (AP). — Top-ranking German field marshals long sought in the United States for trials as war criminals will instead be tried by British authorities, it was reported Monday. War crimes sources said they had been told that Britain intends to bring the case against Field Marshals Gerd Von Rundstedt, Walther Von Brauchitsch and Frit Von Mannstein.

Sees Honey Shortage

GUELPH, July 20 — (CP). — P. W. Burke, assistant provincial apiarist, Monday predicted a shortage in dark honey production in Ontario this year. The reason: the spring was sufficiently dry to permit farmers to plant their grain crops. Thus it was not necessary, as in other years, to resort to substitute crops such as buckwheat, from which honey is produced.

Nothing To Say On Resignation

TORONTO, July 20.—(CP). — Premier Drew of Ontario could not be reached immediately Monday night for comment on the resignation of John Bracken as national leader of the Progressive Conservative party.

Premier Drew Monday night was reported somewhere on the road between here and Gravenhurst, 120 miles north of here, where he had been visiting the Young Progressive Conservative School.

Sidesteps Issue

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., July 20.—(CP).—John G. Diefenbaker Monday sidestepped any discussion of a possible successor to John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, who has announced his retirement.

Mr. Diefenbaker, member of Parliament for Lake Centre constituency and mentioned as a possible successor to party leadership, paid tribute to Mr. Bracken and said he was in agreement with the latter's wish for an early national convention.

No man had worked harder for the advancement of the West and agriculture than Mr. Bracken, he said.

'Clunk' Watson Takes Charges Of Navy Group

HALIFAX, July 20.—(Canada's top pilot off a flight deck, Lt.-Cmdr. D. G. (Clunk) Watson, 26, of Toronto, came back to Halifax Monday to take charge of the Canadian navy's air group training.

Fair-haired, husky Watson is assuming one of the most important posts in the future setup of the navy's air section.

He has just graduated from the empire training school in Britain, one of the best advanced flying training schools in the world to which even the United States sends its best fliers to "top off."

Watson's record as the first Canadian navy man to complete the course and one of the few ever to graduate with a distinguished pass, was such that he was asked to remain as an instructor. But his Canadian navy commitments prevented it.

Clunk Watson's rise in the navy has been meteoric, but not without hard work. At 18 he worked his way across the Atlantic on a merchant ship in 1940 to join the Royal Navy and served two years on the lower deck.

At 23, he was the youngest man in the Royal Navy ever to get his "half stripe" making him a lieutenant-commander.

At 26 he is so crammed with flight training that there is nowhere he can go to learn more—except in the air. At the Empire school where the emphasis was on bad weather training, Clunk flew in slim Jet Meteor IV's, lumbering Lancasters, Spitfires "and just plain trainers." He joined the R.C.N. in 1945.

His back was broken in 10 places in a training accident during the war. Undaunted and with his determination fortified by a pretty nurse—now his wife—Watson fought his way back to health.

Avery Brundage Is Serenaded

ABOARD THE S.S. AMERICA, July 20.—(AP).— Avery Brundage, United States Olympic chief, was serenaded Monday night by members of the women's swimming and diving team.

The girls staged a parody called "Nature Girl," climaxed by a testimonial of their good conduct.

Brundage, who took the blame for kicking swimmer Eleanor Holm off the 1936 Olympic team over a champagne-drinking incident, beamed without comment.

The mermaids chorused:

"Oh, Mister Avery Brundage, dear,
"You needn't have a single fear,
"That strolling on decks with boys,
"We'll lose our poise;
"Not in a million years;
"We've made the team,
"Fulfilled that dream,
"So you can see — there's no glamor here."

Brundage Ready To Give Up Job

ABOARD THE S.S. AMERICA, July 20 — (AP). — Avery Brundage, a storm centre of amateur sports for years, says this is the last time he will head United States forces into the Olympic games.

The man who has guided American Olympic affairs for nearly 20 years and ridden out numerous controversies made the announcement with quiet informality Monday night as the bulk of the United States 1948 team neared Britain.

"It is generally understood," he said casually, "that I will not accept the presidency of the United States Olympic Association again."

Brundage has held the Olympic post since 1929. He was elevated after the 128 games at Amsterdam.

He has been re-elected at every succeeding quadrennial meeting. The next is in 1950.

"They call me a dictator," he said. "Every time I have been elected it was unanimously and I have been upheld unanimously in every matter except going to Berlin."

Brundage led a bitter fight to send the American team to Berlin in 1936, and won it. His foes argued Hitler was using the games for propaganda purposes, and that Brundage had made pro-Hitler speeches.

Lindsay Girls Too Much For Lakefield

Lindsay lasses walloped Lakefield 18-2 in a Girls' Softball League encounter at the Bowl last night. It was a poor game, too one-sided, and definitely too much J. Bryan on the winners' mound for the the Lakefield squad. While she gave up 12 hits, they were well scattered as she fanned five and had good backing throughout. Only on a few occasions did Lakefield threaten to score, and they finally got on the score sheet with a run in the seventh and one in the ninth. Lindsay, meantime, had rolled up an early lead.

P. Graham and M. Chase went best in the field for the victors, with D. Nichols and D. Hudson probably the pick of the losers from a defensive standpoint. J. Bryan led her side at bat with a triple, double and two singles in four official trips to the plate. N. Clements and V. Clements each had three singles for Lakefield. The winners drew a lot of free tickets.

The teams:

Howie Dalton Hits .500 To Lead Loop

Howie Dalton continues to set the batting pace for the Petes, as well as for the COBL, with a fine .500 mark in 15 games with the schedule two-thirds over. Fred Bidgood of Oshawa is next with a neat .423 average, while Tony Conner leads Kinngston with .358, and Kennedy tops Batawa with a .321 mark. Dalton has 30 hits in 60 times at bat, and has been leading the league since the start of the schedule.

While Stewart, Crowe and Starr are hitting well, they haven't been in as many games as some of the others of the Petes, and Larry Edwardson is next to Dalton in number of games with a .328 average. George Walton continues to hit well and has now reached .318 in a dozen contests. Foley and Mackness are improving but are just below the charmed circle yet. Electrics Hand A Reverse To O'Hallorans

O'Halloran soccer team were leading 2-1 against the CGE Monday evening but wilted in the last 10 minutes to lose 5-2 in a smart tilt at King Edward Park. Harry Pyle, O'Halloran's centre-half, was absent from the losers line-up and they played with 10 men against the full quota.

CGE settled down early to combination with Jack Chamberlain, O'Halloran goalie, being spectacular in saving his goal. Then O'Hallorans carried the play to the other end where Duffus battled hard to get the opening count but it went to the Electrics when Welland shot hard and fast and Attard diverted the ball into the rigging. O'Hallorans went right back on the attack to gain a succession of unsuccessful flag kicks. Then a dangerous foul kick proved costly when Murduff pulled down an O'Halloran player, Cribbis ripping a hot shot into the net for the equalizer. Thereafter O'Hallorans dominated the situation from all angles with Featherstone, Smart and Duffus harrasing CGE up until the interval.

On resuming, O'Hallorans still playing with 10 men against the full 11, outplayed CGE in every department to successfully carry the lead when Stewart broke away fast on the right wing to pass over to Duffus. He slammed a hot drive in below the crossbar. On the next visit he brought the CGE custodian to his knees with a sizzling drive. This was followed by Featherstone beating three men in a row, to split the defence and hit the upright. Suddenly an easy-going attitude caused the O'Halloran team to lose the game Quickly accepting the break the CGE started a close passing style of combination that finally brought them three goals within a few minutes. Strong, Electrics, landed the ball into the centre from a flag-kick. Attard, his pivot man, jumped high in the air to head the leading goal past Chamberlain. A rearrangement of the losing eleven climaxed a poor method of attack to let Strong make the count 5-2 with two individual goals.

CGE—J. Greenhorn, goal; F. Booth and S. Murduff, full backs; H. Steele, R. Wilson, W. Wilson, half backs; R. Strong, E. Cotton, F. Attard, J. Welland and T. McPhate, forwards.

O'Hallorans—J. Chamberlain, goal; A. O'Halloran and A. Downer, full backs. H. Stewart, W. Cribbis and T. Scott, half backs; D. Duncan, J. Duffus, A. Featherstone and C. B. Smart forwards.

Hugh Logan informs us that the Peterborough Golf Club course is in fine condition for the OGA district tournament Saturday. Hugh is club pro and has been working hard on this big tourney, which is being held under direction of Robert Abbott. Clubs from Central Ontario, Toronto and the local golfers will be entered, after good prizes put up for all handicaps. Well clipped fairways and fast, smooth greens will greet the galaxy of golfers starting out about 9.30 a.m. Entries may still be sent to the club to be forwarded to the Ontario Golf Association secretary, and post entries will be taken by Stan Payne of the Westclox.

Scribe George Carver of Belleville was thrown off the track recently by Ken Colling, an OBA man who should have known better. It seems that Bob Buntons, a Belleville junior, stepped up and played intermediate there, and then played a senior game with Batawa. The OBA executive stepped in and ruled that Buntons should not have played both intermediate and senior on his junior certificate, so they ordered him to finish out the season as a junior only. George thinks the kick came from Peterborough and advises the Petes to keep their skirts clean on use of junior players. As Colling told him that junior players can advance without release only when the senior club sponsors the junior club.

* * * * * *

No, It isn't Right

Stuff and nonsense, George. Ken couldn't have read the 1948 OBA constitution. A junior can step up to either intermediate or senior—but only one—on his junior certificate and play with either, provided it is the nearest club to his place of residence. And his junior club doesn't have to be sponsored by the intermediate or senior one. It's on page 20 of the constitution. All he needs is permission of the junior manager. The Petes have used a number of such players this year.

Couple of men's softball contests at the Bowl tonight, if the weather's right. Comstock's clash with the B-A bunch at seven, followed by Knights against Legion. As pointed out yesterday, either Comstock's or B-A will clinch a playoff spot this eve, while the loser still has a chance of being put out, provided Knights win their tilt. It's a case of Knights having to win their three remaining games while either Comstock's or B-A must lose their last three, Legion having clamped onto a spot already. Meantime, they're all after first place for a bye into finals, so the games are highly important as they pound down the stretch.

Ashby's Climb Up

Ashby's took over sole possession of third spot in the Girls' Softball League last eve at the Bowl when they defeated Marines 8-4. Earned it with good ball behind six-hit hurling by B. Reid. They were both loose at times in the field, but the Ashby bobbles didn't do much damage. Lindsay trounced Lakefield lasses 18-2, a tussle as one-sided as it sounds. Too much J. Bryan on the Lindsay hill. The schedule had called for Westclox to meet Lindsay, but a switch was made. According to the schedule we have, Ashby's are listed for two tilts tomorrow, against Woollens at seven and with CGE later. And the Friday setup has Woollens vs. Westclox and Lock Co. vs. Lakefield. To wind it up.

* * * * * *

An Industrial Softball League joust at 6.30 tonight down on the Brinton diamond. It's betwixt Marines and Woollens and the object is to break a tie for the last playoff spot. Over at Quaker Park tonight, Westclox clash with Quakers in the first of their two-in-three quarter finals, and also this eve Drafting plays Canoe Co. at the Woollens' grounds in the start of their quarter finals. These series have to be hurried along, despite holidays, as the loop is affiliated for Intermediate "AA" with the OASA and must have a winner by Aug. 15. The senior "B" setup has a couple of weeks longer.

Powdering The Pill

At the three-quarter mark in the COBL schedule, Howie Dalton continues to pace the Petes and the league with the willow. He's hitting a healthy .500 now and hasn't missed a game. The local club is hitting well, whereas Batawa, just a game back of them at this writing, is hitting poorly. But they're winning a lot of close, low-scoring games. The odd timely hit, plus steady fielding and good pitching, has paid off for them so far. We'll see how they do at home tonight against the Petes. Latter go to Oshawa tomorrow. And the Shoemen come here Saturday.

LAWN BOWLING

The program for Friday night has been changed. It seems that there is a ladies' tournament in Cobourg that day and as many ladies both from this club and the Port Hope club will be there, the committee thought it advisable to withdraw the Port Hope visit for one week. So, instead, this Friday night it will be men's doubles. Choose your own partner, fee $1.00 a pair, play at 7.15 o'clock sharp. Make your entry on the blackboard or give it to C. Mowry.

Tournament chairman, R. Gamble, has been receiving many letters from the visitors, who were here last Wednesday, rgard'ng the big doubles' tournament. Many nice things were said about everybody. We saw one of those letters Monday morning. It was quite complimentary.

Tonight groups 1 and 2 play, G. Black in charge.

Paul, younger half of the famous Dean pitching combination for St. Louis Cardinals in the 1930's, will work for the Browns in Arkansa, Louisiana, Texas and Oklahoma.

OTTAWA, July 20 — (CP). — A body recovered Monday from the Ottawa river at suburban Britannia was identified Monday night as that of Bernard Clairmont, 17, of Ottawa. Nepean township police said the youth apparently was drowned while swimming near the Britannia pier.

Marines Lose To Ashby's By 8-4 Count

Ashby's took over third place in the Girls' Softball League last night at the Bowl when they beat the second-place Marines 8-4. It was a slow game with a lot of errors, but the Ashby miscues didn't prove too costly. B. Reid pitched neat ball for them, giving but six hits all through and striking out seven. Three twirlers saw action for Marines, E. Whittaker replacing M. Hill early and then giving way to M. Connolly in the seventh. The latter allowed but two hits the rest of the route.

E. Simmonds and J. Reynolds went best defensively for the Ashby crew, all of whom went well most of the way, while M. Behan and M. Connolly were best for the Outboards. D. Callan led the winners at bat with three hits in five tries, and B. Reid clouted out a three-bagger and M. Freeman a homer. A. LaPointe got three of the six hits garnered by Marines.

Grafton's Triumph

Grafton's downed Nicholls Cartage 7-1 last night in King Edward Park in the first of their three-in-five Civic Softball League playoffs. Homers by Conroy, Taylor and Byers, plus good fielding and neat hurling by Riches, who fanned 12, accounted for the victory. Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Harry Psutka, 19-year-old catcher for the senior Intercounty Baseball League Kitchener Legion Panthers, said Monday at Kitchener he had turned down an offer to turn professional with St. Louis Cardinals of the National League.

Psutka said he made this desion because he's considering a professional hockey career. Rated a potential N.H.L. hockey star, he conferred with Toronto Maple Leaf Hockey Club officials Monday. He expetcs a tryout with Leafs in the autumn.

The Kitchener youngster played defence last year with the senior O.H.A. Marlboros.

He tried out with the Cards' farm team at Hamilton Saturday and was offered a contract then. He's considered one of the best players in Canadian baseball.

About 40 young hopefuls turned out Monday night at Toronto for the first practice workout of the Balmy Beach-Indians football team. The club is off to an early start to prepare for a three-game exhibition tour of western Canada.

Managers come and managers go in the National League but St. Louis' Stan Musial still leads the hitters. Musial dropped 11 points to .392 last week but his average still tops by 39 points that of runner-up Andy Pafko of Chicago. Pafko stole second place from the Phillies' rookie, Richie Ashburn, now third with .340.

Ted Williams' bat was resting last week but he coasted along well ahead of other American League hitters. Williams, out with an injury, connected for 102 safe hits for Boston and scored 66 runs in 71 ball games for a league-leading average of .388. Cleveland's Lou Boudreau was second with .359 and Al Zarila of St. Louis was third with .333.

Billy Conn, the fighter who twice met Joe Louis, isn't talking to newspaper men on his reported comeback but a boxing matchmaker at San Antonio, Tex., says Conn definitely is going to seek the heavyweight championship. Freddy Sommers said Monday that Conn told him in a telephone call from Dallas that he intends to spend next month on a ranch getting himself in top-notch physical trim for a return to the ring.

About 60 rinks from the United States and Canada Monday opened the Western Ontario Lawn Bowling Association's 53rd annual tournament at London, Ont. Rinks have entered from as far as Florida and California for the week-long tourney.

Professional golfers defeated amateurs 2 and 1 in an unorthodox golf game staged over a composite cross-Canada course by a national magazine, it was announced in Toronto Monday. One hole selected for each of 18 clubs across Canada made up the course. A pro and an amateur was named in each of the centres to contest one hole. Pros shot a one-over par 73 and amateurs potted a 75.

Joe's Pride, owned by Octave Blake, president of the Grand Circuit, trotted a 2.07 mile Monday to win the Will Gahagan Memorial Trophy at Saratoga raceway. Joe's Pride won the second half of the $3,750 Gahagan memorial trot named for the late United States Trotting Association secretary. Dunbar Bostwick's Gay Guy took the first half in 2.07 4/5.

Giants Showing New Spirit Rout Cincinnati Reds 14-2

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Leo Durocher is off to a splendid start in the toughest baseball job he's ever tackled: managing his erstwhile worst enemies, the New York Giants.

Preparing to tangle with St. Louis Cardinals in a crucial series with second place in the National League perhaps at stake, the Giants under Durocher have won three out of four games to pull up within half a game of the runner-up spot, now in a three-way deadlock.

Already he has his team hustling and running as never before this season. The Durocher influence was exhibited in Monday's 14-2 rout of the Reds in Cincinnati.

"You can't help going all out for Leo," one of the Giants said Monday. "He just generates fire. You know, all he said to me was 'go out and gamble on a play. Don't wait for me to tell you. Take an extra base if you think you can. Or try a steal if you figure it might work.' 'Remember,' he said, 'keep the other side surprised'."

Larry Jansen went the rout for his 11th victory. He permitted only seven hits, including Hank Sauer's 266th home run. That tied Sauer with Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh for the major league lead.

Move Into Tie

Pittsburgh Pirates moved into a three-way tie with Brooklyn and St. Louis for second place when they shutout the league-leading Boston Braves 1-0. Danny Murtaugh's infield single off the glove of pitcher Johnny Sain in the seceth scored Ralph Kiner from third with the only run of the game.

Although tagged for 11 hits including Andy Pafko's 16th home run, Emil (Dutch) Leonard pitched the sixth-place Philadelphia Phillies to a 5-4 victory over the cellar-dwelling Chicago Cubs.

Philadelphia Athletics narrowed Cleveland's American league lead to one game when they swept both ends of a twilight-night doubleheader from Chicago White Sox, 6-0 and 6-4. Dick Fowler, former Toronto hurler, pitched a seven-hit shutout in the opener for his ninth victory. He has lost only two.

Phil Marchildon, pride of Penetanguishene, gained credit for his seventh victory in the nightcap. He also limited the Sox to seven hits.

Overcome Deficit

Cleveland overcame an early 6-3 deficit to win an 11-inning thriller from Washington Senators 7-6. A single by Bob Kennedy scored Larry Doby from second with two out to give Steve Gromek, the Tribe's seventh pitcher, the victory. Kennedy had saved the game for Cleveland in the last half of the 10th when he speared Al Kozar's drive with one out and nipped Ed Stewart attempting to score from third after the catch.

Joe Gordon helped the Indians with a home run, his 18th of the year and the 200th of his major league career.

Bobby Doerr slammed a home run off Fred Sanford with the bases loaded in the first inning for all of Boston's runs as the Red Sox defeated St. Louis Browns 4-1 at Boston. It was Doerr's 17th of the season.

Rain washed out a game between New York and Detroit after only one inning had been completed.

McDiarmid Tosses Off Local Player McRae

OTTAWA, July 20 — (CP). — Seeded players in the Ontario tennis championships closed in on one another today as the tournament moved into its second day with favorites meeting little serious opposition.

Top-seeded Don McDiarmid, of Ottawa, tossed off a local player, William McRae, in straight love sets after drawing a bye in the first round. Few conceded second-seeded Jack Hopkins of Toronto a look-in on the contest for the men's title.

Similarly, the women's Ontario title appeared destined for Montreal's Pat Macken, who moved easily forward into the women's quarter-final in two matches, defeating Pat Lowe and Desiree Keating, both of Ottawa. The first match went 6-3, 6-4; the second 6-2, 6-3.

Surkont Hurls Red Wings To 6-5 Triumph

By The Associated Press

Max Surkont, who 10 years ago was rated as a sure-fire major leaguer, is once again pitching brilliantly in his bid to win a mound berth in the big top.

The 26-year-old right-hander of Rochester Red Wings is the hottest pitcher in the International league at the moment.

Surkont, who has been up with St. Louis Cardinals and Boston Braves, has won nine games and lost only once since May 24.

He gained his fifth straight triumph and tenth of the year Monday night by pitching the Wings to a 6-5 eleven-inning triumph over Toronto Maple Leafs.

Ed Kazak's single with the bases loaded and one out in the second extra inning broke up the ball game.

The setback prevented the Leafs from taking second place from Newark Bears, who dropped a 3-2 decision to Syracuse Chiefs.

Ed Erautt held the Bears hitless until the ninth when pinch-hitter Frank Lamanna singled to spoil his bid for a no-hitter.

The fourth-place Jersey City Giants moved to within half a game of the Leafs and Bears, who are tied for second place, by nosing out the tail-end Baltimore Orioles 5-4. Trailing 4-2 going into the last of the ninth, tht Giants got three runs to win with Jack Harshman scoring the deciding tally on a wild pitch.

Montreal's league-leading Royals moved 11½ games in front by trouncing Buffalo Bisons 9-1. Frank Laga stopped the Bisons on six hits.

Find Short Hair Not All Roses Claudette Says

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, July 20 (AP).—With most of Hollywood's glamor girls, followed by a large portion of the country's female population, snipping their hair short, bob-veteran Claudette Colbert can afford to sit back and smile.

Claudette, who has sported an abbreviated hair-do these many years (don't count 'em!) has words of wisdom to the converts.

"They say, 'Cut your hair for the Summer because it's so easy to dress; just wash it and run a comb through it and there you are'," she related on the "Family Honeymoon" set.

"But," she added in a menacing tone, "short hair is more trouble than long.

"Unless your hair is naturally curly, the two or three inches of hair must be constantly trimmed and off comes your permanent."

The present Colbert hair style was originated when cameramen told her that she looked too severe with her locks pulled straight back from her face. Also, her brown hair photographed too dark. So she whipped up the now-famous bangs and bob and lightened her hair so it would appear brown on the screen.

Class Hatred Smoulders In Britain Still

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

When Health Minister Aneurin Bevan in a scornful speech said to him Conservatives were "lower than vermin," he lifted the lid on class hatred that still smoulders in many hearts in this country.

The war and ensuring financial upheaval has blurred class distinction. Ten years of comparative prosperity and improved conditions for the working class have soothed much of the bitterness. But in the mean back streets of industrial towns and pubs where miners drink, there is not much love for "Toffs."

The Health Minister said his "deep burning hatred for the Tory party" had its roots in the bitter experience of his youth when he was unable to get work. That experience—and similar emotion—is understood by millions of his contemporaries.

More Tolerant

The younger generation of the working people is inclined to be a bit more tolerant of the upper classes because they feel they are dying out. High taxation is steadily reducing the huge incomes which a few privileged families enjoy.

Some of them still live on a lavish scale but often have to draw on their capital to do so. They have little compunction about it because high death duties make short work of family fortunes.

For example: Viscount Hambleden, heir of the Smith News Stands fortune, left £2,900,000 ($11,600,000), of which £2,000,000 was taken in taxes.

The head master of exclusive Eton College took note of this new trend by contrasting the boys of today with those of the last generation. Few Eton boys now contemplate a life of leisure, he said.

"We shall soon be a nation of one-class—the middle class," an English business man recently remarked. "The wealthy are being pushed down and the working class are steadily coming up," he said.

He may be right but the process is slow. It is still a long way from the corner pub in London' East End to the exclusive West-End ballrooms where expensively gowned debutants dance with young men who have been known to sport stuffed humming birds in their button holes.

4 Break Into PO

TORONTO, July 20 (CP)—Police Sunday night scoured Toronto's east end for four armed men who broke into the Danforth and Pape Avenue post office and tried to make off with two large safes. The robbery attempt failed when a truck—believed stolen—carrying the safes crashed into a wall while trying to round a corner.

OUTWARD BOUND PASSENGERS of the Ascania, which sailed from Montreal, look on with interest as their suitcases are inspected by Rita O'Donnell Roberge (left) and Jeanne Leonard, recently appointed excise examiners for Canada Customs, who for the first time are wearing their new uniforms of blue serge and brass buttons. The first women to hold such a position in Montreal, Mrs. Roberge and Miss Leonard have the special duty of inspecting persons of any women suspected of carrying more money out of the country than regulations permit. They also assist the other customs officers in routine checking of baggage.

Report Limited Improvement In Duck And Geese Population

By H. DENT HODGSON

OTTAWA, July 20 (CP).—That canvas-coated character who gets up in the middle of the Autumn night to shiver in stagnant swamps will probably find the duck season and bag limits as restrictive as ever this year.

But duck hunters in some parts of Canada at least may find more ducks in their sights than they did last Fall.

Surveys undertaken jointly by groups of Dominion, Provincial and United States wildlife experts indicate some limited improvement in the population of ducks and geese in North America.

On the basis of these surveys, the 1948 regulations are being ironed out: Canadian regulations probably will be announced early next month.

Still Too Low

However, North American's waterfowl still are trying to fight their way back from heavy going which in three years—from 1944 to 1947—cut their estimated population in half. U.S. and Canadian authorities, working under an international conservation treaty, are expected to keep the clamps down on open seasons and bag limits until the birds make up these losses.

The conservationists stress that this year's improvement, where it has occurred, has been slight.

Some improvement in some species has been noted in Ontario, although black ducks are about the same. Reproduction of more northern waterfowl, extremely poor in 1947, is not as bad this year.

The Quebec situation is described as "fair."

Duck men, who surveyed more than 40,000 air miles and 10,000 ground miles in Canada this Spring, have turned cautious now that the ducks are on their way back.

Previously the U.S. Wildlife Department issues estimates of the duck population. In 1944 it was estimated at 125,000,000. This fell to 80,000,000 in 1946 and 54,000,000 last January. This year they are confining themselves to guarded statement of "slight improvement."

Get Better Break

Canadian hunters, fewer in number and hence less threatening to the duck population than their U.S. counterparts, generally get a slightly better break in the regulations. However, considering the relative difficulty they may have in transportation, it is doubtful if they bag any more game in a season than the U.S. hunter does.

Regulations, varying by district and established by the Federal Government after meticulous agreement with the provinces, gave the average hunter a 45-day season last year. The variations went as low as 30 days in some sections of New Brunswick and Manitoba and a high as 50 in parts of Alberta and other parts of New Brunswick.

Bag limit for a day was seven ducks in any province in Canada. Maritime, Quebec and B.C. hunters could take 100 a season, Ontario hunters 25, Manitoba 35 and Saskatchew and Alberta 56.

The bag limit was not usually a restriction, however. Most hunters found they were lucky to find their limit, let alone shoot it.

Labor Relations School Operates In Windsor

WINDSOR, Ont., July 20—(CP)—Earl Watson of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) said Monday night a proposed union labor relations school in Windsor probably was in the institution referred to by a St. Thomas speaker who charged a Communist school was operating here.

President of Local 195, UAW, Mr. Watson was commenting on an address to the St. Thomas Kiwanis Club by Stuart A. Muir, Kiwanis official. Mr. Muir said Windsor Communists converted a $40,000 residential building into a summer training school where young people were taught the principles of Communism.

Mr. Watson said Canadian Region No. 7 of the UAW had planned to open a $40,000 labor relations school at nearby Kingsville, but plans fell through. Workers were to have heard addresses by union officials.

Dead For 19 Years Murdered Man Buried

CALGARY, July 20.—(CP).—The body of a 66-year-old Calgary teamster, murered in March, 1929, has finally been buried.

Funeral service was held here Monday for Thomas Charles Hall, whose mummified body was discovered July 10 hidden under the back bedroom floor of a "haunted" five-room Calgary cottage. The body is believed to have lain in a shallow excavation under the floor of the one-storey, brown building for 19 years.

Two holes were found in the skull of the heavily built six-foot teamster when police were called 10 days ago by an excited owner of the cottage. He found the body while investigating a weak spot in the floor of the bedroom.

While the funeral was in progress, police continued their search for new clues to the murder, which they said may have ben motivated by robbery..

Among those attending the brief, simple service in a funeral chapel Monday were Hall's estranged wife, Mrs. Camilla Rose Hall of Vancouver, and their eldest son, Fred E. Hall of Cadillac, Que.

Find Togliatti Much Improved

ROME, July 20 — (CP) — Palmiro Togliatti, Italian Communist leader, severely wounded in an assassination attempt Wednesday, was reported "notably improved" today.

A broncho-pulmonary congestion that set in after an operation to remove two bullets lodged in his chest is "in regression," Togliatti's three physicians announced, while his fever is going down Condition of the surgical wound was described as excellent.

Togliatti was expected to be well enough to talk today to police who want a statement from him before preparing a formal charge on which to try Antonio Pallante, 24-year-old Sicilias law student accused of firing the shots.

The death toll of the 36-hour general strike which followed the shooting of Togliatti rose to 20.

Several thousand Italian troops with tanks were searching the lonely Tuscan hills near Abbadia for 300 to 400 Communist-led former partisans who fled there after the rioting.

2 Brothers Drown In Thames While On Picnic

LONDON, Ont., July 20—(CP)—Two brothers were drowned in the Thames River Monday. Their 17-year-old sister almost lost her life trying to rescue them.

Dead after a family picnic are Thomas Swindall, 11, and Raymond Swindall, 14.

Hearing shouts, Dolores Swindall ran to the river's edge.

"I think the log struck Tommy and he went under," she said. "I never saw him again."

She said she jumped into the river and tried to save Raymond, but was forced under and was almost drowned when the boy grabbed her hair.

Her father went to their rescue but was able to save only Dolores. The bodies were recovered later.

Two Workers Killed In Dynamite Blast

PORTAGE DU FORT, Que., July 20—(CP)—Two men were killed Monday by a dynamite blast which rocked a power-development site at this Ottawa River community eight miles north of Renfrew.

The victims, employees of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, were Archie Larocque, 51, of Brockville and Rheal Mathot of Vankleek Hill, Ont.

The men were working with dynamite when the explosion occurred, it was learned. Other details were not available.

Dr. James Harker of Renfrew said the men died of internal injuries and shock.

Dr. L. Renaud, Pontiac County coroner, ordered an inquest.

Report Forest Fires Being Slowed Down

SAULT STE. MARIE, July 20—(CP)—Forestry officials Monday painted a brighter picture of Northern Ontario's forest fire situation after recent rains and the efforts of hundreds of fire-fighters.

The big Rawhide Lake fire, north of Blind River, was reported being held Monday night and more men were sent to extend the patrol lines. More than 200 men are in the area.

One new fire was reported. Lighting was said to have started a blaze near Alona Bay in the Montreal River sector. Some 45 firefighters were reported to have the fire in check.

All fires were burning in mixed growth, mostly spruce and pine.

Dog Escapes Cage Fear Children Hurt

SAULT STE. MARIE, July 20—(CP)—A dog which tore the scalp off a one-year-old child was at large today in the Echo Bay district 22 miles east of here and searchers expressed fears it would attack other children.

The dog, a part collie and a family pet for nine years, attacked Donald Watson Sunday, tearing his scalp from his head and biting the child's face. The scalp was sewn back in place but hospital officials said his condition is critical.

Turned over to the Humane Society for disposal, the dog broke loose from a cage Monday.

Send Rescue Party

VANCOUVER, July 20 (CP)—Eight army and RCAF personnel, equipped for para-rescue work, left here Monday to rescue Dolores Dash of Vancouver Bay, B.C., stranded with an injured leg on Marlborough Heights mountain since Sunday afternoon. She was one of a party of four mountain climbers attempting to scale the 8,100-foot peak, about 25 miles from North Vancouver.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATIONS at Kincardine will be held from July 28 to Aug. 2, to combine with Bruce County Old Boys' Reunion, starting today. First homecoming was held in 1907, when the visitors made trip by water and were greeted by crowds at harbor.

Depression Ends For Priceville

PRICEVILLE, Que., July 20—(CP)—Depression which hit the little town of 3,000 on the south shore of the St. Lawrence River when its big sawmill burned down six weeks ago has been practically chased away.

Most of the bread-winners, dependent on summer sawmill jobs, were without employment when the mill went up in smoke June 2 but since then another mill has been moved in, highway work has been undertaken and a grant made for repairs to a dam.

Lionel Pinel, manager of Priceville's Caisse Populaire (Credit Unoin) told of the changed conditions Monday in correcting a report in which The Canadian Press said July 5 that the Credit Union had been pushed into a precarious position by the fire and consequent unemployment.

Mr. Pinel said the Credit Union had stopped making loans for a time but its assets had increased by $4,000 since the fire and now is operating normally again.

He added that the new mill, moved in from Ste. Anne Des Monts by Price Brothers and Company, Ltd., was providing jobs for about 200 men and by mid-week there would be no unemployment in Priceville.

Cavan Farmer Treed By Bear Near Apsley

William Hooten, Cavan Township farmer, while picking huckleberries on the Apsley plains was treed by a bear. Frank Ballantyne, who was picking nearby, heard the frantic shouts of Mr Hooten and immediately rushed to the rescue and frightened the bear away.

The two men returned to their homes safely and reported the huckleberries to be very good.

No Investigation

OTTAWA, July 20 (CP)—The Chinese embassy here is not inquiring into charges that Canada discriminates against Chinese immigration, a spokesman said Sunday night. He was commenting on a Nanking dispatch which said the embassy had been instructed to study the charges, made by 16 groups representing 35,000 Chinese in Canada.

Odorous Blanket Laid Over Portion Of City

Weather conditions and sewage have contributed to considerable discomfort for residents living south of McGill St., and their complaint can be summed up in one sentence. "When is the city council going to do something about the awful smell?"

It appears that hot, humid weather conditions of the last few days has laid an odorous blanket from the sewage disposal plant over the southern portion of the city, and Monday night five men were before the council asking for some relief from this condition.

The deputation consisted of Mel Holden, Joseph Kelly, Jack Drynan, Mel Leal and William Jordon, and Mr. Holden was spokesman.

Enough to Knock Man Out.

"We represent the residents south of McGill St., and can support our complaints tonight with a petition signed by more than 2,000 people if the council so desires," Mr. Holden said. "We want something done about the awful smell that is blanketing the southern portion of the city. It is enough to knock a man over. Those conditions do not have to be as they are. We feel something should be done now. There is not a health officer in Ontario who would tolerate such a condition."

City Clerk Outram told the Council the men were not exaggerating. "I don't know how they stand it."

Alderman Gordon Armstrong said the city is faced with the exorbitant costs of building every time something is considered. We will consider it in general business.

Most Unhealthy

Mel Leal spoke brefly describing the condition as being the same as having an outdoor toilet in the middle of the living room. He said there was a small baby in his family, and he didn't consider it fair that the child should be forced to breathe this foul air.

Later in the meeting, Alderman H. Dodds said the Board of Works had been flushing sewers in the area for the past three days. He added it was impossible to get a firm bid on a new sewage disposal plant. "I will check conditions with the engineer down there and see what can be done."

"It is a long time since we had a report on the sewage disposal plant. The city is getting bigger and we will be forced to do something drastic soon," Alderman Hugh Waddell said.

It was decided to ask the Toronto consulting engineer for a report on progress being made on the disposal plant plans.

Abandoned Car Hit By Train; Complete Wreck

A new-model car belonging to Jack Dane, Peterborough Recreation Director, was almost totally wrecked early today when the abandoned vehicle was struck by an east-bound Peterborough to Belleville train near Hastings.

When Mr. Dane found that the car had stalled on the crossing he rushed up the track to flag down the approaching CNR freight but apparently it did not see him and ploughed into the car carrying it 93 feet and depositing it upside down in the north ditch.

The other occupant of the car was F. N. Crowe, Hunter St. After the accident both men returned to the summer cottage of friends they were visiting located on the Trent River, about two and a half miles from Hastings.

The two men were visiting James Fitzhenry, Albert Todman, Jack Patterson, Sr., and his son Jack, all from Toronto. At about 1:30 a.m. they decided to return to Peterborough and started down the drive that leads to the Trent River property owned by Fred Snowel. Between the property and the River Road are the CNR tracks.

Dr. Dane later told police that he mistook the railroad line for the road in the darkness and started to make a right turn. The front wheels of the car became jammed in the tracks and the vehicle stalled.

Both men jumped out of the car when they realized a train was coming. Mr. Dane went up the tracks some distance to try to flag down the approaching freight, but he was not seen and the train continued on smashing the abandoned car.

After the collision Mr. Dane and Mr. Crowe walked back to the cottage and were driven into the city by their former hosts.

Myron Webster, Lockport, N.Y., one of the nearby cottagers spotted the wreck while on his way to Hastings, at about 9 a.m. and he notified the owner of the property, Mr. Snowel. Provincial Constables Emmett Crough and Gordon Langton were then called.

Engineer on the freight was H. Dawkins and the conductor Leslie Neil.

To Check Drains Into Little Lake

A request that all storm drains and surface drains emptying into Little Lake be checked to ascertain if waste matter is going into the lake was suggested by Ald. Doug Miller to the city council Monday night.

His request followed a report that Canada Packers was ready to tie in with the city sewer.

"I would like all drains checked to see if other industries or stores or garages are dumping waste matter. There is no use cleanig up the Canada Packers, unless we do a thorough job," Ald. Miller said. He told the council that the CGE had formerly drained some waste into a drain that emptied into the lake at Rink St., but this has been stopped by plant officials, and no industrial waste went into the drain now.

Acting Mayor Swanston said he would ask Sanitary Inspector Ronald McPherson for a complete check-up and report on all drains emptying into the lake.

Autopsy Ordered On Toronto Broker

TORONTO, July 20 — (CP) — An autopsy will be held today in Toronto into the death of H. Douglas Bellinger, 42-year-old Toronto stock broker, who died Monday at his summer home in the Kawartha Lakes region near Lindsay. Crown officials in Lindsay said the autopsy was ordered because the attending physician could not determine the cause of the death.

MAKING PROGRESS

Pete McArthur, popular employee of the Otuboard Marine Manufacturing Company is reported making good progress in hospital. He suffered a siezure while at his cottage several days ago, but it is not as severe as was first expected. There is slight paralysis on the left side but this too is disappearing. His condition is now described as a nervous condition, requiring considerable rest for a complete recovery, according to his father, Tom McArthur.

28-Pound Maskinonge Caught In Pigeon Lake, Season's Record

A new 1948 maskinonge record for the anglers to shoot at was scored over the week-end by George Christiansen, manager of Camp Cleveland, while fishing in Pigeon Lake. He battled a 28 lb, 12 ounce muskie for 20 minutes before he was able to club it and boat the fish not 200 yards from the lodge.

Christiansen and a guest, Roy Gammon of Cleveland were casting when the muskie hit, and Christiansen was using a 20-pound test line. The fish was a sulker ,stayed down close to bottom, but moved freely circling the boat twice. Last year an American from this same lodge took top honors in The Examiner-Lucky Strike contest with a 32 pounder, and this 28 pound fish leads all others so far this season.

His First Muskie

Fred H. Robertson, a guest at the same lodge landed his first muskie on Saturday. He and his wife were trolling along the weed bed in mid-lake when the maskinonge caught on. Robertson wouldn't shut off the motor, but kept going until the muskie was played out, then he hauled the fish in. It weighed exactly 12 pounds.

J. G. Maconnachie, 2A Bushell Ave., Toronto, landed a 5-lb, 2-ounce small-mouth back bass at Lake Chemong, while fishing with worms. It is the largest small-mouth reported from that lake this season, and was taken close to Fife's Bay. The bass was 22 inches long.

Gordon Freeburn and Wilbert Barcroft, 374 Downie Street, caught six small-mouth black bass on Sunday morning at Pigeon Lake, and four of the six topped four pounds apiece. They were casting from shore across a gravel bar near Grenadier Island.

Pickerel fishing near Hastings and in Rice Lake has been good. Mrs. (Dr.) Robert Swoger, Canal Fulton, Ohio, caught a 9¼-pound walleye in the upper Trent above the village.

Henry Hankett, Canton, Ohio, got his limit two days in a row, and Ollie Herman, Massillon, Ohio, got a nice string of walleyes including one weighing eight pounds.

Political Life Great Strain

"I am extremely sorry to learn of Mr. Bracken's decision to resign as the national leader of the Progressive Conservative party," stated Senator Iva Campbell Fallis today.

"Any person," she said, "who is familiar with the extremely strenuous life which today is the lot of members of the House of Commons and especially of leaders of political parties, cannot be surprised that men of 65 years or more find it a great physical strain."

"I sincerely hope that Mr. Bracken will remain in the House as a private member so that our party may continue to have the benefit of his sound judgment and long experience in public affairs."

Shunter Strikes Truck Two Escape Injury

Two Carlisle, Ont., men escaped unhurt this morning shortly after nine o'clock when a shunter struck the left rear fender of their pick-up truck at Stewart and Rink streets.

The truck is owned by Royal-Eaton Painting Company of Carlisle and was being driven east on Rink by John Royal with his partner Glen Eaton beside him. A shunter working on the siding clipped the truck, just as it was almost clear of the track, crumpling the left rear fender, and shifting the entire body of the vehicle. City Constable Eddie Niziol investigated.

TRIED TO POST LETTER

"What's difference between a letter box and a fire alarm box?" asked the old professor.

"Why, they're both boxes and they're both red," replied one of the brighter pupils.

This little piece of imaginary dialogue may well become standard practice in schools of the future if people continue to confuse the two.

On Monday night firemen rushed to the alarm box at Park Hill Road and George St. only to discover a small boy convulsed with laughter loitering in the vicinity. When asked to explain what happened he said an old man had fumbled with it vainly trying to post a letter.—D.W.

Strangled To Death In Own Fishing Line

WINNIPEG, Beach, Man., July 20—(CP)—Arthur Allen Olsen, 13, of Winnipeg Beach was strangled to death Monday when the line of his fishing rod snagged in a tree while he was practicing casting. A merical report said he apparently became tangled with the line and suffocated.

DRIFT FISHING LEGAL

Because a Toronto newspaper failed to report in a court case the date on which an offence under the fish and game regulations was committed, considerable confusion now exists in the minds of non-resident anglers. The charge was drift fishing for pickerel on June 29. The case did not come to court untitl July 9, and because a conviction was registered, readers believe it is illegal to drift fish now. That is not true, drift fishing is legal from July 1 to October 15.

Level Crossings Surveyed; 55 p.c. Are Good

Level railway crossings in the city are generally in good condition, a survey taken this week by the Chamber of Commerce shows. Secretary Jim Fraser of the Chamber conducted the survey personally, and plans to present his findings to the railway companies owning the crossings.

Out of 59 crossings checked, ten were found to be bad, 18 fair, and the remainder in varying conditions from fairly good to excellent were rated as good. This means that 57 per cent. of the level crossings in the city are in good shape. Though the bad ones constitute only 17 per cent of the whole, they are extremely bad in most cases, Mr. Fraser said.

Soon Be In "Bad" Class

However, Mr. Fraser pointed out that the fair crossings, 30 per velled, and would probably soon cent. of the total, are heavily tradeteriorate into the "bad" class. He added that in many cases the roads leading up to level crossings are in bad shape, and as a result the railway is blamed for what is the fault of the city.

As an example, the crossing at Antrim St. is good, but on the east side, the road has several bad holes. The Argyle St. crossing below Civic Hospital is in bad shape, and is one that should be good.

Crossings through the central part of the city are good, but in the south and north ends of the city, they are either fair or bad. Ashburnham has only half-a-dozen crossings, and they are about half-and-half.

Visibility is generally good on the crossings, and on most of those on which there are obstructions, automatic warning signals have been placed.

Veteran Given One Year To Finish Home

A war veteran living on Chester St. in a garage was given one year to complete a house satisfactory to the building inspector following a rather war session of the city council Monday night.

This action was approved after Alderman Doug Milier had moved the motion, which was seconded by Alderman Hurrell Dodds.

John Hodson, south-end building contractor, was a deputation of one before the council seeking to have the building bylaw enforced in that section of the city. It was the fourth time Mr. Hodson had appeared, and this time he explaind he had come to find out what the council had done about the complaints from the people of that area.

Not a Particular Case

"What is your objection to this one particular case," Alderman Dodds asked.

"This is not one particular case at all," replied Mr. Hodson. "Several weeks ago, a properly signed petition was presented from the people south of Lansdowne St. asking that the building bylaw be enforced, and that people be not allowed to tenant shacks and garages in that section."

Alderman Armstrong, who was presiding at the meeting, which was the committee of the whole council, said: "We instructed the building inspector to enforce the bylaw as a result of your last visit here."

Hodson—"Is he going to enforce it?"

Armstrong—"Yes."

At this point Alderman Dodds interjected to ask, "Are we going to kick this man, a war veteran who defended his country, out on to the street because he can't build an $8,000 house. If it wasn't for him and a lot of others like him we probably wouldn't be living here at all now."

Hodson— "This returned man business is O.K. I had sons serving too, but I feel the council should treat everyone alike. That man took out a permit for a garage. II was just a bluff. Then he took out a foundation. I told you when I was here before there was something fishy about this deal. I can see you are still passing the buck. As a builder I toe the line and I expect other people to do the same—they don't. There is weak-kneed supervision, somebody lacks the courage to enforce the law. I am told the mayor gave this man permission to go ahead and build. What right has anyone to interfere with the authority of the council. I intend to keep coming to this council until I get a satisfactory answer.

'Has this man moved into the garage?"

Oh, yes, Mr. Hodson replied.

"I'll have this looked into within three days. Is thtat satisfactory," Alderman Armstrong said.

"Yes, sir."

Alderman Dodds was on his feet pretty fast at this stage of the discussion and addressing the chair said "I am chairman of the Board of Works, and I don't intend to see this man kicked out. I'm getting a little tired of Mr. Hodson's blasts. I examined this property. The man has dug a foundation for a proper house, and as far as that goes there is nothing to prevent him turning it into a garage. Possibly in the circumstances the bylaw has not been rigidly enforced. Still we should be Christian enough to allow this man to have a home. We are exercising enough charity toward people in Europe, and forgetting it at home. I am reporting at this time to Council, that the reason the building inspector did not put this man out was because I intervened, and I am ready to accept any responsibility in the matter."

Mr. Hodson started to speak again, but Chairman Armstrong interrupted and said 'Mr. Hodson, we have a very heavy program tonight. The question will be taken up in general business and every member will have a chance to speak on it."

"'Alderman Dodds is putting another light on the subject than what I am trying to show," said Mr. Hodson, "They stopped one man not a stone's throw from this shack, and put him out of his place. I say treat them all alike."

Mr. Hodson then left, and the subject was later brought up in the general business of open council with acting-Mayor Max Swanston presiding.

House Is Spotless

Alderman Dodds started the ball rolling, with a verbal report to his colleagues on the developments. "The picture looks a bit different when one visits this home. I went there with the building inspector. The house is spotless, the grounds tidy, the child is clean. This man has the basement dug, and has ordered the material to build the house He shows good intent, but certainly can't afford a six or 8,000 dollar affair. I urged the building inspector not to put him on the street, although the inspector pointed to the case nearby where he had carried out orders, and ejected another man. Right or wrong, I advised the building inspector to delay action until the meeting tonight.

Max Swanston—"The building inspector has a tough job. Some houses have been built in the past contrary to the building bylaw, but these have been few. This man had no other place to go, so the inspector permitted him to stay there. He admits probably he shouldn't have let the man in there at all. We don't want this to happen too often."

Alderman Doug Miller — "It seems to me Jack Hodson wants something pretty definite. I suggest we give this man a year to build a suitable house. Set a deadline, that is fair to all concerned."

Hugh Waddell—"Would that be acceptable to him. Are we offering him something he couldn't do?"

Alderman Dodds explained that the material is ordered for the new home. "I believe if he isn't in the house in a year we will hav to do something about it."

The Alderman Doug Miller motion, seconded by Dodds passed without opposition.

Alderman Dick Raine concluded the discussion on the house topic when he paid tribute to Mr. Hodson. "'I would like to commend Mr. Hodson for his stand. He is sticking strictly to the bylaw, and he expects other people to do the same."

Increased Hospital Grants Will Not Reduce Rates

Rates for public ward patients in Civic Hospital are not likely to be reduced following a substantial increase in the grants from the Government, John Marshall, chairman of the Civic Hospital Board of Governors, said today. No comment was available from St. Joseph's Hospital because the Mother Superior was out of the city.

When asked if the Board has given any consideration to reducing the rates for public ward patients, Mr. Marshall said "If we were to reduce these rates, then it would mean that the taxpayers would have to make up a greater deficit. People are not paying the full cost for such accommodation now, because the public ward rate does not cover the actual cost of bed maintenance in any hospital."

Mr. Marshall went on to explain that there is scarcely any burden on the public ward patient today because of existing insurance plans covering hospitalization. He reported that the Blue Cross program covers four out of every five people in the province, and that most industries have hospital plans for their employees. Because of this, the same urgency for reducing the rates does not exist today like it did ten years ago.

Personal Opinion

John Hornal, superintendent at Civic Hospital said he was voicing purely a personal opinion, and said there had been no intimation that the Board of Governors contemplated reducing the rates.

"The increase in costs from every angle of hospital operation has been great, particularly in wages and supplies. At no time has the public ward patient or the semi-private ward patient had to pay sufficient to fully meet the costs of the accommodation."

Continuing, Mr. Hornal said, "Before any reduction in rates takes place, we must be sure we are on a sound financial basis."

Ontario Government maintenance grants tohospitals more than doubled in the first quarter of this fiscal year, and this was made possible as a direct result of the hospital tax on amusements.

The provincial grants are paid on a basis of public ward beds, whether or not they are occupied and are graduated according to classification.

The amusement tax transfer to hospitals did not go into effect until May 19, but payments were made retroactive to April 1 Thus in the second quarter of 1948, the increase in the grant to Peterborough Civic Hospital was $3,577.36 over the same period last year. At St. Joseph's Hospital the grant was increased $2,966.96 over the same period in 1947.

IT'S NOT SO

Many Canadians planning trips to the United States think they can bring back $100 worth of merchandise. This is not so. A Canadian is allowed very little, not even a carton of cigarettes or a bottle of Bourbon. The program to conserve American dollars brought new regulations into effect, and Canadians would be well-advised not to try and bring anything back to Canada with them. However an American can take $400 worth of Canadian merchandise back to the States with him.

WANTS TO BUY LOT

A request from Wm. Reynolds, Kirkland Lake building contractor that he be sold a city-owned lot on Elm St. for $450 was discussed in Council Monday night. The lot is on the north side of the street close to Monaghan Rd. and council decided the lot was worth at least $600. Mr. Reynolds wants to build a permanent home there for his family while he is engaged in the building of 200 homes in the south-end. On completion of the contract he would sell the house to a veteran. His request was favorably received except the price of the lot is to be $600.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, July 21

Under the high pressure of greatly-stimulated ambition, with determination, enterprise and initiative, it is probable that there may be definite moves in the direction of long range objectives, probably in new projects, and under the heat of astutely engineered practical skills with concrete constructive energies and drives. However, there may be need to "put the rakes on," mainly because of failure of cooperation from those in influential places, whose capital and approbation are imperative. With sustained and well-organized efforts the confidence and support of higher-ups may be restored, and definite progress made.

Fo rthe Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may plan on a year in which their own indomitable will, energy and initiative may be the means of putting over ambitious projects with constructive talents and skills upon a profitable, enduring and long-range prospect of worthwhile achievement. This may be on new propositions, fresh fields of operation, or possibly change of techniques and methods. While firmness and aggressive action could further such ambitions, yet a false start or other error could alienate or dampen the interest and ardor of those whose capital and influence are essential to genuine progress. Conciliate these.

A child born on this day is bounteously endowed with vigor, determination, ambition and enthusiasm for large affairs. Its misdirection in these could alienate help from important places.

London Scenes Printed On Scarves

LONDON, July 20 (CP).—Visitors to London find plenty of souvenirs to carry home, but women will probably prefer the new scarves designed by a silk manufacturing firm.

These Jacqmar squares of silk are printed with famous London landmarks sketched diagonally acvross a plain colored square. The purist may, perhaps, object that the sight of Tower Bridge and the Tower in close juxtaposition with the Mansion House, St. Paul's, Westminster Abbey and Eros, not to mention two or three more well-known buildings, can hardly be regarded as good topography, but few women are likely to worry about it.

The scarf, which is produced in seven shades: teal, blush (a shade of rose), parma violet, Jacquamarine (a shade of blue), brown, navy and apple green, has a border formed by a repeat of the word "London" in Old English type.

Unhappily Wed Couples Starving For Flattery

The one unfailing remedy for an unhappy marriage is soft soap, Apply plenty of that on the sore spots and a cure is guaranteed. Try this faithfully for 30 days and if it doesn't work you can get your money back and a handsome divorce certificate framed in gold.

You see, the trouble with most married couples who cannot get along with each other is that they don't know what ails them, nor why they disagree so badly with each other. The husband knows that his wife is a noble, Christian woman who is a conscientious mother and a good cook. The wife appreciates that her husband possesses all of the domestic virtues, and then some. They know they should live together in peace and harmony, but instead of that they are in a perpetual brawl.

Dorothy Dix

They have tried all sorts of nostrums for this soul sickness without getting any results. But no matter how many good resolutions they make they still get in each other's hair. Every word is the fighting word, and their friends moan over them and say isn't it just too bad that Johnny's and Mary's marriage is such a failure.

Crave Appreciation

Now, unhappy mariages are as plentiful as pig-tracks, and most of them come from the same cause. But, curiously enough, few of those afflicted with the ailment ever seem to realize what their trouble is, or to do anything to cure it. For what's the matter with 99 out of 100 disgruntled husbands and wives is that they are simply starving for flattery, for appreciation and being fussed over.

Every man baits his hook with sweet talk when he goes acourting. He tells the girls he wants how beautiful and wonderful and intelligent and fascinating she is, for he knows well enough that she wouldn't have him on a bet if he dwelt upon her faults and defects.

But that same man, after he is married, may never pay his wife a compliment or show in any way that he appreciates all the hard work she does to make him a comfortable home. Many a great lover turns into a champion fault-finder before the honeymoon is even over.

And many women treat the men whom they are married to exactly the same starvation diet. They take all of the hard work and the sacrifices that their husbands make, to give them comforts and luxuries, without ever so much as saying "thank you." Instead of praise they hand their husbands knocks and feel themselves defrauded because their mink coats are not sable.

It is the general belief that there is no cure for the disillusion of married life, but this is a mistake. There is a homemade remedy for it that never fails. It is soft soap. It is flattery. It is appreciation. It is husbands and wives always building up their mates and making them feel that even if the balance of the world fails to appreciate how marvelous they are, there is one persons in it who burns incense before them.

The sure cure for an unhappy marriage is for the husband and wife to keep each other buttered up. If you doubt this, try the experiment.

Germany's Women Reviving Groups Banned By Nazis

By JACK SMYTH

BERLIN, July 20 (Reuters). — Voluntary women's organizations abolished during the Nazi regime are making a comeback in Germany.

But they still have a long way to go before they are as strong as at the end of the First World War, when Germany was covered with a fine network of active women's clubs, from East Prussia to the last small town on the Swiss frontier. Most of these organization had united to form the Council of German Women which boasted 800,000 members.

In addition to this council, there were many women's trade unions active in feminist problems and two big welfare organizations—one Roman Catholic and one Protestant—which worked together during the First World War.

Still women did not have the vote. Since the suffrage movement had never been strong, the Council of Women held congresses, which, in themselves, were a sort of women's parliament. Laws were proposed, worked out and discussed, new social methods were propagated and drives started to interest women in public affairs.

Then, in January, 1919, women for the first time voted in the election for the Weimar National Assembly, in which 10 per cent of the delegates were women.

The years 1920 to 1928 brought a rich harvest of "women's laws," prepared by women. The Youth Welfare Law, passed in 1922, was in its time the most progressive in Europe.

Got Solid Support

These successes were attained because the women members of Parliament were backed by large and influential women's organizations. If the women members had difficulty in bringing their legislatve colleagues to see the feminine viewpoint, they called for pressure from ther organizations. Women's legislation was helped, too, by a good press and the support of magazines with a wide circulation.

But 1928 was a turning-point and gradually the influence of women declined. There were several reasons for this:

1. Men in Germany began to feel uneasy about the part being played by women in political affairs. They professed fear that the country might become "feminized" or "soft" and they were anxious lest their own political power be curtailed.

2. The world was slowly moving into a period of universal depression. Well-paid jobs became rare and many persons were out of work.

The cry arose in Germany, that, if dismissals were necessary, women should be first to surrender their post to "a man with a family."

For five years the women's organizations fought a losing battle. Then on May 8, 1933, an order was promulgated setting out the only conditions under which the Council of German Women would be allowed to continue as a working body:

Recognition of Hitler's complete authority over the Council as leader of the National Socialist Party ;acceptance of the position and tasks which National Socialism considered suitable for women; dismissal of "non-Aryan members from any office; appointment of National Socialist members to leading offices.

Dissolved Council

A meeting of officers from all parts of Germany decided, without even discussing the Nazi demands, to dissolve the Council.

From 1933 to 1945, German women lost the right to sit in Parliament. They lost nearly all leading positions in education and were not allowed to hold positions in the legal profession. They worked in welfare fields and in women's institutes.

But members of the old Feminist Movement continued to meet clandestinely and, in many places, formed camouflaged discussion groups in which the idea of moral resistance was strenghtened.

With the end of the Second World War, women's groups began to meet openly again. In Zehlendorf, one of Berlin's suburbs, a group met May 18.

In July, 1945, the group was formally organized and a constitution adopted stating its members were "firmly resolved to work for the moral, social and economic reconstruction of the German people."

The first post-war German women's club was licensed by the British military government to hold meetings in Wilmersdorf, in the British sector of Berlin. The club remained strictly detached from all political parties and was given permission Dec. 19, 1947, by the Allied Kommandatura to work in all four sectors of Berlin.

Two other women's organizations have since been given a similar license—the "Emergency Union, 1947" and the large "Democratic Women's Union."

Many international women's organizations have shown interest and sympathy. The International Council of Women invited one German delegate to its conference in Philadelphia last year, and the federation of business and professional women has sent visitors with whom German club members could discuss their problems.

The National Council of Women of Great Britain and the British Association of University Women have shown special interest.

Boote-Carew Rites Followed By Muskoka Holiday

Trinity United Church was the setting for a lovely wedding Saturday when Jean Lois, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomsa Carew of Roseneath, pledged nuptial vows with Edward Boote, youngest son of Mr. Edward Boote of Penhold, Alberta, and the late Mrs. Boote. The Rev. M. J. Aiken performed the ceremony.

Blue and white delphiniums were arranged in bouquets with bright stalks of sweet william and banked with fern in the chancel, and the guest pews were marked with fern and ribbon. Miss Mabel Clarry played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Jean Drummond when she sang, "I'll Walk Beside You" during the signing of the register.

A wedding gown of heavy ivory satin styled from the Queen Elizabeth period was the bride's choice. A stand-up collar edged the sweetheart neckline and the bodice was moulded to a low waistline and had long fitted sleeves coming to lily points over her hands. The skirt fell in deep folds into a circular train and was held out at the hipline by a circular section below the waist, with corded edge. Her veil of white net with embroidered edge extended into a long train and was held in place by a Mary Queen of Scots headdress, and she carried a showered ring bouquet of Bettertime roses and bouvardia with tiny rosebuds tied in the streamers. Mr. Carew gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Marguerite Royea was maid of honor and Miss Isobel McCamus bridesmaid. Their frocks of nile green and orchid de lustre faille taffeta were also styled on the Elizabethan period with short sleeves and their mittens were of the same material with frilled edge. Their crownless hats were in matching shades of mesh and had wide brims dipped at the front, with fresh flowers caught underneath. They carried ring bouquets of pink gladioli tied with orchid and nile green ribbon.

The groomsman was Mr. D. R. McGregor. David Seymour and Thomas Cooke showed the guests to their seats.

At the reception in the Green Room of the YWCA, Mrs. Carew, mother of the bride, received, gowned in grey silk with black hat and wearing a corsage of Bettertime roses. Mrs. E. Hales who also received wore turquoise mesh with a whtie hat and a corsage of Briarcliffe roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Boote are honeymooning in Muskoka and on return they will live at 275 Westcott St. For travelling, the bride wore a suit of cream flannel with navy taffeta hat and accessories in navy.

Halifax Voters Choose To Sell Beer By Glass

HALIFAX, July 20.—(CP). — Thirty per cent. of the Halifax voting populace turned out in Monday's plebiscite to choose sale of beer and wine by the glass with a 2-1 majority.

Of the 16,232 participants, 10,727 sided with tavern sale, while 5,455 were opposed. The city's voting list contains more than 50,000 names.

Only two districts in the city returned majorities for the "no" vote. At the Stadacona Naval Station poll, the result was 77 to two for taverns.

How soon or in what manner the Provincial Government will deal with the question has not been disclosed. Earlier Geoffrey Stevens, minister without portfolio in charge of the new liquor act, said the vote would have to be decisive to be valid.

May Me Delayed

It was considered possible actual taverns would not come into being until after the next Legislature session. It was also possible that women would be banned from them.

Halifax is the first of a number of communities to vote on the question. Thirteen other towns, counties and cities will do the same sometime this summer. Cost of the plebiscites is being borne by the province.

Mr. Stevens said the question of who was to operate the taverns had not been decided, but he favored private than than Government sale. Hotels would be allowed to serve beer, and wine with meals.

The light voting Monday was in spite of a warm campaign of newspaper advertisements, hand bill and radio addresses as conducted by temperance organizations and a committee "of citizens who want a decent respectable place to drink moderately."

The reason for this, said Mr. Coldwell, was "the undoubted likeness if not understanding that exists between Drew and Duplessis (Premier Duplessis of Quebec), both of whom are reactionary tories of the old school."

ONTARIO HOLIDAY Scrapbook

"THE Switzerland of Canada"—that's what they call the country around the Lake of Bays. Not for the character of its picturesque scenery alone, but because it's a just about perfect year-round playground. In the northern part of Muskoka, this region offers every kind of holiday activity you could wish for. Of the several islands, Bigwin is the largest—with smaller isles dotting the lake. Pick any one of the many Lake of Bays resorts for a wonderful vacation! For complete details write to Ontario Holiday, Room 1004 Victory Bldg., Toronto.

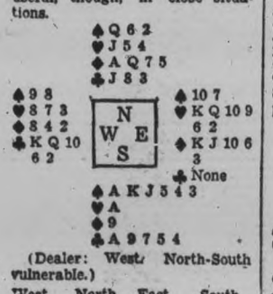
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

VARY BIDDING TACTICS

YOU ARE BOUND to have three kinds of partners, fine, average and bad. And you should have somewhat different bidding tactics opposite each type, summarized about thus: 1. With the top rank mate, give him every chance you can to exercise his judgment among as many different options as possible; 2. With the medium partner, bid the most likely game contract yourself without chancing his mistake, if you feel pretty sure there should be a game in it (certain doubtful situation; 3. With the very weak partner, even give some thought to striving to become the declarer yourself, so he won't misplay the hand. But don't go too far with any of these policies. They are useful, though, in close situations.



(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	2 ♠
3 ♣	3 ♦

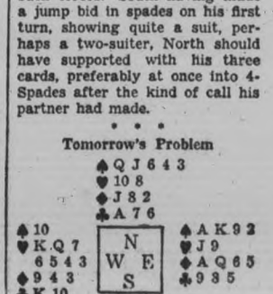
Seldom will you find a more terrible pass than South's, when he left North in that 3-Diamonds monstrosity of a contract. A very inferior player, he had been told that misfits are dangerous, and because of that passed, leaving his poor partner to get his head beaten off and being down three tricks.

There would have been no job at all to making game in spades. An extra trick could have been scored by the simple expedient of two leads toward the club J, followed by the ruffing of one club, the plays of the club suit of course following the taking out of trumps. That is, if West led anything but a low club, and game would have been sure even then.

North, a supposedly fine player, side being in the wrong contract. South could be censured by him for not rebidding spades or showing clubs on his second turn. But then North knew South as a mediocre performer who might make such errors. South having made a jump bid in spades on his first turn, showing quite a suit, perhaps a two-suiter, North should have supported with his three cards, preferably at once into 4-Spades after the kind of call his partner had made.

• • •

Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

If North decides to open this deal with 1-Spade, what would you consider the best bidding the rest of the way?

CHARLTON — In loving memory of our dear son and brother, W. Laurence Charlton, who was killed in France, July 20, 1944.

When all other things decay
Our love for you will still keep green
And never fade away.

HOWDEN — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Bert Howden, who passed away two years ago, July 20, 1946.

May Discontinue Coal Shipments

CORNWALL, July 20—(CP)—A local coal company official said today he had been advised that aCnada Steamship Lines and Sarnia - Colonial Steamships Limited would "discontinue shipments of coal to Cornwall if there was a continuation of stoning of vessels."

A C.S.L. official here said this was a "precautionary measure to protect ships and men against a recurrence of the disorders of last week-end."

A crowd of 1,000 persons watched from the waterfront on the weekend as six C.S.L. and Sarnia-Colonial vessels were stoned. No arrests were made by police.

The C.S.L. liner Rapids Prince was stoned last night as she sailed west to Prescott.

The liner was held up here five hours Saturday night and stoned as she steamed west.

Says Chief Constable Being 'Railroaded'

PORT COLBORNE, July 20 (CP)—Thomas Mains, a member of a delegation which attended a Humberstone village council meeting last Monday at which chief constable Frank Kelly was dismissed, charged today Mr. Kelly was "railroaded" out of his appointment.

Mr. Kelly said that according to newspaper reports of the meeting Mr. Kelly had been doing a good job.

Councillor Leonard Hardy said the chief constable was a public servant and if council was dissatisfied with his work and had given him an opportunity to correct the situation.

authority to discharge him without considering written complaints from anyone. He said Mr. Kelly had been warned three months ago that council was dissatisfied with his work and had given him an opportunity to correct the situation.

Harvesting Scheduled

TORONTO, July 20 — (CP). — Ontario farmers are expected to start harvesting fall wheat, early oats and barley next week now that about 75 per cent of the haying is finished, the weekly crop report of the agriculture department disclosed Monday. Good weather has hastened haying operations and Wellington county reports that hay has developed into a better than average crop.

Engineering Mission

LONDON, July 20 (Reuters).—An engineering mission which the government is sending to Canada will investigate market possibilities for the heavier types of industrial engineering equipment, George Bottomley, secretary for overseas trade, said in a parliamentary reply Monday. It will also obtain first-hand information on any difficulties in trade with Canada in the engineering industry.

KNITTING PEACEFULLY, is Clara McMillen Kinsey, wife of Dr. Alfred Charles Kinsey, author of the scientific best-seller, "Sexual Behavior in the Human Male." What most people don't know is that there is also a Mrs. Kinsey report. In capsule form it boils down to the fact that men are pretty much all right, she thinks, if they'd only learn to be tolerant of each other. Though her husband's work has taken the U.S. and Canada by storm, it seems that Mrs. Kinsey is the least surprised person in the country. She's always thought he was wonderful.

Drew Regrets Bracken Move

TORONTO, July 20— (CP) — Premier Drew of Ontario today issued a brief statement expressing regret that John Bracken is retiring as leader of the National Progressive Conservative party because of his health.

"Mr. Bracken's decision to retire from the leadership of the Progressive Conservative party comes as a surprise to me as I am sure it does to his host of friends everywhere throughout Canada," said premier Drew's statement. "As premier of Manitoba and as leader of the Progressive Conservative party he has never spared himself at any time. I am very sorry that to learn that his health will not permit him to remain in his present position but I earnestly hope that he will be able to continue his devoted and unselfish public service for many years to come."

Head of the only provincial Progressive Conservative government in Canada, the premier did not comment on speculation which named him as a possible successor to Mr. Bracken.

Robert H. Saunders Not After Leadership

TORONTO, July 20—(CP)—Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission, said today when asked if he was a candidate for leadership in either the federal or Ontario Progressive Conservative parties, "my job is chairman of the Hydro Commission. It is a great challenge and one I hope I can meet."

Ottawa sources intimated Saunders might become leader of the Provincial party should Premier Drew assume leadership of the federal organization vacated by John Bracken.

North Cavan Board Renews Bus Contract

At the monthly meeting of the North Cavan School board of trustees in Mount Pleasant School, it was decided to renew the contract of Mr. R. Snelgrove for the transportation of secondary students to Millbrook continuation school. The action was taken on a motion of H. Jamieson, seconded by H. Braduurn.

Mr. J. Adam addressed the board, asking that he be given a strip of land on the south side of the school ground to widen his driveway. It was moved by H. Jamieson, and seconded by F. McIndoo that the board give Mr. Adam this strip of land providing Mr. Adam gave up his right of way through the school grounds.

THE LIFE OF A PRIME MINISTER is not a happy one, but even India's prime minister, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru (centre), takes an occasional afternoon off. Oshawa Increase Discrimination

ST. CATHARINES, July 20 — (CP).—President Ernest Wheatley of Local 199, United Automobile Workers (CIO), said today a wage agreement reached recently between General Motors of Canada Ltd. and employees at Oshawa and Windsor discriminated against workers at McKinnon Industries here.

The McKinnon plant is a subsidiary of G.M. Some 650 employees went on strike last Wednesday to enforce demands for a 16-cent hourly wage increase plus 10 cents an hour to bring wages to levels paid in Oshawa and Windsor. UAW members in G.M.'s Oshawa and Windsor plants approved agreements during the week-end providing for a nine-cent hourly increase plus a cost of living bonus.

Mr. Wheatley said today G.M. discriminated against the St. Catharines workers "by an average of more than 25 cents an hour."

As the McKinnon strike entered its sixth day today, Local 676, of the UAW, representing employees of Hayes Steel at nearby Meritton, planned to picket in sympathy with McKinnon employees. President Cy Chevers of the Merritton Local said the union had rejected a company offer of a 10-cent increase on the grounds it was inadequate and its acceptance "would interfere with negotiations between Local 199 and McKinnon management."

First British Casualty

QUEBEC, July 20 — (CP) — Twenty-seven of 40 passengers on a bus travelling from Quebec to Valcartier were taken to hospital here Saturday night when the vehicle plunged 15 feet from a bridge and landed upside down astride the narrow Du Berger River. There were no deaths.

Britain Reports Shakespeare Industry Uptrend

STRATFORD-ON-AVON, England, July 20—(Reuters)—The Shakespeare industry is booming and earning a lot of dollars for Britain.

So solid are bookings, so great the demand for seats, that the Memorial theatre here has decided to prolong its season by four weeks; last year's record of a total audience of 238,000 will be easily surpassed. In the half-timbered cottage where the poet was born and the cottage where he wooed Anne Hathaway, names from Melbourne and Manhattan, Paris and Peru are appearing in the visitors' books.

Stratfordians are particularly pleased about the dollars. They tell you with emphasis that their town is, after London, the country's most popular haunt, visited by hundreds of thousands of pilgrims from all over Britain and most parts of the world.

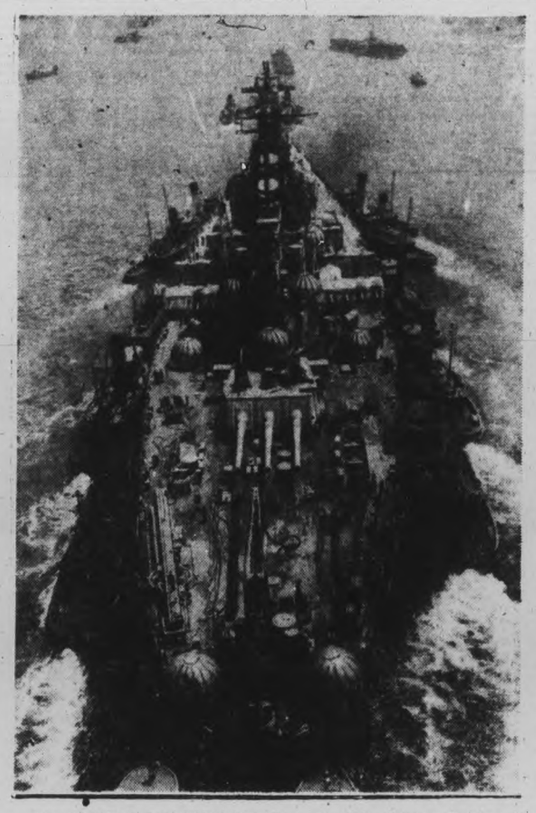
Happy too, is Col. Fordham Flower, great nephew of the founder of the theatre, and most prominent of the seven Flowers connected with the Shakespeare Memorial Association.

He sees progress towards the materialization of his life's dream, the creation of a Shakespeare University on the Avon to promote the study of acting, playwright and production by students from all over the globe.

In an 18th century house called Mason Croft, once the home of the novelist Marie Corelli, the British Council, assisted by the University of Birmingham and the Memorial Theatre, is holding a series of study courses throughout the current season.

Blitzen Takes Title

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich., July 20 — (AP) — The 56-foot Detroit cutter Blitzen won the Class A title in the 24th annual Port Huron - Mackinac Island yacht race today when a handicap enabled her to finish ahead of the Escapade, first boat across the line. It marked the second straight year that the Escapade, a 72-foot yawl owned by Dendell Anderson of Detroit, was the first boat to complete the 242-mile inland water sailing classic.



AN ALERT CAMERAMAN on the Manhattan bridge in New York took this birds-eye view of the U.S. battleship North Carolina, as the giant craft was taken out from under wraps in Bayonne, N.J., and taken to the Brooklyn navy yard for an inspection. Though many of our sea-wagons are temporarily in moth balls, they are frequently inspected for the possibility that they may be called back to active duty.

Police Comb Leads In Calgary Murder

CALGARY, July 20 — (CP) — Police today were exhausting every possible lead in a search for new clues to the solution of the 19-year-old murder of Thomas Charles Hall, whose body was discovered in a "spook-ridden" cottage in Calgary more than a week ago.

Main hopes of an early "break" in the case appeared today to hinge on investigations now underway by police into the dead man's financial transactions prior to his death and observations that may have been made by Hall's neighbors between March and June 1929.

Adding to the mystery shrouding the case is failure of police to locate a newspaper story reported to have told of the death of Hall and one of his sons in a motor accident in North Dakota.

Several persons, including Mrs Hall, have told police that they saw the item in a Calgary newspaper in the summer of 1929 or 1930. However, a prolonged search of files of both newspapers has failed to disclose the item which may have been responsible for the story being printed.

British Engine Order Lost In Red Tape

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, July 20 — (CP) — Canadian locomotives whistled cheerfully in Nigeria, hauling food trains to the coast, while British engines needed for the same job were lost in a landslide of paper.

The story of the Canadian engines that kept peanuts moving and the British engines caught in a muddle of priorities is told in the report of a House of Commons committee on colonial development.

Because of lateness of the British engines, peanuts are piling up in the interior of the African colony. By November the pile may amount to 175,000 tons, enough to provide one extra ounce of margarine weekly to United Kingdom residents for a year.

The committee reported:

In 1943 the United Kingdom production ministry was told 11 locomotives were needed in Nigeria and they were included in the 1945 production program. In 1944, the order was given to a plant which could not make the type needed and a suitable manufacturer was not found until August, 1945.

The order could not be included in the 1946 program as plants were engaged in other work, and it was not until May 12, 1948, that the final order of 20 engines was completed and shipped to Nigeria.

In the meantime, 14 Canadian engines, ordered 13 months previously, had been delivered in June, 1947, and put to work.

"The foregoing account makes it plain that the present accumulation of peanuts in Northern Nigeria was not due to the shortage of engine-building capacity but to a complete breakdown of the organization in London for arranging priorities," the committee reported.

Decide Canada Will Sit In On London Defence Talks With Five Other Nations

Won't Send Special Military Representatives Will Use Those Already In Europe; Deny Anyone Attending Talks In The Hague

OTTAWA, July 21 — (CP).—The External Affairs Department confirmed today that Canada will sit in on London defence talks with the five Western Union Powers, but emphasized that it will be as a non-member of the Brussels pact. There was no confirmation, but it was considered quite likely here that Brig. H. D. Graham, shortly to become Canada's No. 2 soldier, would attend the defence consultations.

The source made it clear, if Canada participates in Western Union defence talks—and it was implied that this country probably will before long—military representatives will not be sent from here.

Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, chief of the general staff, is on leave, observers noted.

The external affairs source drew attention to the fact that the Canadian high commissioner in London has attached to his office military advisers who would logically undertake the assignment.

The high commissioner's army liaison officer is Brig. H. D. Graham. But perhaps a more likely choice if Canada takes part in defence discussions is Maj.-Gen. Maurice Pope, head of the Canadian military mission in Berlin.

The source in the external affairs department said a London announcement earlier Tuesday that Canadian and United States military experts had arrived in The Hague for military talks was incorrect as far as Canada is concerned. The announcement was by the British foreign office.

The Canadian source's statement—qualified by the declaration that discussion of the whole subject is premature—was made in clarification of a series of confusing and conflicting reports from various world capitals. All concerned Canada's possible defence relations with the western union.

First of the reports came during the week-end when a reliable London newspaper said Canadian and American adherance to the union probably would precede the reply of the western powers to Russia's note on Berlin

Ask Voluntary Conservation Of Power Again

TORONTO, July 21 — (CP).—Voluntary conservation methods will again be adopted this winter to prevent shortages of electricity because levels of power generating waters in Ontario are "dangerously low," Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, warned to-day.

He said the usually abundant sources of water are falling off rapidly as lack of rain depletes the reservoirs. Fast - running streams had declined to "mere trickles" in many sections of the province.

New sources of energy available this year through the opening of new power plants would not be sufficient to meet increasing industrial and home consumption demands.

Co-operation on the part of domestic consumers will eliminate the "annoying power cut-offs" of last winter, Mr. Saunders said.

If all domestic consumers will recognize the importance of turning off lights not needed, and electric ranges not actually in use, it will be an important contribution of the saving of power.

"There may be some curtailment of power, but it will not be through cut-offs, said Mr. Saunders. "All we ask is that people of the province will voluntarily co-operate with us in making sure there is enough power to go around."

Large industrial plants had already begun practising conservation methods.

Five Rescued In Sea Landing

MARSEILLE, July 21.—(AP). —Five of 13 persons aboard a French Air Force Wellington plane were rescued today after a forced landing in the Mediterranean, French Air Force headquarters for Southern France announced.

Headquarters did not say that the remaining eight were definitely lost but merely that rescue planes had not yet sighted them.

Earlier Agence Frence-Presse had reported that 20 were aboard and that all had been rescued.

The plane, ferrying families of French soldiers from North Africa back to France, was forced down some 80 miles off the Mediterranean coast. It sent out an SOS, and French officials ordered planes and launches to the rescue.

The Weellintgon, a converted RAF bomber, took off from Reghaia, Algeria, this morning, bound for Istrid Airport, near here.

Order Investigation In Ballot Burning

DETROIT, July 21—(CP)— A full-scale investigation of charges that anti-strike ballots were burned at Ford Local 600 was ordered Tuesday by the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.).

But the Local's executive board at a special session Tuesday formally denied the accusations and insisted that the charges were designed to hamper current U.A.W. Ford negotiations.

An unidentified member of Local 600 earlier had publicized charges that 1,000 "no-strike" ballots were burned without being counted

Conservatives Hope Convention Held By Sept. 15

OTTAWA, July 21 — (CP). — Officials of the National Progressive Conservative Association are hopeful that the convention at which a new party leader will be chosen can be held before Sept. 15.

Instructions have been sent to party associations throughout the country to fix the dates when constituency conventions will choose delegates. Each riding probably will be asked to select three delegates and three alternates. The numbers will be decided here Monday at a meeting of the national executive.

Meanwhile, forecasts here are that, regardless of who finally is chosen to succeed John Bracken, there will be an imposing lineup of candidates for the first ballot.

These predictions come on the heels of widespread conjecture as to the implications of Mr. Bracken's impending retirement. There were published but unconfirmed reports that he yielded to pressure from within his own party, despite his own statement that his decision was dictated by age—he is 65—and ill-health.

Possible Candidates

Most frequently mentioned as candidates for the leadership are Premier Drew of Ontario; Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Peel; Donald Fleming, member for Toronto Eglinton, and John Diefenbaker, member for Lake Centre.

This is the probable list on the first ballot:

Hon. Herbert Anscomb, British Columbia's finance minister; Howard Green, member of parliament for Vancouver South; H R. Milner, Edmonton lawyer who took a prominent part in the Winnipeg convention; A. L. Smith, member of parliament for Calgary West;

Mr. MacPherson, who is a former member of the Saskatchewan government; Mr. Diefenbaker; Hon. Errick Willis, Manitoba

Indict 12 On Charges Of Advocating Overthrow Of Gov't.

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP). — The eighth top Communist leader of 12 indicted on charges of advocating violent overthrow of the United States government surrendered today.

John Gates, 34, editor of the Daily Worker, Communist party newspaper, said as he appeared in federal court: 'I have a clear conscience."

Six others, including William Z. Foster, arrested here were released overnight after promising to return this morning. Bail of $5,000 each was posted for them today.

The $30,000 bail for the six was posted by Robert W. Dunn, treasurer of the civil rights congress, when they appeared before Judge Vincent L. Leibell.

Freed On Bail

Freed on bail besides Foster were Eugene Dennis, general secrtary of the Communist party; John Williamson, national labor secretary; Jacob Stachel, chairman of the party's department of agitation, publication and education; a New York city councilman, Benjamin J. Davis, chairman of the party's legislative committee, and Henry Winston, organizational secretary.

A seventh, Carl Winters, chairman of the Michigan state council of the party, was seized in Detroit Tuesday night. The other four are being sought.

The arrests, one of the sharpest blows yet struck against organized Communism in the United States, brought an immediate strongly-worded protest from the national headquarters of the party.

Charge "Frame-Up"

It described the indictments as a "monstrous frame-up" and said the arrests were part of a plan by President Truman to embarrass the New Party of Henry A. Wallace.

Foster and the others indicted are specifically accused of "conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrow of the United States Government by force and violence."

The seven under arrest were arraigned, Tuesday night on the charges and all pleaded innocent.

Winters was seized in Detroit. The others in New York City.

The five being sought were identified as:

Irving Potash, manager of the Furriers' Joint Council (CIO) of New York City; John Gates, editor since July, 1947, of the Daily Worker, official organ of the United States Communist party; Robert G. Thompson, chairman of the New York State Communist party; Gilbert Green of Chicago district chairman for the Communist party at Chicago; and Gus Hall of Cleveland, chairman of the Communist party in Ohio.

Federal officials said the maximum penalty upon conviction is 10 years' imprisonment and a fine of $10,000 for each charge.

IN THE PRESENCE OF WATCHFUL ISRAELI OFFICERS Nazareth's Moslem mayor, Ibrahim Fahum, (seated centre wearing fez), surrendered the city to captors over the week-end but was asked to continue his administrative duties as usual. All holy places in the city, boyhood home of Christ, have been declared out of bounds to Israeli soldiers. This picture of the surrender ceremonies was received last night by radio.

Congress Backs Tito to Limit

BELGRADE, July 21—(AP).—Premier Tito told 2,000 wildly-cheering Yugoslav Communists today their party had become the "strongest and most successful Marxist-Leninist movement" in the country's history. This apparently was his answer to charges from the Soviet Union and the Communist International Information Bureau (Cominform) that Tito and other Yugoslav Communist leaders had deviated from the Marxist line and were pursuing an anti-Russian policy.

Tito , addressing the Yugoslav party's congress in a Belgrade suburb, was expected to speak all of eight hours in a massive exposition of the history of the Communist movement in his country. He was delivering it in sections of two hours or more.

The Congress was expected to pledge him unanimous support. This will stamp it as a renegade from the Cominform, an association of countries in the Soviet orbit.

The most powerful defences seen in Belgrade since the end of the war completely encircled the Topchida Pavilion where the congress is being held.

Army units were posted around the entire area. A ring of anti-aircraft batteries showed that Tito and his men were prepared for any eventuality.

It is expected that the congress will discuss in detail the fundamental issues which have caused the split between Tito and the rest of the Communist world.

Emphasis will be on the "Titoist" line that individual countries have individual problems in arriving at complete socialism according to the teachings of Marx and Lenin and that each country should be allowed to solve the problem in its own way.

The delegates also probably will be called upon to ratify the expulsion from the party's ranks of Andrija Hebrang, former minister of light industry, and Sraten Zupovic, former finance minister, because of their "traitorous diversionist activities."

PLANE MOTORS STOLEN

Gov't Approves Canadian Pacific Operating Two New Air Services In Far Eastern Region

OTTAWA, July 21—(CP)— The government announced today that privately-owned Canadian Pacific Air Lines—not the government's T.C.A.—will operate two Canadian International air services in the Pacific region.

Transport Minister Chevrier, in a statement, said T.C.A. always considered the likely medium for extension of Canadian Air activities in the Pacific, was already too overworked to handle the job.

He said the government has approved the request of C.P.A. to run one service to Australia and New Zealand, the other to Asia via Alaska. It would do so without government assistance, relying on its own financial resources.

Initiation of the services would "depend upon the ability of the government to negotiate agreements with other countries in the Pacific region rights." Negotiations were going forward.

British Bread Rationing Ends Sunday After Two Years

LONDON, July 21—(Reuters).—Bread rationing will end in Britain next Sunday after two years in operation, Food Minister John Strachey announced today in the House of Commons. Rationing will be replaced by a system of control of the rate of delivery of flour from the mills to the country's bakeries so that consumption will be kept at about the same rate as during the last year.

Strachey assured parliament that the new system will make available all the bread and flour needed for human consumption.

He said the bread ration system, bitterly criticized by the Opposition at the time of its introduction and the object of continuous agitation ever since, resulted in "appreciable saving" of supplies during the first year, which was the most critical supply period.

Father Drowns Trying Save Son

BEAVERTON, July 21 (CP).— While 28 - year - old Frederick Casey, a non-swimmer, stood helplessly by Tuesday, his brother and a nephew were drowned in the Trent canal three miles north of here.

The victims, James Casey, 48-year-old Detroit business man, and his 14-year-old son, Frederick, had motored here Sunday to visit Casey's mother, Mrs. Alice Casey.

The father slipped into the canal after trying to pull his son to safety. The youngster had dropped his fishing pole and was bending over to retrieve it when he lost his balance and toppled into eight feet of water.

Frederick Casey told police that no one in the three-man fishing party could swim.

The father took off his clothing and tried to grasp his son's hand but he, too, slipped off the bank into the water. The brother shouted for help but the area was deserted.

Police said Mrs. James Casey still was in Detroit. The Caseys were reported to be the parents of nine children.

Graydon Doesn't Want To Lead Conservatives

GRAVENHURST, July 21 — (CP) — Gordon Graydon, (PC_Peel), acting leader of the National Progressive Conservative Party, said today he did not want National Leadership of the Party.

He is mentioned as possible acting party leader following A new elader will be chosen by an emergency convention.

Graydon also expressed surprise at reports that he would become Ontario Party Leader should Prmeier Drew be chosen National Leader.

Ask Andre Marie To Form New French Government

PARIS, July 21—(CP)—Andre Marie, minister of justice in the Schuman government, tonight was asked by president Vincent Auriol to form a new cabinet. He is a radical socialist (conservative). Marie accepted the request.

Premier Robert Schuman's cabinet resigned Monday in defeat, opposing a $40,000,000 cut in the defence bill.

Emergence of Marie, 51, marked a swing to the right. He still is suffering effects of starvation in the German Buchenwald concentration camp during the war.

After talking with President Vincent Auriol, he went to the ministry of justice to consult political leaders.

He must obtain a parliamentary majority to attain the office. It was socialist defection from the coalition of the movement Republican Populaire, the radical socialists and the socialists which toppled the Schuman government.

The system of "parliamentary logic" as practised before the war would appear to indicate that the new cabinet would be composed of Communists, Socialists and Radicals (Conservatives). However, neither the Socialists nor the Radicals trust the Communists and most of them are resolved to oppose letting the Communists share power again.

Many experts now are talking about a "big ministry" cabinet which would include the parties in Schuman's government plus other groups further to the right.

One difficulty in forming such a government rests on the fact that within the radical group and immediately on its right are supporters of Gen. Charles De Gaulle.

De Gaulle is opposed by both the Socialists and the M.R.P. and has himself often insisted that he would have nothing to do with any government under the present machinery, which he considers unworkable.

Two RCMP Officers Freed On $10,000 Bail

SUMMERSIDE, P.E.I., July 21 —(CP)—Two members of the Summerside Royal Canadian Mounted Police detachment were arrested Tuesday but were released a short time later when bail bonds of $10,000 each were posted. The men were taken into custody by Prince County sheriff Hubert Hall under bailable writs issued by the Supreme Court following action for damages by Walter Bergamn, financier of Montreal and Travellers Rest, P.E.I.

The action charges that Sgt. D. J. Heath, in charge of the Summerside detachment, and constable Leo Lauman exceeded their authority in a search made Monday at the Bergman summer home at Travellers Rest, a few miles from here. The action also charges that because the police officers had no search warrant their entry into the Bergman dwelling was illegal. Bergman is seeking $10,000 damages from each officer.

British Overseas Airways To Buy 22 Canadian Planes

LONDON, July 21—(CP)— British Overseas Airways Corporation will buy 22 Canadian-built, four-engined Canadairs, George Lindgren, parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Civil Aviation, announced today in the House of Commons.

Lindgren said that the decision to abandon "fly-British" policy for B.O.A.C. was made after "a most careful review."

Trials of British-built Tudors had proved "exceedingly disappointing" and other aircraft were needed to fill the gap.

No Dollar Outlay

He said that through an arrangement with the Canadian government, no immediate dollar outlay is involved and that dollar earnings from the aircraft will help supplement British dollar reserves.

Lindgren said that the first Montreal-built Canadair would be expected to be delivered within eight months and a further 15 within a year.

Temporary Abandonment

In response to questioning, Lindgren said that it is only a temporary abandonment of "Fly-British" policy for British airlines.

At present, the only new British land planes suitable for trunk routes was the Hermes IV, of which 25 are on order for B.O.A.C. The Hermes are promised for 1949 and will be operating in 1950.

Oliver West, president of Canadair and at present in London, was not available for comment.

Won't Stand For Coercion Under Rights

Report New Allied Note About Blockade Sent To Washington

WASHINGTON, July 21—(CP). —State Secretary Marshall said today the United States will do everything possible in the Berlin crisis "to reach an acceptable solution and to avoid the tragedy of war for the world"

At a press conference, Marshall was told that there is a widespread fear of war in the world over the Berlin crisis between Soviet Russia and the Western Powers. He was asked to express his views on the situation.

In a statement which he authorized for direct quotation, Marshall said:

"I can only say at this time that our position, I think, is well understood.

"We will not be coerced or intimidated in any way in our procedures under the rights and responsibilities that we have in Berlin and generally in Germany.

"At the same time, we will proceed to invoke every possible resource of negotiation and diplomatic procedures to reach an acceptable solution and to avoid the tragedy of war for the world.

"But I repeat again we are not going to be coerced."

American officials, meanwhile, are readying new diplomatic moves in a determined effort to settle the Berlin crisis short of war.

New Note

A responsible British official reported today that a new western power note protesting Russia's blockade of Berlin has been drafted and sent to Washington for review by top-ranking state department officials.

The source reported the note is subject to revision.

The contents were a secret but the government official said "don't be surprised" if the note agree to cover several German topics in addition to Berlin in any four-power talks.

It was regarded as almost certain that removal of the road and rail blockade will remain a key condition for discussions.

These moves, including a new note to Moscow, grow out of a new three-point policy for dealing with the dangerous situation in the Russian blackaded German capital.

Order Big-Scale RAF Exercises

LONDON, July 21—(AP)—The Air Ministry today ordered large-scale R.A.F. exercises over Southern England for Sunday. A test of wartime air raid observation services also will be held.

The move came against a background of intensified training activity for military aircraft here and on the continent by both Britain and the United States.

Meanwhile in Central England some of the 60 United States Super-Fortresses which arrived here last week took off for "local flights" over England. The B-29s are what officials say is a training mission. The flights will be stepped up in number and distance from day to day.

Irish Girl Comes To Hastings Home

MONTREAL, July 21—(CP).— Eileen McLelland, 27, of Belfast, today was on her way by air to Canada to marry a man she has never seen — 34-year-old Robert Glass of Riverside View, Hastings, but the groom-to-be was unable to be at nearby Dorval airport to meet her.

British Overseas Airways Corporation officials said she would arrived here at 2 p.m., and take the 4.30 p.m. train for Belleville, for the meeting with Glass.

The groom-to-be, a machinist, saw a picture of Eileen in a Belfast paper two years ago and wrote her. Then he offered marriage and she accepted.

Polish Girls Among Strikers At Textile Mill

MONTREAL, July 21 — (CP). —A strike of 68 Quebec City hotel employees appeared more or less settled today, but another labor dispute kept 450 employees of the Dionne Spinning Mills idle at St. Georges De Beauce, Que.

The mill workers left their jobs Monday seeking a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase. An arbitration board recently recommended a seven-cent boost, but members of the Roman Catholic Textile Syndicate said the management had not told them whether this would be put into effect.

Among those involved in the walkout—but only indirectly—were 64 Polish girls flown to Canada last year from displaced persons camps in Germany. Their two-year contracts provided for a starting wage of 25 cents an hour, but this was increased to 30 cents last August.

Common laborers in the plant now get a minimum of 38 cents an hour, union officials said, while tradesmen are paid from 40 to 44 cents.

Meanwhile, 68 employees of the Clarendon Hotel in Quebec were scheduled to be back at work today aftr a four-day strike.

Wilbrod Brerer, the hotel's legal representative, said the strikers had agreed to return to work without their demands for a 10-cent-an-hour wage increase being met. However, the hotel would take these demands into consideration.

Mr. Brerer also said the hotel had filed a $25,000 damage action against the local of the Canadian Union of Hotel Employees (CCL) for alleged breach of contract.

Present hourly wage rate is 33 cents, union organizers said, with some workers getting as little as 28 cents.

Won't Be Kicked Out

Authorities familiar with the latest developments on the policy covers an absolute determination "not to be kicked out of Berlin."

But, they add, it also embraces decision to seek a peaceful solution to the crisis and to use caution and restraint in both action and words so that the Soviet Union will be given no possible excuse for making the situation worse.

One of the dangers which top Washington officials hope to avoid as the developments of the next two weeks unfold is a growth of hysteria in the west over the possibility of an open conflict with Russia.

These authorities declare that the United States must reject two extremes of action—appeasement on the one hand and execessive belligerence on the other.

Predict Daily Paper Prices To Be Raised

PITTSBURG, July 21 (AP). — The 20th mechanical conference of the American Newspaper Publishers Association studied to-day a prediction that the price of a daily newspaper will go up from five cents "in the not too distant future."

T. F. Mowle, Comptroller of the Wall Street Journal, told the newspaper representatives:

"To-day our average daily newspaper has banged its head against the five-cents-per-copy ceiling. Only a few newspapers in this country charge seven cents for a daily paper. Despite varying costs, almost all charge five cents.

"In this field we should imitate the traction and bus companies and prepare our readers for the 10-cent price which we will have to charge in the not too distant future."

Mowle said 300 daily papers have gone out of business in the last 10 years. "Newspapers have always had high costs. The average wage . . . is $1.86 per hour," he said.

Deport League Official For Betraying Secret

LONDON, July 21—(Reuters) —An official of the Anglo-Czech friendship league here is being deported because valuable British secrets have fallen into the hands of an un-named foreign power, Col. G.E.C. Wigg, labor member of parliament, said today.

Wigg, who visited Home Secretary Ede with three other labor members to protest against the deportation order, said the Home Secretary had stated the charge against the official was connected with the passing, either wittingly or unwittingly, of a letter as a result of which "extremely important information prejudicial to this country" fell into the hands of an un-named foreign power.

The official, Franck Hampl, secretary of the league, arrived back in Britain Monday from a visit to the Prague Sokol Athletic Festival and was ordered to leave the country.

QUIET BUT BUSY

During recent factory holidays, city playgrounds have become quiet places, and only about half the usual number of children may be seen. However, they are still busy, with pet shows and other programs for the children. This afternoon a circus is planned for Inverlea, and a pet show will be held at Fleming Place.

New Apparatus For Forest Fire Hose

NORTH BAY, July 1.—(CP).— District Forester F. E. Snider said today an apparatus designed to ease the problem of laying and carrying hose during forest fires has been perfected by personnel of the Department of Lands and Forests' Timagami division.

He said most of the work on the apparatus had been done during the past few years by Archie King, a mechanic at the deputy chief ranger's headquarters at Latchford, a few miles west of Cobalt.

As welcome as rain to a firefighter the intricate hose-folder was built by Mr. King for the most part from second-hand metal parts obtained from salvage. The machine shortly will be sent to the Department's research division in Toronto for further testing.

REPORTS OF THE ARRIVAL in Berlin of Russia's youngest marshal, Konstantin Konstantinovich Rokossovsky have been circulating there among German quartes in close contact with Soviet headquarters at Kaarlshorst. The reports have led to conjecture that Rokossovsky, brilliant young tank expert and tactician, may their replace Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky as Soviet military governor of the eastern zone of Germany or may take over military command of Russia's western military forces.

Union Official Has Surrendered

WELLAND, July 21.—(CP).— Interest in the Great Lakes seamen's contract dispute has swung back to the Welland Canal area with the surrender to police here of Dan Daniels, a regional official of the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC).

Daniels, originally from Montreal, gave himself up to Provincial Police Tuesday to face a charge of besetting the Welland County buildings.

The charge arose from a demonstration by CSU members in front of the Welland County jail last Friday night. The Union said it intended the march as a prote against the amount of bail s for CSU members in the jail awaiting trial on charges of assault and of carrying offensive weapons.

Chief Engineer Mel Murphy of the Canada Steamship Lines package freighter Lethbridge was remanded at Sarnia to July 29 on a charge of shooting with intent to maim five CSU members who had boarded the Lethbridge.

Youth Tries Suicide As Romance Blighted

PICTON, July 21. — A rifle bullet through his right arm, Douglas Miller, 20, of Smiths Falls, is in hospital here under guard. He allegedly tried to commit suicide as a result of blighted romance. Threats to finish the job have resulted in a guard being posted at his bedside.

Late last night John Matthews, Johnston St., heard a crying noise and upon investigation found Miller in a nearby field on the McStevens farm. Several days ago Miller is alleged to have borrowed the rifle from Fred Lamb.

The affair is said to have followed the return of his engagement ring by a local girl.

Granny Dies Grief Kills 8-Year-Old

HAMILTON, July 21.— Possibility that 8-year-old Jean Hurst died of grief or heartbreak appeared Tuesday night as results of a post-mortem examination were awaited.

Police, relatives and neighbors are puzzled by the sudden death of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hurst of 216 Balmoral Ave. Jean was found dying in her bedroom after she was heard to fall out of bed about 8 a.m. Tuesday.

There were no marks on her body to indicate violence. The only possible suggestion is that she had been grieving over the death Sunday of a beloved grandmother, Mrs. Peter Leach. Grandmother and granddaughter will be buried together after a joint funeral service Thursday at 1.30 p.m.

Although admittedly such cases are rare, deaths have occurred from heartbreak or pent-up grief. Coroner Dr. Chilvers Gooch is investigating.

According to neighbors, Jean Hurst was a cheerful, likeable child. Se was especially good to younger children in the neighborhood. She was bright at school having won three honor diplomas and recently skipped a grade. She was to have entered grade four at Memorial School in the fall.

Canada Has No Intention Of Drastic Anti-Red Moves

OTTAWA, July 21—(CP)—The Canadian Government has given no hint that it intends drastic anti-Communist action such as that taken by United States authorities in New York Tuesday night.

William Z. Foster, head of the American Community party, was arrested with five other top-ranking Communists and charged with "conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrow of the United States government by force and violence."

The Labor-Progressive Party—Canada's Communist Party—is legal in the eyes of the Federal government. Unless some new law is passed—and, at the moment, that is not expected—no such arrests are likely in this country.

Despite oft-heard demands that it be outlawed, the feeling in government circles is that the Communists would gain strength and prestige if forced "underground."

The House of Commons, at its session which ended last June 30, never got around to a vote on a private bill, sponsored by Wilfrid Lecroix, Liberal member of parliament for Quebec-Montmorency, which would have banned the Labor-Progressives.

A similar ban was proposed by the Progressive Conservative Party at its recent national convention here, it was learned. The proposal to outlaw Communism in Canada may become part of the new Conservative platform, scheduled for publication Aug. 1.

The LPP was formed late in the Second World War by the leaders of the old Communist Party of Canada.

10 Children Given Holiday In Muskoka

CAMPBELLFORD, July 21 — (ENS). —Ten Campbellford children are enjoying a summer vacation in the Muskoka district through the kindness of a Campbellford businessman, it was revealed at the weekly meeting of the Campbellford Rotary Club.

F. "Pete" Barnes, a former member of the club, requested some time ago that he be given the names of the ten children, to be selected by the club.

Last week, with the aid of two cars, the children and their baggage were taken to Mr. Barnes' summer home at Huntsville, where they will remain until the end of this week.

Tomato Blight Worries Growers

COBOURG, July 21 (ENS). — Late blight was such a serious condition last year that all interested in tomatoes are watching developments closely this year. To date quite a number of sporadic troubles have been reported to agricultural representative Ralph Banbury. Some time was spent with A. N. L. Butler, canning crop specialist, last week, and a number of these patches were visited. However no late blight was found. In several cases peculiar conditions causing small losses were found, some of them hard to explain and will be watched with interest. A warning service is in charge of Professor J. D. MacLachlan of the Dept. of Botany, OAC, Guelph, and post cards are available from the agricultural office in Brighton for anyone to advise of suspected late blight.

Stoning In Cairo Interests Cobourg

COBOURG, July 21—(ENS)— News story that a Stephen Haas, Philadelphia realtor, had been stoned to death by a mob in Cairo last Sunday, caused considerable curiosity in Cobourg yesterday in view of the fact that the [illegible] family once owned the beautiful estate in the east end of Cobourg, now the Ontario Training School for Girls. However, enquiries revealed that there was no connection between the family that summered, and the Haas who lost his life in Cairo.

Fruit Crop Excellent

COBOURG, July 21 (ENS). — Fruit crops to date in Northumberland County have been excellent and the promise of later maturing things is good. The strawberry crop was fine and the raspberry crop is now ripening, although more rain in some sections would have helped the latter. The cherry crop is just ready and some beautiful orchards can be seen. Six-quart baskets in the Montreal market were quoted at $1.50 and are selling locally around that figure. Orchardists have sprayed carefully and made a good job of their planting thtis year, agricultural representative Ralph Banbury reports. Good supplies of fruit are available for the table and with present labor and other costs prices compare favorably with the general requirements of the home.

New Star Made In London Murder Play

LONDON, July 21 (CP). — A new star is blazing over the West End and a play written 23 years ago by an actor-manager who died in 1937 is the talk of the town.

The star: Kathleen Michael, sultry, 29-year-old brunette veteran of 10 seasons in suburban stock companies. The play: "People Like Us" by Frank Vosper.

The drama, based on the famed Thompson-Bywaters case of 25 years ago, was held up by censorship until this season. Vosper used to tell friends the Lord Chamberlain' verdict was: If you will put it into the Elizabethan period and set it in Iceland, we might consider it."

Suddenly the ban was lifted.

Frederick Bywaters and Edith Thompson were hanged in 1923 for the murder of the woman's husband, Percy Thompson. Many believe Mrs. Thompson was wrongly convicted.

In Vosper's verion, the wife is a weak-minded person unable to distinguish between romantic day-dreams and distasteful reality. She incites the murderer to his crime—but scarcely believes he will actually commit it.

London critics, almost without exception, raved over Miss Michael's performance.

"Extraordinary strength and brilliance," said A. E. Wilson of The Star. "Emotional fire . . . complete sincerity," said W. A. Darlington of The Daily Telegraph. "As powerful a first West End perforamnce as we have seen for many a night," said Cecil Wilson of The Daily Express.

The Times of London, a lone among the metropolitan press, spared the superlatives: "The woman herself is done competently—scarcely more than that—by Miss Kathleen Michael."

Junior Farmers To Meet Sunday

COBOURG, July 21 (ENS). — Northumberland County Junior Farmers have featured a Sunday service for several years but the one scheduled for next Sunday in Cobourg will have a special significance in that it has been chosen to be filmed by those preparing a reel of junior farmer activities. Sam Davidson of Cobourg, president of the group, will preside and the welcome will be extended by Mayor Joseph Smith. The address will be given by John Lewis, Peterborough. The service will start at 3.30 p.m., to be followed by a social hour. There will be a picnic lunch and the junior farmers will take in the band concert in the evening presented by Cobourg Kilties Band.

Cobourg Polio Scare Not Based On Fact

COBOURG, July 21.—(ENS). —Twenty-two cases of communicable disease were recorded by the counties health unit for the week ending July 17. Of these seven were chickenpox, five were measles, nine cases of mumps and one of undulant fever.

A Cobourg child was taken to the Hospital for Sick Children yesterday after he lapsed into a coma. However, it was found that he was suffering from a diet deficiency in one partitcular element and this was the cause of the trouble. Rumors went through the town that it was polio.

Wesley R. Sweet Heads Board To Aid Blind

CAMPBELLFORD, July 21 — (ENS).—The annual tag day in aid of the blind will be held here on Saturday, September 4, it was decided at the annual meeting of the advisory committee for Campbellford and district of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, on Monday night.

Edward Brown, Peterborough, field secretary for the Institute, reported on the aid being given in the district.

Twenty persons are in receipt of aid through the local advisory committee, and this aid ranges all the way from the provision of extended financial aid to those in receipt of blind pensions, to the donation of white canes to those in need of them.

The talking book is one of the boons now available to the blind. Chapters of best sellers are recorded on wax, one chapter to a record, and these are sent out to the blind on request in album form, together with a special gramophone, which is geared to go much slower than the ordinary machine.

The talking books are usually made available to those who, for one reason or another, cannot use the embossed or Braille books.

Teachers Available

Home teachers, themselves blind, are available to teach others the Brailie system of handicrafts at the request of the local committee.

Where the committee finds, on medical advice, that a person has less than ten per cent. sight remaining, arrangements are made to provide glasses and other sight aids without cost.

Radios are also distributed where needed, and these are considered by members of the Institute to be essential to the blind.

In order to carry on the work of the local committee for the coming year, it will be necessary that the annual drive net $1,000, it was stated. This is the actual amount required, and plans are being made based on this amount.

Elected to office were Wesley R. Sweet, president; Mrs. Bruce Grills, vice-president; Mrs. Joseph Smith, secretary, and William Holmes, treasurer.

The fine work done by Mrs. Bruce Grills, president of the committee for the past two years, and of Gordon Walroth, retiring treasurer, was stressed by Mr. Brown in his report.

Steal Bacall Jewelry

HOLLYWOOD, July 21 (AP). --Actress Lauren Bacall Tuesday reported the theft of a boxful of jewellery taken from her home while she was on a yacht cruise with her husband, Humphrey Bogart. But there was a silver lining. She had taken one of the articles from the box along with her on the cruise. It was a golden "wolf whistle" given her by her husband. "I'd hate to lose that," she said.

Mice As Bait For Maskinonge

CAMPBELLFORD, July 21. — (ENS).—Fishermen who have for years been fishing in the regions surrounding the various powerhouses and dams seem to be deserting these areas to concentrate on Bradley Bay. Here mudcats seem to be the attraction and catches of 33 and 38 on two evenings by Wally Spencer and Ernie Abernethy, fishing at the sandbank near to the Hendricks summer resort, are reported.

Bass are said to be good in the bay, but pickerel are not biting. It is said that last week a tourist in the Bradley Bay district kicked a box or carton, and noticing a mouse run out, killed it with his foot.

Later on he put the mouse on his hook and cast into the bay, and, it is said, got a strike from a large muskie, which he managed to play up to the side of the boat.

Unfortunately, the muskie broke the line and got away, leaving the tourist with nothing but a story to tell to a skeptical audience.

Local piscatorial exaggerators are now recounting anecdotes in which it is indicated that any kind of fish, especially the larger ones, may be caught by using anything from a snaffle bit to an old sock as bait.

Ask Tamblyn's

BUSMAN'S HOLIDAY: "I am going by bus to Calgary (I hope). Will $100 cover my expenses? How about stopping overnight? Are meals expensive?"

Return bus fare from and to Calgary is $76.05, including tax. If you go straight through it takes 91½ hours If you want to stop over every night, the journey will take four days. Your stopovers will include Chicago, Minneapolis and Moose Jaw. You would arrive in Calgary at 11.30 p.m. on the fourth day. Hotel rooms would probably cost you $9 each way Meals would average $3 daily If you don't smoke, don't drink cokes or chew gum you could manage both ways with stopovers on $125.

CANNED MEAT: "I have two sons in university, a daughter in high school, and a husband who earns $60 a week. Meat is my worry. Is it feasible to buy a quarter of beef and can it? A freezing locker isn't available."

Canned meat can be almost as appetizing as fresh cooked. Bought by the quarter you will pay approximately 34 cents a pound with probably another two cents a pound for cutting up. The quarter (110 pounds) will probably cost about $40. After cutting up, roast or stew as for serving. Cook till almost tender. Pack in large glass jars; add salt; then cover with meat juice and fat. Fill the jars almost to the top; process in a 275 deg. F. oven or in a boiler.

SAFE MILK: "I am taking my family to Bancroft district for two weeks' holidays. Is the milk there pasteurized? If not should I boil it?"

You should be able to get pasteurized milk in the Bancroft area. However, if you are too far back from the village for delivery, say the Department of Health officials, boil and cool your milk.

BABY DOCTOR: "My small year-old son tugs at his throat incessantly. He has no cough or cold, but no matter how I try I can't cure him of this habit. What can I do?"

Say our baby experts there must be some cause for the habit, either irritation or infection. Get a check over with your baby doctor. And, add the doctors, nagging even a year-old sets him in his ways. If there is no real trouble, he will stop himself if unnoticed.

John Bracken Retires

The announcement that Mr. John Bracken will retire from the leadership of the Progressive Conservative party is not surprising; although the announcement was made without warning it has been common knowledge that Mr. Bracken was not happy as Conservative leader; at heart he was a Liberal-Progressive, and it was in this character that he gave twenty-one good years to the service of the Province of Manitoba. Within the Conservative party he was always at odds with right wing Conservatives, and there were always elements which, granting him the name of leader, were by no means anxious that he should lead. Mr. Bracken tried hard to make himself into a Conservative, and he brought to his new party the excellent qualities which distinguished him as a provincial politician. Although his early appearances in the Commons were ineffective he became an able critic, and during the last session his work as Leader of the Opposition was of a high order. He did a good deal to repair the fortunes of the Conservative party. But the recent election in New Brunswick was the clearest possible evidence that the Conservative party, considered as a national party, is in a very bad way, and probably Mr. Bracken feels that he is not the man to restore it to health. His own health has been precarious for some time, and to make the efforts which are needed at this juncture for the good of his party would exact a heavy, perhaps the heaviest, toll from Mr. Bracken. He retires wisely, and with honour.

* * *

Where will the Conservative party look for a new leader? There are those within the party who are eager to see Mr. Drew in that position. But recent resignations from the Ontario Cabinet have left the provincial party short of experienced and effective leaders, and if Mr. Drew were to leave Ontario for the national leadership the provincial Conservatives would be in a bad way. Furthermore, there are signs that Mr. Drew's support is chiefly an Ontario support, and the Conservative party must avoid becoming a one-province party at all costs. It is doubtful if Mr. Drew's national prestige is great enough to make him the favourite at the Conservative convention. A lively contest may be looked for on that occasion.

* * *

Can the Conservative party survive? It has had stormy weather for many years, it has had too many leaders, and it has not had a leader since Sir Robert Borden who was capable of making Conservative beliefs attractive to people who were not Conservatives by tradition. It is the belief of this newspaper that the conservative principle is a necessity in Canada's political life, and the Conservative party is the logical source to supply it. But if the Conservative party is too weakened to recover, or if it cannot find a leader capable of repairing its fortunes, it might soon sink into oblivion within a generation. Paradoxically, the choice of a new Liberal leader will have a good deal to do with the Conservative future, for if he should be a man from the Liberal party's right wing, he might thereby supply the conservative principle in the nation's life, cutting the ground from under the feet of his new Conservative opponent.

"Mom And Dad"

The film Mom and Dad, which is now being shown at the Odeon theatre, is the best sex education film that we have ever seen. The qualification is an important one, for films on sex hygiene are usually poorly written, badly acted and produced, and conceived upon a very low artistic level. Mom and Dad is a great improvement upon these crude efforts, though its story is still presented with very little in the way of dramatic adornment. Its finest passages are those in which it gives sex instruction by means of animated drawings and clinical photographs; in these it reaches really fine documentary heights. And it must be borne in mind that if the story and the acting of the film were better, they might obscure its primary message.

That message is the simple one, often repeated in these columns, that education in sexual matters cannot begin too young, and that the best protection of innocence is knowledge, and not ignorance. There are still many people who derive satisfaction (how or why we cannot tell) from a feeling that their daughters and sons do not know how children are begotten or how they are born. A more sensible school of thought holds that children should be given information on these subjects as soon as they ask for it (which they will do in early childhood) and that the information should be enlarged as the child grows until, at twelve years of age, it is in possession of a scientific understanding of reproduction. In this way the child has learned the facts of sex before sex has become a very large factor in its own life.

All the sex education in the world will not prevent some girls from having illegitimate children, or having intercourse promiscuously with a number of men. Not all the warnings in the world will prevent some boys from contracting venereal diseases, and suffering the results. But education will save million of boys and girls from making serious mistakes, and the film Mom and Dad, whatever its artistic faults, provides that education in a complete and easily understandable form.

Candidates For Liberal Leadership: The Hon. S. S. Garson

Fourth on the list of names mentioned as possible candidates for the leadership of the Dominion Liberal Party is that of the Hon. Stuart Sinclair Garson, K.C., Premier of Manitoba. Mr. Garson represents the riding of Fairford in the Manitoba Legislature; in addition to the office of Premier, he holds the portfolios of Dominion-Provincial Relations and Provincial Treasurer.

The political career of Stuart Garson has been confined to the Province of Manitoba, and his name was unfamiliar to most Easterners until it became prominent during the Dominion-Provincial talks of more than a year ago. At that time, observers were favourably impressed by his calm yet firm statement of Manitoba's position and his reasonable attitude toward continued negotiations. He is well known in the West, however, for he has a record of twenty-two years of unbroken service in the Manitoba Legislature.

Stuart Garson was born near St. Catharines, Ontario, in 1898; he was educated at Winnipeg schools, graduating from the University of Manitoba and the Manitoba Law School with the degree of Bachelor of Laws. He was appointed King's Counsel in 1935. First elected to the Manitoba Legislature at the provincial general election of 1927, he has been re-elected successively at the general elections of 1932, 1936, 1941 and 1945, once by acclamation. His first Cabinet post came in 1936, when he was appointed Provincial Treasurer in the Liberal-Progressive Administration; in 1941 he was appointed Minister of Telephones and Minister in charge of the Manitoba Power Commission. When Hon. John Bracken resigned in 1943 to assume leadership of the Dominion Progressive Conservative Party, Mr. Garson was sworn in as Premier and Minister of Dominion-Provincial Relations.

A fluent speaker and an able debater, Stuart Garson has demonstrated even greater ability as an administrator in the provincial political field. He has a pleasing personality, is married and the father of two daughters, and is a member of the United Church. There has been no indication from Mr. Garson whether or not he will be an active candidate for the post of national leader of the Liberal Party, to be filled at Ottawa next month.

The Pastoral, Rhapsody

Now in high summer the earth is showing its fertility. The hay (a heavy late crop) is new-mown and lies in windrows ready for the loader, or is already cocked and drawn in, or (the newest practice in these parts) is tight-packed in bales and dots the field, tidy as a Danish crop. Hundreds of loads have been stored in the barns, bulging the mows and pervading the air with a sweet dry smell. Hard by the meadow is a stand of oats, slowly draining of green as the kernels plump. Next it are ten acres of fall wheat, a golden russet, undulating in changing waves under the breeze. It is a rich crop, as heavy as the most optimistic farmer could want.

The rectangles of wheat, meadow, oats, hoe crops and corn chequer the valleys and slopes. In Otonabee, Monaghan, Cavan, Emily and Smith—wherever one goes in this district—the pattern of sun and shadow, cultivated fields and woodlots, is a delight, a fulfilment of the spring's promise.

Undoubtedly the best labour-saving device of today is tomorrow.

Speaking Personally About Communism

By T. J. ALLEN

DESPITE the spate of books about Communism—or perhaps because of it—one wonders whether anything really important, wise or witty is being said about the subject. There is, incidentally, only one indexed reference to Communism in the eleventh edition of Bartlett's "Familiar Quotations", a bathetic assertion about 'high-brow communists' by William McFee. That is at least an indication that the subject has become more provocatively vital in the last five years than in the preceding 95 of the first century of Karl Marx.

Three books are presently under my hand: "This Was My Choice" by Ivor Gouzenko, the Soviet cipher clerk at Ottawa who opened his heart and various secret documents to the R.C.M.P.; "Communism and the Conscience of the West", by Monsignor Fulton J. Sheen, a man of informed mentality and the Roman faith; and "Speaking Frankly" by the former American Secretary of State, James F. Byrnes.

GOUZENKO'S story (published by Dent, Toronto) is timely if only because a movie based on the Ottawa espionage trials will soon be coming to town, and readable (his "ghost writer" is an experienced journalist). It is an authentic thriller and moreover has an Ontario setting. Has Gouzenko made Ottawa better-known to foreigners than any Acts of the Canadian Parliament or speeches of Canadian Prime Ministers?

"Borovkov bought groceries for the Embassy at a store on Bank Street." "I was beginning to hear other disconcerting odds and ends of information. Kirsanov, who worked with the Commercial Counsellor as an engineer-economist, told me over a glass of beer one day at the Chateau Laurier Hotel beverage room, that he has spent the whole morning on an order from Moscow for fifty children's bicycles". It is detailed references like this which not only give Gouzenko's story a local habitation, but an intense air of reality which, through similar use of detail, the writers of mystery stories hope to achieve.

The greater part of the book deals with Gouzenko's life and training in the U.S.S.R. That in itself make the story interesting even if the reader did not know that the blood-chilling climax was pending—the decision to 'tell all', the stealing of the documents in the Ottawa Embassy, the 36-hour attempt to find anybody in Ottawa who would listen to his revelations and act on them. To us Canadians who are becoming aware of our proximity to Russia, it may be interesting to know that Gouzenko arrived in Canada by plane from Moscow via the northern route. He set out from Moscow and landed at Edmonton, though it took him four days.

Igor Gouzenko is now, by special act of the British Parliament, a British subject. He is not yet, it seems, a Canadian citizen. He is living incognito under the protection of the R.C.M.P. Where? Only a few know, and it is hoped that no Soviet officials or Communist fanatics are among the few.

MONSIGNOR SHEEN is a literate man and writes philosophically in "Communism and the Conscience of the West" (to be had from McLelland & Stewart, Toronto). He also writes lucidly. He also writes as a Roman Catholic theologian. To people who can rejoice in his dedication ("To MARY Gracious Mother-Heart of the WORLD'S SAVIOUR in Prayerful Hope of The Conversion of Russia") the theme and treatment will be more understandable and important than to people who cannot.

The author makes a distinction between Communism and Communists. Communists are brothers misled but reclaimable, while Communism is essentially an evil philosophy of life. "Communism represents an active barbarism outside Western civilization which has made inroads because of the passive barbarism within, which manifested itself in the general demoralization of society". "As Western civilization loses its Christianity it loses its superiority. The ideology of Communism rose out of the secularized remnants of a Western civilization whose soul was once Christian. Communism is therefore both 'an effect and a judgement' on Western bourgeois civilization". The book is as much a tract as an analysis.

MR. BYRNES makes an important contribution to the recent flood of personal memoirs of American public men in "Speaking Frankly" (Harper, distributed by Musson Book Company, Toronto). It is not overtaxing with the momentous year and a half (July, 1945 - January, 1947) when Mr. Byrnes was about to become or was Secretary of State, when he spent more time in Europe at international conferences than he did in Washington, when the nub of these conferences was the western world's relations with Soviet Russia, it is about Communism. Mr. Byrnes makes the classic understatement that "there is no easy formula to guide one in getting along with the Soviets". The book complements the other two under review in that it reveals Communist tactics in international politics, as discovered (to his sorrow) by Mr. Byrnes. The three books are personal revelations, with the limitations such points of view impose.

Mr. Byrnes is a reasonable man, but a disillusioned one. He finds sinister continuity between Rusia's present policies and her traditional aggression in the past. He believes co-operation and compromise are never understood by Russia. Only "firmness brings results". Without quarrelling with these conclusions, it might be observed that Mr. Byrnes is capable of taking notes in shorthand (which he did at the Yalta, Potsdam, London, Moscow and Paris conferences). No matter how shrewd Mr. Byrnes may be—he is shrewd and intelligent—an amateur diplomat and harassed Foreign Minister is, in the opinion of this reviewer, better equipped for international conferences and high statesmanship by Plato than by Pitman.

Statesman vs. Politician

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

WE received a letter yesterday from a friend in Western Ontario, in which he discussed the coming Liberal convention. He says:

"Hope we succeed in electing a good leader for the Liberal party. Mackenzie King has done a good job. Canada is not an easy country to govern. As I see it, St. Laurent is the best man in sight. Gardiner is a hard worker but too much of the older type of politician."

Last evening whilst reading the leading editorial in that excellent Toronto weekly, Saturday Night, which was headed, "The Liberal Leader", we found these lines:

"The favourites, at present, are Mr. St. Laurent and Mr. Gardiner. As between these two we are strongly for Mr. St. Laurent. It is a clear choice between a statesman and a politician."

We often wonder when we read such statements as the above whether those who voice them, or write them, have given serious thought to the differentiation which they try to imply. We must confess that we have very little sympathy with those people who try to set up on a pedestal some men in public life by calling them statesmen, and depreciate other men by calling them politicians. To us it is simply humbug and nonsense. The inference of course is that the "statesman" is interested only in the good of the country and that the "politician" is too often interested in himself.

"One versed in the theory of government; one practically engaged in the business of the state; a statesman (1589)".

Having watched political life in Canada from the side lines for many long years, we must confess that if we were in political life we would much rather be called a politician than a statesman. Such "watching" leads us to the conclusion that a statesman is often a man of high ideals who when appointed to public office does an excellent job; too often, however, he canot get elected to parliament because he has no appeal or political sagacity. No one would for a moment deny that one of the greatest statesmen that Canada has ever produced is Mr. Mackenzie King—yet he also possesses more political sagacity than any member of his government. If, too, we look for a moment across the border to the south of us and think of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, we think of a man who was not in every sense of the word. Mr. St. Laurent is a man of very high ideals, but we doubt that his ideals are any higher than those of Mr. James Gardiner, who has a long and distinguished career in both provincial and federal politics.

A man of other years who combined the qualities of both statesman and politician was Sir Charles Tupper. Sir Charles Tupper was a great man. Those of us who are older and remember his glorious fight in 1896, when he was seventy-five, and his biting criticism of the Laurier administration in the campaign of 1900 when, although over eighty years of age, he went from one end of this country to the other and made over one hundred speeches, all of them full of power and eloquence. The great Sir John Macdonald of whom this city is so proud, was every inch a politician, but no one who was not also a great statesman could have successfully engineered Confederation.

It is a mistake too often made by those who have never been active in political life to think that a man who gets the reputation of being a successful politician is not at the same time earnestly, honestly and sincerely interested in the welfare of his country. We could name a dozen men who were termed politicians and who were accused when they lived of all sorts of political crimes of which they were entirely innocent. Everyone who has read Canadian history knows the accusations levelled at Sir Charles Tupper; yet anyone who has read his "Life" cannot help but realize that he was one of the most honourable men who ever filled a position of importance in Canadian public life. He scorned the very things of which he was so often accused.

◇ ◇ ◇

In choosing between Mr. St. Laurent and Mr. Gardiner, as Saturday Night has done and as our friend who wrote us the other day has done, we would not be inclined to weigh them as a statesman against a politician. We would be inclined to weigh their qualifications for leadership. By leadership we mean a man who can successfully lead his party to victory. A man can be full of ideals, but unless he can lead his party to victory he will have little opportunity of putting those ideals into effect.

When we are inclined to take a high line and divide the statesman from the politicians, we must never forget that it is the humble workers in the various political parties in the 245 constituencies across Canada who are responsible for the election or the defeat of governments. They are the patriots who for weeks before an election give untiringly, and often without any compensation, of their efforts and abilities to try to make voters are taken to the polls. These people are, of course, "politicians"—but the great majority of them have the interests of the country at heart just as much as those men in high places to whom the word "statesman" is often applied.

Send Sir Ernest Over

IN his weekly column in the Financial Post, Toronto, the London correspondent, "Adelphi," writes that Sir Thomas Beecham has been on the rampage again. This time, speaking at a public luncheon, the peppery Sir Thomas (who once made admonitory remarks to a Brantford audience, which liked them) said British singers had dull voices. In fact, he said, they were so dull that they would not carry beyond the first four rows of the stalls. To polish things off, the famous conductor charged that Covent Garden had become the laughingstock of the world.

Sir Thomas is noted for his superb exaggerations, of course, and while everybody pays some attention to him, few pay too much. Like Bernard Shaw he is a stimulating character and, like all stimulants, should be taken with discretion.

However, "Adelphi" goes on to say that the huge Harringay Arena is drawing 10,000 people a night to listen to its popular classical programs. For half a crown people can hear Lily Pons, Melchior, Menuhin, Flagstaadt and Iturbi.

Surveying this galaxy, "Adelphi" sighs: "It is a great pity that Canada does not send Sir Ernest MacMillan and his Toronto Symphony over here for a tour. They would have a grand reception, and it would remind the British that there are other things in Canada besides making holes in the ice to catch fish."

The gentle irony of the foregoing should not escape the Canadian Powers That Be. If the latter could possibly take a little of the money they intend to spend on beaming a Canadian radio propaganda to the Russians (who won't listen anyway) and divert it to the purpose here suggested, the second investment would pay the greater dividends.

While Brantford was charmed and honored to have Sir Ernest as a professional guest last week, it would have been better for Canada and the Toronto Symphony Orchestra had he been conducting the latter at the Harringay.—Brantford Expositor.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

O LORD, thou art my God; I will exalt thee. I will praise thy name; for thou hast done wonderful things; thy counsels of old are faithfulness and truth....And in this mountain shall the Lord of hosts make unto all people a feast of fat things, a feast of wines on the lees, of fat things full of marrow, of wines on the lees well refined.

And he will destroy in this mountain the face of the covering cast over all people, and the vail that is spread over all nations. He will swallow up death in victory; and the Lord God will wipe away tears from off all faces; and the rebuke of his people shall he take away from off all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it. (Isa. 25: 1, 6-8.)

And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away.

And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. And he said unto me, Write: for these words are true and faithful. And he said unto me, It is done. I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end. I will give unto him that is athirst of the fountain of the water of life freely.

He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son. (Rev. 21: 3-7.)

Progress Toward What?

HISTORY never tires of supplying its own ironies. Consider, for example, what happened within the space of three hours the other day. At Lake Success, the U.N. Atomic Commission finally threw up its hands and voted to disband. Further efforts to set up an international control of atomic weapons would be, it held, useless. On Capitol Hill, the House armed services committee put its OK on a 65,000-ton aircraft carrier, more than twice the size of any existing warship, specially planned to launch atomic bombers with a 1,700-mile range while cruising in Arctic waters. (This single warship would cost $50 million more than the entire endowment of Harvard, our richest university.) At the White House, President Truman announced complete success in the tests of three new types of atomic bombs, and expressed his gratification of the "very substantial progress" shown. In the same statement he directed the American atomic commission to "initiate at once" work on still more destructive A-bombs. "Very substantial progress"! Toward what?—The Christian Century.

Dewey Has Learned

Tom Dewey has learned a lot in four years. He has learned, mainly, about his own strength. He is sure of himself now, and he wasn't four years ago. Today his deep laugh is slow and easy. Four years ago there was a nervous and uneasy quality about it. The voters then sensed there was something wrong in the Dewey personality. Franklin Roosevelt, with that sixth sense of his, knew it and worked unmercifully on Tom Dewey's weakness.

The death of Franklin Roosevelt—the one man who could hurt Dewey—has made him calmer and surer. He has learned to his own satisfaction that he has been a good Governor, efficient and effective. He has learned how to make government administration seemingly as effortless as fishing in a sleepy country stream. He has discovered how to poke and persuade a Legislature into action. —Tris Coffin, in New York Post.

Example C.C.F. Temper

SIR JOHN MACDONALD once said that "the people have a right to be wrong"—good democratic temper. Mr. Claire Gillis, C.C.F. member for Cape Breton South, is of a different temper. Not amused by the result in New Brunswick, where his party was rejected, Mr. Gillis told the House:

"They did what I expected them to do, the poor, the uneducated, on relief, kept that way deliberately, subservient to the machine in power."

Thus, we fear greatly, the general C.C.F. temper—the temper which looks upon disagreement as a crime, which makes a difference of opinion a cause for hatred, and which sees all opposition as rooted in ignorance or inferior moral status.

It is the totalitarian temper, which doesn't understand disagreement, which is based in intolerance, and which, when it has the power, tramples on opposition. — Ottawa Journal.

Wind And Hail Buffet Sudbury Area

SUDBURY, July 21—(AP)—A heavy wind, accompanied by egg-sized hailstones, roared through nearby Coniston, Northern Ontario mining community, late Tuesday. It buffetted a small section of Sudbury and uprooting trees on nearly every street of Coniston.

The corrugated iron roof of the International Nickel Co. plant at Coniston was torn off by the heavy wind, which also picked up a garage and the automobile it house and deposited it eight feet away.

Arthur Ethiser, an engineer, whose small frame house was blown from its foundations, toppled over three times and smashed into the ground, went to hospital in serious condition. He was believed to be suffering a broken neck. He was in bed when the wind struck and was still wrapped in blankets when he was pulled from the wreckage a short time later.

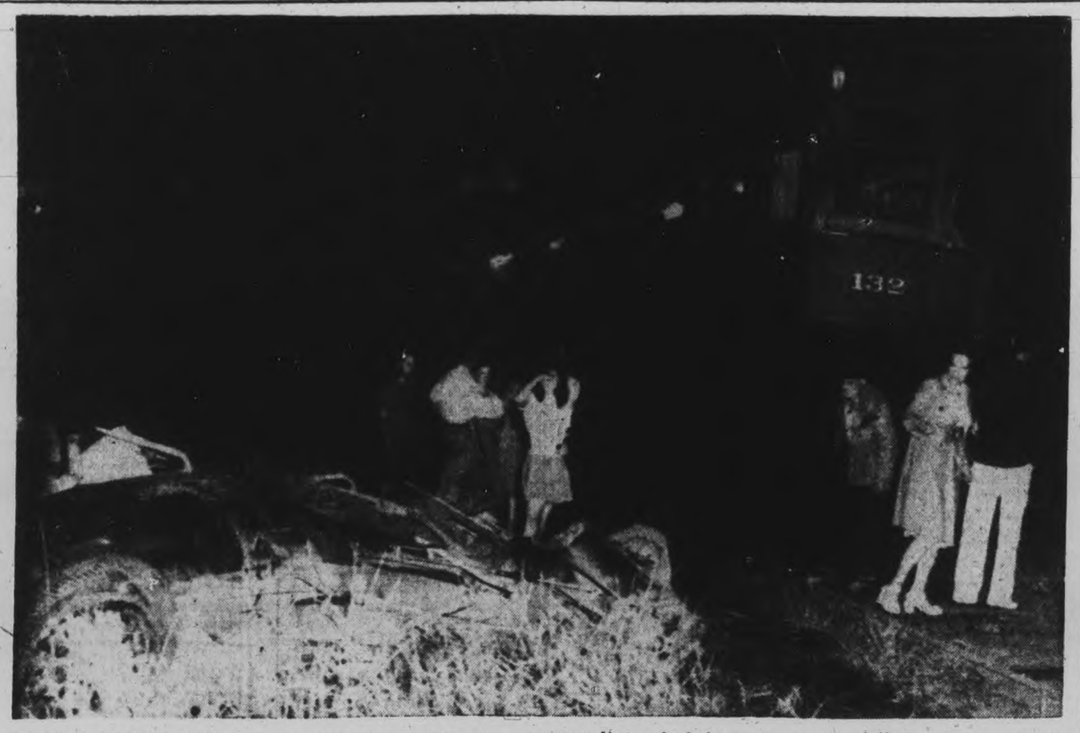
The wind also tore several box-cars loose from a small engine pushing them and shoved them against a Canadian Pacific Railways locomotive, causing considerable damage. The steeple of the Anglican Church was torn off for the second time in three years. A house under construction was flattened and pieces of lumber were carried 100 yards.

Main damage was concentrated in Coniston, but Sudbury also was affected as sign boards were torn down and blocked water mains caused water to flow into yards.

There was little interruption in communication or Hydro service. Power was off for little more than 15 minutes.

War On Dandelions

EDMONTON (CP)—The city parks department has begun a campaign to rid Edmonton's parks of dandelions. A mobile spraying unit is employed.



RADIAL CAR OF the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway is shown derailed by impact with automobile (foreground) in which four persons were killed and one seriously injured Monday night at crossing 250 feet further up the line five miles from Welland.

Touring Players Finding It Pays

REGINA, July 21 — (CP). — Saskatchewan's touring players—who have taken Moliere and Shakespeare to the back concessions and found that it pays—now are setting their sights a little higher: Making a contribution to that distant goal of a National Theatre.

When eight University of Saskatchewan students—the University Stage Society — presented Moliere's "A Doctor in Spite of Himself," and the Pyramus and Thisbe scene from Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," Tuesday night, it marked the half way point in a summer tour that has carried the theatre to rural Saskatchewan as never before.

Prof. Emrys Jones, Director of Drama at the university, is the guiding hand behind the show.

The former chairman of the National Theatre Committee said in an interview to-day he was "tired of discussion and waiting."

Since the university closed last spring at Saskatoon, eight students, props to work in any theatre where electric power is available, and one station wagon have been covering Saskatchewan with one-night stands. Audiences average 200. The troupe estimates it has covered 5,000 miles.

J. D. Kean, County Engineer Inspects Road System

John David Kean, 28, is the new county engineer and road superintendent. He succeeded J. A. Fletcher who retired on May 31.

A war veteran with service both in Canada and the United Kingdom he has had previous engineering experience in East Whitby township and East York. He is a graduate of the University of Toronto.

Mr. Kean was born in Whitby where he received both primary and secondary school education. His university studies were interrupted by the war but he returned after VE Day and graduated in 1947 as a civil engineer.

He received his commission in the Royal Canadian Engineers and served on the west coast, at Petawawa, and in the United Kingdom.

Before coming to Peterborough he held the position of junior engineer in East York township for nine months and then took over the post of East Whitby engineer. Heredity probably had something to do with his choice of a profession: his father has been engineer for Ontario County since 1919.

Mr. Kean is married and has two boys; one aged three, and the other six months. At present his wife and family are victims of the local housing shortege and are living in Whitby until accommodation can be found here.

He took over his new work in an active capacity on June 28 and since then has spent much time travelling over the county roads to see for himself what they are like.

NEW COUNTY ENGINEER and Superintendent of County Roads is John David Kean, 28, formerly of Whitby. He is a graduate from the University of Toronto in civil engineering, a war veteran, and has had engineering experience in East York and East Whitby. The post was formerly held by J. A. Fletcher whose resignation was effective May 31.

Immediate tasks confronting him are the newly-started Chemong Causeway project; the completion of the 60,000-gallon concrete water reservoir at the Old People's Home; erection of two bridges, one near Cedar Lake on the road running off Highway 28, and the other on the Stewart Hall road in Otonabee. Two more miles of asphalt road are to be laid on the Warsaw Road and a mile of top-surfacing is to be laid over the present surface on the Keene Road.

Mr. Kean is also the Suburban Area Commission engineer, but work on the Buckhorn Road was considered a full-time job and Mr. Fletcher was hired to complete it.

Rotary Offers Fellowship For Students

Peterborough Rotary Club is keenly interested in sponsoring a suitable local candidate for a Rotary Foundation Fellowship. Through the means of such fellowships, the Rotary Foundation hopes to help international understanding and good-will by giving exceptionally qualified young men and women an opportunity to have one year of advanced study at a university in a country other than their own.

A candidate may choose any university of recognized standing offering the kind of special courses he needs, provided it is in a country where there are Rotary clubs. No arbitrary limitation is placed on the field of study of a candidate, but it is hoped that the field chosen will be one through which the candidate will be able to make use of his knowledge and experience in order to increase international understanding.

The amount of the grant will be sufficient to provide travel expenses from the student's home to the university selected, to cover tuition and other university expenses, a small amount to cover educational travel, an allowance for modest but comfortable living for the year of study, and travel expenses returning home at the end of the year.

A prospective candidate can approach the Rotary Club for the purpose of making an application for a Foundation Fellowship any time after he has entered what corresponds to the senior year in a North American university, provided he expects to receive a degree at the end of the year.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A benefit soccer match is arranged for tomorrow evening at 6.30 in King Edward Park between CGE and the Downer family. Proceeds going to Ben McMaster who is seriously ill. Ben starred for more than 20 years in football here and one season scored 76 goals—counting all games—for a league record. The strong CGE squad will be at full strength and so will the noted Downer clan. Let's see if we can get it straight. There are five sons of one Downer brother the other brother and his three sons and a brother-in-law with his three sons! Or something like that, anyway. An unique setup in any sport and all of them good players. We trust there is a big turnout for this benefit match.

Commenting on Ken Colling's resignation, due to ill health, from the OBA executive, George Carver writes in the Belleville sheet: "The passing of Ken Colling from the sport he loved so well will be noted with regret by baseball men all over Ontario. A former pro umpire, he knows the game from stem to gudgeon and he was highly regarded not only by his colleagues on the OBA executive, but by baseball's higher-ups from Windsor to the Quebec border. He was best known in these parts for his work as one of the men in blue in the former Central Ontario League and the old Bay of Quinte League....Ken and the missus have taken a cottage in the northern part of Hastings County for the next few weeks."

Lots o' Luck, Pal

Yes, we're sorry Ken had to sever connections with the diamond game. We have been friends since the old COBL was first re-organized back in 1931. He was an active officer in the loop besides being its best and most colorful umpire. He was sports writer for years on the Ontario Intelligencer in Belleville and a keen follower of all games. Former prominent baseball officials up this way, like Alex Kay, Max Swanston, Bill Kay, Pete Lang, Vic Hamilton, Hugh Campbell and many others will also be sorry to learn Ken's health isn't so good. We know they'll join with us in wishing him lots of speed on the road to recovery.

Some changes in the Girls' Softball League fixtures the rest of this week at the Bowl. Tonight, Woollens tangle with Ashby's at seven, followed by Lakefield versus Lock Co. On Friday, Woollens meet Westclox in the opener, while Lock Co. plays Lakefield here in the nightcap. And the only one listed so far for Monday is betwixt Westclox and Lindsay lasses on the Ashburnham diamond. Hardly know yet what the score is after that, as a lot of the shops go on vacation next week, which plays havoc with schedules. Apart from a postponement or two, this schedule is over then and playoffs will begin early in August.

Best Of The Season

Whew, that was a thriller! That 1-0 win in 10 heats for Knights over Legion in men's softball at the Bowl last e'en. It kept Knights' hopes of a playoff spot alive, but they still must win two more as B-A drops two. And Comstock's made a playoff berth by beating B-A 9-2 in their game. Ever see a race like that in this loop? Thursday night, B-A plays Legion, while Knights go against Comstock's, and the schedule is over. However, there is a tie game to be replayed, if necessary, and one rained-out tilt. So it might be necessary to use one night the first week of August—as there's a week's layoff coming up—to settle the sizzling stretch drive. Oboy-oboyoboy!

Petes' COBL-ers dropped a tough one to Batawa in Belleville last night, taking the short side of a 4-2 count in another dandy duel. Doug Loucks and Gord Muffitt both pitched swell ball and it was a good game all the way. The Petes were shorthanded, owing to the hot softball twin bill here and they missed regulars like Dalton, Mackness and Garvey. Then they—and Larry—had a real tough break when Edwardson, gallantly playing despite a cramp in the stomach, collapsed while at bat in the fourth. He was sent to hospital, and required an immediate operation for a perforated ulcer. That'll put him on the shelf for a spell. The win pulled the Shoemen into a top-place tie with the Petes, who go to Oshawa tonight and have Batawa here on Saturday.

Boys Had To Hustle

Senior "B" lacrossers had to hustle hard in the last quarter to win 14-11 last eve in Huntsville. Their usual late drive was enough for the victory, but they had no time to mess around in this one. Huntsville came up with a young, battling bunch that led most of the speedy melee. A fairly clean fray, with one fist fight near the finish between Kay and Connelly. Mick Magee and Frank (Farmer) Connelly came out of the contest with nasty cuts. Most of the team looked good in this tussle, and Snowden sparked the Huntsville bunch. Same squads tangle in Miller Bowl on Friday night, and it promises to be a warmish scrap.

Batawa Wins 4-2 Fray Against Petes

BELLEVILLE, July 21.—(CP).—The Batawa Shoemen pulled out a 4-2 victory over a short-handed Petes' team here last night to climb into a top-place COBL tie with Peterborough. There was another hurling duel in this clash with Muffitt and Loucks pitching on pretty even terms. An error and a couple of bad breaks caused the Peterborough defeat, though the Shoemen played heads - up baseball throughout. Wagar was the big hitter with a home run and two other hits in four appearances. Larry Edwardson, Petes' first-sacker, collapsed at bat in the fourth. Taken to hospital, he required an operation for a perforated ulcer.

Comstock's Win

Comstock's defeated Legion 6 to 4 in a scheduled juvenile lacrosse game last night at Miller Bowl.

Both teams featured a good passing attack. With checking very close, the game was surprisingly clean, with only one minor penalty handed out by referee Doug Miller, Jr.

Holland was hard to beat in goal for Comstock's. Sedgewick and Vincent led the Comstock's attack, with Fontaine and Crowlew thee pick of the losers.

Petes Take Lacrosse Win Against Huntsville 14 to 11

The Petes pulled out a 14-11 OLA senior "B" victory in Huntsville last night before a large gallery. It was fast and close all the way, with Huntsville rolling up a 4-0 first-quarter lead, keeping in front 8-3 at the half, and having a 10-9 margin going into the fourth frame. The Petes then drove hard and finished stronger to yank out the decision in the last part of the period. Play was fairly clean, but Magee and Connelly suffered cuts, and the latter and Kay were given majors for fighting in the last quarter of the hot tilt. The same squads clash here Friday.

Snowden paced the Huntsville attack, scoring five goals. Payne, Suiter and C. Higgs were also good for the homesters. Several of the Petes were potent scorers, Jack Breakspear playing a good game both ways, Gordon, Foote and D. Vitarelli also being prominent. Both goalies pulled off some swell saves. Huntsville had a lot of hustle, using a young team this game.

The teams:

Petes: Goal, B. Hill; defence, Magee and Chute; centre, E. Creighton; wings, Dugan and R. Breakspear; rover, Foote; alternates, Dundas, J. Breakspear, L. Vitarelli, D. Vitarelli, Gordon, Smith and Connelly.

Comstock's Get In Playoffs By Beating B-A

Comstock's beat B-A 9-2 at the Bowl last night before a big crowd to clinch a playoff spot in the City Softball League. B-A might still be put out if they lose two more and Knights win two. The win left Comstock's tied for first with Legion. B-A errors hurt as they were loose defensively but Reg Gordon pitched steady seven-hit ball and he had fine backing. Bob Strickland went five on the losers' slab and Bob Crowe finished up. There were few walks or strikeouts in the game.

Hermie Castle led the winners at bat with two doubles and a single in five, while Cournyea, Thomson, Anderson and Jaquith each had two for five. Thomson hit a triple and double, and Jaquith got a two-bagger. Red Carpenter topped the losers with a homer and two singles in four, as Borland got two for four. Catches by Hawkes and Jaquith, both one-hand grabs, were defensive standouts.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

We wish to draw the attention of bowlers to the following: The date for the Black Memorial mixed doubles open tournament has been officially changed from Wednesday, August 25th to Wednesday, September 1. Already many entries have been received.

We were sorry we missed the Hopkins-Black game last evening. We were kept too busy with father and son Coleman.

It seems that Black and Hopkins were tied for group honors, neither having lost a game in the schedule. They were drawn to play last night and from what the onlooker tell us it was a dandy, Black winning out by one shot.

Don't forget to get a partner for Friday night's doubles.

Many mixed rinks are playing in Port Hope on this, the weekly half holiday, and close to a dozen pairs are playing up in Lindsay in the men's open doubles.

Knights Take A 1-0 Win From Legion

Knights edged Legionnaires 1-0 in 10 innings at the Bowl last night in a thriller to keep in the hunt for a City Softball League playoff place. They must win two more if B-A drops a couple to gain a tie with the B-A bunch as the schedule ends. Probably the biggest paid crowd of the season so far saw a humdinger of a battle. It was won in the 10th when Johnny Condon stretched a little Texas leaguer into a double and went to third on a bad peg to second, scoring later on an outfield fly. Legion had the winning run aboard in the last of the 10th but couldn't tie it up.

Lefty Reid and Jack Crowley both pitched swell ball, each giving four hits and fanning eight. But Reid walked none, his support being shaky while Crowley, who walked six, had perfect backing. O'Heron led Knights at bat with two for five, none of the losers getting more than one bingle. Catches by Willshaw and Parsons stood out in a nifty number that had the big crowd yelling.

Dodgers Blank Chicago 5-0 Now Tied In Second Place

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Brooklyn Dodgers are making the pennant talk of their president, Branch Rickey, and their new manager, Burt Shotton, sound like something more than idle chatter.

In last place a little more than two weeks ago and apparently hopelessly out of the National League race, the revived Dodgers are right back in the thick of the fight, trailing only the leading Boston Braves.

Over the last 18 days the Brooks have won 14 games and lost only three for an .824 percentage. They won nine of 11 under Leo Durocher, and five of six under Burt Shotton.

Their 5-0 victory over the Cubs in Chicago Tuesday together with Boston's 9-6 loss to the Reds in Cincinnati advanced the Brooks to within 6½ games of the Braves. They are only four games behind in the important games-lost column.

Pittsburgh Pirates virtually share second place with Brooklyn. Brooklyn has won 41 and lost 38 for .5189 while the Pirates have won 42 and lost 39 for .5185.

Gets Shutout

Rex Barney, strong-armed right-hander for whom the Dodgers have been waiting since 1943 to find himself, pitched the first shutout of his major league career in blanking the Cubs with seven hits.

The Pirates crushed Philadelphia Phils 11-2 in a night game in Pittsburgh as Bob Chesne, $100,000 pitcher from the Pacific Coast league, chalked up his fifth victory. He permitted only seven hits including Eddie Miller's eigth home run.

Home runs by Johnny Wyrostek, Ted Kluszewski and Danny Litwhiler accounted for six Cincinnati runs and gave the Reds a 9-6 victory over the Braves. Herm Wehmeier, 21-year-old right-hander, was credited with the victory.

The game between New York Giants and Cardinals in St. Louis was postponed because of rain.

The oncoming Red Sox gained valuable ground on the three leaders in the American league, picking up a full game on Cleveland, Philadelphia and New York. They defeated St. Louis Browns 8-3 to move within a game of the third-place Yankees.

Yankees Bow

The Yankees bowed to Detroit 2-1, the same score by which Washington knocked off the first-place Indians. The cellar-dwelling Chicago White Sox defeated the runner-up Athletics 5-2. The Indians now enjoy a one-game bulge over the A's, lead the Yankees by 3½ games and the Red Sox by 4½.

Boston's Jack Kramer scattered seven Brownie hits for his 11th victory of the season, his ninth in a row.

Virgil Trucks bested the Yankees' Allie Reynolds in a tight hurling duel to put Detroit over the .500 rating. Trucks permitted only six hits for his eighth victory.

The stolen base played a big part in Washington's victory over Cleveland. The Nats scored the winning marker in the second when Mickey Vernon walked, stole second and crossed the plate on Eddie Yost's single.

Three Canadians Go Into 5th Chess Round

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., July 21.—(CP).—Three Canadians went into the fifth round of the United States junior chess tournament today with a record of three victories and one loss each.

Keith Hastings, 17, of Toronto won both his third and fourth-round matches Tuesday to catch up with Ross Siemms, 12-year-old Toronto player, and Frank Anderson, 20, also of Toronto, both of whom lost in the third round before winning their fourth-round encounters.

Bernard Lesage, 13-year-old Quebec player, won both his matches to end the day with a score of two victories and two losses. William Oakar, 16, of Toronto, lost both of his and was tied with Lesage in the standing.

Milton Glass, 16, Toronto, drew his fourth-round match after losing in the third for a score of one triumph and two losses. Tadashi Kagetsu, 17, of Toronto, won his first game of the tournament in the fourth round after losing in the third. His score stood at one victory and three losses.

Louis Insists He's Retired

NEW YORK, July 21.—(AP).—Joe Louis insists that he meant "positively" when he stepped down as heavyweight champion, but the ring world buzzed today over reports he may defend his title again in September.

Nat Fleischer, editor of a magazine, said in a copyright article that the Brown Bomber would meet the light heavyweight champion, Gus Lesnevich, in Yankee Stadium Sept. 22.

Fleischer added he came to this conclusion after an interview with the retired champion in which Louis told him:

'Maybe I should meet Lesnevich. I can beat him. I still will be able to retire unbeaten like Gene Tunney."

But in Detroit Tuesday, Louis drove another spike into the comeback talk.

"I don't know where those rumors come from," he said. "I've retired and that's all there is to it."

DeMille Planning Expensive Bible Epic

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, July 21 (CPA)—Cecil B. DeMille, long a pacemaker in the movie industry, will upset the present economy trend with his next picture. It will be a costly epic.

In these days when most producers are cutting costs to the bone, DeMille plans to make "Samson and Delilah" in his usual lavish style. The current budget of the Biblical epic is $4,500,000, and it may shoot over that. It already has considerable expense in the film, having planned it since 1933. It will start in October, starring Victor Mature and Hedy Lamarr.

Wonder why RKO is the only studio that doesn't make musicals. Guess it won't be making much of anything from now on . . . . Good to see Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers hoofing together again. She is carrying on for ailing Judy Garland the same way Fred subbed when Gene Kelly busted a gam on "Easter Parade."

Loretta Young and Joel McCrea. Touchest: Katharine Hepburn and Gary Cooper. Nice, people, though . . . .

I'd like to see Bette Davis and Greer Garson break their slumps and bounce back in smash pictures. They add a lot of class to the screen . . . .

Wish Gene Kelly would do another dramatic role, as he did in "Seventh Cross" and "Christmas Holiday." Bing Crosby never sounded better than he does nowadays on "Friendly Mountains." That fellow mellows . . . . If I had to pick Hollywood's most beautiful girls, I would start the list with Gail Russell, Donna Reid, Marguerite Chapman, and Dorothy Hart . . . Oh yes, and one more —Nancy Katherine Thomas.

Wine Firm Seeks To Place Store In City

A rumor that a wine firm had obtained an option for a five-year lease on a Charlotte St. premises was verified today, and Acting Mayor Swanston admitted the council had learned of this development last week.

On Monday night after adjournment of the regular council meeting, the aldermen were asked to remain behind a few minutes, and today it was learned they discussed this proposed wine store. The discussion among members of the council brought opinions from several members that there was ample facilities for the purchase of wine in the city now. No decision was reached in this off-the-record council discussion.

City's Financing Of Bandstand Strikes Snag

Financing of the $12,000 bandstand now under construction at Nicholls Oval hit a snag this week with receipt of a letter from the City Trust Commission refusing to transfer money for the project without approval of the Municipal Board.

The decision of the City Trust was conveyed to the council in a letter to City Clerk Outram from Thomas MacKay. Mr. MacKay said the Trust had obtained independent legal opinion on the transfer of monies and had been advised that in order to obtain authority for such action, it would be necessary to have permission of the Municipal Board. He also pointed out it was the opinion of the members it would not be proper for them to make such an application.

Contract Let

The bandstand will cost approximately $12,000 and the contract has been let to the Eastwood Construction Company. Work is well underway.

Apparently Mayor Ovens had some conversation with members of the Trust which led him to believe that sufficient to meet the cost of the project might be available from surplus monies over and above that required to meet the needs of the city's sinking funds.

On that basis, it appears the work of building the bandstand was started. When application for the money was first made to the Trust, the Council received the letter as mentioned in the foregoing. The latter has been referred to the Board of Works, which is headed by Alderman Burrell Dodds.

FALSE ALARM AT FOUNDRY

Shortly before 6 p.m. on Tuesday firemen receive a call informing them that smoke was pouring from the foundry on McDonnel St. They arrived to find that this was caused by the coke ovens being started up, and was no cause for alarm. Later a trip was made to the swamp on Erskine Ave. where a fill of earth and sawdust is being dumped. Spontaneous combustion has now caused three fires in as many days in these dumping operations.

A NEW CAR was almost totally wrecked near Hastings Tuesday morning when it stalled on the track and was struck by an east-bound freight train. The car, owned by Jack Dane, Peterborough, is shown on the Left after it had been carried 93 feet from the crossing. A view of the crossing is shown, and the car approached from the right. This is a little-used lane and Mr. Dane mistook the railway for the road, just turning enough for his wheels to drop off the crossing. The two men, Dane and F. Crowe, Peterborough, were out of the car when it was struck.

Watermelons, Canteloupes Off the Canadian Market

Those people that during the dog days of August like to slake their thirst by devouring juicy watermelon are doomed to disappointment this year. If it's any consolation, however, they can be assured that their abstinence has a dash of patriotism about it.

The explanation is that the watermelon from "the sunny south" is included in that long list of non-essential fruits that is banned from entering Canada from the United States. Canada's reserve of American dollars has improved recently, but Finance Minister Abbott apparently feels that it is too soon to relax the ban.

Among other fruits that have been missing from Canadian tables are American peaches, pears, cantaloupes, plums, cherries. These also are regarded as non-essential and have been sacrificed in order to conserve dollars.

Would Affect Price

Local fruit dealers point to the high cost of both hothouse and field tomatoes and say that if they had the competition of the imported variety, the price would be much lower. At present the hothouse are retailing at 45 to 49 cents a pound and the field tomatoes 39-49 cents. According to one fruit dealer the price of the latter would be about 25 cents if the American tomatoes were also on the market.

Home-grown tomatoes are expected in large quantities in about two weeks and that should cause a rapid fall in price.

There is plenty of Niagara fruit this year which automatically means reasonable prices. British Columbia produce will probably be somewhat higher because of the flood loss.

At present the housewife can buy red or black cherries from the Niagara peninsula, and the raspberry and blueberry season is starting.

But the large list of domestic fruits on the market still doesn't make the watermelon addict any happier. He'll just have to wait until September for the home-grown variety. And chances are that by then the hot weather will have gone and with it the watermelon-appetite.

One wag thought he had an answer to the whole question: "I guess Abbott just doesn't like watermelon."

50,000 Cases In Pea Pack

This year's pea pack has been one of the heaviest, Joseph McGuire, Canada Packers' cannery manager, said today. It is expected that the pack will be finished by Saturday, when an estimated 50,000 cases will have been prepared, an increase of 7,000 over the 43,000 cases packed in 1947. The expected number of cases falls only 1,00 below the 1945 harvest, when 51,000 cases were packed. This year's crop should weigh about 950,000 pounds.

Despite a cutdown of 50 acres to 416 acres, the crop is larger, since the year per acre has almost doubled, Mr. McGuire said. Two tons and more have been harvested on most fields. Mr. McGuire attributed the heavy crop to early planting, fine weather, good soil, and good growing conditions.

Two shifts of 100 employees have been working hard to complete the pack, and they have only to finish off the later varieties.

With Two Weeks Remaining Man Escapes

Sentenced at Peterborough to four months in the reformatory for breaking and entering an insurance office Carroll Watson Smith of Watertown, N.Y., is being sought by police after his escape from Ontario Reformatory at New Toronto. He was scheduled to be released in August.

The escape is reported to have been made late Saturday and reformatory authorities will not give details of how the prisoner cut short his two weeks remaining

Smith is a former real estate broker, 45 years old, with sparse grey hair. He is said to use three aliases, Frank Brown, Frank Browne and Frank Warner. Police were informed that he may try to reach relatives at Watertown or Sarnia. Investigation of the escape is underway at the reformatory.

Bullet Misses Sleeping Child

Five-year-old Evelyn Cherney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Cherney, Brock St., had a narrow escape from possible injury on Tuesday night when a .22 calibre bullet came through her bedroom window, about three feet from where she was sleeping. The family were at their Poplar Point summer cottage.

The shot was either a ricochet or was fired from a long distance because the bullet was spent. It was just strong enough to pierce the glass close to the window sash and then fall to the bedroom floor beside the sleeping child.

It came through the bedroom window which faces south toward Cedar Bay. None of the family heard the shot fired.

Frank Hughes Receives Big Welcome At Edmonton

Frank Hughes, local insurance man, was give na royal welcome recently when he visited Edmonton and Jasper Park attending a convention.

Mr. Hughes spent more than 25 years in the western city and while there teamed up with Clarence Campbell, now president of the National Hockey League, in promoting sport. These two were the spark plugs in a mammoth drive to erect the baseball stadium in Edmonton, one of the finest in Canada. They also promoted baseball, hockey and other sports.

Jack Allan, who accompanied Mr. Hughes to the convention says the fun started after Bill Brinkworth, pro at the Jasper Park golf course, and his assistant Leroy Goldsworthy, coach of the Buffalo Bisons heard Frank Hughes was in town. One of them either wired or phoned the Edmonton papers.

Mr. Allan and Mr. Hughes were at dinner in a restaurant when the radio blared forth a news item sketching Frank Hughes' career as a sports promoter. That same night they attended a night ball game at Edmonton, and over the public address system, came a request that Frank Hughes stand and take a bow.

Following the game he was beseiged by a host of old friends and baseball colleagues, and instead of visiting Edmonton for one day, spent a week there.

The reception, according to Mr. Allan, was a heart-warming demonstration, and although it is several years since Frank left the west he is apparently gratefully remembered by a host of citizens and sport fans.

Prices Of Coal Reveal Sharp Increases

Citizens ordering coal this week reported to the Examiner today that prices had increased, and this information was verified by Joe Borland, chairman of the Retail Fuel Dealers' Association.

Effective Monday morning last, prices of anthracite coal in various sizes advanced from 45 cents to $1.50 a ton. Pocahontas coal in domestic size is up $1.25 cents a ton, while steam coal and stoker coals show price advances from 50 cents to $2 per ton.

Absorbed 62 Cents

Mr. Boland said that on April 1 of this year there was a 25 cents per ton increase levied on the dealers which they absorbed. On June 1, another 25 cent freight increase was tacked on and this was also absorbed. This freight increase was for haulage on Canadian railways and shortly fter a 12 cent per ton freight increase went into effect on American railways. This 62 cent rise was absorbed and not passed on to the consumers. Now new wage contracts have been made with the American coal miners which gives them $1 a day more plus welfare fund contracts of 20 cents a ton.

"Mine owners have passed the increase of $1 a ton along and retailors have no choice but to boost the price to the consumers," Mr. Boland said. He explained that anthracite which is now up $1.50 a ton means the dealers are absorbing 12 cents of the increases which from April 1 of this year total $1.62.

Increase of 32 Percent

The price of anthracite coal in egg, stove and nut sizes at present is $22.25 a ton. A year ago it was $19. a ton but the price jumped $1.50 on August 4, 1947. In the fall of 1939, before the war anthracite coal according to the Examiner files was available for $16.75 a ton. This means that people are paying about 32 percent more for their coal now than before the war.

The average home requires five tons of coal during a winter and this means it cost the householder $83.75 before the war, but this winter the consumer will pay $$122.25 for the same amount of fuel.

Many city residents supplement the fuel pile by using fuelwood in the fall and spring, and this practice may meet obstacles too this fall, because reports from the rural areas, indicate very little hardwood and mixed wood was cut during the past winter. Demand for factory help is reducing the number of men available for woodcutting.

Trapper Blamed For Bush Fires

GRAVENHURST, July 21 (CP) —Ontario Lands Minister Scott said Tuesday that the fire which devastated the Mississagi and Chapleau areas last month was caused by a trapper poaching in a preserve.

Speaking at the Ontario Young Progressive Conservative summer conference in this Muskoka district centre, he said 850 fires had occurred this year.

He said the trapper who started the disastrous blaze was never arrested. A 50-mile-an-hour wind was blowing at the time, and before firefighters had arrived the blaze was out of control.

He said: "In the past there have been too many ghost towns in Ontario caused by firms exhausting their timber limits. Our new policy is to allocate sufficient timerland to mills so they can operate in perpetuity by new planting and conservation methods."

GAS TANK LEAKS

Firemen were called to the Market Square on Tuesday shortly after 12 a.m. to deal with an unusual situation. A new-model car began to leak gasoline in large quantities thus creating a fire hazard. Some of the gasoline was siphoned from the tank and the rest was flushed away with the use of a booster pump.

STRUCK BY CAR—BRUISED

James Chatten, 7, of 466 Parnell St., was more frightened than injured when he was bumped by a car at the Simcoe-George St. intersection on Tuesday. He broke away from his mother and was struck by a car driven by Herb Perrin, Bailieboro. Mr. Perrin was making a left hand turn. City Constable Louis Rodreque suggested Mr. Perrin take the boy and his mother to a doctor. This was done and it was found the boy had no injuries outside of a bruise.

Plan Inspection Sewage Plant

Acting Mayor Max Swanston said today that James McLaren, chief engineer for the sanitary engineering firm of Gore and Storey would be in the city on Friday to check over the sewage disposal plant. His visit is a direct result of a plea from south-end residents to eliminate the nauseating odor which has plagued the people of that area for the past week.

Gore and Storey Engineering Company has plans for the new sewage disposal plant, and have ordered some of the machinery.

Ald. Swanston added that some time ago, Guy Quartermaine, draftsman in the city engineer's department made a suggestion that he believes has considerable merit. Mr Quatermaine said it might be wise to build a new sewage disposal plant further down the river on the west side. This would eliminate crossing the river with the trunk sewers. If this were done, then the existing sewage disposal plant could be used to handle the waste from Ashburnham.

Ald. Swanston explained that such a plan would necessitate building a trunk sewer down the east side of the river through the Downer's Corners section. This project has been discussed many times because it would eliminate the septic tank at the south end of Ashburnham, and which is considered very unsatisfactory.

A report will be ready for Monday night's committee meetings.

Cheddar Road Opens to City Eastern Haliburton Area

Discovery of uranium deposits in the Wilberforce area coupled with the forecast that a tremendous resort development may start in the eastern half of Haliburton county is focussing attention on what is known as the Cheddar Road.

This stretch of winding level road cuts west off Highway 28, exactly 50 miles north of Peterborough. By using this cut-off Peterborough people can reach Wilberforce by driving 66 miles. If they go by way of Kinmount the distance is 92 miles.

Charles Kingan, hardware merchant, said today, numerous obstacles stand in the way of getting this road improved. However, he believes its value to Peterborough business men will be tremendous. He said his firm has been getting a fair volume of business from the Wilberforce area for years, but with mine development and other work such as logging, and resort building, the amount of money being spent is growing rapidly.

"I think we should start to work now to get some action on this road. It would not cost a great deal to straighten it, and there are only three small hills on the entire route," he said.

15 Miles Long

The road winds through beautiful bush country, past Brough Lake Lodge, misses the village of Cheddar, and is 15 miles long. It cuts into the Kinmount-Wilberforce road about a mile south of the latter village.

Wilson Gemmell, president of the Chamber of Commerce said "I went over that road when it was at its worst in the spring, and certainly it shortens the distance to Wilberforce a great deal I intend to mention its existence to members of the Chamber in the hope that some action can be obtained to improve it. Unfortunately the road lies entirely in Haliburton county, but perhaps that will not be too big an obstacle."

Acting Mayor Max Swanston apparently knows about the road too. and when questioned today said. "It's time we took a more serious view of road development feeding the main arteries leading into Peterborough. Lindsay is getting the bulk of the business from west Haliburton, and they should not offer too much objection to development of the Cheddar Road so that it would serve shoppers and tourists in the eastern part of the county who want to do business in Peterborough."

Work on exploration of the uranium deposits is continuing at a fast rate, with more than 30 prospectors, lumberjacks and laborers working in the Lead-Ura mine property two miles west of Wilberforce.

One of the highlights of the meet will be the show "Fun For You" with local talent.

Top draw prize will be a pair of tickets for the first two games of the World Series next fall with all expenses paid. Other draw prizes will also be included.

A cup will be given to the winning ball team and a pennant will be presented to the top playground at the athletic meet. Crests also will be given.

It is hoped to have well-known speakers from the CIO and the AFL to address the meeting at Riverside Park.

Cambers, publicity; Mervin Chambers, arrangements; Alfred Barber, Donald Robenburgh and Fred Lebarr, purchasing; William Rosebush, personnel; William Triggs, games, and Robert Harvey, grounds.

It was decided that the majority of chairmen of committees should be members of the executive.

Novikoff Hits Old Stride As Newark Wins

By The Associated Press

Lou (Mad Russian) Novikoff, who burned up the Pacific Coast League but was somewhat less than a ball of fire in the majors, is clickng on all cylnders agan, ths time in the International League.

Obtained in a trade by Newark Bears a week ago, the husky, good-natured Novikoff Tuesday night demonstrated some of the sluging prowess which made him one of the most feared batsman on the coast. He drove in four runs in Newark's 9-8 victory over Syracuse.

With Newark trailing 2-0, Novikoff hit his first home run of the season in the fourth inning with one on, and tied the score. Then with the Bears again trailing, 8-4, he cracked a two-out sinsingle with the bases loaded in the ninth to drive in a pair of runs and spark a five-run rally which enabled the Bears to nip the Chiefs.

Jersey City's Little Giants also had to come from behind to win, scoring six runs in the eighth to defeat Baltimore Orioles 10-5.

Duke Snider slammed a double off the right field wall to score Sam Jethroe with the run that gave the league-leading Montreal Royals a 5-4 vctory over Buffalo.

Bob Young and Frank Gravino collected four safeties apiece to lead Rochester Red Wings to a 13-3 triumph over Toronto. Bill Reeder went the distance for the Wings, giving up seven hits.

Suspend Umpire Bill McGowan After Complaint

WASHINGTON, July 21.—(AP).—Umpire Bill McGowan is on the suspended list while American League officials investigate his conduct in the Monday night baseball game between Cleveland and Washington.

McGowans suspension, announced in Chicago Tuesday by league president Will Harridge, followed a vigorous complaint by Joe Kuhel, manager of the Senators.

Kuhel claimed the umpire had thrown a baseball at outfielder Ed Stewart and had cursed him, and that he also had heaved a strikes-and-balls indicator at pitcher Rae Scarborough.

McGowan, an umpire for 24 years, denied the allegations.

Before the game was over, Kuhel had been bounced from the park for the first time in his 19 years in the majors and a side argument had developed between Washington coach Sam West and another umpire. Carl Hubbard, over whether Cleveland's ancient relief hurler, Satchel Paige, had balked with men on first and third.

West quoted Hubbard as saying Paige had balked, all right, but that he, Hubbard, wouldn't call it because "that isn't my job." A balk would have added one Washington run in the game which Cleveland eventually won in extra innings.

University Men Planning To Consult Often

By JAMES McCOOK

OXFORD, England, July 21. —(CP).—Leaders of British commonwealth universities decided at a discussion Tuesday they must get to know one another better and consult more often.

Delegates from commonwealth countries decided to change the name of their organization, known as the Universities Bureau of the British Empire, to the Association of Universities of the British Commonwealth, a title proposed by Dr. Cyril James, principal of McGill University, Montreal.

Dr. James told the Canadian Press the renamed organization now will be an association in which each dominion, including Canada, will be represented by people of ther own choice in touch with local problems.

"The result is that during the difficult years ahead there will exist machinery for continuous consultations of representative university heads from all parts of the commonwealth,' he said.

In the past, dominions representatives of the Bureau often were residents of the United Kingdom and not in daily touch with member universities overseas. The Bureau was organized 40 years ago to assist universities in finding staff members in the United Kingdom and to fulfill the commonwealth universities' desire for a community of thought and aim.

The meeting to discuss the change in name was part of the business of the Congress of Universities of the British Commonwealth which opened here Monday.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, high-scoring right-winger with Montreal Canadiens, Tuesday signed his contract for next season. Terms were not made public by either Richard or General Manager Frank Selke. The early signing was in direct contrast to last year's dotted-line ceremony when the Rocket finally signed scarcely an hour before the time for openng game of the National Hockey League season.

Selke a few weeks ago said Richard had agreed to terms, and Tuesday he turned up at the Forum office. He said he was satisfied and expects a good season. Two other veterans already have signed, Kenny Reardon, defenceman, and Murph Chamberlain, forward.

Richard now needs only 13 more goals to reach the coveted 200-goal mark.

TASTE TEST

Everybody knows the name Heinz . . . they know it stands for top quality . . . but a few families remain who have never tried Heinz Soups or compared them with other popular brands. They're missing something.

Four recent taste-tests, two among dietitians, showed an overwhelming preference for Heinz over its nearest competitor. Perhaps your family's verdict would be the same, if given a chance. Just heat a tin of Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup and a tin of any other brand . . . serve half-helpings of each . . and take the vote when everyone has tasted the wonderful difference. It probably will be two to one for Heinz.

70% of a group of dietitians voted Heinz first place

Household science experts lately registered a strong preference for Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup as compared with another leading brand (without knowing what soups they were tasting), making such comments as: "No other competes with it." 65% of a group of housewives were similarly impressed.

If you have been buying some other brand of soup for any reason, try a taste-test yourself and see if your family's judgment agrees with that of the experts.

Bracken Lists 5 Challenges

GRAVENHURST, July 21 (CP).—John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, Tuesday itemized five challenges which young Canadians face. Mr. Bracken, who Monday announced his decision to retire from the leadership, was addressing more than 150 delegates attending young Progressive Conservative summer school near here.

Young Canadians must adopt an attitude toward government which will help in saving the North American continent from becoming Communistic, he said.

They must find and accept an economic creed in which reasonable people will have faith. Young Canadians must find a political faith in which everyone has confidence. They must develop an attitude toward peace that will banish war and they must accept a share of the economic and moral leadership in the world.

There almost must be a sense of partnership between those who work for wages (labor), those who work for prices (farmers) and those who work for profits (business and industry).

"We got to have a government that will act as a referee so that each of these groups will get a fair share," he said.

Posse Gets Its Man

GALT, July 21.—(CP).— William Murray, 62, was captured Tuesday night three miles north of nearby Ayr after a search of 20 hours by a 35-man posse, three township policemen, a sheriff and 12 provincial policemen. Police said Murray is wanted in Brant, Waterloo and Oxford counties on theft charges involving theft of more than 800 chickens and some gasoline.

Shipbuilding Facing A Crisis

VANCOUVER, July 21 (CP). — Canadian west coast shipbuilding may be facing a crisis.

Operators charge that union demands for higher wages and lack of government assistance is threatening to degenerate shipyards into obscure repair depots.

Clarence Wallace, manager of Burrards Ltd., here and Yarrows Ltd., in Victoria, today predicted mass lay-offs with completion of present contracts by the end of this year. He said no new contracts are in sight.

During the war shipyards in B.C. employed more than 12,000 men. Today there are approximately 4,000.

"But we'll be lucky if we can keep 400 employed on repair work after present contracts with the French government are finished," said Wallace.

Ask US Approval Of Power Plan

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP).—The power authority of New York state asked the United States power commission Tuesday for permission to start a co-operative international power project with Ontario on the St. Lawrence river.

Estimated costs of the entire project, designed to develop power resources of the river's International rapids section, is more than $391,000,000.

The request for a license applies only to the part of the project within New York state.

The portion on the Canadian side would be built by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

New York power authority's portion of the project, in St. Lawrence county, near Massena and Ogdensburg, N.Y., would include the Long Sault concrete gravity dam, a gate-controlled spillway section from the United States bank of the river to the upstream end of Barnhart Island, half of a powershouse which would cross the international boundary, dikes for the protection of land along he river and other facliities.

More Education Big Cry On Canada's Capital Hill

By WILLIAM WILSON

OTTAWA, July 21—(CP).—Canadians are eager for education these days—or else a lot of people are anxious to teach them something. Stroll around the Ottawa news beats. There's a sentence reiterated almost daily, to the exclusion of all other oft-repeated statements. You've heard it too:

"There's a great educational job to be done."

Take the Senate committee on immigration. It sat until near the end of the recent session of Parliament, studying the problems involved in bringing new residents into Canada. Its members got around to wondering how the new residents were received here. Generally, they found, the immigrant is welcome enough, especially when his neighbors or work-mates get used to his presence. Occasionally, though, he encounters a lot of prejudice from native-born Canadians.

Senator Cairine Wildon, chairman of the committee and one of the two women senators, summed it up this way:

"There's an educational job to be done."

Same Thing Again

Income tax? Same thing there. You've heard of the famous—or infamous, depending on your point of view—"net worth" form which the National Revenue people drew up for farmers, to make it easier for them to pay income tax, and harder, not to.

Revenue Minister McCann explained the whole thing several times during the session. Just before the end, the Commons was considering Dr. McCann's departmental estimates and came back to the "net worth statement." He explained again.

The idea was to get farmers to keep records and pay taxes. It was, yes sir, you guessed it: it was educational!

Take the National Health Department. A large portion of its efforts goes into education. It turns out films, pamphlets, film strips and books to fulfil the worthy job of teaching you how to bring up your children to be healthy and mentally well-balanced, of explaining the dangers of venereal disease, of making Canada a healthier place.

"There's a great educational job to be done!"

Talk to the department officials if you don't believe the politicians.

Would you like to teach your M.P. or a civil servant somethings? You can always try. Maybe it's a two-way street.

Grab your spectacles, open up your ears, get out your pens and paper, friends.

Marie Thomas Wed To F. C. Loft Live in Kingston

The marriage took place in St Peter's Roman Catholic Cathedral on Saturday of Marie Dorothy Thomas, dauhgter of Mrs. J. Thomas of Peterborough and the late W. D. Thomas, to Mr. Floyd Clarke Loft, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Loft of Toronto. The nuptial mass was said by the Rev. F. Marrocco.

Lilies, snapdragon, delphinium and other summer flowers decorated the altar and guest pews. Mrs. R. Aman played wedding music and accompanied Mrs. T. Collis as she sang "On this day" during the signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Charles Thomas. She was wearing a gown of white embossed marquisette with long sleeves, caught at the yoke with seed pearls. Her veil was of white embroidered net, held in place with a coronet of pearls and she carried a Colonial bouquet of red roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. J. Menzies whose frock was pink, made with a bodice of lace and skirt of billowy net. She wore a Dutch hat of pink with flowers across the top and carried pink roses.

The groomsman was the bride's brother, Mr. W. Thomas. The ushers were Mr. Norman Thomas and Mr. V. Genge, brother-in-law of the groom.

At the reception held in the Empress Hotel the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of flowered mauve jersey with hat of black mohair, trimmed with mauve, and a corsage of sweet peas. She was assisted by the groom's mother who was attired in a navy ensemble with shoulder bouquet of mixed sweet peas.

The bride and groom are visiting Montreal and Quebec City on their wedding trip. For travelling Mrs Loft chose a dress of navy sheer with corsage of pink carnations, and wore white accessories. On return they will take up residence in Kingston.

Flattering Styles Shown for Fall

NEW YORK, July 21.—(AP).—Mrs. North America can look forward to a season of contented shopping next fall, as the new clothes now being previewed by the continent's fashion press are exactly what she ordered. The new silhouette is slim, streamlined, faintly Victorian, and almost always flattering.

Nettie Rosenstein shows a discreet and wearable collection of daytime clothes, wtih many of the simple and flattering afternoon dresses for which she is known, then turns frankly to "hussy" styles for after-five wear with daringly low-cut necklines and bustle backs.

A highlight of the collection is a red wool greatcoat, loose and voluminous, with a capelet front. The cape collar is repeated frequently on coats in rough and colorful tweeds. Suits are likely to be trimmed in precious furs, fitted as to jacket, slim as to skirt, accompanied by small barrel muffs.

In her evening gowns, Mrs. Rosenstein shoots the works, showing fabulous creations of opulent fabrics, strapless tops, with crinolines and hoopskirts all over the place.

Mignon Mayneord To Be Guest Artist

Miss Mignon Mayneord, Peterborough's uniquely gifted concert whistler, will be guest artist in Toronto Saturday evening at the Venture Club's installation dinner. This function, marking the close of their biennial convention, will be attended by delegates from the United States and Canadian provinces, all business women ranging in age from 19 to 35 and members of the American Council of Venture Clubs. Their chairman is Miss Rosalie Asher, a criminal lawyer from Sacramento, California.

To add to the enjoyment, Miss Mayneord will give her audience demonstrations of bird figures before each of her numbers so that they can recognize them as they are brought into the pieces. Her selections for this appearance are "In a Monastery Garden," "Narcissus," "Liebesfreud" by Lizt, and 'Brown Bird Singing." Mrs. Mildred Hubbell will be her piano accompanist.

The delightful trills, which thrill local listeners frequently, were so appreciated when Miss Mayneord appeared in Toronto as entertainer for the Soroptimist Club of Peterborough that she has since received several out-of-town invitations. Her ability to whistle in this manner is shared by only a very few persons. One lady living in California has become an authority in the art and her descriptive book on bird figures is used by Miss Mayneord as a guide.

HRH PRINCESS MARGARET recently attended the opening concert of a four-day festival of Mozart music conducted by Sir Thomas Beecham. Here, wearing a sky-blue two piece outfit with a halo hat, she arrives at the Glyndebourne opera house.

July Holidays Bring Peak In '48 Weddings

Is practicality, economy and convenience threatening the romance and tradition of June weddings?

From the number of marriages scheduled to coincide with the holiday shut-downs in factories this July it would seem so. More Peterborough couples will pledge their vows at the altar this coming Saturday than on any other day this year. On the first and third week-ends of the month, bookings with local clergymen have been equal to the June peak. Photographers too are reporting heaviest call on their profession this month, with July 24 exceeding all other dates.

Few brides are willing to forego the wedding trip after their marriage, high costs of living and travelling notwithstanding. So it looks as though prospective grooms have conspired to outsmart them and combine a honeymoon with that "two-week vacation with pay."

Better look into things carefully girls! Our married friends report there's a long time between trips after the church bells have rung.

It is probable that some quite unpredictable and unexpected event, with the force of an "atomic bomb," may break open a dubious, crystallized or hopeless situation, with a spectacular clatter and clash. This should restore goodwill and confidence of others recently wavering of interest, and bring things to a head, in which cherished ambitions and dreams may be concretely brought to reality with surprising fruition. Work and plan toward such glamorous fulfillment.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a rather spectacular about-face in critical issues and jeopardized plans, by a sudden atomic explosion, in which congested affairs may be put on a sensationally vivid, hectic and realistic foundation for sound exploitation and long-term prosperity. While erratic or queer situations may be constructive if rationally managed, and as well supported by "the powers that be," the scope and expansion of hopes and wishes call for prudence.

A child born on this day may have a spectacular career, with strange leads from hidden sources Its eccentric or emotional urges may be circumvented by curious factors.

DOROTHY DIX

Girl, 16, Urged to Drop Her Boorish Boy Friend

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 16 very much in love with a boy of 19. When we are together we argue and he teases me, but if I tease him he gets perfectly furious and he will grab anything in sight and throw it at me. What can I do to make him keep from showing his temper? He has two faults. One is that he treats me like dirt, and the other is that he is terribly jealous. If I go out with other boys and girls, he won't speak to me.

Dorothy Dix

What can I do with a boy like this?—CLARICE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Well, I'd say that the sensible thing for you to do is have nothing more to do with him, for apparently he has none of the instincts of a gentleman. Any boy of 19 who slugs his sweetheart when he gets angry with her is certain a poor matrimonial prospect because he is sure to be a wife-beater, and you must be lacking in all common sense if you even remotely consider him as a life partner.

Calf Love

Fortunately for you, you are having this attack of calf love at 16, so you will recover from it in time, I trust, to fall in love with some fine chap who will treat you with, respect and affection, instead of making a doormat of you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband and I have been quarreling off and on for years, mostly about a woman who lives two doors away from us. Although I never caught her and my husband together, he always looks at her and she always looks at him. No matter when I leave the house with my husband, or when he is alone, she always looks at him and he always looks her way. My daughter is always telling me that for a man and woman to look at one another doesn't mean anything, but I always feel that at some time or other maybe it did mean something.

I have been married for 20 years and my husband has always been faithful to me, but I don't trust him. What can I do?

ANSWER: Well, if you have been married for 20 years to a man who has never done anything worse than glance at the woman next door, you ought to be on your knees thanking God for your luck, instead of hunting around for something to gripe about.

Can't you yourself see how silly you are to make yourself miserable imagining things and trying to read deep,dark meanings into a man merely glancing at a woman who happens to live a door or two from him? Do you expect all men to put on blinders when they walk the streets?

My advice to you is to quit worrying about women glancing at your husband, or your huband glancing at them.

DEAR MISS DIX: For the past several months I have been going steady with a widower 15 years my senior. He is a perfect gentleman in every respect and we are quite congenial. The snag is his daughter, an only child, aged 28, who works out of town, but comes home week ends about twice a month.

At these times his time is all here. Whatever she wants to eat, whatever she wants to do, all of her whims catered to. No plans can be made for holidays because Lily will be home. Her father is affectionate towards me, but everything I do or say is compared with Lily's way of doing or saying things, and it has certainly gotten me confused. What do you think of it all?

ANSWER: It is a plain case of a father-daughter fixation and the sooner you recognize that and retire from the threesome, the better off you will be. You are wasting your time on Papa because Lily is never going to let any woman step into her shoes. She is always going to be first with Father and any woman he might marry—only Lily will never let him do a foolish thing like that—would play a mean second fiddle to her.

My earnest advice to you is to break off with Father and marry some man who doesn't possess an idolized daughter.

Say Anti-Inflation Experiment A Flop

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP).—For the first time in years steel companies in the United States have abandoned the meek and apologetic attitude taken by some in making price increases, Iron Age, national metalworking paper said today.

Iron Age said the anti-inflation expermient was a flop, as most steelmakers thought it would be.

"But the gamble was taken," the weekly added, "and it cost U.S. Steel Corp., close to $5,000,000 just to find out that forces stronger than it were needed to stop the upward spiral of prices and wages."

The United States Steel Corporation, effective today, raised its prices $8.09 a ton after restoring the $1.25-a-ton reduction it put into effect last April.

Administration Unhappy About Wallace

By CLYDE BLACKBURN.

WASHINGTON, July 21 (CP). —Anxious leaders of the United States Administration and Congress, with the Berlin crisis boiling toward a blow-up with Russia, are none too happy about the convention to be held in Philadelphia this week-end by Henry Wallace's New Party.

It is possible Wallace himself is none too happy about the play of events at this particular time because of the complications they may introduce in Philadelphia.

Representative Charles A. Eaton of New Jersey, Canadian-born chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, Tuesday told correspondents he believed President Truman should tell Congress when it returns to work on Monday, just how near war with Russia may be.

If the frankly-Communist Wallace supporters and their clever organization have their way with Wallace, the result of their meeting may strengthen the determination of Moscow to force the issue at Berlin.

If the Communists are belligerent at Philadelphia that section of the Wallace support may be lost and the party so weakened that Russia's hope of a disunited United States will be disappointed.

May Lose Control.

Wallace, who probably is at heart prepared to do anything to save his country if convinced it was in danger, may find it difficult to control his Communist and fellow-traveller associates.

Up to date he has bitterly opposed all forms of military preparedness and in so doing delighted the hearts of any potential enemy.

The other thorn in Wallace's side will be the Communist-hating Liberals who have joined him because of his peace and prosperity promises.

Memorial Building

MONCTON, N.B., July 21. —(CP).—Construction of a $150,000 Canadian Legion war memorial building will be started "in a few weeks," J. M. Lutes, secretary-treasurer of the Legion, announced today.

The latest seizure of the plane was made under an international rule concerning undocumented craft.

Four Union Officials Demand CSL Arrests

MONTREAL, July 21.—(CP). —Four Montreal union officials have telegraphed Labor Minister Miltchell asking Federal seizure of Canada Steamship Lines and arrest of its officers for "attacks against Canadian seamen,' it was learned today.

The messages were sent by Norman Arsenault, president of the Montreal Pocketbook Workers Union, Paul Poirier, of the Montreal Fur-Dressing and Dyeing Union, Gerard Roger, Montreal Boot and Shoe Workers Union, and O. Valliers, secretary, Montreal Fur Workers Union. All unions are affiliated with the CIO.

Crop Prospects On Prairies Looking Better

OTTAWA, July 21 — (CP) — Crop prospects are looking better on the Prairie Provinces.

The Bureau of Statistics reported Tuesday general rains during the last week have halted crop deterioration and improved the outlook for a good harvest The rains also have reduced the grasshopper menace in some areas.

Conditions now are "very favorable" in Manitoba and "favorable" in the eastern, east-central. and north-central districts of Saskatchewan, where a hot sun combined with lack of rain has been burning up wheat stands. Except for local areas, prospects range from "poor to fair" elsewhere in Saskatchewan.

Alberta reports "fair to good" conditions in most districts.

Detailing the Manitoba report, the Bureau said late-sown coarse grains and flax have benefited greatly by the additional moisture and most districts now have sufficient moisture to carry crops for another two weeks.

General crop prospects in Saskatchewan have shown no further deterioration. The feed and fodder outlook has improved with further rains and relatively cool weather.

Grasshopper damage still is a hazard in Central and West-Central Saskatchewan and rye fields are being swathed to prevent further loss. Wheat is 80 per cent headed and averages 17 inches in height. Crop prospects are only fair in most of the south-west.

Moisture conditions now are satisfactory in Alberta except in the east-central districts, where rainfall has been inadequate and crops are poor. Wheat is 50 per cent headed with no significant damage except from drought. Coarse-grain stands generally are uneven.

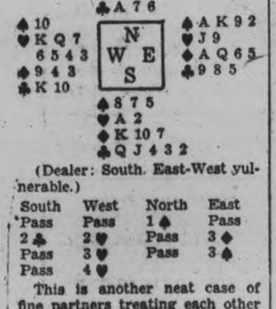
GRASP THE BIG CHANCE

YOU MAKE MISTAKES, yes, and so do your opponents. One mark of the fine player is shown by the infrequency of his errors. Another is the way he cashes in to the fullest when an opponent makes a slip of some kind. It is amazing how he turns an apparent one-trick mistake into a profit of two tricks or more. While avoiding as well as you can the giving of such opportunities to the other side, it is part of your job to grasp the big chance offered whenever one of them extends an opening to you.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♣	2 ♥	Pass	3 ♦
Pass	3 ♥	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♥

This is another neat case of fine partners treating each other as such. Scott Miller knew just what his veteran associate in the East, another St. Louis star, was doing when he made that odd-sounding spade bid. It was meant to show the suit firmly stopped and betoken a No Trump game contract if West could stop the unbid clubs. West could, but only once, so with his great heart suit selected that for the game.

A non-observant North led his spade Q and did not notice the fall of the 10 when the A won the trick in dummy. The heart J was sent to the A and South led the club Q to the K and A. North should have led to the club J, but instead returned his spade J. When the K won that for a diamond discard, the 9 was good for a second such discard. Then a succession of hearts built up a neat squeeze for another gift trick.

As the last heart was led, Mr. Miller also held the diamond 9 and club 10, the dummy having the diamond A-Q and club 9, which was discarded. South didn't like to unguard his diamond K by tossing off the 10, so he threw away the club J, hoping North had the 10. That enabled the club 10 and diamond A to get the last two tricks. So one error by the defense enabled him to take all tricks but two, whereas originally he seemed due to lose one in hearts, two in clubs and one in diamonds, a total of four.

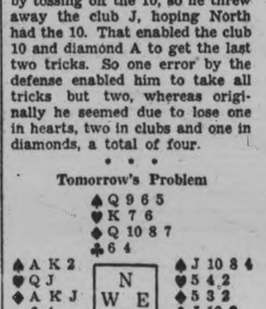
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

Why have fine players learned not to make a game-forcing two bid on a hand like West's?

U.S. Judge Scolds Actress Leslie Brooks For Giving Baby Beer To Drink At Party

LOS ANGELES, July 21—(AP)—Beer is not good for babies, the judge told actress Leslie Brooks.

So Miss Brooks' two-year-old daughter, Victoria, will be cared for temporarily by her paternal grandmother.

Judge Mildred L. Lillie Monday gave Mrs. Alice Shay custody of the child until the actress hires a competent nurse-housekeeper.

The ruling stemmed from a divorce suit filed by Miss Brooks, 26, against actor Anthony Shay, 27.

Shay alleged his wife gave the child intoxicants at parties. His brother, Jack, testified Victoria had "seven or eight swallows" from her mother's glass at a party and was "very cute and dizzy."

Miss Brooks denied this but admitted giving the daughter an occasional sip of beer diluted in water.

Then Judge Lillie scolded the actress and said, "I cannot say enough to reprimand a mother for doing this."

Lords Reject Hanging Law

LONDON, July 21—(Reuters)—The House of Lords, where the Conservatives are in a majority, Tuesday night rejected a government compromise proposal on hanging in Britain. This would have divided murder into two degrees, one carrying the death penalty and the other life imprisonment. The vote was 99 to 19.

It is thought in political quarters that the government now may drop the clause from the Criminal Justice bill and introduce it in another session as a seperate bill. This would prevent the holding up of a bill which all parties agree contains many valuable judicial reforms.

Among first degree murders would have been that of a policeman or prison official, a second murder, murder after rape, and systematic poisoning. The government's compromise arose from the Lord's rejection of an earlier Commons proposal. This, passed on a free (non-party) vote against the government's advice, would have suspended the death penalty altogether for murder for a test period of five years.

Will Demand Big Majority Before Union

Don't Expect Ottawa To Make Statement Until Next Week

OTTAWA, July 22.—(CP). — If today's Newfoundland referendum produces only a small majority for Confederation with Canada, the Canadian government may decide that unions should not be consummtaed on that basis, an informed source said today.

A government official said it was doubtful that any official statement would be made from here until next week. It was not expected that returns on the Confederation or responsible government vote would be complete until Friday or Saturday.

The official said that if there was a large majoritly for Confederation, negotiations to bring Newfoundland in as a 10th province would start immediately and would take months.

The government had no clear idea just how large a majority should be. A 10-per-cent lead on a 55 per cent vote, for instance, would be much more pronounced than on a 90-per-cent vote. Then there also were the considerations of noisy minorities and the reactions of the men who have fought Confederation.

If Canada decided there was not a sufficient majority to warrant Confederation proceedings, its government would inform London — and Newfoundand would automatically have responsible government, even though a majority had voted against it.

Confederation is irrevocable—as Nova Scotia discovered 80 years ago. Once Newfoundland became a province, there would be no out. But the first act of a responsible government might be to ask for Confederation terms. The first course was iron-bound, the second wasn't.

The official doubted that there would be any statement from Ottawa until next week unless here was a clear majority for responsible government.

CCF Outlines 10 Resolutions For Platform

OTTAWA, July 22.—(CP). — The CCF national executive made public today 10 major resolutions which it proposes as the basis of the party program for the next Federal election.

The resolutions will be placed before the CCF national convention at Winnipeg Aug. 19, 20 and 21 and cover 10 major subjects: Socialization, control of investment, social security, health, labor, agriculture, international trade, constitutional amendments and a program for Maritime improvement.

The socialization resolution calls for public ownership of such industries as banking, transportation, iron and steel, meat packing, farm implement production, fertilizer manufacturing, coal, electricity, gas and oil.

It defines the CCF conception of socialization in these terms:

"By social ownership, the CCF does not mean only ownership by the Federal government. On the contrary, the CCF has always recognized that, owing to the federal nature of the Canadian constitution, there are many fields in which provincial and municipal ownership is the most appropriate form.'

The resolution also proposes encouragement for private business to fulfill its 'legitimate functions."

Security Scheme

The social resolution aims at setting up an "integrated and comprehensive" social security scheme and sets forth the respective field of federal and provincial responsibility in such an undertaking.

It also proposes amendments to the constitution to establish a national code, to regulate trade and commerce, particularly prices and marketing, and to implement international treaties and conventions.

The housing resolution emphasiezd the need for low-rental and low-cost housing and proposes a policy of subsidies to bring the cost of homes within the reach of those who need them.

For agriculture, the council suggests a system of guaranteed pricing to provide farmers with a stabilized and adequate income a National Marketing Act, long-term international agreements and adoption of the "ever-normal granary" principle.

Bridge Snaps Workers Fall Into Rapids

Saunders On Way To Des Joachims; No Warning Of Break

TORONTO, July 22. (CP)— An investigation into the death of six Hydro employee riggers drowned at Des Joachims Rapids, Que., Wednesday night, got under way today when Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, and other officials, left for Des Joachims.

The men plunged into the rapids of the Ottawa River when a section of an army-type Bailey bridge, under construction at the Des Joachims Hydro development, collapsed.

Mr. Saunders said "no stone will be left unturned" in efforts to find the cause of the accident and take future precautionary measures.

Employees of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, they were drowned near the spot where four workmen died when a cat-walk crashed into the river last Nov. 22.

H.E.P.C. officials at this power-development site 40 miles northwest of Pembroke, said the victims of Wednesday's tragedy were:

Eli Bertrand, St. Joseph's Parish, Allumette Island, Que.

His cousin, Aldamore Bertrand, also of Allumette Island.

Edward Picotte, Allumette Island.

Romeo Picotte, Allumette Island.

Romeo Chaput, Chapeau, Que.

Roy McDonald, Sheenboro, Que.

Aime Jette, 37, Pembroke.

Searchers worked until midnight in an unsuccessful attempt to locate the bodies. They continued their grim task today under the direction of Constables Vincent Coffey and William Byron of the Ontario Provincial Police Department at Ralphton, Ont., across the river from Desjoachims.

Erection of coffer dams has blocked off a big part of the river, sending most of the flow through the 100-foot channel between Desjoachims and the island. So fast is the current that natives say it is impossible to launch a boat.

The tragedy occurred about 20 minutes before the men would have stopped work for the day They had rigged their lower section of the 140-foot bridge and were running out the top section when the whole structure collapsed.

Apparently only one man witnessed his fellow-workers' death-plunge. Police did not release his name.

Tito Declares Cominform Abets Civil War

BELGRADE, July 22—(CP)—The fifth congress of the Yugoslav Communist party resumed today with another marathon speech following up Premier Tito's eight-hour blast which accused the Russian-led cominform of trying to foment civil war in Yugoslavia.

Interior Minister Alexander Rankovic took up where Tito left off Wednesday. Rankovic, whose name has been one to strike terror into the heart of all Tito's enemies, talked on party organization. Rankovic heads the security police.

The Belgrade press carried a hint of what may come. Borba, official Communist newspaper, reported that Communist leaders of Montenegro asked the re-election of all "the old heroic central committee of the party." They especially wanted the return of Tito, Rankovic, Milovan Djilas and Eduard Kardelj, Tito's vice-premier.

Newspapers, for the first time, identified the members of the Yugoslav Communists' politburo. Pictures showed them as Tito, Kardelj, Rankovic, Djilas and Franz Leshkovic of Slovenia. Originally there were seven members.

Tito said yesterday two of the leaders he purged had spearheaded a move by "anti-party persons." He identified the two as Sraten Zujovic, former finance minister, and Andrija Hebrang, former minister of light industry and one-time president of the Yugoslav planning commission.

Tito implied that he now has full control of the situation.

In an eight-hour speech to 2,300 wildly cheering Yugoslav Communist delegates attending a party congress, Tito also:

1. Rejected again the Cominform's "slanders" against the Yugoslav Communist party.

2. Pledged the party will continue to follow the Marxist pattern.

3. Said he wants the friendship of the Russian Communist party and promised to work toward improving reations with Moscow.

4. Reiterated that Yugoslavia stands on all her policies, including co-operation for peace with countries outside the Russian bloc.

5. Hurled bitter comment at the five Cominform countries whose represeentatives signed the attack on Yugoslavia.

In that attack, the Cominform (Communist Information Bureau) denounced Yugoslav Communist leaders as being nationalistic and anti-Russian.

Throughout his entire speech Tito did not back down an inch from the position he has held since the Cominform assailed him. He pledged that the party will continue to follow the line he and his Partisan leaders have set for the complete socialization of Yugoslavia.

Britain Won't Back Down On Blockade Demands Bevin Assures Commons

Ready To Widen Negotiations On Berlin And Consider Other Problems, According To Draft Of New Note To USSR

LONDON, July 22—(CP).—Foreign Secretary Bevin declared today Britain will not back down on her demands for lifting of the Russian blockade of Berlin as preliminary to four-power talks on Germany. "It is impossible," he told the House of Commons, "for a self-respecting government to sit down and discuss these things when your troops are cut off from normal communications and 2,500,000 people are being used to put pressure upon you to come to a decision."

Bevin spoke a few hours after he had told the Cabinet the terms of the note which the Western Powers plan to send to Moscow in reply to the recent Soviet note on Berlin.

Three of Britain's defence chiefs were called to the Cabinet meeting and remained with Ministers for two hours. They are Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, Chief of the Imperial General Staff; Admiral of the Fleet Sir John Cunningham, First Sea Lord, and Lt.-Gen. Sir Leslie Hollis, chief staff officer to the Ministry of Defence.

Prime Minister Attlee, questioned by Opposition Leader Winston Churchill, assured the House: "Most careful and active consideration is being given to all defence matters."

Russia's Fault

When Communist Member William Gallagher suggested Bevin might consider discussing the reintroduction of four-power control, the forsign secretary replied: "We have been ready to discuss any of these problems with the Soviet government. We did not end the control council.

"The Soviet government walked out. We did not end the commandatura. The Soviet government walked out. We were unable to continue current discussions because the four-power council could not function."

Churchill said the opposition would continue to support the foreign policy of the government but asked if the house might have a statement of the military aspect. "It is very important that the military aspect should not be out of line with the diplomatic procedure," he commented.

Wheat Prices Likely Fall, But Pact Good

LONDON, July 22 — (CP). — Food Minister Strachey said today he expects world wheat prices to fall much farther but the agreement with Canada for a price increase, effective Aug. 1, still stands.

"I think wheat prices are likely to drop much farther and much faster during the next six months," he told a press conference held 24 hours after he announced that bread rationing in the United Kingdom will end Sunday.

But he added there have been no negotiations with Canada to continue the present price of $1.55 a bushel on her wheat sold to the United Kingdom.

"The 1948-49 price has been fixed at $2," Strachey said. "Negotians on the 1949-50 price must be undertaken before the end of this calendar year.

Canada Likely Supply Arms

OTTAWA, July 22 — (CP). — Canada will probably supply some of the military equipment to arm the western union countries of Europe, a government sources said today. But that was "a long way" off from the union's defence talks in London to which Canada is sending one military officer.

The official likened the situation to that which preceded the initiation of ERP aid to Europe—the European countries deciding how much they can do to arm themselves and informing the western hemisphere what else it needed.

Flash Flood In Ohio City Threatens 2,000 Homes

LANCASTER, O., July 22—(AP).—A flash flood in the west side of this central Ohio city early damage menaced some 2,000 homes and caused damage estimated tentatively at $500,000. No casualties were reported.

Scores of families left their homes by boat as water overflowed the banks of Hunters Run, a creek which empties into the Hocking River, after heavy rains.

The damage estimate was made by Kenneth Kerr, Red Cross disaster chairman in the city of 20,000.

Most of the west side residents were caught unaware of the flood and were unable to get out without assistance. Fellow townsmen used small river craft to evacuate them.

One lumber company was partially washed out and a builders supply company reported heavy damage. About 100 automobiles were covered by water between seven and eight feet deep in some places.

Air Raid Siren Sounds In Cairo

CAIRO, July 22 — (AP). —Air raid sirens wailed for 40 minutes in Cairo early today and anti-aircraft guns went into action. It was not immediately determined whether a raid actually took place.

In Damascus, the Syrian government said Zionist groups attacked Syrian positions at Tell Aziziyat Wednesday night and 27 Jews were killed.

A communique said one Jewish plane raided Baniyas late yesterday causing slight casualties. Air raid sirens also were heard in

The Syrian government said it had protested to the United Nations against these alleged truce violations.

Jewish reports from various sectors in Palestine previously said the second U.N. truce, which began Sunday, was being observed at last. There was sporadic fighting in the north and south for three days after the cease-fire deadline.

Truman Says Chances For Peace Excellent

WASHINGTON, July 22. — (CP).—President Truman said today he thinks the chances for world peace are excellent.

He said he endorsed fully State Secretary Marshall's declaration that the United States intends to exhaust every resource of diplomacy to get a peaceful solution of the Berlin crisis.

The President also told a press conference that he expects to confer later in the day with Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States commander in Germany, and with Marshall.

Truman said he will not discuss the Berlin situation nor any other aspects of foreign affairs in his message to Congress next week.

2 U.S. Army Policemen Held By Russians Drive Into Soviet Berlin Zone By Mistake

BERLIN, July 22 — (CP). — Two United States military policeman were arrested by the Russians today after they drove into the Russian zone "by mistake," the provost marshal's office said.

They were Ptes Elwood E. Shinnel and George G. Hunt.

The provost marshal's office said they were on a regular patrol in the American sector of Berlin when they accidentally drove into the Soviet zone on a side road.

In coming out, they took a main street leading back to the American sector and were picked up by a Russian patrol.

German police notified American authorities.

United States army headquarters said 300 American dependents have left Berlin in six months for reasons other than redeployment or transfer.

Officers estimated this amounted to about 100 families. There now are 862 families of occupation and military government personnel in Berlin, a total of 1,627 dependents.

They termed "absolutely absurd" a report published in New York that 30 to 40 American families are "leaving Berlin secretly" each day.

Reynaud, Blum Prepared To Serve In New Cabinet

PARIS, July 22.—(CP).—War-time Premier Paul Reynaud agreed today to serve as finance minister in a cabinet headed by moderate Conservative Andre Marie. The Socialist elder statesman, Leon Blum, was reported ready to accept the foreign ministry.

Reynaud's decision assures the premier-designate of the 25 votes from the Rightist Independent Republicans in the Assembly. Marie's Radical Socialist (Conservative) party, has 43 seats. He needs 309 votes to be confrmed.

Blum's acceptance of the foreign ministry, which Georges Bidault has handled almost continuously since the liberation. would give Marie 103 votes. However, Socialist support is conditioned upon the approval of Marie's program. Likewise, leaders of Mouvement Republican Populaire saaid they waited announcement of Marie's policies before deciding whether to support him.

President Vincent Auriol Wednesday gave Marie the job of forming a government to succeed Robert Schuman's cabinet which quit Monday night when the Socialists insisted on cutting the defence budget. Bidault and Schuman are members of Mouvement Republican Populaire, a centre group.

Marie was the justice minister n Schuman's cabinet which will continue in office until a new regime can take over. Frenchmen were eager for a quick end to the crisis.

The majority which Marie must have if he is to succeed in his task would include his own radical Socialists as well as the MRP and the Socialists. The tendency of such a government would be a little left of centre.

The Sovialists at a caucus Wednesday night decided their attitude toward Marie would be determined by his economic policy There s a possibility of disagreement on that subject. Marie told the radical Socialists he would continue the finanial and economic doctrine of his fellow party member, Finance Minister Rene Mayer, who has been a favorite target of Socialist criticism.

RAF Jet Pilots Give Trenton Big Air Show

BELLEVILLE, July 22 (CP)—Spectacular aerobatics, both in solo and in group formation, as performed by crack pilots of the Royal Air Force, were enjoyed by hundreds of Belleville and district residents on Wednesday afternoon at Trenton Air Station.

The aerial show was staged by six Vampire Mark III jet aircraft of the 54th RAF Squadron which early this week arrived from England after flying the Atlantic. They were the first jet aircraft to fly the ocean.

Ranking Air Force personnel of the RCAF were on hand to witness the display. The English pilots were congratulated by Air Marshal Curtis, RCAF Headquarters, Ottawa; British High Commissioner to Canada Sir Alexander Clutterbuck also paid tribute to the RAF fliers and spoke briefly of the development of the jet engine.

Avert Ford Strike Threat At Last Minute Workers Get 13 Cents, Higher Premium Pay

DETROIT. July 22 (AP). — A 13-cent-an-hour wage increase for 116,000 production workers today erased a country-wide strike threat against the Ford Motor Company.

Climaxing more than 21 hours of nearly continuous negotiation, the United Automobile Workers (CIO) also won increases in premium pay, vacation improvements, and a group insurance plan revision.

The union estimated these "fringe" benefits would total an additional 3½ to 4 cents an hour.

The UAM-CIO also estimated the annual increased cost to Ford of the new contract at $32,000,000. The firm made no estimate.

Fringe concessions included increases in premium pay for afternoon shift to seven cents from five cents an hour; increases in midnight shift premium pay to 10 cents from five cents; and adjustment of the seniority rules governing vacations.

The 13-cent an hour increase brings the Ford average hourly production wage rate to between $1.65 and $1.66.

Dr. E. Carefoot Stands Trial

BELLEVILLE, July 22.—(CP). committed for trial on a charge of having illegal possession of opium, the charge being laid under the Narcotics Drug Act.

Date of the trial will be some time this autumn, the date to be arranged to suit the convenience of counsel. Bail for the accused was renewed at $2,000.

The charge against Dr. Carefoot is the sequel to a police raid made on the doctor's residence in March, 1946, when it was alleged a quantity of drugs was seized.

Two years ago Dr. Carefoot was acquitted on a charge of having illegal possession of morphine. The case was appealed by the Crown with Mr. Justice Lebel directing a new trial. The doctor now stands charged with having possession of opium.

Russ Embassy Denies Attache Called Home

OTTAWA, July 2 — (CP). — The Russian Embassy said here to-day that no member of its staff has been recalled to Moscow. The statement was made in response to rumors which spread through the Capital last night that "the attache" at the Embassy had been recalled.

Islanders Vote Again Today; Choose Gov't

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., July 22 — (CP).—The fateful X hung over Newfoundland today as islanders voted on the most momentous issue they have ever faced—confederation with Canada or return to responsible government.

More than 176,000 were eligible to mark ballots today in 1,300 polling stations set up in the bustling capital and in lonely outports strewn in abandoned fashion around the 3,000 miles of cliff-ribbed coast.

Polls opened at 7.30 a.m. EDT and will close at 9 p.m.

The issue is one that Newfoundlanders have been bickering over since 1869, when a pro-confederation government was whipped at the polls. The referendum is the culmination of two years of concentrated campaigning both for and against union with Canada.

The confederates have plugged the benefits of social services Newfoundland would get under confederation, notably family allowances.

Use Same Angle

Responsible government supporters have used the same patriotism angle, decried "personal property taxes" that would come with confederation and said that Newfoundland would be merely "dragged along at the tail of the Canadian kite."

The strong right arm of responsible government has been the movement standing for economic union with the United States. It claims that if responsible government is voted in, it will be able to negotiate terms with the US for preferential tariffs on fish, the island's biggest industry and other products.

In the June 3 referendum, which ended in a stalemate, 69,400 voted for responsible government, 64,000 for Confederation and 22,300 for commission government. Almost 90 per cent. of the eligible voters cast ballots.

Clay Begins Series Of Hush-Hush Talks

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP). —Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States commander in Germany, begins a fast round of top-level conferences here today on the Berlin crisis.

While no one would reveal the precise purpose of Clay's flying visit, it seemed certain that a major goal was to acquaint him at first hand with new policy decisions worked out for dealing with Russia in the ticklish period immediately ahead.

Clay was scheduled to see State Secretary Marshall early in the day at an hour not yet announced, and after that to talk with President Truman as well as defence secretary Forrestal and other chiefs of military policy.

As Clay stepped from the plane, army secretary Royall shook his hand and whispered in his ear the only statement which the army secretary thought he should make. A few seconds later, Clay offered this comment:

"I have returned from Germany on a quick trip at the request of secretary of the army Royall to report to the department of the army on the German situation. There is nothing else I can say at this time."

Britain

Earlier a British official said the western powers have agreed tentatively to widen the negotiations on Berlin to consider several other German problems. He implied that representatives of Britain, France and the United States, agreed to such a concession to the Russians in the draft of a new note protesting the Soviet blockade of Berlin.

Washington authorities expect the note to reiterate the demand of the Western Powers that Russia lift the blockade while stressing that there has been no weakening of Western determination to remain in Berlin despite the heavy emphasis now being placed on a peaceful settlement.

The British official said the tentative draft of the new protest was prepared here and forwarded to Washington for review by top-ranking state department officals. The note is subject to revision and it may be several days before it is delivered to Moscow, he said.

May Be Delayed

This new step to break the blockade may be delayed pending formation of a new French government and a decision in Paris as to the government's German policy.

The contents of the note remained a secret, but the official said "don't be surprised" if it agrees to widen proposed four-power talks on Berlin to cover several other German problems.

The Russian-licensed German press has implied repeatedly that the Soviet Union is using the Berlin blockade as a lever to gain four-power talks on all of Germany. Russia and seven of her satellites called for such talks at the meeting of their foreign ministers in Warsaw last month.

Not At Peak

The foreign office announced meanwhile that Britain "has no plans for the present" of abandoning the air lift to Berlin. The operation is still increasing and has not yet reached its peak."

Air activity quickened in Britain under the impact of the Berlin crisis. The air ministry offered large-scale RAF exercises over southern England for Sunday in conjunction with a test of Britain's wartime air raid observation service.

In central England, some of the 60 American Superfortresses stationed at three RAF fields for "training missions" took off Wednesday for flights over Britain. United States planes in Germany also engaged in training exercises Wednesday.

Canada Blames U.S. Over Plane

OTTAWA, July 22 — (CP). — Only one thing seems to emerge solidly from the case of the baffling B17, a government source said without marked venom today—the United States didn't squander even a minimum of effort to have it returned.

The reference was to the Flying Fortress that took off from Halifax a few days ago with nine men and landed—and was seized—in the Azores with 18. There was 'some irregularity" in its original take off from Westchester airport, N.Y., allegedly to fly to Palestine to fight for Israel. It landed at Halifax and was held for several days.

The official said there were a number of ways the U.S. could have made sure that the plan returned, as announced, to Westchester. It might, for one thing, have sent a pilot to Halifax to do the job.

Meanwhile, nobody seems to know how nine men doubled or very much else.

England Leads In Test Match

LEEDS, England, July 22. — (Reuters).—England today scored 268 runs for the loss of two wickets in the first day's play of the fourth test cricket match against Australia.

Len Hutton and Cyril Washbrook put up a superb batting display to open England's first innings. They ran the home eleven's score to 168 for the first wicket.

By the tea interval, England had scored 183.

Washbrook was then not out for 94. But Hutton, his opening partner, was bowled after 3¼ hours by Ray Lindwall, the Australian fast bowler. A ball whipped back and hit his off stump.

Hutton hit one five and nine fours in his 81 runs. At teatime, Bill Edrich, who followed him, was not out for six.

Play was held up three times by showers during the afternoon, but the weather generally was fine.

Western Oils Dip, Base Metals Steady

TORONTO, July 22.—(CP).—Industrials and base metals strengthened in very light trading here today. Golds were steady and western oils dipped slightly.

A great number of industrials edged upwards for fractional gains. Leading the array was Bell Telephone which continued its recent strength by gaining 1⅛ and Steel of Canada, which advanced 1½.

Golds traded relatively active, splitting gains and losses in a fairly even ratio. In seniors, Kerr Addison and Lake Shore each advanced ⅛ in showing a firmer tone. Chesterville, Discovery, Diversified, Giant Yellow Knife and Preston showed losses ranging from 3 to 10 cents in juniors.

Base metals, led by Waite Amulet, showed a firmer tendency. Waite gained 40 cents in continuing its wild fluctuations of recent weeks. Another heavy gainer, Falconbridge.

Western oils were weaker, despite general inactivity. Calgary and Edmonton dropped 15 cents. Pacific Petroleum, which dropped 3 cents, and Globe, which was down 2, were others to lose, while Anglo Canadian advanced 4 cents.

Spitfires On Raid

SINGAPORE, July 22 (Reuters). — RAF Spitfires firing cannon and machine-guns to-day swooped on a 50-strong guerrilla band attacking troops south of Bertram, Kelanton State, Malaya. It was the fourth Spitfire attack in 24 hours. Earlier rocket-firing Spitfires shot up huts which the Communist guerrillas were suspected to be using in a jungle clearing at Bukit Rath Resar, in Perak.

Bar Cornwall Coal Cargoes

TORONTO, July 22—(CP). — Capt. Howard Baxter, Toronto dock manager of Canada Steamship Lines, said today shipment of coal and other cargoes to Cornwall have been definitely cancelled.

He said the decision arose from the stoning last week-end of six vessels as they passed through the Cornwall canal. Unless ships and crews are given police protection against such future incidents, shipments will not be resumed, he said.

Shipments have already been stopped to Midland, Goderich and other Welland Canala ports as a result of picketing activity of the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC), which is attempting to force four lake shipping companies to sign a working agreement. The decline to sign charging the union is Communist-led.

City Orders Removal Russ Symbol On Tomb

WATERLOO, July 22 (CP).—Decision to remove the Soviet hamer and sickle emblem from a tombstone in Mount Hope Cemetery here was made at a meeting of the Waterloo Park Board on Wednesday. The board, acting under provisions of the Cemetery By-law, decided to remove the emblem immediately.

Existence of the stone came to light recently when someone noticed the wording "Workers of the World Unite" complete with the hammer and sickle. The Red Star symbol is also on the stone.

Board members agreed that only the Russian emblems of the hammer and sickle and the star will be removed. The wording will remain unchanged.

Old-Timer Insists Germans Landed Men At Dover

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

DOVER, Eng., July 22—(CP)—Officially no Germans landed at white-cliffed Dover during the war—but 65-year-old Sam Eccles insists that they did.

He argues the point often in the cosy red-curtained bar of an ancient tavern standing near the foot of lofty Castle Hill.

"Don't tell me there were no Germans here," says Sam vehemently, thumping the bar with his tankard, "because I know different."

Scornful of opposition, Sam argues that many German commandos landed on the beaches of Dover in 1942 and 1943 and were taken prisoner.

"This was kept quiet at the time for security reasons," he said, "but I've had information about it from friends who were on coastal patrol at that time."

One Escaped

One German commando, he added, escaped coastal defences and travelled inland as far as Maidenhead, Surrey, 25 miles from London before he was captured.

Sam and many of his friends talk of the time when houses were easy to get in Dover. That was in 1944 when German shells fired from long-range gun emplacements between Bologne and Calais fell on the town night and day.

"I was visiting my aunt one night," he said, "when a policeman warned me not to go near her house. He said a land mine had fallen close by. I hurried round and told her to leave at once. She said 'Don't be silly. I can't leave now—I've got dinner cooking.'

General Evacuation

"I finally persuaded her to move, however, and soon after that every house on the road was vacant. A week later you could have had any house you wanted. Everyone had gone."

The bombardment brought to light many relics of olden times which for centuries had lain undiscovered. One was the 700-year-old St. Edmund's chapel, lost to history until buildings which had concealed it were destroyed by shells. The chapel is thought to have been buried by cliff falls which formed the foundation for houses built in the 17th century.

Recently it was suggested that the chapel should be restored as a memorial to Dover civilians and servicemen who died there in the two world wars.

Roman Fortress, Too?

So many Roman relics were unearthed that Dover Excavation Committee now is searching for remains of a Roman shore fortress.

Bombs and shells also brought to light relics of a smugglers' paradise at the foot of Dover's massive Castle Hill—a triangle of land isolated by the River Douro, the sea and chalk cliffs offering convenient labrynth of caves.

"Later," an historian said, "the blocking of the eastern outlet of the River Dour did what customs men could not do. It put the smugglers out of business."

RAAF Planes May Aid Malaya

CANBERRA, July 22—(CP)—RAAF Liberators and Australian Navy vessels will carry arms and munitions to Malaya if the British Governmnt requests them, reliable sources said today.

Prime Minister Chifley has promised he will ask the cabinet to lift a ban on the export of war materials because of the threat to the British Commonwealth seen in the current disturbances in Malaya blamed on Communist Guerrillas.

The decision to use the armed services to carry arms to Malaya was made after the Communist-controlled Seamen's Union stated bluntly that its members will boycott any ship attempting to load arms or ammunition for use against the Malayan Guerrillas.

Some pistols already have been flown into Malaya with customs approval, it was revealed by representatives of the Raub Australian Mining Company of Pf Hang, Malaya.

Police Question Teamster In Old Murder

CALGARY, July 22—(CP)—A widespread police net is slowly drawing in new leads on the 19-year-old murder of Thomas Charles Hall.

Wednesday night police obtained additional information about the 66-year-old broker-teamster from Andrew Vestrum, farmer of the nearby Balzac district.

Vestrum, who learned from a newspaper report of the murder that police wished to question him, said he wintered a team of horses owned by the slain man in 1928-29. Hall failed to come for his horses in the spring of 1929 and he visited the cottage in which Hall lived May 1. It was vacant.

Hall's mummified body was found under the floor of the same one-storey, spook-ridden cottage July 10. Police say they believe he was murdered in March, 1929.

The farmer said he disposed of the team in May, 1930 with the consent of Fred E. Hall of Cadillac, Que., eldest son of the murdered man. The son, then living at High River, Alta., later took his father's wagon and harness, Vestrum said.

Fred Hall, now assistant manager of a gold mine at Cadillac, left here for Quebec Tuesday. He flew here voluntarily to assist police in their investigations. He said his father operated a brokerage business in Calgary and that the teamster work was a sideline.

Police are trying to contact the Hall's second son, Charles, now believed to be in Denver, Colo.

Detroit Driver Killed In Crash

WINDSOR, July 2.—(CP). — One man was killed and three others injured in an automobile crash at nearby Maidstone today.

Clarence Hall, 26, of Detroit, driver of the car, died instantly when the vehicle went out of control after rounding a curve near the centre of the town. The car crapped itself around a tree at the roadside.

The other victims, also of Detroit:

Wilbert Hill, 21, who suffered possible head injuries.

Provincial police investigating believe Hall was travelling too fast and was not familiar with the road. The car rounded a sharp turn and then careened off the highway from a straight stretch of roadway.

Provincial Constables Thomas Walker and Harold Yule secured a tow truck to pull the door of the smashed car in order to free Hall's body. The left side of the car bore the full brunt of the crash. The vehicle was totally wrecked.

Regatta Becomes Gay Reunion

CAMPBELLFORD, July 22. — (ENS)—Apart entirely from the contests staged at the Campbellford Game and Fish Association's regatta yesterday, the most surprising thing seemed to be the number of people in the crowd who had apparently not seen each other for some time.

Little groups meeting and shaking hands were everywhere, and the turnout of old-timers would seem to be an indication that a regatta is a very necessary part of the year's activities.

The crowd was the most orderly.

Work Goes On To Finance Arena

COBOURG, July 22—(ENS).—Little has been heard during the past few months concerning the proposed memorial rink and recreation centre, but the committee has been hard at work, looking over plans and dickering over costs. Last night the committee held a further meeting to prepare for the council meeting which will be held tonight. Council will be shown the plans and specifications and will be asked to deed over to the rink committee, land on south Division Street, which has been chosen as the site. Cost of the structure, including artificial ice, will be somewhat in excess of $100,000.

Stone Arriving For Memorial Gate

COBOURG, July 22—(ENS).—Some of the stone has arrived for the new park gates and entrance, which will be officially dedicated on Sunday, August 1, as part of the Civic Holiday week-end celebration. The gates are the gift of the Cobourg Business and Professional Women's Club and the cost is being financed through the publication and sale of the history of Cobourg. The book is a historical record of the past 150 years of Cobourg.

The new park gates open off King Street to terraced grounds which slope down to the main part of Victoria Park. A beautiful view of the park and Lake Ontario can be seen from King Street, which is part of Highway No. 2. The gates will be a memorial to the fallen in World Wars One and Two.

Oshawa Deputy Chief Lands 18-Lb. Muskie

OSHAWA, July 22.—(CP). — Ray Hobbs, deputy fire chief in Oshawa, made good use of his day off yesterday. He went out to Lake Scugog, about 10 miles north of here, and came home with an 18½-pound muskellunge—rated a good catch in those waters which are fished heavily by anglers from here and the Toronto district.

Boy Takes Cramps During Regatta

CAMPBELLFORD, July 22.—(ENS—The only near-mishap to occur at the Campbellford regatta at Healey Falls took place with the knowledge of only a very few of those present.

Fifteen year-old Phil Chevalier of Havelock took cramps in both legs while swimming back from the diving float after the diving contest. He was noticed by Basil Darrah of Campbellford who held him up until help arrived.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Linton, who had been judging the diving contests, were in a nearby boat and picked up the stricken lad and brought him to shore.

Total weight of contestant and car must not exceed 250 pounds.

Kinmount Men Fined For Stealing Battery

LINDSAY, July 22—(ENS)—William Hughes, 23, and Melvin Berkley, 19, both of Kinmount, were convicted of stealing a battery valued at $20 in police court on Wednesday. Hughes pleaded not guilty and Berkley guilty. They were both fined $15 and $4.50 costs.

Berkley said they went to the garage of Claude Austin, Kinmount at 11 p.m. on May 19 and took the battery out of a lorry owned by Mr. Austin. He said he was given $10 for his part in the theft and Hughes kept the battery, later installing it in his own car.

Mr. Austin said he watched for the missing battery and eventually found it in Hughes' car. When he asked Hughes about the battery Austin said that he claimed he had bought it from another man and later said it might have been Berkley. In the witness box Hughes maintained that he had purchased it from Berkley.

The two were arrested on Saturday by provincial police.

Medieval Stench In The South End

It is in no way surprising that a deputation from the South End has waited upon the Council to complain of the nauseous stink which spreads over that area from the open sewer which, at that point, bears the name of the Otonabee River. We have sampled this stench, and it is abominable. It is a disgrace to the city, and it is iniquitous that city taxes should be levied upon citizens who are required to live in an atmosphere which, at this time of year, suggests the worst slums of the Middle Ages. The gentleman who described it to the Council as equivalent to having a privy in the living room said no more than the truth—and he might have said that the same privy haunts the dining room, the kitchen and the bedroom as well.

* * *

Let us face the disagreeable facts. Peterborough is a dirty and hypocritical city which inspects restaurants for filth on the one hand, and permits a considerable part of its area to stink like a backhouse on the other. The sewage processing system is inadequate, and for one section of the city it does not even pretend to work. During the war, apparently, nothing could be done. Since the war the high cost of large projects has stood in the way of improvement and the present Council is doing the customary amount of tut-tutting and head-shaking. None of the councillors, of course, live in the South End. They are all out of nose-shot of the stink. Perhaps if the ward system were restored the South End could find a champion.

* * *

A very timely suggestion, however, has been made by Alderman Swanston, and by one or two of the permanent city officials, and it is this: should we not consider moving the new sewage plant out of the city, instead of re-building on the same site? Of course this will cost money, but it will not cost as much as a botched sewage processing system. Peterborough has grown so much during the past twenty years that its whole sewage system needs revision, and if the plant should be moved, let us move it when the new system is installed. When that will be, of course, nobody knows. Meanwhile the South End reeks, and the South Enders have no redress.

Political Winds In Quebec

Next Wednesday the electors of the province of Quebec go to the polls. Quebec has many quirks of its own which differentiate it from other parts of Canada, and among them are its political parties. In the coming elections the Conservatives and C.C.F. will have hardly a nose in. The party of the present Government is the Union Nationale which for practical politics is a French-Canadian nationalist Conservative party. The official opposition is Liberal, headed by the former Premier Mr. Adelard Godbout. A new party, the Union des Electeurs is actively contesting on a shoe-string, the enthusiasm of J. Ernest Gregoire (a professor of political economy at Laval University) and the promise of a monthly $20 dividend for every man, woman and child in the province. There are other parties but these three are the chief contenders.

The Union of Electors with its Social Credit program is not likely to make a large showing. The Liberals are strong. In the last (1944) elections they polled more votes than the Union Nationale but elected fewer representatives. Mr. Godbout's platform includes more social benefits for the people and co-operation with the Ottawa Government. His Government (prior to 1944) had a good record in educational reform, careful management and tolerance.

Premier Maurice Duplessis attempts to be all things to all people except the Socialists. He is a free enterpriser, a French-Canadian nationalist (Quebec for the Quebecois, our own flag, no domination by Les Anglais and the like). He is quite capable of making two speeches on the same evening in Montreal, one at St. Antoine to working-class French-Canadians about the blood-sucking English-Canadian business men, the other to these business men in Westmount promising co-operation in their enterprises and industrial peace. Above all, Mr. Duplessis understands the science of patronage, and building a personal party machine.

It will not be the present Government's weaknesses and Mr. Duplessis's political tricks of which the voters will be most conscious. It will be the present unexcelled prosperity of the province, the new roads, the new flag which flies over the legislative buildings at Quebec, the new factories which give employment, pay high wages and high taxes. The present Government will be difficult to unseat.

One interesting aspect of the campaign is the part Mr. St. Laurent is taking on behalf of Mr. Godbout's Liberals. His participation is partly a test of his popularity and strength among French-Canadians. Liberals in other provinces will assess the election results carefully before the National Liberal Convention gathers in Ottawa during the first week of August.

No Reduction In Hospital Rates

Apparently the considerable increase in hospital grants in Ontario is not going to bring about any reduction in hospital rates, according to Peterborough hospital officials who were asked about the matter by this newspaper. This is disappointing and disturbing information. When the Dominion Government relinquished the Amusement Tax of twenty per cent. the Ontario Government immediately snatched at the tax, and announced that it would be earmarked for hospital grants. These grants have accordingly been increased by a little more than one hundred per cent. And yet the hospitals not only cannot reduce their rates, but in some cities say that an increase in rates will sooner or later have to be made. Of course hospitals have felt the sharp increases in costs of every kind, but even so it is astonishing to see a hundred per cent. increase in the provincial grant so rapidly gobbled up.

Applying the Amusement Tax to hospital grants is bad taxation, for it collects a special tax from one group of citizens in order to devote it to the uses of another group. If a tax were levied on amusements in order that better amusements might be made available at cheap rates, that would make sense. But taxing amusement to benefit hospitals is taxation on the eighteenth century principle. The imposture of the Amusement Tax becomes even more vexatious when we find that it is not enough to put the hospitals in a sound financial position, great though the tax-money is.

It appears that the people of Ontario may shortly have to face further subsidizing of hospitals, or an increase in hospital rates. During the past ten years the hospital costs of private patients have increased almost by one hundred per cent., and certain hospital grants were increased two years ago, in addition to the recent doubling of the provincial grant. The cost of hospital care appears to be outstripping even the cost of living.

Nightmare

One of our nightmares is that we have been appointed a judge in a beauty contest. Save for being asked to judge a Baby Show, we can imagine nothing more appalling.

Beauty contests are deadly affairs. Recently a girl in the U.S.A., who had been placed fourth in such a contest, went home and drank a bottle of poison. Her last words were: "I could never face my friends again". She had expected to be first, you see.

In Montreal a girl who expected to win a beauty contest and did not, suffered a nervous breakdown, and was ill for a month. In another Montreal contest a man whose daughter received no award sued the contest officials on grounds of [illegible], you see, that his daughter was an obvious winner. In Quebec, judges chose a girl as winner for her charm and refinement; doubtless she possessed these attributes, but as she was a prostitute by profession it was considered that her charms were of a professional character, and should not have been placed in competition with those of amateurs.

And in Windsor, you will recall, the scandal of the girl whose splendid pectoral development was attributed to "falsies" (rubber amplifiers) shook Western Ontario last year.

Devoted as we are to beauty, we like it on a non-competitive level.

The Hon. Omer Cote, Provincial Secretary in Premier Duplessis's Quebec Government, has criticized the Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, the Federal Minister of External Affairs, for failing to send a representative of the Dominion Government to the Vatican, although we send an ambassador to Moscow. Perhaps Mr. Cote would like the Federal Government to establish a Canadian embassy in Quebec, too.

The Lure Of A Book

By F. M. DELAFOSSE

AMONG my books are a select few to which I hold tight as memorials of my early boyhood. In my meanderings through life I have treasured them as heirlooms, to be held as a kind of family incunabula, and handed down from father to son, even as they have been handed down to me. They are shabby and venerable-looking and the gloss has long since departed from their covers, but the legibility of the printing is still clear and the durability of the binding remains as strong testimony to the excellence of the craftsmanship that brought them into being.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE is one volume among them to which I am especially partial; it is entitled Peter Parley's Annual and was printed in London in 1850 by a well-known publisher of that day, Darton, of Holborn Hill. Intrigued by the title, I determined a few days ago to do some research work at the Public Library in order to discover the author's identity. Through the kind services of a member of the staff, I was very soon put in possession of what I was seeking. In the first place, I found, much to my surprise, that the owner of the pseudonym had been an American, and that his name was Samuel Griswold Goodrich. I also discovered that he had been the son of a Congregational minister at Richfield, Connecticut, and that after spending some years in Hartford as the owner of a small book-selling business, he had turned to the authorship and compilation of children's books. To this he devoted his life, urged by the conviction that a more suitable literature for children was needed than the wishy-washy, soporific twaddle that had been handed out for their edification by such eminent writers as Maria Edgeworth, Mrs. Sherwood, Mrs. Barbauld and others of that genus. All of them were excellent writers, but too intensely religious to be cheerful, and what was really needed was tales of adventure and gaiety to make them manly or bring occasional laughs to their cheeks. We are told that many parents in those days used to make a practice of visiting churchyards with their children and sedately talking to them of the moral lessons to be learnt from reading the inscriptions on the tombstones (which perhaps was a better way than is somewhat prevalent in these days of letting so many youngsters shift for themselves in finding their own ways of enjoyment.) Mr. Sherwood, husband of the writer of the "Fairchild Family", we are told, in order to give his children a suitable Sunday lesson marched them out once to show them a body of a culprit hanging in the chains of a gibbet on a nearby roadside!

◇ ◇ ◇

MR. GOODRICH devoted thirty years of his life to endeavouring to benefit the youth of his country and started first by sending various articles to a publication called "The Token", to which it is interesting to learn that Nathaniel Hawthorne and Longfellow, who afterwards became famous, sent their earlier efforts. In England people soon saw the excellence of Peter Parley's ideas and many spurious productions, together with an annual bearing his name, with which he had nothing to do, made their appearance and gained great popularity.

UP to about 1835, the United States had not published much literature of their own. They had been almost absolutely dependent on Great Britain for their reading matter. But the country had begun to feel its growing strength and many able men and women were striving hard to produce a literature instinct with real American ideas and ambitions. The laws of copyright were by no means so forcefully applied as in present days and piracy on both sides of the water was rampant. Peter Parley himself tells us in his account of his life that he had been a sufferer and that, although he had published over 170 volumes of his own, there were many others published under his own name; there were many others bearing his own pseudonym of which he never had the least inkling until he saw them in print, I am afraid that my own copy of Peter Parley's Annual has to be classed as an imitator of the American Peter Parley, for he quite straight-forwardly states the truth in the first paragraph of his article on the Mississippi in the following words:

◇ ◇ ◇

"VERY often Peter Parley goes to see sights and he has been seldom more pleased than by his visit to the Egyptian Hall to see the Panorama of the Mississippi. It in indeed an extraordinary production, and one of the most pleasing views is that which represents a prairie on fire. I remember once, when I [illegible] am not an American, I have been there, and many people think I am a Yankee, which is their mistake—we—that is myself and a party—were wending our way towards the town Buffalo, and we had the opportunity of seeing this tremendous spectacle".

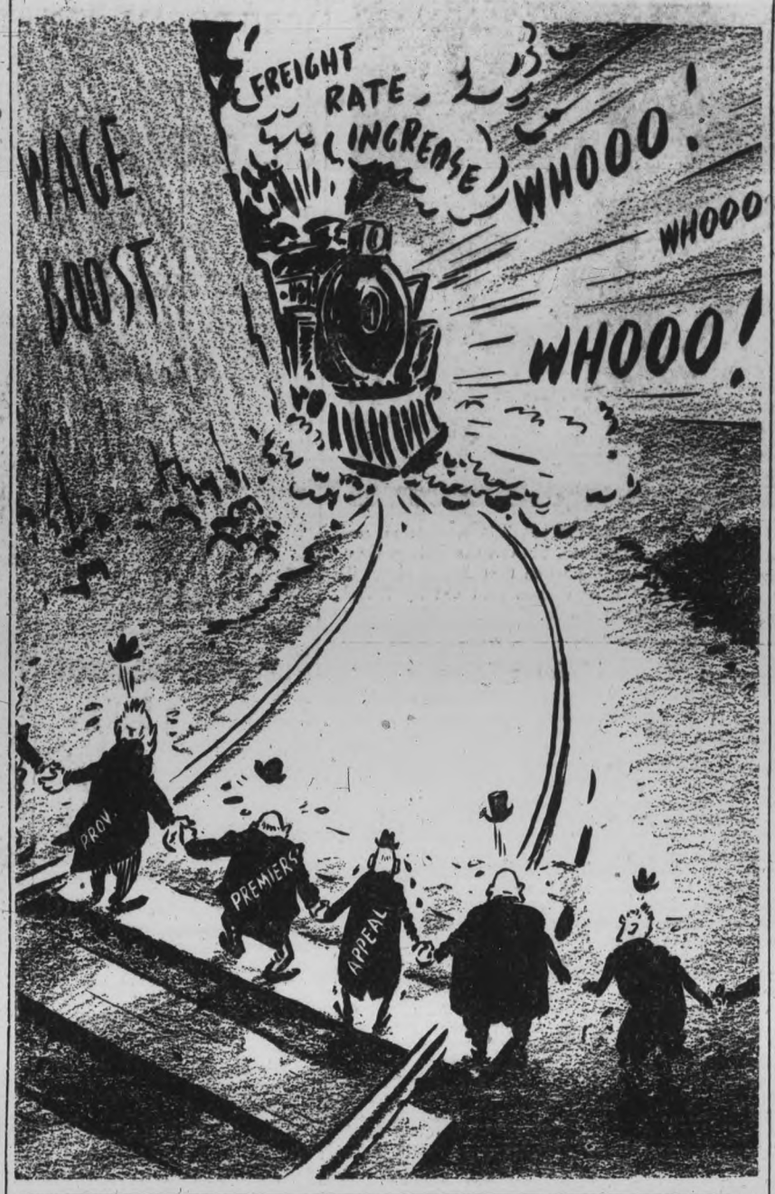
Farm Frontage

Every field, fence and farmstead is a show window in which is advertised the place of business. The appearance of a farm is the cheapest advertising a farmer breeding pure-bred livestock and growing seed grain can use to attract potential buyers to his premises. A neat, clean and well-kept farm attracts attention and it is also an indication of the nature of the farming carried on within. It is expected that an operator who is interested and careful about the appearance of his place is also careful, thrifty and accurate in his breeding practices and cultural methods.

There are many successful farmers producing the best in livestock and seed who feel that they haven't time to touch up the house and barn with a bit of paint, who perhaps neglect the weeds along the roadside and who leave their mail box unpainted.

A tidy farm and pleasant surroundings raise the moral of the home folk help to change the drudgeries of farm work into an interesting occupation and arrest the attention of passersby.—Farmer's Advocate

COMING ROUND THE MOUNTAIN



The Spectre In Asia

By SIR PERCIVAL GRIFFITHS
In The London Sunday Times

WHEN power was transferred by Britain to India and her three neighbours, few realized how soon and how gravely in some of these countries the newly-acquired freedom would be threatened by the growth of Communism. Today, with a slight modification of the opening words of the century-old Communist Manifesto, it might almost be said that "a spectre is haunting Asia—the spectre of Communism."

In India, though it is rare to find even an economics student who has read "Das Kapital." Communism is no new thing. Soon after the 1914-18 war a Communist movement, inspired and financed by Russia, was set on foot. Its success was very limited, partly on account of the vigilance of the authorities, but mainly because it preached a doctrine not suited to the psychology of a religious and property-loving people. By 1939, its organizers had evolved a creed less at variance with Hindu thought, but still based upon the old Marxian exploitation of jealousy and class hatred.

In the years between the wars the educated youth of India was first and foremost nationalist and therefore anti-British; this in turn induced a general hostility to authority and the established order. The resulting predisposition towards Communism among the young intelligentsia ensured an adequate supply of leaders for the party.

During the recent war important sections of the Communist party in India, in contrast to the Congress party, gave wholehearted support to the war effort, and so obtained an excellent opportunity of consolidating their organization. The 1943 famine and the subsequent shortages of essential goods, the failure of the Government to check profiteering and control inflation, the general loosening of the bonds of authority, the new ferment of ideas which the war had produced—all these prepared the way for the apostles of Communism.

As a result, the Communist party of India is now strong, perhaps not so much in numbers as in influence. In every industrial [illegible] its presence felt through strikes with no apparent cause and through "go-slow" movements; while even in remote tea-garden areas it is not uncommon to see lorry-loads of party workers going their rounds and making great play with the emblem of hammer and sickle.

The movement is particularly strong in a belt stretching from the West coast to Madras. There the Communists have made a dead set at capturing the imagination of the villager, and have not scrupled to exploit communal strife for the purpose. Responsible officials speak gravely of areas in the South in which "the writ of Government does not run." In Bombay, though active in industrial areas, the movement has not yet been very successful in the villages, while in Bengal it has concentrated mainly on urban labour, and a subsidiary campaign in the tea districts.

The real test of strength will come at the first elections on the basis of adult suffrage, and it is whispered in Delhi that some of those concerned now wish they had not so emphatically demanded universal franchise in the past.

In the meanwhile, the Government of India have rightly set out to crush the Communist party, and the main burden of doing so falls upon Sardar Patel, who is unfortunately a sick man. It is believed that Pandi Nehru is not altogether happy about the campaign: for, although he can have no illusions left about Russia, he seems anxious to avoid the accusation of lining up with an anti-Communist international block. Recent events, however, have left him and his Government no choice.

Ceylon, too, has for some time been a centre of Red activity. In the south-west of the Island the depression in the coir industry has facilitated the work of the Communists, while in Colombo high prices have had a similar result. Fortunately, personal quarrels and jealousies have divided the movement into three rival factions, and except among semi-skilled labour little real harm has been done.

In Pakistan, though the evil has not yet assumed serious proportions, the presence of a large number of homeless and penniless refugees provides a golden opportunity for the Marxian propagandist. The Government, however, are aware of the danger and they are unlikely to give Communist agents much rope.

In Burma, on the other hand, the situation is so serious that the most sober account of it seems fanciful or alarmist. A period of British guidance and control was needed to restore normality after the Japanese occupation. In the event, however, power was put into the hands of a few leaders who have proved themselves completely unable to establish order, and central Burma today is a happy hunting ground for unruly elements of such diverse characters that it is impossible to distinguish between genuine Communists and plain hooligans. The attempt of the Burmese Government to retrieve the situation by putting arms into the possession of the villagers has proved a godsend to the Communists.

Thakin Nu, the Prime Minister of Burma, perhaps conscious of his inability to control the situation, is about to resign, and has founded a new party to be known as the United Party of the Left. "Propagation of Marxist ideology" and establishment of the close relations with Russia are the most significant planks in the new party platform. Alarmed at world reactions, Thakin Nu tried [illegible] previous statement; nevertheless, it is difficult to resist the belief that Burma is moving rapidly towards chaos.

For centuries the North-West has been the gateway to India, through which military marauders have entered to plunder or conquer. Today it stands open to the more dangerous invasion of Communist doctrine, and it will take all the strength and vigilance of India and her neighbours to resist the onslaught.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

HAVE mercy upon me, O Lord, according to thy lovingkindness: according unto the multitude of thy tender mercies blot out my transgressions. Wash me throughly from mine iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin....

Create in me a clean heart, O God: and renew a right spirit within me: (Ps. 51: 1, 2, 10.)

Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled....Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God. (Matt. 5: 6, 8.)

STAMP FOR EUROPEAN AID?

Sir,—Spending the holidays here on this beautiful northern lake, where fishing is good and all food is enjoyed with extra relish, we spare a thought for the hungry in Europe.

Couldn't we arrange to have seals printed and sold for this cause? A press campaign could make them popular for sticking on the backs of envelopes and parcels.

A business man suggested that the Government might issue a special stamp with an extra one-cent value which could go for food to Europe.

FARMERS AND INCOME TAX

Sir,—In your rural feature (County Farm Notes by Harry Theobald) an address by G. L. Burton, Macdonald College, poses the question, "Do Canadian farmers produce a fair share of the national income?"

Your columnist quotes liberally from the Burton article in the Agricultural Institute Review, and contributes his own thought-provoking comments. It is certainly a bit surprising to read: "Mr. Burton says the census classifies 195,000 farms as subsistence or as a combination of subsistence farms. "These are respectively defined as farms on which more than 50 per cent. of the gross product is consumed by the farm family, and farms on which the value of products consumed on the plus receipts from one other enterprise are required to constitute 60 per cent. of the gross product". (Examiner, July 3).

It is all very complicated, i.e., from the urban viewpoint, but there is still some area for a spot of comment. It has long been my impression, from my reading, that Canada's farmers do not win their proper slice of the nation's income pie; and this conclusion seems to get solid support from the experience of our income tax collectors, who got less than $2,000,000 in the year 1946-47 from just 7,000 Ontario farmers. While this tax 'take' appears to work out at an average of slightly less than $300 per farm, the fact remains, Mr. Editor, that we have 175,000 farms in this province? As these have an average capital investment of more than $10,000 per farm, plus a life-time investment in terms of the farm operator's experience and know-how, plus the energies of the rural family (on a no-wage or low wage basis!), it is a commentary on rural conditions, surely, to find 168,000 Ontario farmers—even in these times—below the income tax exemption floor?

I am a simple man and find difficulty in arranging myself around Mr. Burton's 'percentages', either in terms of cash or production; but I had no difficulty at all in coming to certain conclusions along this production front, in a subsequent discussion on finding that two "gay young blades", beginning life together, on the pavements, enjoy a joint earning power of $57 a week—yet cannot afford to marry! SOCRATES.

Holiday Trouble

Editor, Telegram:

Sir,—On July 4 I took a three-day motor trip to Toronto. I was under the impression Canada was anxious for tourists and American money.

A good many thousands of dollars poured into Canada during that week-end. The road maps, I am sorry to say, do not state just where the handful of gas stations are located that are permitted to stay open after dark during "The Tourist Season".

In was informed by one gas station attendant, anyone breaking the law by keeping open after 7 p.m. suffered a heavy fine.

Due to a detour in the highway I drove miles out of my way, hoping to find a gas station open. Ended up by getting pushed as far as a small town. Had to wait until 7 a.m., consequently I was many hours late getting back to Detroit and late for work.

It would seem as though "The Powers That Be" need a good housecleaning job done, and some progressive go-getter elected in their place. My car has been laid up ever since. It will cost me $75 or more to put it in running shape again.

I am writing our newspapers (The Letter Box) here advising anyone contemplating a trip to Canada on Labor Day, to either take along their own gas or stay at home and enjoy the privileges so abundantly provided for us.

The American people can only stand being taken for a ride once.

Wallace Party Convention Lacks Interest

PHILADELPHIA, July 22. — (AP). — Gideon's Army is here, shivering lances and slaughtering dragons amid a strange quiet.

It is in convention beneath the portrait of Henry Wallace, who first gave it that name. But so far there is almost nothing to indicate that another convention, the third within a month, has opened in Philadelphia. There are no crowds on the sidewalks, and no traffic jams on the fine wide streets or in the hotel lobbies.

Even at Convention Hall, where the New Party platform committee is at work, there are more newspaper men and policemen than spectators, although the hearings are open to the public.

The only visible signs to denote the presence of Gideon's Army are on the marquee of the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel which is studded with standards calling for "peace, abundance, freedom."

Sharp Contrast

All this contrasts sharply with the clatter and clang of the warriors appearing before the platform committee.

They have attacked "American imperialism" and "colonialism."

They also ran full-tilt against Franco Spain, partitioned Ireland, embattled Indonesia and the situation in Armenia, the Ukraine, Hawaii, and the continent of Africa. Neither Russia nor the present situation in Berlin were mentioned.

Arthur Kahn, of New York, director of the nationalities division of the party, explained it this way:

"What we are trying to show is a rounded picture of American imperialism around the world. The State Department is bringing Fascists and terrorists to this country and supporting them. At the same time, our policy is to exploit and colonize the weak people. We no longer stand for liberty and freedom—just the reverse."

Boy Wanted Money So Shot Woman

MARTINEZ, Calif., July 22—(AP)—"I saw other kids with money, and I didn't see why I shouldn't have some, too."

That, police said today, was the reason 11-year-old Thomas Edwin Harrington gave for shooting to death Mrs. Daisy Ebling yesterday. But, frightened, he took no money.

Officers said Tommy made a statement admitting the shooting. The boy will be charged with first degree murder. The maximum penalty is life imprisonment because of his age.

U.S. Bomber Supplies Shipped To Britain

SALINA, Kas., July 22—(AP) —The United States Air Force has clarified the status of war material loaded aboard freight cars at Camp Phillips for movement to the east coast.

The supplies will be shipped to England for use by B-29 bombers now on training missions there.

Col. Leslie G. Mulzer, commander of the 301st very heavy bombardment squadron at the nearby Smoky Hill air force base, said in a statement Wednesday the material had been in storage at his base.

A report Tuesday that the large amount of equipment was being loaded aboard 240 flat cars and 80 box cars had aroused speculation on why it was being transported.

Ford Standing Pat On Offer

DETROIT, July 22.—(AP). — [illegible] Automobile Workers (CIO) negotiators bargained on through a marathon session today seeking to avert a threatened strike of 116,000 production workers.

As the latest talks began, Ford Vice-President John S. Bugas said the company was standing pat on its "final" offer of a 13-cent hourly boost.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, who moved in for the second time to take charge of the union team, was just as insistent that the auto workers would not back down from their demand for a flat 14-cent increase and fringe benefits totalling about seven cents more.

Ford's current hourly wage is about $1.52 an hour.

Should negotiations fail, the union [illegible] ready to call a strike in 46 plants across the United States.

Collide Near Rouge Hills

TORONTO, July 22— (CP) — Damage of $10,000 resulted when two transport trucks collided Wednesday near suburban Rouge Hills. Police said a truck, loaded with glassware, collided with another, hurtling it 100 feet off the highway. Broken glass littered the highway as the occupants escaped without injury.

SENATOR ALBEN BARKLEY, U.S. Democratic vice-presidential nominee, was greeted by his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Barkley, and his two grandchidren, Alben Barkley III, and Dorothy Ann Barkley, when h arrived home in Paducah, Kentucky.

Send Wrong European To Man In Kitchener

KITCHENER, July 22—(CP).—A case of mistaken identity almost spelled heartbreak for a Kitchener man but the tangle has now been unravelled.

In 1929 Michael Gondosh emigrated to Canada, leaving his wife and son in Europe. When his wife died, he remarried in Kitchener.

After the war, he located his son and applied for his entry to the Dominion. He received word recently that the son was arriving in Toronto.

He met a boy, who bore the same name as his son but was a third cousin. The disappointed Kitchener man was told recently by immigration authorities that his son would arrive in a few weeks and that a mixup had resulted over the identical names.

Pilgrim Voyagers Sail For Boston

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., July 22—(AP)—The Pilgrim-like voyage of seven European families turned toward Boston today and official consideration of their plea for homes in a land of freedom.

The 64-foot Ketch Gundel, which crossed the Atlantic from England in 43 days, put out from this New England port early this morning with its crew of 29 Baltic-born men, women and children.

Capt. John Rosenberg, master of the craft, said they hope to find a berth at Boston this afternoon. At Boston they will be awaited by Unied States immigration officials who said Wednesday they would "investigate" the ship and her company.

The seven-family party of 15 men, seven women and seven children turned in here when they ran out of fuel for the vessel's auxiliary engine and became short of food.

Unfair Labor Practices

ST. JOHNS, Que., July 22 — (CP). — Labor Minister Barrette said Wednesday night the strike bound firm of Franco-Canadian Dyers Ltd. has been notified by the Quebec Labor Relations Board that action is being instituted against it for unfair labor practices.

A strike of 400 members of the Textile Workers of America (CIO-CCL) was called against the plant July 12, the union charging management with "discrimination and coercion."

Charles Tighberien, president of Franco Canadian, denied Wednesday night that management had been unjust and said "I do not see what the Department can find against our officials."

Sulfa-Type Drug Used On Polio Cases

HOUSTON, Tex., July 22—(CP) —Polio patients treated here with a new sulfa-type drug, Thiazolyl, are up and walking around, but doctors warn against over-optimism.

One doctor pointed out that many patients recover spontaneously from polio.

Some 70 patients were estimated to have been treated with Thiazolyl, but Houston doctors said Wednesday only about 35 cases were being used for study and evaluation.

New Canadian Record Set By Powerboat

BELLEVILLE, July 22—(CP)—Paul Sawyer, of San Antonio, Tex., established a new Canadian course record here yesterday when he reached a speed of 73.6 miles an hour in his hydroplane power boat, the Belligero.

Sawyer, competing in the American Powerboat Association regatta at Massassaga Point, shattered the record of 68.3 miles an hour established last year at Picton, Ont., by Jack Cooper of Kansas City, Mo.

Locals Drop Close One In Cobourg

By FRED MAYBEE

Intermediate Petes completed their schedule of exhibition baseball games prior to playoff time by losing a close decision to Cobourg in the latter's home grounds last evening by 3-1 before a large crowd.

Roy Armour twirled one-hit ball until the sixth when Cobourg scored the winning runs on hits by Zealand, Bateman and G. Campbell, aided by an error, to thrill the fans with one of the finest games seen in Cobourg this season.

Both pitchers toiled well, while the hitting of Carpenter with two for three and one run batted in stood out for the Petes, as well as his good fielding. Bateman, Quigley and Zealand looked best for the locals. McRae also shone for the Petes.

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

If ye take the high road and we take the low road, we'll reach Miller Bowl together—where all the lacrosse fans meet every Friday eve by the bonny bonny banks of Loch Little! Hm, it must have been that Scotch. All we started out to say was that there'd be an OLA senior "B" fixture at nine tomorrow night in Miller Bowl betwixt Huntsville and the Petes. No need to toss any highland notes in there. Just another rousing gutted-stick game before another 2,000 or so customers. After that 14-11 tilt between these teams away earlier in the week, it looks like this should be quite a scrap.

* * * * * *

And on Saturday aft at three in Riverside, the ball game the fans have been waiting for is on tap. Batawa Shoemen play the COBL Petes, and it's for keeps. When Batawa beat 'em 4-2 in Bella Villa the other evening, they climbed into a first-place tie with the locals. In fact, they also beat them the previous start 1-0, so you can see how well-matched these clubs are. True the men o' Murphy were shorthanded last time out and they'll be nearly at full strength Saturday, but they lost Larry Edwardson—via an operation—and his shoes won't be easy to fill. Maybe handy Jack Mackness will take over the initial sack. Anyway, it's sure to be a dandy duel.

* * * * * *

OASA Lists Zones

Comes an OASA bulletin listing the zones. In senior "B" we're grouped with Kingston and Oshawa, there being five zones. And Peterborough is in with Belleville, Kingston and Oshawa in the intermediate "A" setup. Kingston, Oshawa and the locals again in intermediate "AA," which is industrial. Also, we have a juvenile "A" entry in with Kingston and Oshawa. Campbellford, Hastings and Omemee are in intermediate "C" and Hastings has a junior "B" entry. The various leagues and clubs will get a copy of the zone system.

* * * * * *

Men's softball schedule winds up tonight, weather permitting, at the Bowl when B-A plays Legion, followed by Knights against Comstock's. Knights must win this to stay in the race. If they win as B-A loses tonight, then that postponed double-header will have to be run off in the first week of August to settle matters. It may, anyway, o see which club ges top spot as the schedule ends, thereby winning the William Taylor Trophy. The City League champs then get the George Dormer Trophy. There'll be no holds barred in tonight's twin bill.

* * * * * *

Ashby's Climb Up

Ashby's defeated Woollens 10-1 and Lock Co. took Lakefield 16-5 in girls' softball encounters at the Bowl last gloaming. Two fast fixtures, with one being rated an exhibition as Lakefield were shorthanded. Guess it goes as a default, too. Some pretty fair ball seen in spots in both tussles. Ashby's tightened their grip on third place, half a game back of Marines and but two behind the league-leading Clockers. Tomorrow sees Woollens in against Westclox, followed by Lock Co. vs. Lakefield here as these teams pick up postponements while the schedule nears a finish. Westclox and Lindsay mix at the Bowl on Monday.

* * * * * *

Plans are afoot for a whopper of an exhibition of girls' softball in the Bowl on Friday, Aug. 6. The Rotary-sponsored game between Toronto Sunday Morning Class and the Cleveland Berin-Brews, proceeds going to the fund for crippled children. Parks department will have the portable bleachers moved into the Bowl from Riverside Park and there'll be seating accommodation for 4,000 fans. Rotary Club feels like giving folks something for their money, hence this big attraction. These teams play about the fastest girls' softball in the world, each team having won international honors in recent years. It'll be two weeks from tomorrow.

Petes Back On Top

Turning back the Merchants 6-1 in Oshawa last night, the Petes pulled out in front of the COBL race again by half a game. Gunner Ed Whitehill, who is hitting his hurling stride these warm days, pitched six-hit ball, struck out seven and walked none in a neat slab showing. The pounding Petes reached Doug Sutton for 14 safeties, practically everyone getting at least one. Bob Crowe cuffed out a triple and two singles in five attempts. Cook was the only Oshawa hitter to connect safely twice. First place will again be at stake Saturday here when the Shoemen and Petes tangle.

Cavanagh's: Curtis, Brioux, Floyd, Collins, McKenzie, Buott, Adam, Telford.

Petes Defeat Oshawa In COBL Fray

OSHAWA, July 22 — (CP). — Peterborough moved back into first place in the COBL here last night as they handed Oshawa Merchants a 6-1 setback to move one-half game ahead of Batawa Shoemen, who tied for first place with a 4-2 decision over Petes the night before. Gunner Whitehill, on the mount for Petes, allowed six safeties, fanned seven and didn't walk a man. Manager Doug Sutton for Oshawa gave up 14 hits and walked only one. Every Peterborough player but Murphy hit safely at least once, with Crowe batting three for five, one a triple. Cook was the lone Merchant to get two hits.

STAR OF THE SHOW, when Sweden and Austria clashed in a soccer duel at Stockholm football stadium recently, was the goalie of the Austrian team, M. Zeman, who is shown here making one of his spectacular "saves." He was more often horizontal than perpendicular during the game. His team lost but he was credited with holding the score down to 3-2.

In Second Place

Oak Ridge, Tenn., July 22 — (CP)—Frank Anderson, 20 of Toronto, took over second place in the third annual nation junior chess tournament today. He has won five games and lost one. Tournament leader at the end of six rounds is Arthur Bisquier, 19, New York, with five victories and a draw.

Red Sox Finally Catch Yanks Win Twin Bill From Chicago

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe McCarthy finally has caught up to New York Yankees, the club his Boston Red Sox consider "the team to beat" for the American League flag.

Since July 4 marse Joe's Sox have won 16 of 20 starts in a sizzling surge. By winning a day-night doubleheader Wednesday from lowly Chicago White Sox while New York and Cleveland were splitting a pair, the Red Sox moved into a third-place tie with the world champs.

Only 3½ games back today, Boston can be in a position to challenge for the lead Saturday when Lou Boudreau's Cleveland Indians move into Fenway Park.

McCarthy must have been encouraged, too, by the relief victory of Tex Hughson, the tall Texan who has been lost to the team most of the season. Optioned to Austin, Tex., in the class B Big State league to bake the miseries from his sore arm, Hughson was recalled during the all-star game vacation.

Hughson came in to pitch the ninth inning of Wednesday night's game with Chicago, picking up the verdict when the Red Sox rallied for three runs in the last of the ninth to take a 10-9 edge. They had won the afternoon half by a 3-1 score for Joe Dobson's 12th success.

Trade Knockouts

The Yankees and Indians traded home-run knockouts in Wednesday's double tilt. New York ganged up on the Tribe in the first of a doubleheader for a 7-3 decision over Bob Muncrief. Joe DiMaggio, Bill Johnson, Cliff Mapes and Phil Rizzuto homered for the Yanks to more than make up for a two-run clout by Boudreau in the first inning.

The Yanks held an 8-4 lead going into the seventh frame of the second game but they couldn't hold it. Jim Hegan delivered a grand slam homer in the eighth for the ball game, 12-8.

Philadelphia ran into disaster at Shibe Park where St. Louis Browns pounded out 21 hits in a topsided 17-5 romp. Cliff Fannin toasted home on an 11-hitter.

Washington's Walt Masterson managed to get by with a 12-hitter as the Senators dumped Detroit 6-1.

Brooks Take Pair

Brooklyn's surge again featured the National League doings as the Brooks won a pair from Chicago, 9-3 and 7-1, clipping Boston Braves' lead to six games.

Ralph Branca had little trouble winning No. 12 in the opener. The Brooks, who have won seven of eight since Burt Shotton returned as manager, were held hitless for 5½ innings by Bob McCall in the second game. They finally broke loose for four runs in the sixth to win for Joe Hatten.

Warren Spahn, shaky of late, pitched steady, effective seven-hit ball as the Braves downed Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell, 6-2. Blackwell struck out nine but dished up home run balls to Earl Torgson and Jeff Heath.

Harry Brecheen turned in a brilliant effort for St. Louis Cardinals striking out 10 New York Giants in earning his 10th victory, 3-4.

Gary Cooper Would Like To Play Jackson

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, July 22 (AP).—Gary Cooper as Andrew Jackson. That intriguing casting may well be seen on the screens in the future. The lanky Montanan has admitted he is interested in portraying the colorful life of the seventh President of the United States.

How to Make Money

Sonny Tufts and Dennis O'Keefe will join forces on "Draw Sabres," which is described as "Along the 'Fort Apache' lines, but with more appeal." Both will help produce the Independent film, since they have discovered that is the way to make money in Hollywood these days: The actor who is making about the top profit in town—this may surprise you—is Randolph Scott, because he participates in the profits of his films.

Professional football may get a jolt from "Interference." It will show the game as a big business, and no punches will be pulled . . . AnnDvorak is in town briefly before going abroad for pictures in England and France.

Frank Answer

Cary Grant had a frank answer when I asked him why he did not produce his own pictures. Said he: "I am not mentally equipped for it"....Paul Douglas returns to New York after his stint in "Three Wives." Even with Jimmy Cagney being mentioned as set for the role, Paul makes no bones about his availability to recreate his stage role in the "Born Yesterday" film. "I already know the lines," he says.

MGM censor Al Block was smoking while sitting on a bed on the "Little Women" set. "I am breaking one of my new rules," he commented. No longer will smoking in bed be permitted in MGM pictures, since many people are killed every year because of bed fires. Which shows you how careful film makers have to be.

Mills' Secret Punch Trouble For Lesnevich

BETCHWORTH, Surrey, England, July 22.—(AP).—Britain's Freddie Mills says he has a new secret punch which will stop light heavyweight champion Gus Lesnevich in their title bout in London Monday night.

Mills, 29-year-old British and European 175-pound champion, did not show this new weapon at his workout today and says he hasn't employed it on sparring partners.

"If I showed it, it would no longer be a secret," he said. "I've been working on it in my bedroom. It'll be ready for Gus Monday night."

In their previous fight, two years ago, the referee awarded the bout to Lesnevich after stopping it in the 10th round.

Ontario Tennis Champions Near Wind-up

OTTAWA, July 22 — (CP). — Top-notchers tangled at the Rideau Club today in matches that will tell the story of Ontario's 1948 tennis championships.

Wednesday's play moved almost all contestants into the semi or quarter-final brackets. The toughest match turned up unexpectedly when Pat Lowe, Ottawa's junior star, teamed with Nancy Webb of Toronto to extend the Montreal team of Pat Macken and Pauline Lequerre to a 10-8, 5-7, 6-3 set.

In a first round match in the junior men's doubles, Don Ross and John Coles of Woodstock defeated Don Fontana and Dick Arnold of Toronto, 6-0, 6-4.

In the senior men's doubles the Kingston team of Ted Smythe and John Johnson advanced to the quarter finals before bowing out. In that round they were beaten by Lucien Lecomte and Dick Cherry of Ottawa, 6-3, 6-4. Earlier in the day Smythe and Johnson scored a 6-4, 9-7 win over Gill Jolicoeur and Johnny Blackburn of Ottawa in a second round match.

In the junior mixed doubles, the Kingston team of Marian MacLachlan and Don Hooper were eliminated by Diana Lowe and Johnny Clouthier of Ottawa in a quarter-final match. Miss MacLachlan and Hooper whipped Shirley Armstrong and Jimmy Davis of Ottawa, 6-3, 6-2.

AN ART EXHIBITION entirely devoted to subjects connected with either sport or games was opened by HRH the Duchess of Gloucester at the Victoria and Albert Museum in London, Eng., recently. Twenty-eight nations are participating in the exhibition, which is being held in seven galleries which have been placed at the disposal of the committee for the XIVth Olympiad by the president of the board of education. Here the Duchess of Gloucester is seen looking at a sculpture-piece of an Olympe runner.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Eight mixed rinks from our club motored down to Port Hope on Wednesday, not only to play in the H. B. Rosevear Gold Memorial Torphy tournament, but also to be present at the memorial service held for the late Mr. Rosevear.

Before many bowlers from Cobourg, Oshawa, Claremont, Toronto, Peterborough and Port Hope the Rev. J. H. Boulder, St. Mary's church, Port Hope, spoke of the fine qutlites of the late Mr. Rosevear. He referred to him as a gentleman, a friend and a true sportsman. He said he was known as a man among men and his generosity was one of his many fine qualities. He added that the late Mr. Rosevear would not only be missed by the many bowlers but by the citizens of Port Hope in general.

Mr. E. Goodman spoke on behalf of the Oshawa Bowling Club and Mr. R. Hendry spoke for the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club.

The late Mr. Rosevear was a life member of both the Oshawa and Peterborough clubs. It was a wonderful tribute to a man who was loved and respected by all.

Two local rinks were successful at this tournament. The rink were:

skip—H. B. Rosevear Gold Memtrophy and H. Freeman's rink came in for high single. The rinks

Mrs. L. Bearne, J. D. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. F. Staunton, E. Wall, skipJH. B. Rosevear Gold Memorial Trophy and each a replica of the trophy.

Mrs. Hancock, E. Pritchard, Mrs. J. Coursey, H. Freeman, skip.

We continue tonight in the schedule with Groups No. 3 and 4 and tomorrow night the men's doubles tournament.

Up in Lindsay yesterday, playing in the open doubles tournament, G. Gimblett and R. Hutchinson came first and won the Walker Trophy. R. Burns and R. Payne came third.

England Off To Good Start In 4th Match

LEEDS, Yorkshire, England. July 22 (Reuters)—England, after winning the toss, put up their best opening partnership of the cricket test series against Australia when the fourth match began in fine weather here today At the luncheon interval Len Hutton and Cyril Washbrook, the opening pair, were still undefeated with the total at 88. Hutton was then 46 and Washbrook 41.

Batting carefully, but confidently they had laid the foundation of what promised to be a big score on an easy-paced wicket..

Australia had already made certain of retaining the "ashes," mythical symbol of the championship, by winning the first two matches and drawing the third in a best-of-five series. But victory in this match would give England a chance to tie.

Lucky Escape

Hutton had a lucky escape when the total stood at 50, giving Lindsay Hassett at backward shortleg a sharp chance of a catch off a late inswinger from Sam Loxton, medium-paced bowler.

None of the pace men, Ray Lindwall, Keith Miller or Bill Johnston, caused the batsmen much concern. Best in the Australian attack was Ernie Toshack, left-arm spinnger, who kept both Hutton and Washbrook quiet by varying his pace and mixing spin with swing.

The first hour of play produced only 34 runs and the 50 was hoisted after 79 minutes play.

More than 30,000 spectators watched the pre-lunch play. Jack Young and George Emmett were left out of England's chosen 13, while Australia brought in 19-year-old Neil Harvey and Ron Saggers to replace the injured Sidney Barnes and wicket-keeper Don Tallon, respectively.

The score-card:

England, first innings—L. Hutton, not out 46; C. Washbrook, not out 41. Extras, 1. Total for no wickets, 88.

Bob Porterfield Pitches Bears To 5-1 Victory

By The Associated Press

Once again a home run has ended a brilliant hurling streak of Newark's great rookie right-hander, Bob Porterfield.

Porterfield pitched the Bears to a 5-1 victory over Syracuse Chiefs Wednesday night with Al Rubeling homering in the sixth inning for the lone Syracuse run. It snapped Porterfield's consecutive scoreless inning streak at 33.

At the start of the season Porterfield pitched 36 consecutive scoreless inning before a four-bagger by Toronto's Van Harrington brought the skein to an end.

Porterfield allowed the Chiefs seven hits and fanned four in gaining his 13th victory of the year against five losses.

Montreal's league-leading Royals divided a double-header with Toronto Maple Leafs, winning the second game 5-3 after losing the opener 4-0.

Veteran Nick Strincevich checked the Royals on six hits in the first game while the Leafs collected seven, including rookie Ed Sanicki's 16th four-bagger of the season.

Jack Banta scattered seven Toronto safeties in posting his 12th victory in the nightcap. Banta walked seven but three double plays helped him out of jams.

Scattered games between Rochester and Buffalo and Baltimore and Jersey City were postponed because of rain.

Schoolroom Courts

VANCOUVER, (CP)— Schoolrooms here may be used as courts for junior traffic offenders. A committee headed by Ald. H. D. Wilson has proposed a plan to have courts presided over by juveniles. Judges, counsel and prosecutors would all be juveniles.

Mysterious Pants

VANCOUVER (CP)— Police are probing a theory that a midnight reveller arrived home in this city without his trousers. A resident found the pants—containing 11 cents and a brass key—in her back yard one morning.

Will Priority On U. S. Steel Hit Users Here?

Truman Given Power to Allocate 10% of Year's Output to Arms Needs

OTTAWA (Staff) — Officials here are watching closely developments in the United States steel picture following the surprise move giving President Truman power to allocate 10% of this year's production.

The special authority, which steel producers have been fighting vigorously for months, was given the President in a rider to the U.S. draft law, passed during the dying hours of the last Congress. Its passage caught the industry completely by surprise.

Because of Canada's dependence on U. S. imported steel (one out of every three tons we use comes from the U. S.) any drastic readjustment in U. S. steel allocations could have serious repercussions here.

Already many manufacturers are at their wits end to know where to get enough steel to see them through the third quarter. Normally, they know by now how much they can expect from their regular suppliers.

But because the U. S. coal strike last spring cut deeply into U. S. production, many Canadian manufacturers are still waiting anxiously for some word from their suppliers as to how they are going to

Lock Co. Wins By 16 To 5 Over Lakefield

Lock Co., defeated Lakefield 16-5 in a girls' softball game at the Bowl last night before a good-sized crowd their second victory of the season. It was an exhibition tilt as the visitors were short a girl, due to illness, and the joust was run off in slightly more than an hour. It was an interesting game most of the way, with Lock Co. turning in a nice brand of play and crashing through in three big innings. They had a good edge on hitting and in fielding.

M. Stewart hurled steady ball for the winners and had five strikeouts and but one walk. Her opponent was nicked hard at times and had shaky backing. B. Ayotte, N. Clements and R. Maloney were best defensively. D. Westlake hit a homer, triple, double and single for Lock Co., and B. Ayotte had a homer, two triples and a single. R. Maloney of Lakefield banged out a home run, a triple and a single.

Ashby Lasses Victors Over Woollens

Ashby's tightened their grip on third place in the Girls' Softball League standing last night at the Bowl as they defeated Woollens 10-1 in a one-hour game. While Doris McFadden pitched fine six-hit ball and fanned six, the score would have been much closer but for some costly errors by the losers. S. Harris was reached for 15 hits but had wobbly support as she whiffed four. Ashby's fielded well and played their usual heads-up brand of ball to keep well up in the race.

M. Freeman and D. Manley went good in the field for the victors, and B. Hall and J. McIlwain stood out for the other side. G. Dracup had the feature catch in left in the eighth frame. D. Callan, J. Dunk and E. Simmonds each had a double and two singles for the winners, and E. McFadden hit a homer. D. Manley got three singles. M. Laing banger out a three-bagger for the Woollens, none of them getting more than one safety.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

BY CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Canadiens, who failed to make the National Hockey League playoffs last season after finishing on top four years in a row, will be little changed for the 1948-49 campaign, general manager Frank Selke told a press conference at Montreal Wednesday.

Selke said the Canadiens have tried to make trades and buy players who would help the team. He said the team will start "with 10 or possibly 12 of our regulars last season." This would leave at least three of last year's club as trading bait or as possibles for demotion to the minors to make room for rookies.

At Toronto Wednesday night the Canadian Lacrosse Association announced that the Mann Cup lacrosse games will start at Toronto Oct. 11. The best-of-five series at Maple Leaf Gardens will decide the Canadian senior lacrosse championship. New Westminster Adapacs now hold the title. In this year's preliminaries, the Ottawa Valley winners will meet the Quebec Association champions. Then the winner of that series goes against the Ontario Lacrosse Association champions to determine the eastern Canadian representative in the final series.

Big Bobby Porter, coach of last year's Balmy Beach football team, has signed to play for Toronto Beaches Indians in the Ontario Rugby Football Union this autumn, it was announced last night at Toronto by coach Ted Reeve.

The longest shot in the history of Montreal racing popped down Wednesday when Might Step won by a neck in the second race at Blue Bonnets. The winner paid $212.35 for a $2 straight ticket.

Eddie Debs, second baseman of the Granby Red Sox in the Provincial Baseball League, will appear in recorder's court in Shetrbrooke, Que., July 27 to face an assault charge, laid following an altercation with umpire Red Ripley after a game Tuesday night between Sherbrooke and Granby. Debs, after an argument over a called strike, struck the umpire who threw him out of the game and preferred charges.

Sir Malcolm Campbell, former land and water speed king, will know next Monday whether he has overcome the blindness that threatened to keep him from piloting his "Bluebird" to new speedboat records. The 63-year-old driver underwent an operation at London a month ago. A surgeon will tell him Monday whether his sight was improved enough for him to take the wheel of his jet-propelled craft.

Christian Democrats Fight Communist Grasp On Labor

By HENRY BUCKLEY

ROME, July 22—(Reuters)—The first serious move to break the Communist control of Italy's labor unions has been taken by the Christian Democrat, Republican and Moderate Socialist groups within the union.

A meeting attended by representatives of these groups has decided to form an Alliance of Syndicates (Alianza Sindacale) for the "unity and indepedence of the labor unions."

The Communist reply was quick and a spokesman said: "It is not really the labor representatives but the political parties which are openly—and depending on the supposed ingenuousness of the Italian working man—preparing the first step towards the breaking of the unity of the labor unions."

At the end of the war, to replace the Fascist labor unions, a unitarian Italian labor body was formed of the pre-Fascist unions, all of which depended on political parties. This body was made up of the Communist, Socialist and Republican labor unions.

Since then there has been an added complications: a Socialist split, with some unionists following the pro-Communist supporters of Nenni and others the moderate trend of Giuseppe Saragat.

In the first period, Communist influence predominated. Giuseppe di Vittorio, veteran Communist and secretary-general of the General Confederation of Italian Labor (as the unified body is known) was able by his dynamic personality and leadership strongly to reinforce this influence.

Strikes Began Split

The uneasy alliance became definitely strained towards the end of last year when Italy was threatened with paralysis of her economic activity by extensive strikes. Non-Communist elements at that time alleged the unions were being used purely as a political and revolutionary weapon by the Communists.

The parting of the ways between the two groups was made public this spring when the non-Communist groups insisted on attending the meeting in London of trade uion representatives of the 16 nations benefitting under the Marshall Plan.

The recent meeting of the non-Communist union leaders with members of their respective parties to discuss the "Alliance of Syndicates" is not, according to these circles, aimed at breaking up the General Confederation of Italian Labor—"at least not for the present."

"What we want to do," these circles say, "is to reinforce the unity of the labor syndicates. The purpose of the Alliance is constructive. It is to ensure that union activity is devoted to the purpose of the well-ebing of the working classes."

The April elections gave much stimulus to opposition sectors in the labor unions, particularly since these sectors now form the new coalition government of Signor Alcide de Gasperi.

Leader of the battle against the Communists is Giulio Pastore, 46-year-old father of nine children and secretary-general of the confederation representing the Christian Democratic Unions.

Skeleton Prices Up

LONDON (CP). — Prices of skeletons are going up. They now sell for $80 against $20 in pre-war days and medical students complain it handicaps their studies.

Fox-Hunters Oppose Ban

LONDON, July 22 — (CP) — Roused by threat of legislation to abolish hunting and coursing in England, the British Field Sports Society has come up fighting.

The Society, which claims a membership of more than 22,000, plans to put out millions of pamphlets and hundreds of thousands of posters upholding the traditional right of hunting for sport.

"Our opponents have said that they intend to abolish all forms of killing for sport, including shooting and fishing," said assistont secretary Michael Sheppard. "We intend to show Parliament that the countryside is behind its traditional sports."

"We say that fox-hunting is a sport, not a means of exterminating foxes, but it does control foxes, provides employment and has a long tradition."

Future Empire Pacific Defence Based On Island Chain Outposts

By LESLIE BRODIE.

CANBERRA, July 22 (CP). — Strange things go on in the desolate Central Australian desert these days.. Everything is "hush hush" and "top secret."

For there, at Mount Ebo, is being built the British Commonwealth chief rocket-testing range 1,000 miles in extent. From there "within three years" defence authorities say, guided missiles will fly west over the continent and out into the Indian Ocean as far as Christmas Island, 3,000 miles from Mount Ebo.

It is clear that future Commonwealth defence in the Pacific will be based on a chain of island outposts south of the Equator with manus in the Admiralty Islands, Singapore, and Hong Kong as the principal bases.

Britain in her retreat from India set up her Far Eastern headquarters at Singapore. The former naval base which fell to the Japanese early in the Pacific War has been restored to about 80 per cent of its pre-war efficiency, but it is little more than a powerful "police station."

Australian defence will pivot on Manus, the island which the United States turned into one of the big naval bases of the Second World War. Australia takes over from th United States early in September.

Guam Key

With the United States Navy reducing its far-flung island bases to four major outposts — Guam, Pearl Harbor, Saipan, and Kodiak — the key to Allied sea power in the Pacific will rest on the fertile little island of Guam.

For the first time, the British Commonwealth and its Allies face the prospect of the Indian Ocean being a "closed sea" if war breaks out. In the past, British sea power based on India dominated that ocean. But now, only Trincomalee in Ceylon remains in Britain's control and Australia must look to her Western approaches herself, and possibly to fight as a separate unit.

With British troops out of India the Western Powers cannot rule out of their defence calculations the possibility of a powerful Russia forcing "protection" on India.

One disturbing factor for a defence-minded Australia is the increasingly nationalistic outlook of the Dominion's overcrowded neighbors to the north. There 75,000,000 Indonesians, 450,000,000 Chinese and Malayans, and 100,000,00 Japanese eye with histility Australia's "White-Australia" immigration policy. The 7,00,000 Australians are a little just a little, nervous.

Seven New Bush Fires Started By Lightning

BLIND RIVER, July 22—(CP)—Seven new bush fires, started by lightning, gave firefighters a harder task Wednesday as dozens of blazes burned throughout the northland.

Four broke out in the Algoma Central Railway division while three started in the Sault district. Crews were sent to all new fires and forestry officials said the outbreaks were being held.

The big Rawhide Lake fire, 64 miles northwest of here, has spread and now covers about 1,500 acres, the largest fire now burning in the north. However, more than 200 firefighters appeared to have it under control.

The Mississagi blaze remained dangerous.

Auction Sale Held North Emily Stock

DOWNEYVILLE, July 22 — (ENS)—A large crowd attended the recent auction sale at the farm of the late Harry Smith, North Emily. Mr. Smith was killed several weeks ago when struck by lightning.

Mrs. Smith, who has two small children, Carol 10, and Hunter 8, decided to auction off the stock, sell the farm, and move to another locality. She found that she was unable to run the place by herself.

The auction was described as successful. Horses sold for $60, hen $1.20, chickens 80 cents, and cows $150. Farm machinery is reported to have brought a good price, as did the crop of fall wheat, oats, and hay.

Blame Sewer Gas

WINNIPEG, (CP)—City sewer and water works officials think a mystery blast which blew out a three-foot section of curbstone here was caused by sewer gas. A 20-foot section of the street was heaved and cracked by the explosion,

RCAF Men Share Memorial With Peer

DUNDEE, Scotland, July 22 — (CP). — In Dundee's Albert Institute hangs a painting bearing the inscription:

"Presented in memory of Capt. the Hon. Charles Antony, Lord Lyell of Kinnordy, VC, and men of the Scottish Regiments and R CAF who fell in the 1939-45 War."

The painting, entitled Autumn Kinnordy, and depicting a Scottish countryside, was presented by Mrs. Charles Lyell. Her son, the late Lord Lyell, was the first peer to win the VC in the Second World War.

In an attack on Djebel Bou Arada in Northern Tunisia, Lord Lyell destroyed an enemy machine-gun crew with a hand grenade and killed many members of an 88-millimetre gun crew with his bayonet before being overpowered and killed.

Mrs. Lyell included the RCAF reference in the inscription because the painting formerly hung in an RCAF leave hostel in London operated by Mrs. Leonard Hancock. Mrs. Lyell also kept "open house" for RCAF members at her home in Chelsea, London.

Eating Places Divided Into 3 Classes

When a person walks into an eating place in Peterborough and orders anything from a sandwich to a full-course meal he is unlikely to ponder on whether the premises is a refreshment booth, a refreshment stand of a restaurant. As long as he gets satisfactory service such classifications seem mere legal technicalities.

Yet the city has a by-law carefully defining each one. For a licence fee of $5 a retailer may open a refreshment booth and sell edibles to be consumed on the premises. Sanitary conveniences are not required.

A refreshment stand also need not have sanitary conveniences but must not provide seating accommodation for more than a dozen customers. This figure was arbitrarily set because the city felt that a larger seating capacity would mean unfair competition with restaurants. A licence for a refreshment stand cost $20.

Restaurants may accommodate any number of people but must provide lavatory facilities for their customers, and pay a $40 licence fee. They are allowed to remain open all hours if they wish, whereas both refreshment stands and booths are obliged to close between midnight and 6 a.m.

Complaints have recently resulted in a more rigid check by police to see that eating places other than restaurants are closing at the proper time.

B.C. Fishermen Out After Tuna

By ROBERT PHILIPS

VANCOUVER, July 22 (CP).—Marine "gold" is just waiting to be mined out beyond the flow of the Juan De Fuca Straits—and today British Columbia were after it.

The gold is a scaly fintail—known to the grocery store buyer as tuna fish and to the men who ply the Pacific's warm blue waters as the "chicken of the sea."

This week deep-sea fishermen, operating from here and Victoria, are making B.C.'s fifth annual attack upon the roaming schools of tuna fish.

A new industry here, born of the war years, tuna fishing this year is expected to bring a catch upwards of 500 tons. At more than $600 a ton there's a sound justification for naming the catch "marine gold."

Fish packers here were modest about the early catch already in their warehouses. "Perhaps a few tons," one said. At Victoria the first haul of 5,584 pounds was landed Saturday.

Ontario Church Has 111 Historic Years Behind It

BELFOUNTAIN, Ont., July 22 (CP).—Melville Church, nestled away in this small Caledon township village 20 miles northeast of Guelph, recently celebrated the 111th anniversary of its founding.

Familiarly known by local residents as "the White Church," it was built in 1837 by Daniel McMillian of Erin, who later founded another Presbyterian church in his home village.

The church has an interesting history. Legend has it that William Lyon Mackenzie, hiding out from his pursuers in nearby caves, sneaked out under the eyes of searching troops to participate in the opening service.

Origin of the congregation goes back to April, 1820, when a small body of Scottish emigrants, mostly from the west border of Renfrewshire, set sail from Grennock for Canada. They settled in Caledon township. It was not long before these stout, devout Presbyterians felt the need of a religious leader.

Monthly Sermon

For a time meetings were held each Sunday in the homes of John McDonald and John Crichton. Every three months, a congregational circuit rider named Redpath preached to them. But this was not enough. In 1828, Crichton arranged for a minister in a nearby township to preach to them once a month.

By 1831 a call was sent out to Duncan McMillan, a licentiate in the presbytery of Upper Canada. He became the first permanent minister of the settlement and was regarded highly for his ability to preach in Gaelic.

By 1837, the community had prospered sufficiently to afford a church. It was built of solid boards, fashioned from trees cut from the surrounding forest.

Today, approximately the same church as that built 111 years ago still stands. True, a few alterations and renovations were carried out in 1909 but nothing was radically changed. Only major alteration came in 1925—but not to the church itself. That year the congregation passed into the United Church of Canada without a vote being taken.

Fairmount News

Rev. Dr. Green of Toronto, occupied the pulpit of Fairmount Church on Sunday morning, and spoke in the interests of the Upper Canada Bible Society.

Those from Fairmount who attended the funeral of Mrs. J. A. Morden at Mount Pleasant on Saturday were George Horton, Mrs. Mark Horton, L. A. Horton and Mr. and Mrs. T. W. McIndoo.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McIndoo visited Mrs. Frank Gardiner of Mount Pleasant on Saturday.

Mrs. Hanbidge, Jean and Roger spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Gillespie, Peterborough.

Miss Faye Young, Belleville, a former teacher at Fairmount school was a visitor to the community Saturday afternoon.

Girl Guide Hostesses

TORONTO, July 22.—(CP). — The Girl Guides of Canada, together with the Girl Scouts of Brazil and the United States will play hostess when more than 70 delegates from 24 countries attend the world conference at Cooperstown, N.Y., Aug. 13-23, it was announced Wednesday.

ANNOUNCEMENT that a war veteran had been cured of malaria as the result of a "master cell" discovery has attracted wide attention to the claims of a farmer, John Brown, of Middleboro, Mass. Here Brown is shown placing in water several disks containing the "cells." Various plants, from both the earth and sea, are used in his "discovery." He first tried it on poultry and, he said, helped 100 sick chickens. The vet who says the "magic water" cured malaria is Joseph Correira, Jr., Fall River, Mass.

Jail Executive; And Family Found Murdered

MANSFIELD, Ohio, July 22.—(AP). — The nude bodies of a Mansfield reformatory executive, his wife and their 21-year-old daughter were found Wednesday in a cornfield, eight hours after they were kidnapped from their home. The victims were John E. Niebel, 50, superintendent of the reformatory's farm for 20 years; his wife, 52, and their daughter, Phyllis.

Niebel had been shot through the head. Mrs. Niebel had bullet wounds in the head and abdomen. The daughter, her light red hair done up in pin curls, had black-and-blue marks about the head and face as if she hard been beaten to death.

Coroner D. C. Lavender said the bodies, nude except for a pair of shoes worn by Mrs. Niebel, had been lying in the sunswept cornfield about seven miles from here for several hours before being discovered by some boys attending a summer camp.

The three victims, clad in their night clothing, had been kidnapped before dawn. The kidnappers ransacked the residence. Empty purses of all three, with Niebel's spectacles, were found on a dining-room table. A shotgun, rifle and revolver were missing.

Sheriff Frank E. Robinson was working on a theory that the "Ambrose killers have struck again." That links the kidnap-murder to two former reformatory convicts being sought for questioning in the July 9 killing of a Columbus tavern operator, Earl Ambrose.

DEPUTY CHIEF OF STAFF of the Czechoslovak army and commander of the Czech forces in the west, Gen. Antonin B. Hasal (above) is now in the U.S. zone of Germany after having fled from his native country. His defection is seen as another sign of the increasing unrest in the Soviet satellite state.

British Schoolboys Horrify Customs With Margarine

MONTREAL, July 22.—(CP).—A shipment of 800 pounds of margarine, illegal in Canada, was landed here Wednesday, but it did not remain long.

The bread-spread, brought out from Britain as part of the food supply for a group of 50 schoolboys exploring Quebec and Ontario, was ordered back aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain.

Officials of the British Schools Exploring Society, making advance preparations for the arrival of the young explorers, said they were unaware that importation of margarine was banned.

Although early reports said the schoolboys had accompanied the shipment, steamship officials said they would not arrive until the Empress' next trip.

There were lifted eyebrows along the Montreal dockside when the cases marked "Margarine" in three-inch letters, were hoisted ashore. Someone caled the Department of Agriculture and representatives were rushed to the docks.

The Real Thing

Opening the cases they found it was the real thing and orders were issued to hoist the shipment back aboard or have it destroyed.

Officials of the society finally decided to send the margarine back to England. The boys will eat butter during their 50-day visit.

The Agriculture Department ruling did not affect a quantity of dehydrated foods which the boys will eat on their travels.

Claims Permission Given

LONDON, July 22.—(CP).—No mystery surrounds 800 pounds of margarine that 50 British schoolboys attempted to take into Canada at Montreal—not a least to Cmdr. Murray Levick, leader of the British Schools Exploring Society which organized the trip.

Levick apparently did not know that margarine is under the ban in Canada. He said in a telephone interview from his home at Oxted, Surrey, that the Canadian Government had "given us permission to take margarine into the country."

Spinster Rich As Princess Spent Life In Hotel Room

NEW YORK, July 22.—(AP).—In death, as in life, Mary Powers remains a mystery.

The 72-year-old spinster, reputedly as wealthy as a princess, made a $30-a-day hotel suite her lonesome kingdom for 25 years. There she remained in silence—with almost never a visitor and without newspapers or radio.

Yesterday death dropped a final shroud of silence about the strange woman—whose last order apparently was to perpetuate that silence.

The Walters funeral home said today it was arranging her funeral, but there were mysterious instructions that nothing more could be said. Likewise, nothing could be elicited from her hotel or her bank.

A little of her story could be pieced together, however, chiefly as a result of an unusual episode last year which threw an unwanted spotlight of public attention upon her.

That happened when the State of Pennsylvania tried to claim $25,000 in Glen Alden Coal Company dividends belonging to Mary Powers. Company officials testified that since before 1939 they had been sending dividends to her, but that she refused to cash the cheques.

This sent reporters swarming to her door, but it got them little but a wealth of rumor.

Finally, she claimed the dividend money.

The hotel served her only one meal a day during her lonely existence there. Four times a year she paid her rent, and once a year a physician came. At rare times a representative of her bank was admitted to the shade-drawn interior of the suite.

It was said her wealth ran to $15,000,000, but that was only conjecture.

She is reported never to have left her suite, and her clothing was said to be that in vogue 50 years ago. She did her own laundry and housecleaning work, but did, however, tip the daily waiter liberally.

It is believed she had no relatives.

Princess Makes Speech

LONDON, July 22 — (AP). — Princess Elizabeth appealed Wednesday to British youth to fight "the worst enemies of the Christian church—apathy, misunderstanding and diffidence." She spoke to members of the Church of England youth council at Lambeth Palace. The Princess, expecting a baby in October, had cancelled all public engagements at the end of June, but decided to make an exception for her short talk Wednesday.

Campaign For Teachers

LONDON, (CP)— A campaign to recruit and train 96,000 school teachers within the next five years is under way here. The minister of education said recently that 6,000 would be rcruited by the end of the year to meet the growing number of children entering school.

Kellogg's CORN FLAKES

FOR TWO DAYS ABOUT 40 JAPANESE, including eight women and four children under 15 years, camped outside the fence of a relocation centre, four miles south of Moose Jaw, Sask., apparently in a bid for public sympathy and government action in allowing them to return to their pre-war homes in British Columbia. After 48 hours, they moved into the city and 21 are being house in the exhibition grounds, with the rest accommodated at Japanese-owned hotels. Women and children slept in the tents and the men on the ground, despite rain. Sheriff's deputies maintained a 24-hour guard at the fence. After the second day, all but two moved into the city. A great pile of personal belongings of the 48 Japs, evicted from the relocation centre after months of threatened action by the federal government, was piled in a clearing outside the main gate and left until claimed by the Japanese.

Army Purged But Reds Unsure Of Czechs

HEIDELBERG, Germany, July 22 — (AP). — Czech Gen. Antonin Hasal said yesterday the Czechoslovak air force has been riddled by desertions and the army purged of 1,200 officers but still is not trusted by the Russians.

He declared he saw no hope of his country being liberated from the Communists except by war or operations of the Marshall plan and that he saw no signs that the Russians want war.

The 55-year-old former deputy chief of staff and military adviser to former President Benes slipped out of Czechoslovakia with his wife, son and daughter the night of July 2. One of the highest ranking military officers to abandon his native country since the Communist coup last February, he is believed to have brought valuable information. He made these statements to a press conference at United States Army headquarters here:

As many as 70 per cent of the men and non-commissioned officers in the Czech army are opposed to Communism.

About 1,200 officers have been purged from the army by the Communists. Several generals have been arrested.

14 Generals Escape

At least 14 of the 120 generals have escaped from the country.

Hundreds of anti-Communist pilots in the air force have fled, and the air force is "very weak."

In case of war, "I doubt that the present Czech regime or the Soviets could rely upon the Czech army . . . Some forces would certainly try to operate with the west."

Consequently the Russians are not integrating the Czechs into their armed forces.

The Russians have "taken over for themselves" the uranium-producing areas near Jachimov, in Northern Czechoslovakia, and are reported to be working 7,00 German prisoners of war in the mines Large quantities of ore are being shipped to Russia.

Russian motorized units could sweep over the country within 24 hours.

"Apparently the only way my country can ever be liberated is through war, unless the European situation should be improved so greatly by the European Recovery Program and other developments that freedom could again be restored in such countries." He did not explain further.

He said: "I don't think the Russians want war. I think the Russians will be very careful to avoid any responsibility for war." He added that he saw no signs of war preparations in Czechoslovakia whose army remains at about 140,000.

Cannot Serve Beer, Liquor In Masonic Halls—Master

TORONTO, July 22.—Masonic premises are not to be rented for any function unless there is a definite agreement beer or liquor will not be served, T. H. Simpson of Hamilton, grand master of Ontario Masons, said here yesterday.

"I have no desire to assume a dictatorial attitude, but I have a responsibility to maintain our dignity and decorum," he told 2,800 Masons attending the 93rd Annual Communication of the Grand Lodge of Ontario.

The ban applies also to use of intoxicants at any function held under Masonic auspices, including "the secretive possession and consumption of liquor by a member or his guest at a lodge 'at home'."

"No member of the craft shall attend any lodge assembly in an intoxicated condition," Mr. Simpson instructed.

Preserve Reputation

"My chief concern in sending this communication is to preserve and protect the reputation and importance of our fraternity and to eliminate any discussion or strife in our lodges on this very controversial question.

"Older Masons will recall the discord and dissension in many lodges in days gone by, when the regulations permitted the serving of beer during the refreshment hour. We must avoid any repetition of the unfortunate incidents of those days."

A prominent Mason explained later the direction followed a picnic some time ago attended by Masons at which several cases of beer were served.

Mr. Simpson warned lodges to exercise care in accepting candidates for initiation. One of the conditions of admittance is that the applicant has lived in Canada for a year.

"We find a lodge in the jurisdiction accepting as an applicant for membership and granting initiation to one who has lived in Canada for only six months," he said.

"The fact that this lodge has had a large increase in its membership in recent years naturally makes one wonder if they are not more interested in quantity than in quality of members. Laxity of this quality is bound to undermine the best of institutions. It must be avoided."

109,000 Members

During the past year 4,600 men had become Masons, bringing total Ontario membership to over 109,000 in 572 lodges, he added.

Grand Treasurer Dr. W. J. Dunlop of Toronto reported the credit of the lodge in Ontario had reached $1,078,313, an increase of $31,187 in a year.

"I have an objective of $1¼ million in order the grand lodge may always be able to help where help is needed. World conditions and national conditions change and sometimes they change suddenly. Disasters often come without warning," he said, reporting a donation of a minimum of $5,000 for relief of flood victims in British Columbia. Other donations included $3,000 for the Canadian Red Cross.

Although Masons were asked to contribute only $50,000 for the year starting Sept. 1, 1947, to provide food parcels for British brothers, over $120,000 was given by May 31 this year. Number of parcels sent was increased from 600 a month to 1,200 a month, each containing 20 pounds of food.

Unfair Labor Practices Investigated At Dyers

MONTREAL, July 22—(CP)—The city has obtained the right from Canadian National Railways to demolish Bona Venture station, it was reported here today by Gordon Pitts, member of the city's executive committee. Only a few details remain to be settled.

The plan is to tear down little-used Bona Venture so that Windsor street, one of the city's main arteries, can be extended and linked more directly with Victoria Bridge, spanning the St. Lawrence River, and with Wellington tunnel, leading to suburban Verdun.

Ambergris, used in perfumery, is found floating on the sea.

Australians Ignore Urgings To Enlist In Defence Forces

CANBERRA, July 22—(CP)—The cocky, individualistic Aussie, stalwart fighting man of two world wars, doesn't like being a year-around soldier. He doesn't like being a "week-end soldier," either. To his government's plea that he sign up in Australia's defence forces he has said, "No."

A drive to recruit 50,000 men into a new Citizen Army, comparable to Canada's reserve forces, opened last July 1. But, as forecast, the government cannot obtain the necessary number of volunteers. A decision that must soon be made is whether the Labor administration is to introduce compulsory military training. So far the Labor party's anti-conscription policy is being adhered to stoutly.

The 50,000-man militia, -4,500 more than Canada's reserve force strength, is intended to increase the strength of the regular army to a point where it could fit into plans laid down at the Dominions Prime ministers' conference in London in 1945. Then it was decided that Australia would be the major bastion of the Commonwealth's Pacific defence.

Another Failure

An attempt to recruit a regular army—of 19,000 men—also has failed. Since recruiting began a year ago, only 5,411 men have answered the call. The government has been forced to retain the interim army, a hold-over from Australia's war call-up, for an indefinite period.

The total strength of Australia's armed forces now is 43,694: Navy, 11,107; air force, 9,388, of whom 7,736 are interim-army personnel, and army, 23,604, of whom 17,788 are in the interim force. This compares with Canada's permanent-force strength of nearly 36,000; army, 16,500; air force, 12,300 and navy, 7,000.

During the next five years Australia will spend the equivalent of $800,000,000 on defence, with an additional $160,000,000 a year for maintenance and replacements. This five-year plan differs from the Canadian program in that Canada has not budgetted that far ahead. Canada spent nearly $200,000,000 in 1947-48, will spend $252,000,000 in the remainder of this fiscal year and the government so far has authority only to spend $60,000.000 in future years.

Like Canada, Australia's defence emphasis is on the air force. There is no lack of recruit for air-crew duties although there is a slight lag in volunteers for ground duties—a condition no different from that prevailing in Canada and other countries where youth has its eyes fixed on the stratosphere and scorns the ground.

Australia, which always has maintained an efficient navy, is to receive two new aircraft carriers early in 1949. Crews have been sent to Britain to bring them out.

One-Handed Clock Keeps Good Time

CONINGSBY, Lincolnshire, Eng., July 22—(CP).—Modern engineering skill often has unusual applications. A first-class example of this is the restoration of the ancient one-handed clock in the tower of the Church of St. Michael and All Angels here.

Said by many to have the largest dial in all England, the clock's face is 16 feet six inches in diameter, and has only the hour hand to tell the time. Clocks with only one hand were in general use before the middle of the 17th century, but with the introduction of the minute hand most were converted.

The Coningsby clock is one of the most outstanding of those which escaped conversion. The length of the hour hand is such that the time can be told to the nearest five minutes without difficulty. The main framework of the clock is of oak beams. The original wheels and pinions were of wrought iron with hand-cut teeth. In some cases the divisions had been wrongly made, and later corrected.

After keeping good time for many years the clock became so worn that no amount of local repairing was effective. After it had been disused for some time it was proposed to scrap it and replace it with a modern clock. There was a good deal of local opposition to this suggestion, and in the end a Nottingham firm agreed to recondition the mechanism.

Every worn tooth in the wheels was built up by welding and reshaped by hand, and only one wheel had to be replaced. In many places welding was used to build up worn parts. Since the clock was repaired it has varied only a few seconds a week from radio time signals.

MONTREAL, July 22.—(CP).—Mr. Justice A. J. Husband And Son Both Gangster Victims Mother Repeats 23-Year-Old Hospital Vigil

DETROIT, July 22 — (AP) — A woman's sobs, muffled in despair a generation ago, today were hushed in hope.

Mrs. Helen Kaliszewiski, who kissed a rookie policeman a last goodbye 23 years ago, was told Wednesday that another rpokie constable, her 22-year-old son, had a chance to live.

A slim chance, receiving hospital attendants added, but a chance.

In 1925, Mrs. Kaliszewski's husband of four months, Casimer, died in her arms in the same hospital from a bank bandit's bullets. He was 23 years old.

Their baby, born six months after Officer Kaliszewisk's death, grew up to be a policeman, too. He was shot down Tuesday as he walked his beat.

Fellow-officer surmised that young Casimer, Jr., may have surprised a robber, just as his father did in 1925. Or he may have been shot by young hoodlums who held a grudge against him of some kind.

A general round of known hoodlums netted 85 of them in the last 24 hours but none that police considered a real suspect.

While all this activity went on, Mrs. Kaliszewski, whose hair turned white in those last 23 years, kept her vigil either by her son's bedside or near the telephone at home.

The last bitter tear shed, Mrs. Kaliszewski settled down today as she did once before to wait, to pray and to hope.

Dies At Summer Home Of Landry's Paralysis

TORONTO, July 22 — (CP) — J. Douglas Bellinger, 42, Toronto stock brocker, died at his Kawartha Lakes summer home Monday from Landry's Paralysis, an autopsy disclosed.

Dr. W. L. Robinson, provincial pathologist, who performed the autopsy said the paralysis is caused by a rare virus infection that must not be mistaken for polomyelitis.

Apparently in good health, Mr. Bellinger left Toronto for his summer home to spend the week-end with his family. He became ill Sunday and a doctor was called. He was running a temperature and was ordered to bed by his physician. His condition became worse and he died Monday.

English Goods Tops In Australian Markets

SYDNEY, Australia, July 22 (CP)—English manufacturers are finding a ready market in Australia for goods and machinery previously supplied by Canada and the United States.

Automobiles, cigarets, farm machinery, tools—once almost exclusively bought from the dollar countries—now are being supplied by Britain in such quantities that it may be difficult for Canada and the United States to recapture their markets when the dollars position returns to normal.

A sharp fall in Australia's exports to Canada and the United States is responsible for the adverse trade balance with those countries resulting in an inevitable trend to buy on the British, or sterling, markets.

Australia and New Zealand have tightened up their economic links and they now form a more economic unit which they believe will develop supply resources of both countries and save overseas exchange and dollars.

Over-All Profit

Although Australia's trade balance with the dollar countries is adverse she is not embarrassed with an over-all trade deficit. On world markets Australian trade balance for the past financial year shows a profit of around $70,000,000.

This balance can be augmented if manufacturers and exporters can recapture the valuable East Indies markets lost to Australia when waterside workers placed a "black" ban on all Dutch ships after fighting between the Dutch and the Indonesians began in 1945. The ban was lifted last May 26, but it cost the country more than $50,000,000 in lost trade and killed good-will among East Indian importers.

While the ban operated, the United States established firm markets for her products in Indonesia. These markets could have been shared by Australia, according to reports from the area.

American Editor Decribes Kawarthas and Haliburton

Stories about the trip taken by 24 American weekly newspaper editors are appearing in American papers in instalments, and apparently every visitor in the group is giving full coverage to the jaunt through Ontario. The party was at South Beach in the Kawarthas on June 24, but so far none of the papers have carried that portion of the story as it was close to the end of the tour.

Ray Miller, editor and owner of the Paulding County Republican, published at Paulding, Ohio, is carrying the story of his trip on the editorial page, and the following is a sample. Most of the articles being written follow this same travel story pattern, giving considerable detail to the American readers.

Touring Canada

Enroute on the U.S. Editors' Good Will Tour of Ontario, Canada, June 19.—(Fourth of a series)—Gil-Mar Lodge, where we stayed on Friday night, is located in the Kawartha Lakes region to the northeast of Toronto. It is one of the popular vacation resorts, and was established by Gil Watson and his wife, Margery. Gil was a former orchestra leader, and held down the bandstand in many of Toronto's entertainment spots.

Along about April, 1937, Gil Watson, then widely known for his orchestra and his special accomplishments at the piano, decided to swap musical scores for a set of blueprints for a resort hotel at Sturgeon Lake. Wielding the hammer and saw with his own hands, he went to work and largely by his own labor, his ingenuity and resourcefulness, he built a resort which accommodates ninety people in the main lodge and the cottages that surround it.

As we were departing on Saturday morning for our trek into the northern 'bush" I chanced to meet Mr. and Mrs. Joe T. Cullen, of Springfield, O., who had spent a week's vacation at the lodge and were about to leave for their home.

As we entered the Haliburton Highlands we paused for a few brief moments at Miners Bay Lodge, which is operated by D. H. Dunker and Sons, who came to Canada ten years ago from Cincinnati, and liked it so well they decided to stay for "keeps." Although we were already in the midst of forest and lakeland, I

Gas Station Operators Remain Open

Four service station operators decided Wednesday night to buck the early closing bylaw, which became effective then. Only one would give any definite views on the bylaw, and he said that a man should be allowed to run his business in the way he pleases.

"This bylaw is all very well for those stations having large repair setups, but the small operator who make his money on the sale of gas the bylaw is not so good," he said.

"Even if they do crack down with this bylaw, people will still be able to get gas when they want it by phoning up their regular dealer. I've seen it happen That dealer will open his station regardless of bylaws or hours and sell gas to his regular customers."

The four stations going against the bylaw were doing a good business. At one, five cars and three motorcycles were waiting to be served.

The bylaw provides that seven service stations shall remain open each night from 7 to 10 p.m. These will be the same stations as were open late under the agreement of the service station operators' association. All other stations are to close at 7 p.m. Groups of seven service stations will remain open in rotation.

The seven designated stations closed down at 10 p.m. last night but the four bylaw buckers kept the[illegible] on.

Three Regattas Scheduled For August 2

Civic holiday Aug. 2 is going to be a busy day for people who try to attend the regattas in the Kawartha Lakes. On that day regattas are scheduled at three different points.

Inverlea Playground Children Stage Circus

Five boys in grass skirts wiggled in their version of a hula, and the cracked voice of a phony gypsy offered fortunes for only one clover leaf at Inverlea playground's circus on Wednesday afternoon. The show was put on in the fenced-in tot lot, and outside the fence about 250 adults and children cheered the performers.

No circus would be complete without clowns, and a fat lady, or without a wild man of some sort. Inverlea had them all, and a bearded lady to boot. The circus was organized by supervisors Bob Outram, Mary Curtis, and Marney Hollingsworth.

RECIPROCAL TOASTS

On Monday, July 26, the Rotary Club of Ashton-under-Lyme, England, are to propose a toast to the Peterborough Rotary Club in appreciation of food parcels received here. At its meeting on Monday, the Peterborough club will in return propose a toast to the English club.

Legion Plans Big Parade Of Floats On Civic Holiday

A silver trophy given by Gordon K. Fraser, MP, is to be awarded to the best industrial float in the Canadian Legion Veterans' picnic parade on August 2. The trophy is at present on display at Knox's jewellery store on George St.

The parade will assemble at 12.15 p.m. on Aylmer St., between Charlotte and Wolfe Streets. It will move off at 12.45 p.m. along Charlotte St. to George St., then up George to Parkhill Rd. and to Nicholls Oval.

Most manufacturers in the city are expected to enter gaily decorated floats and there will be a special entry from Paddy Preston's Diamond P Ranch. Decorated bicycles will be another feature of the parade, and three bands are to take part — the Peterborough Citizens' Band, the Peterborough Pipe Band and the Senior Boys Scouts' Band. Gordon K. Fraser, MP, the Hon. Harold Scott, MPP, Mayor W. G. Ovens and Harold Yelland, president of the Canadian Legion, will be the judges for the Fraser Trophy to be awarded personally by Mr. Fraser. Ray Thompson is again marshal of the parade.

Garfield Torrance is chairman of the committee organizing the picnic.

Test Sub-Soil On Highways

Department of Highways has started a program of research work on existing highways, and two groups of men working under supervision of engineers are engaged on highway 7 between Peterborough and Norwood.

The research work consists of a series of tests aimed at evaluating the sub-grades and stratas under the roads. This work is to determine the load carrying strength of the various soil formations.

Wyman Binks, civil engineer with the department is in charge of one group, and he explained that a 25-ton plate carried on a huge trailer is used as a load. The test is first made on the highway surface, then a circular excavation is made, and tests made on the siols beneath the highway.

When the work is completed engineers know just how much gravel top will be required on the road to carry certain loads.

6 Parties Comb Woods Near Irondale

LINDSAY, July 22 (ENS) — Hale and hearty after being lost in 70 square miles of bush near Irondale for 30 hours, three Lindsay men, Everett Trux, 40, Walter Thurston, 47, and Bert Brown, were reunited with their families here late Wednesday night the trio were discovered by a party in charge of Steve Hancock of Irondale about 8:20 p.m. and were able to make the two-hour walk back to civilization.

The men were located near Jumbo Pond, west of Bark Creek off to the right of the secondary road which runs between Kinmount and Gooderham.

According to Provincial Constable Art Watson who along with Constable Ed Milligan organized the search. The men went into the bush to pick huckleberries Tuesday morning and lost their bearings after 30 minutes. They stuck to the one spot and spent the night around a fire.

Constable Watson said that the police received information that the men were missing at noon Wednesday and a search was organized. About 4:00 p.m. a car was found west of Irondale and identified as that of Thurston's. The search was centred in that area with 30 men breaking into six parties. One plane aided in the search.

The men left Lindsay at 7:15 Tuesday morning with the intention of picking huckleberries in the Kinmount area. All had sufficient lunches for one day and were to return to Lindsay that night.

They were reported missing by their anxious wives Wednesday morning.

Provincial Police praised the way the lost men had kept their heads and not tried to "fight the bush." Thurston, a drover, works with Trux, a carter, and both knew the roads in the district well. Brown a mail carrier and a neighbor of Thurston is on holidays and joined the men for what was supposed to have been a day's outing.

Irish Girl Meets Young Man Who Courted Her By Mail; Plan To Marry In Hastings

HASTINGS, July 22—(Staff).—Meeting—and falling in love—for two years over 1,700 miles by airmail, an attractive Irish girl and her Canadian suitor met for the first time Wednesday night. Today, Miss Eileen McClelland, 27, of Belfast, was shown her future home by 34-year-old Robert Glass of Hastings, who wooed and won the dark-haired colleen in a romantic correspondence which ended in a proposal and acceptance last November. Although there is no definite day set for the wedding, the couple plan it within "a very short time."

It all started in May, 1946, with a news picture in the Belfast Times. It showed a Cpl. William McClelland of the London Irish Regiment following an investiture at Buckingham Palace, in which the DCM had been awarded to McClelland.

With him in the picture was his wife, and his sister. Robert Glass, in Hastings, received a copy of the Belfast paper from his father and "something" seemed to click when he saw Eileen McClelland's picture.

Started Correspondence

So, the young machinist wrote to the Irish girl, congratulating her on her brother's award. There is a ready admission that there was "a bit more to it" in his reasoning than just a formal congratulation. A prompt answer from Ireland got the mail transfer going full strength both ways across the Atlantic. And, as might be expected, they got a little less formal, a little more detailed and a little more personal with each exchange.

It was spring when the romance started. Through another year it went. November 1947 brought the subject of marriage to discussion and the "yes" answer came. A ring, set with three diamonds, was an important item handled by postal authorities that month. Glass also sent the payment for the passage to Canada.

He has bought the old Edwards house on Bridge St., in Hastings, and it is now in the upheaval of redecorating and furnishing for the young couple, who hope to move in soon.

Came By Plane

Miss McClelland left Prestwick this Tuesday by plane. After a stop in Newfoundland, the plane flew to Montreal, where she ar-

Freak Accident On Reid St. Injures Girl

Marina Lewington, 16, 589 Grosvenor Ave., London, Ontario, suffered cuts and bruises on the right arm in a freak accident on Reid Street, at six o'clock Wednesday evening.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Robert G. Hardie, 558 Weller St. The car was proceeding north on Reid, when a motorcycle driven by Robt. Hurrle, 476 Bolivar St., pulled away from the west curb. The motorcycle bumped a parked car, just enough to throw it out of control, and the cycle crashed into the left side of the Hardie car. Hardie swung to the curb, then turned sharply to the left, and his car turned over on the road. The motorcyle and the car were both extensively damaged.

The motorcycle is owned by James Moon, RR 5, Peterborough.

CHILDREN INJURED

Two Bobcaygeon children, Phyllis and Garry Hill, were slightly injured on Tuesday night when the car in which they were riding collided in Lindsay with one driven by Miss Rosemary Farelly of Little Britain. The vehicle driven by the children's father, Samuel Hill, was overturned and badly damaged. Dr. W. R. Crowe, of Lindsay, gave them medical attention and reported that their injuries were not serious.

Norham Man Wins Boat At Campbellford Regatta; 1,000 People On Shoreline

By TOM FORSYTHE

CAMPBELLFORD, July 22.—More than 1,000 people discovered that the extensive well-kept grounds of Ayrhart Woodland Estate was a natural grandstand Wednesday afternoon when they attended the first regatta of the Campbellford district. The affair staged by the Campbellford Fish and Game Association was an outstanding success, and attracted competitors from a wide section of the eastern Kawartha and Trent areas. The Ayrhart Estate is located north of Healey Falls on the east shore of the Trent River, where it broadens into a small lake. Walter Wiggins, president of the Association, said the regatta would be an annual event, and the plan was heartily endorsed by J. Ernest Ayrhart, one-time mayor of Campbellford.

Attending the event, in addition to Campbellford's mayor, Harvey M. Donald, and members of his Council, were Earl W. Drope, MP, and W. A. Goodfellow, MPP, minister of welfare in the Ontario Cabinet, both of whom acted as judges for some of the events and assisted in the presentation of prizes.

Mr. Drope drew the winning tickets from the revolving barrel for the mammoth draw in which William J. Craighead of Norham won the $1,500 inboard runabout "Lucky Lady," and John Fedori of Warkworth won a Johnson outboard motor.

Alderman P. J. Anglesey brought greetings to the association from the mayor and Council of the city of Peterborough, and after congratulating those responsible for the day's events, introduced Pete McGillen, city editor of The Peterborough Examiner, who entertained the crowd with a number of outdoor "whoppers."

Performs on Skis

The day was filled with unscheduled events, so much so that the draw was about one hour and a half later than the program called for. A. B. Vass of Peterborough had the crowd open-mouthed as he performed on the water-skis, topping the act by skimming along with one ski in the air behind a racing launch.

Bill Taylor, also of Peterborough, who won the men's single canoe race and then teamed up with the same city's Doug Mortimer to take the canoe doubles event, won the surf-board contest easily, putting on an exhibition that brought delighted applause from the crowd as he led off by standing on his head on the board at high speed, finishing with a series of wide sweeps and water-skids that showed his mastery of the surf-board.

L. Eariss and A. B. Vass, after several tries, went around the course on the surf-board with Vass riding on Eariss' shoulders, while A. B. Cumming from Belmont Lake rode the board sitting on a chair, this trick earning him a ducking near the end of the run as the board up-ended.

The Benedict Proctor Manufacturing Co. Ltd. trophy for the open motorboat race, presented by J. B. Craddock, was won by Dr. A. R. Atkinson of Norwood with an inboard runabout, "Miss Trent," which walked away easily from the other seven contestants with outboard motors. Second in this event was Ozzie Nelson of Hastings, and third place was taken by a Campbellford man, Dr. Ross Richardson.

Skilfully handling the microphone as master of ceremonies for the afternoon was "Hank" Ribson of Edgewater Park. Bert Taylor was recorder.

Australia Housewife's Paradise Can Buy Butter At 35 Cents Lb.

By LESLIE BRODIE.

SYDNEY, Australia, July 22 — (CP). — Despite the rising cost of living and the high price of dairy produce on the world's markets, the Australian housewife is still able to buy a pound of buter at local stores for the equivalent of 35 cents.

Sensible marketing plans, aided by a subsidy of $19,200,000 and an equalization scheme adopted voluntarily by producers, are responsible for keeping the price within the reach of all consumers.

Butter manufacturers may sell their butter locally or export it, but it makes no difference to their final returns. All factories voluntarily submit their returns to the Dairy Products Equalization Board, which equalizes local and export prices and pays producers a guaranteed price for their milk.

This price if fixed by representatives of the factories and farmers. This year it was increased July 1 to 35 cents for each pound of commercial butter produced—same price the housewife pays for it—and will remain at that price for the next five years regardless of world prices. Adjustments in price may be made according to farmers' costs.

The export price of Australian butter is 37 cents a pound wholesale and is fixed on a government to government base between the British and Australian governments.

Butter is still rationed here to 6 ounces a week for each person. When rationing was introduced in June, 1944, the average annual consumption for each person dropped from 33 pounds to 25.3. Margarine never has had much popularity with Australians. Before the war table margarine consumption amounted to .7 pounds a person annually. Since the war it is .9 pounds.

Picton Fair Grounds Get 3 New Buildings

PICTON, July 22.—Two horse barns, each 32 x 90 feet, and a machine shed, 150 by 32 feet, will be erected on the fair grounds, County Council decided at a special meeting. The buildings will replace those recently destroyed by fire. They will be constructed of sheet aluminum on prefabricated frames, and will be up in time for use at Picton Fair toward the end of September. Contract for their erection was let to a Belleville firm.

The machine shed will be erected to house county road machinery, and rented to the fair for the two days required for housing of livestock. As a road department project, half the cost would be covered by a provincial grant. Cost of the three proposed buildings would be covered by issuing debentures.

Charge Wallace Party Tool For Communists

PHILADELPHIA, July 22. — (AP).—The Americans for Democratic Action group today assailed Henry Wallace's New Party as a tool of the Communists.

Even as Wallace lashed out at the federal indictment of 12 Communists in New York, the ADA said through James Loeb, its executive secretary, that:

"Mr. Wallace's candidacy (for president) does not obscure the fact that the Communists and their collaborators guide the main policies and word the major pronouncements of this party."

Assertinfg the ADA had criticized American policy with "clean hands," Loeb said Wallace's entry into the presidential race was only "a dangerous adventure undertaken by cynical men in whose hands Henry A. Wallace placed his political fortunes.

"The presence of Mr. Wallace does not alter the fact that the real authority in your party is vested in the hands of men and women many of whom followed the dictates of totalitarianism in the period of the Nazi-Soviet pact."

May Testify

Publicity agents for the ADA said Loeb had been invited by telegram to testify before the platform committee. It was up to Rexnord Guy Tugwell, one of Franklin D. Roosevelt's brain trust, and the platform committee he heads whether Loeb would be allowed to testify.

Wallace, due here tomorrow to take over personal leadership of his new party, criticized the indictment of Communist leaders in New York. It was "interesting and highly significant that these Red scares over the past two years have been timed to silence opposition to new turns in the bi-party, get-tough foreign policy."

Hint Winnipeg Likely Spot For Convention

OTAWA, July 22. — (CP).— Site of the Progressive Conservative national convention to select a successor to John Bracken will be either Winnipeg, Montreal or Ottawa. It is generally expected that Winnipeg will get the nod.

Officials of the Association are surveying the hotel and housing accommodation in each area. The data will be placed before the national executive Monday and a final decision will be made.

If Winnipeg or Montreal is chosen the convention could be held in the week of Sept. 6-11. It could not be held in Ottawa before Sept. 20 as the capital will be crowded earlier in the month.

If Winnipeg is picked, the convention would be held in the auditorium where Mr. Bracken won out in 1942. In Montreal the site would be the Forum and in Ottawa the Coliseum where the Liberal party will elect a leader Aug. 5-7 to succeed Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Urges Montreal

At St. Johns, Que., Yvan Sabourin, provincial leader and vice-president of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada, said in an interview today that he will ask the Association's executive officers at a meeting Monday in Ottawa to select Montreal as the site.

"Quebec," he said, 'will make a stand for holding the convention in Montreal because we feel there are signs of disintegration within the Liberal party."

'I think it best that the convention should be held in the province where the Liberals have been strongest but where they now are becoming an uncertain and sliding group.

"The Liberals, for a quarter of a century, have found their strength in Quebec and the Progressive Conservatives must look to a substantial part of Quebec to build up an overall majority which is necessary if the party is to get into power in Ottawa."

311 Candidates To Contest Quebec Election

MONTREAL, July 22—(CP)—The lines were drawn today for 311 candidates to fight for 92 seats in the July 28 provincial election and as nominations closed Wednesday a three-party battle was assured.

The Libeal party, under former Premier Adelard Godbout, nominated a candidate in all 92 constituencies while Premier Duplessis' Union Nationale named 91 and backed Rene Chaloult, lone Nationalist who seeks election in Quebec County. The Union of Electors, which claims to represent the true Social Credit philosophy, enter 91 hopefuls led by J. Ernest Gregoire.

There was a scattering of Independents, Independent-Liberal or Union Nationale and one each designated Labor, Labor-Progressive, People's Party, Independent CCF and Nationalist.

The CCF cut its number of candidates to seven in this year's contest compared with 24 in the 1944 election. The Bloc Populaire, which named 81 to run in 1944, disappeared from the election scene.

Biggest surprise of pre-nomination day campaigning was the Union of Electors' announcement that the party would contest all seats. However, Wednesday the Party's choice in Bonaventure, Jean Marie Gagnon, failed to qualify when nominations closed.

High Prices and Poor Spirits Ruining Tavern Business

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, July 22 (CP)—Publicans are complaining that trade is not what it used to be.

Since the last budget when an extra penny was added to the price of beer the saloon and public bars of London taverns are noticeably emptier — and some believe they will be emptier yet.

"Drinkers are getting tired of paying through the nose for watery beer and next-to-nothing in the way of spirits," a Fleet street innkeeper said. "Quite honestly if I were a customer I wouldn't buy the stuff. I'd have a cup of tea instead. At least its value for money."

Many customers take the view that the desire for conversation and "having somewhere to go" are the only things keeping the pubs open.

Meeting the Boys

"If it weren't for meeting the boys I'm hanged if I'd go near a pub," said a cloth-capped laborer. "I can drink six glasses of beer in a row straight off and feel no better than if I'd drunk a bucket of water. As for spirits, who's going to pay two bob (40 cents) for a thimbleful of whisky or gin? No working blokes like me."

Inferior whisky is sold at high prices in some London pubs because of the shortage of reputable brands required for export to dollar countries.

Many brewers have joined in the black market so created and are selling extra whisky at exaggerated prices to their tenants — the landloards. (Most pubs are owned by brewers who rent them to landlords on condition their own products are sold).

Sometimes it is the landlord, not the brewer, who buys black-market whisky and sells it at high prices. The tenancy of the landlord caught doing this is liable to be terminated.

In a Southeast London tavern recently a woman complained she was poisoned by "bad" whisky. The brewers said they had supplied no whisky to the landlord and he was given his notice.

It's simply wonderful . . . the difference in jam and jelly-making when you use Certo. You get jams and jellies that look better, taste better, are better . . . and much more of them. That's because Certo is "fruit pectin" — the natural substance in fruit that makes jams "jam" and jellies "jell" — extracted and refined ready for your use.

THE CERTO BOIL IS SO SHORT

With Certo you boil only one-to-two minutes for jams — a half-minute-to-a-minute for jellies. NO prolonged, tedious boiling to make sure your jam or jelly will set. Certo makes all fruits set "just right". This extremely Certo short boil means:

1 You get 50% more jam or jelly because practically none of your precious fruit juice is boiled away.

2 The time you spend is cut down to a fraction.

3 The natural colour and taste of the fresh fruit are retained. The Certo boil is too short to dull the one or spoil the other.

If you are only a beginner, don't worry. You'll have no failures if you follow exactly the recipes provided with Certo. Since different fruits need different handling, there's a separate, kitchen-tested recipe for each one.

BE ECONOMICAL — BE SMART — MAKE JAM AND JELLY THE QUICK EASY MODERN CERTO WAY. ASK YOUR GROCER FOR CERTO TODAY.

A pound of jam or jelly made with Certo contains no more sugar than a pound made the old, long-boil way.

Chicken With Yellow Rice Said To Be Cuban Dish

By MARY MOORE

You may recall that Garny and her family were to visit me — my Missouri friends, — well, they are here.

And Garny in her inexorable role of cook-extarordinary made dinner one night, and it was a dish she learned while visiting in Cuba this Spring.

She calls it simply Chicken with Yellow Rice, but that does not tell you much.

She had to have saffron to color the rice. Now I had American saffron on hand, that I have used from only twice in my life to make Saffron Cake. I thought I was doing very well to be able to produce this, — but no sir! — nothing would do but that I find Spanish saffron! Well, after about six tries I found it. It cost One Dollar per dram, or 40 Cents per scruple! I bought 1 scruple, (without any scruples, I might add, for any dish she makes is worth that much at least). It was plenty, because the little gossamer-like strands go a long way.

GARNY'S CHICKEN WITH YELLOW RICE

First catch your boiling fowl—the bigger the better — ours weighed 6½ lbs. before dressing.

Then cut it up into serving pieces. Dredge the pieces in peppered and salted flour; saute in ½ cup butter until golden — turning constantly. Add 1½ cups boiling water, cover tightly, and summer 3 hours. At which time add 1 cup cream, and simmer ½ hour longer, stil ltightly covered. Place this tender luscious chiken on a hot platter.

Next comes the rice.

YELLOW RICE: About ¾ hour before serving time wash 1½ cups rice very well in several cold waters (to remove excess starch). Place in upper part of double boiler with 4 cups boiling water and 1½ teaspoon salt and about 6 or 8 little strands of Spanish saffron. Cover tightly. Cook over bottom of double boiler about ¾ hour without stirring. If rice is of good quality (long grains) the grains are all distinct and a beautiful shade of yellow.

Place rice in border around fricasseed chicken on platter; dot with butter, garnish with parsley and cubes of currant jelly. Serve at once. Garny admits the Currant jelly is an American touch. It tasted good though, but the jelly melted a little on the hot platter, so you have to move quickly.

NOT FOR MOVIE FANS

LONDON —(CP)—A recent questionnaire sent to school children in Britain, showed that the majority of boys liked playing football best in their leisure time, with cycling next. Most children liked reading, but movie-going did not take top place as a favoritee pastime.

MR. AND MRS. ALFRED DRIVER of Bethany last week celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary. Born in England they came to Canada 40 years ago and have resided in the Bethany district ever since.

Bethany Couple Observed 56th Wedding Anniversary

BETHANY, July 22 —(ENS)—Friends and neighbors joined with members of the Driver family to celebrate on Friday the 56th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Driver, Bethany. A social time was spent together during which group pictures were taken and Mrs. Thomas Jennings entertained with songs and guitar selections. The tea table was attractively set with a lace cloth centred with the bride's cake, flanked with bouquets of sweet peas. Mrs. G. Waddell poured tea and Miss. Doris Driver, Mrs. Verne Mulligan and Miss Betty Waddell served the guests. Following the supper hour, the bride and groom of 56 years ago opened the many lovely gifts received and thanked everyone for their kindness.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Driver were born in England, coming to Canada in 1908 and settling on a farm one mile north of Bethany. In later years they moved to their present home in the village.

Mr. Driver has served his country well. In 1900 before coming to Canada he volunteered for active service in the South African War, receiving the Queen Victoria Medal and five bars. In the First World War he volunteeral Service and Victory Medal. with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, serving overseas until honorably discharged in 1916, receiving the the 1914 Star as well as the General Service and Victroy Medal. In 1918 he served again with the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve with the rank of Chief Petty Officer. After the war he came back to Bethany, farming again for a time and being active in all the "doings" of the community. He was first lecture master in the Orange Lodge and bandmaster for a number of years.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Driver are members of the United Church and Mr. Driver was choir leader for many years.

Despite his 78 years Mr. Driver is remarkably active, keeping a wonderful garden and on July 12 attended the Orange Walk in Cobourg.

Mrs. Driver, the former Emma Bristow, one year his junior, although not enjoying quite such good health, still does her own housework and has always been active in the work of the community, a member of the Women's Association of the United Church and past president of the Women's Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. Driver have three sons: Gilbert lives in Moosejaw, Sask. and was unable to attend the family gathering; Douglas, in New Toronto and Leonard, who resides in Bethany. Their youngest daughter, is a teacher on the staff of Allenby School, Toronto. Another daughter, Gladys died in 1913.

There are seven grandchildren living: Donald and Gordon Driver, New Toronto; Miss Glady Driver, Toronto; Miss Grace Driver, Peterborough; Mrs. Verne Mulligan, Robert and Maurice Driver, all of Bethany. By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: We have some relatives who live in New Brunswick and they have sent us a whole case of canned lobster. I used some to make canapes for a party and I creamed one tin, but since it is such a lovely gift I want to make the most of it. There is a way to make a mousse with it with other vegetables (so they say down in N.B.) but I am not a very good cook unless I have a recipe to go by. Would you send me this and one or two other lobster dishes? I am sorry I have not written before to tell you how much I use your recipes. Mathilda, Charlotte St., Peterborough.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: This is definitely a party dish, and if the claws are used as a garnish in the bottom of the bowl, when it is turned out it is very attractive.

LOBSTER MOUSSE

Two tablespoons gelatine, 2 tablespoons water, 1 egg, 1½ tablespoons lemon juice, 3 tablespoons melted butter, 1 teaspoon each salt and mustard, ¼ teaspoon paprika, ¾ cup whole milk, 2 cups flaked lobster (including claws which should not be flaked), OR other cooked on canned fish. Soak the gelatine in the water 5 minutes. In top of double boiler mix the egg, lemon juice, melted butter, salt, mustard, paprika and milk and stir over boiling water until thickened slightly. Remove from heat, add the soaked gelatine, and stir until gelatine is dissolved. At the bottom of the bowl in which this is to be moulded, place the claws and pour oved ¼ cup of this mixture and chill to harden. Add remaining lobster flakes to the milk mixture, and pour over the first portion when set. Chill to congeal. Fresh cooked green peas, or finely chopped celery may be added to the flaked lobster mixture. Canned consomme and a little mayonnaise may be used in place of the milk if desired.

LOBSTER NEWBURGH

One tablespoon butter, 1 cup cooked lobster meat cut in pieces, ½ teaspoon salt, dash of paprika, ⅛ teaspoon nutmeg, 2 tablespoons cooking sherry, 2 egg yolks beaten, ½ cup cream. Melt butted in top of double boiler, add lobster and cook 3 minutes stirring. Add seasonings and sherry and cook 1 minute. Mix yolks and cream. Remove lobster from heat, add cream and egg, stirring until smooth. Return to double boiler and stir until it begins to thicken, and immediately remove from heat. Serve at once on toast, or in puff patties.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Would you please print a recipe for chocolate sauce to pour over ice cream hot? Please print it while the weather is still hot.—Molly, South Monaghan.

CHOCOLATE SAUCE No. 1

ANSWER: One - quarter cup granulated sugar, ¾ tablespoons cornstarch, dash of salt, 1 cup hot milk, 1 square (1 oz.) chocolate, ½ cup and 1 tablespoon powdered sugar, 1 tablespoon hot water, 1 egg yolk beaten, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt. Have milk hot in double boiler and stir in ¼ cup granulated sugar. Melt chocolate over hot water, stir smooth with 1 tablespoon powdered sugar and hot water, add to milk. Beat wolks with remaining powdered sugar and add. Cook 1 minute, then remove from heat and add vanilla. Serve at once. This may be thinned with hot milk if it is too thick for your taste.

HOT CHOCOLATE SAUCE No. 2.

Two squares (2 oz.) cooking chocolate, ½ cup hot water, 1 tablespoon butter, 1½ cups sugar. Put chocolate in double boiler, cover with hot water, add butter and sugar. Stir until smooth and cook to a rich syrup which takes about 15 minutes. Serve hot. This is delicious over mint-flavored ice cream, or may be served over blanc mange. If desired it may be flavored with vanilla or mint.

TORONTO, July 22—The marriage of Jessie McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Smith, and Alan James Fraser, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fraser, took place in Oak United Chuch, Toronto, in a setting of peonies and carnations. Rev. H. D. Ranns officiated, and wedding music was by A. Heard, organist, and Miss Margaret Grieve of Detroit, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore white satin with a full length veil and carried red roses and baby's breath. Her aunt, Mrs. James Gellatly of Brantford was matron of honor, wearing pink satin and carrying a cascade of cream roses and gladioli. Mrs. Ames Murray, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Alexander Smith, sister-in-law of the bride, were bridesmaids, both in blue and carrying Talisman roses and gladioli. Jack Philips was best man, and ushers were Hector Smith and Ames Murray.

Members Shower Oversea Delegate

Soroptimist Myrtle Sargent received a delightful surprise Wednesday evening when she found the small trunk, decorated in the club colors of blue and yellow, contained a shower of personal gifts that are all necessary for her comfort as he travels to England and Ireland next month. Mrs. Alma Belleghem was hostess for the "good-bye" party at her summer home, Long Point, Lake Chemong.

After opening the parcels, Miss Sargent gave members an outline of her trip as planned to date. She will leave the city August 4 and sail on the Queen Elizabeth from New York on August 6, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. D. T. Davies of Toronto. The latter will visit her husband's family in South Wales while Miss Sargent attends the Soroptimist International Convention at Harrowgate, England, August 14 to 21. On Tuesday, August 24, Miss Sargent will be hostess to 38 members of the sister club at Blackburn, England, at an all-Canadian dinner party. The menu has been planned by local members and all the food, as well as table favors and napkins, are being sent from Peterborough. The sisters will then visit relatives at various points and make the return trip by plane.

After enjoying the lake view until dark, the members gathered by the fireplace for a short discussion of business matters chiefly concerning the convention of the American Federation of Soroptimist Clubs being held for the first time in Canada at Toronto next week. Miss Grace Sargent, president, presided.

St. Andrews WMS Plans Rally

The WMS Auxiliary of St. Andrew's United Church held their meeting at the home of the Misses Ferguson on Bonacord Street, Tuesday evening. Mrs. F. W. K. Harris opened with the call to worship, reading a favorite hymn. She suggested having a large rally in September, each member to contact five new members to attend and start the new term with a larger attendance and greater interest in WMS work.

Mrs. N. McNeely read a letter from Mrs. F. Pilling, who is visiting in England, giving highlights of her trip so far.

Devotions were in charge of Miss F. Dixon's group with Mrs. E. Porteous reading scripture and Mrs. H. Tremaine and Mrs. E. F. Reid reading short passages of scripture, followed with prayer. Theme was the "Armament of Goodwill."

Miss M. A. Moir gave an interesting story of the life of Dr. William Wanless of India, medical missionary.

Mrs. Harris closed with prayer and the hostess assisted by Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Porteous, served refreshments and a social hour was spent.

Scarlet felt is deftly used to achieve a fine line. Matching wings accentuate the high rising brim to achieve an interesting study in scarlet.

Skirts Are Slim Eleven Inches From the Floor

NEW YORK, July 22—(AP).—The battle against exaggerated French styles has been won, it became increasingly apparent today, half-way through New York's hectic week of fall fashion openings.

The clothes that will be worn by Canadian and American women this fall are simple, casual and wearable for daytime, beguiling and often sensational for after dark.

Typical of the new mode is the collection of Jo Copeland, a designer who never has gone to Paris for inspiration. She uses opulent fabrics, unusual trimmings, a slim, sleek line and a flattering back-swoosh in a series of cocktail suits and dresses.

Skirts are slim or with discreet back fullness. Skirt lengths for daytime wear are 11 inches from the floor, for evening wear they drop to ankle length. Her evening styles are lush and magnificent, a typical example being a sumptuous creation of pink slipper satin with full, graceful skirt, draped bodice and embroidered black velvet trim.

Back Monograms New College Note

Affiliated fashionists in Los Angeles are calling the modified concept of the new look a "relaxed look." Their skirts ripple slightly but don't flare madly. Shoulders round imperceptibly with slight padding, while dolman sleeves are popular.

College girls will like a green jersey dress with gored skirt, over which may be draped, tied, hung or slung a wool-fringed Paisley shawl, three-cornered and quaint. A trunk in the attic or grandmother's bottom drawer might contribute the shawl. A men's wear flannel dress furthers the back-interest cause with a deep yoke livened with a centre back extended tab for monogramming. Low hemline pleats, reminiscent of 1914, are a fashion note to watch. A continued fashion is the raincoat for "whether it rains or whether it doesn't."

DOROTHY DIX

Mother Told to Keep Hands Off Stormy Romance

One of the reasons why there are so many wayward and undisciplined children is because their mothers will not let their fathers take any part in their rearing. To all intents and purposes the great majority of youngsters are half orphans who haven't even a speaking acquaintance with their fathers, and who regard them with about as much affection and respect as they do the milkman.

Dorothy Dix

This is because th average mother is so monopolistic that she cannot bear to share her child with its father. She wants to be all in all to little Johnny and so she imprsses on his tender mind the fact that it is Mother who loves him; it is Mother who gives him the candy; it is Mother who persuades Daddy to buy him the red wagon, and conversely she holds the father up as a cruel giant who will mistreat him. It is Mother who threatens the children by telling them that she will have Dad punish them when he comes home.

There is a general belief, fostered by mothers, that men are lacking in the parental instinct, and that it is only mothers who really love their offspring. Nothing is farther from the truth. Most men are so proud as Punch over their fatherhood and go bragging all over the place about what a wonder Junior is, until monopolistic Mama quenches their enthusiasm by never letting them touch the baby, or even change his didy, or take him out anywhere alone, or do anything that establishes a close personal contact between them.

Frozen Out

Many and many a man who would have made a devoted father is frozen out of the game by his wife who makes him understand, once and for all, that it is her baby and she is going to rear it as she pleases, and all the use Father is, is just to pay the bills. So Mother breaks the golden thread and another batch of children come along who call their father "the old man," and who are not half as well acquainted with him as they are with the policeman on the corner. And there is another heart-hungry man who could weep with envy when he sees other children and their fathers chumming together.

No matter how much a mother loves her children, no matter how intelligent she is, she has lived a more or less cloistered life and she cannot give her children certain vital guidance that only their father can give them. He has seen life, and when he talks to his children about its pitfalls, they listen.

When God created the world, He intended that all children should have two parents, a mother and a father—and all children still need both.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, July 23

The abrupt and quite uncontemplated intervention of a purely personal episode, or a sudden romantic development of profound, even radical significance, may turn the tide of current events into highly gratifying, progressive and pleasant denouements. The entire picture of recent static and frustrating circumstances may rise on joyous wings of inspired effort of emotional flights. Such glints of joy, with startling achievements or aspirations, may challenge the approval of elders, superiors or employers. Aim to make sound work and worthy purpose mitigate all opposition.

For The Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a particularly vivid and soul-stirring year, in which the element of romance, gay adventure, perhaps spectacular achievement, may rise to quit dramatic and unpredictable climax. While the emotional and romantic aspects are accented, the creative, inventive and constructive forces and faculties also may operate in the field of rare accomplishment, in which generous and worthwhile support may produce basic and expansive opening for long-range objective and fulfilled desires. This against lack of approval from elders or superiors, whose opposition and ill will must be vanquished. Charm, personality and magnetism are glamorous implements to utilize tactfully.

A child born on this day may be endowed with exceptional qualities of intellect, creative ability, ingenuity and originality. It should have a romantic and adventurous life, despite opposition.

Directions

To make the Lamb in Curry Gravy, first you have to have some leftover lamb which could be had by buying a shoulder of lamb, roasting it, eating one dinner from it hot, and chilling the rest for this meal. Add 1½ cups leftover lamb gravy to 1/3 teaspoon mustard and ½ teaspoon curry powder. Bring to boiling point. Add lamb cut in thin slices and heat through. Serve on bed of boiled macaroni, spaghetti or rice. Garnish with tiny tomatoes, scooped out and filled with real Indian Chutney.

To make the jellied vegetable moulds, dissolve 1½ tablespoons gelatine first by soaking in ½ cup cold water 5 minutes, then by standing over hot water and stirring until dissolved. To the gelatin add 1¼ cups cold water and ¼ cup lemon juice, ; teaspoon salt, shake of pepper. Pour 1 tablespoon of this mixture into each of the bottoms of custard cups or individual moulds and let harden. You may place 1 slice hard-cooked egg or slice of stuffed olive in bottom of cup for garnish if desired. To the gelatine mixture add 1½ cups each shredded cabbage and diced beets and if desired 1 cup finely chopped celery. If you reduce the water content by 2 tablespoons, this may be replaced with mayonnaise,—but the aspic part of the mould is not clear — it will be opoque if mayonnaise is added. When chilled and congealed, turn out on inner lettuce leaves and garnish with sliced tomatoes,, radishes and cress.

American

was told that we were still on the southern fringe of the Province of Ontario, which is some 412,000 square miles in area.

32 Areas

I found that there were some 32 separate areas in the Province of Ontario, each of which plays a prominent part in Canada's vacation picture. As we drove along the highway I tried to note some difference between the territory identified as "Kawartha Lakes" and that known as "Haliburton Highlands" through which we passed that day. Apparently the native can discern a difference in the rock structure in the vegetation, and in the type of shoreline on the numerous lakes.

To me Haliburton seemed somewhat more rugged and there are fewer farms under cultivation. At about this point and northward corn is not grown because of the short growing season.

Hart Lodge, where we stopped for lunch, is on the lakeshore at Minden, and is typical of the resorts in the area—not too large, with a nice small beach, cabins, trees and pleasant dining room as the setting; with boats, fishing and loafing as the main activities. In order to make it more attractive for winter sportsmen, they are working on some ski runs in the Haliburton Highland region.

After lunch we made a forty-one mile jaunt to the Forest Rangers' School at Dorset, which is operated by the University of Toronto in conjunction with the Department of Lands and Forests. Here young men are making their career in the preservation of Canada's great forests, by learning all the essentials of forest conservation and protection.

See Ranger School

The need for protection and conservation was made more pointed to us as we were reading daily about the thousands of acres of forest land being destroyed by two large forest fires in Ontario at that time.

The Ranger School is well designed with a large dining room for the students, dormitories, and lecture and class rooms. It is still in the process of construction with all buildings made of brick and good solid masonry.

After refreshments at the Ranger School, we drove westward towards the famous Muskoka District. Muskoka is known as one of Canada's oldest and most extensively used vacation spots. Every summer thousands of people from the states migrate into this picturesque lakeland.

On the way we were able to see something of the activities in the timber industry. Log rafts could be seen floating down several streams, trucks loaded with rough sawed timber passed by on the highway, and one of the host group took us by auto into the woods to visit one of the timber mills.

GET MERRY-GO-ROUND

P. D. Scollard, chairman of the Lions Club carnival committee reported today he had high hopes of getting a power-driven merry-go-round for the annual carnival at the Ashburnham Bowl. The carnival will be held Friday and Saturday, Aug. 13-14, and major prizes are an electric refrigerator and a Peterborough boat.

Has Optimistic View

OTTAWA, July 22—(CP). —Canadian foreign experts are taking a cautiously optimistic view about the Berlin blockade crisis. The danger, a spokesman for the External Affairs Department said, is not that either side wants war but that they may accidentally stumble into it. This becomes acute if the powers advance from position to position and entrench themselves in a way that leaves no chance for exit.

Prepare Plans To Preserve UK Scholarship

OXFORD, England. July 22 — (CP). — University administrators from all Commonwealth countries today prepared plans to preserve British association in scholarship.

The men and women, representatives of United Kingdom, Dominion and colonial universities, said that their present congress had unusual significance because they believe:

1. Immediate action is necessary to preserve community of thought and association between commonwealth universities.

2. Contacts among their universities must be more on a administrative level instead of through honorary appointees not in immediate touch with university operations.

3. There must be a greater interchange of teachers, information and experience between the Dominions. In the past, there has been a tendency for dominions' universities to concentrate on exchanges with the United Kingdom and to forget one another.

4. A scholarship in the classics, as given by British universities like Oxford, can be supplemented by study or teaching experience in dominions' universities where more practical subjects are stressed.

One delegate told The Canadian Press that there was no desire to cut off association with universities outside the commonwealth because knowledge "is not exclusive."

But there had been a natural community of thought among commonwealth universities although they differed in many ways.

Citing Canada as an instance, the delegate said that close commonwealth association and consultation should avert the possibility that Canadian universities in future become Slavish copies of United States institutions.

Leadership in new consultation on an administrative level is being taken by Canada.

Traffic Snarled Cop Sells Ticket

MONTREAL, July 22—(CP)—You turn pale, your legs become weak, you wonder what the devil you did and then, with a weak smile of relief, you dig down and fork over your dough to the cop for the tickets he is selling.

After the transaction you have a feeling of being gypped and you have no assurance the deal will pay off the next time you go through a red light.

Folks, you now have a friend in Pierre DesMarais, leader of Montreal's city council.

In a letter to the city's director of departments, Mr. DesMarais singled out the annual police games. They are fine, deserve support and encouragement and all that, said Mr. DesMarais.

But when cops cause traffic tie-ups by peddling tickets, it's time something was done and furthermore 'such a practice looks too much to me like a form of blackmail."

Mr. DesMaraias mentioned specifically "the case of Harbor Bridge...where a constable practically stopped all traffic and created a bottleneck while offering his tickets for sale."

Irish Girl

Met By Groom

At Belleville, she was met by the groom and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Peck of Hastings, close friends of Glass. The pair are guests of the Pecks while construction goes on in their own future home. The Pecks will be the attendants at the forthcoming marriage service.

After the ceremony, a reception is planned at the home of a brother of Mrs. Peck in Hastings. The bride will wear a suit which she has brought with her from Ireland—using the precious clothing coupons. She will buy the rest of her trousseau here, as she was allowed to bring only 60 pounds of luggage from Ireland.

Robert Glass is also Irish, having come to Canada about 20 years ago by means of a British emigration scheme. He worked on farms in different sections of Ontario before settling in Hastings. He has lived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. McMillan for the last eight years and is regarded as one of their family. He is employed at the Breithaupt tannery.

His father lives in Londonderry with two other sons. Eileen visited them before leaving for Canada. She brought back with her a glass mug which Glass had sent to him from Toronto when he was only two years old.

OLD PEOPLE'S PICNIC

Fifty old residents and lonely people in Peterborough are to be entertained to a picnic at Nicholls Oval on Wednesday, July 28. The picnic has been organized by the newly formed social service committee of the Rotary Club and is the committee's first project. Major Charles Watt is chairman.

Canadian Diplomatic Changes In Moscow

OTTAWA, July 22 — (CP). — Changes in Canada's diplomatic representation in Moscow and four other cities were announced today by the external affairs department.

John B. C. Watkins, 46, until recently head of the European division of the department, will replace John Holmes as charge d'affaires in Moscow. Mr. Holmes will go to Paris as member of the Canadian delegation to the general assembly of the United Nations.

Canada has been without an ambassador in Moscow—as the Russians are here—since Dana Wilgress was transferred to Switzerland in April, 1947, and not replaced. There was no indication in today's announcement when an ambassador might be named to the vacant post.

Mr. Watkins is a former professor of English at Queen's University, who joined the department in 1946. He was born in Norval Station, Ont., and was associated with the American-Scandinavian Foundation in New York for several years. He is an accomplished linguist.

In some manner fire started under the floorboards of the cottage and Richard noticed smoke coming through the bedroom flooring when he awoke.

He roused the two other sleepers and then ran to a neighbor for assistance. Buckets of water were used on the fire until the fire engine arrived.

FALSE TEETH FOUND

Some resident in the Lindsay district is confined to a soup diet, for a while at least. It's not a matter of choice, the reason is that he lost his teeth. William Bell of Dunsford found a set of false teeth in front of the Lindsay Post Office on Saturday. He examined them, found they were in good working order and turned them oved to police. As yet they have not been claimed even though Chief Lawler promises a personal fitting for each applicant.

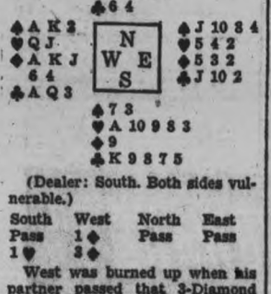
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

FEW WEAK FORCES NOW

IT IS SELDOM that you find players of even pretty fair ability making the old "forcing two bid" which guarantees enough strength for game unless they have a hand really justifying it. In the early days of contract, many used to commit their side to a game contract with such an opening if they held a nice bunch of high cards, such as what they called five and a half honor tricks. Now they know a hand like that does not belong in game opposite a blank dummy unless it contains the requisite number of total playing tricks of all kinds. If they must find their partner with enough to answer a one bid, or else no game is possible, then they bid only one to start with.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

Pass	1♦	Pass	Pass

West was burned up when his partner passed that 3-Diamond call. That is, he was until he saw the dummy and figured out how hopeless was his situation. His big cards had shrunk to futility when he couldn't even get into the dummy to lead toward them, let alone take any tricks in the dummy. He lost a trick in spades, two in hearts, two in diamonds and one in clubs, a total of six, so that he was down two in even his part-score.

In the same duplicate game, one West player saw fit to open with 2-Diamonds, which East answered with the negative 2-No Trumps, whereupon West went to game in No Trumps. The defenders passed that and it was set four tricks after the heart 10 lead, West scoring no tricks except two each with the ace-kings and one with the club A.

It was not so many years ago that a lot of players used to bid 2-Diamonds without hesitation when holding a hand like that, with six high card tricks. That hand even contains 24 count by the old Work method of 4 for A, 3 for K, 2 for Q and 1 for J, the amount which used to be considered enough for an opening 3-No Trumps if the strength was properly distributed. Now not one fine player would bid anything but 1-Diamond on it.

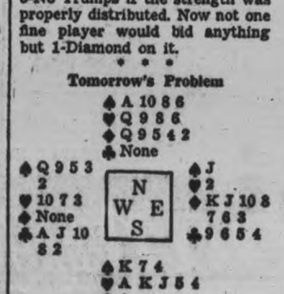
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: West. North - South vulnerable.)

What should be the bidding by North and South after East opens this deal with a third-hand 1-Diamond psychic?

Ease Food Ration In New Zealand

WELLINGTON, N.Z., July 22—(CP).—Within a few months it is probable that the only foods still rationed in New Zealand will be those she produces in greatest abundance—butter and meat. Tea rationing has recently been abolished and rationing of sugar will also end soon.

The rationing of meat and butter is being continued in order to ship maximum supplies to Britain. New Zealand is Britain's largest supplier of butter and ties with Argentina as the largest supplier of meat.

The only other commodity still rationed by coupon is petrol. Introduced as a wartime measure, it was abolished in 1946, but the ration was again imposed last year at Britain's request to save dollars. The present ration varies according to the size of the car but allows an average of about 200 miles a month for private motorists. Business users receive supplementary allowances.

I had pains in my back, limbs and muscles.

"Reading in the paper about Syntona helping other people I decided to try it, and after taking only one bottle I found some relief. I kept right on taking it, and now I feel on top of the world. Syntona relieved all the trouble my my stomach the headaches and dizziness cleared up. I am free of aches and pains and my strength returned. Instead of feeling tired all the time, I now have my old energy and even my work is easier to do."

MRS. DORIS ANSLOW

Blame US Vet For Bombing UN Building

Home-Made Bomb Drops 400 Feet From Central Section

LAKE SUCCESS, July 23 — (AP)—A former United States air force flier, worried about a new war, was sought today as the pilot who dived at United Nations headquarters and dropped a missle which exploded harmlessly nearby.

The U.N. trusteeship council was in session when the missile, belived by police to be a home-made bomb, went off Thursday near the ground about 400 feet from the entrance of the central U.N. building.

The blast was heard a mile away.

Delegates and staff members were thrown into a state of excitement. Scores of them rushed to the windows of U.N. chambers. Others poured outside as a small yellow-and-orange plane banked and flew away.

A plane answering the description of the one from which the missle was dropped landed a short time later at La Guardia field. Its pilot, who identified himself as Shephen J. Supina, 36, a former B-17 turret gunner of Willington, Conn.. left the field.

At Ashford, Conn., Supina's brother, Thomas, a former Connecticut state representative, said: "Steve has been pretty upset, seeing the world on the edge of another war," and may have used a "signal flare" in an attempt to "wake up the United Nations."

The elder Supina said his brother thought that the "U. N. has not been forceful enough in trying to maintain peace," that "they're a bunch of appeasers," and that "somebody ought to blast the U.N. into action."

Ever since Stephen came back from the war, Thomas said, he had been disturbed about the state of world affairs.

"He's seen a lot of things over Europe and he hated to think of all that happening over again," Thomas added.

"PARDON ME, BUDDY" seems to be the appropriate remark of the white rat to his odd playmate, a frisky white kitten, as he nonchalantly crawls under the young tiger. The playful trio belong to Misses Jean Gordon and Shirley Marshall, 895 Monaghan Rd. The kittens appear to enjoy the little romps more than the pet rat, who gets mauled around—in a playful sort of way. The kittenish pair seem to find a lot of fun in chasing the rat's tail all over the kitchen.

REGINA, July 23 —(CP))— The opposition today had retained one seat and won a second from the C.C.F. as results came in from Thursday's deferred provincial elections in the far-northern Saskatchewan constituencies of Cumberland and Athabasca.

Re-election of L. M. Marion, Independent-Liberal, in Athabasca and election of Lorne Blanchard, Liberal, in Cumberland left the C. C. F. party witha clear - cut majority but boosted the opposition in the 52-member legislature to 21.

Marion defeated d'Axel Olson, C.C.F., and David Lechasseur. Independent. Blanchard's victory was over Joseph Johnson, C.C.F. and Joseph Buote, Independent.

Latest returns from Athabsca had given Marion—who won overwhelmingly in 1944—a large lead in seven of 23 polls. Olson trailed Lechasseur.

The voting leaves 31 C.C.F. members of the legislature, 19 Liberals one Independent-Liberal and one Liberal-Progressive Conservative.

Charge Russians Breaking 3 Flight Rules

BERLIN, July 23 — (AP) — British authorities Thursday accused the Russians of three violations of flight rules in the air lane used by the RAF to supply Soviet-blockaded Berlin. British officials claim Russian fighter planes probably engaged in target practice in the corridor.

The Russian planes were sighted Thursday in the British air lane as aircraft poured into Berlin with a record haul of food and fuel. On the 27th day of the British-American air lift, United States planes unloaded 1,638 tons of supplies in 285 flights to Templehof airdrome.

The RAF kept pace. Yorks, Dakotas and Sunderlands flew 150 flights into the British sector of the city with an estimated 546 tons.

British officials said a four-engined York transport sighted three Yak fighters trailing a sleeve-towing aircraft in the Berlin-Buecksburg corridor. Such sleeves commonly are used for target practice.

"There is no evidence that the three were shotoing at the sleeve while the York was nearby," one British official said, "but they probably were shooting."

A York crew member said he saw two Yaks "climbing up in front of him about 100 yards away," a British statement said "The rule is that aircraft shall not approach other aircraft nearer than 150 metres (about 165 yards)."

In the third incident, a York crew reported "a formation of Yaks flying in and out of the clouds."

The British military government rejected a Russian offer to supply 10,000 kilowatt hours of power daily to the AEG Turbine factory in British sector, which is working mostly for the Russians.

Passengers Yell and Faint At Sight of Sea Serpent

DETROIT, July 23 — (CP). — While men yelled and one woman fainted aboard the City of Detroit, III., Detroit and Cleveland Navigation Company liner, a sea serpent slithered through Georgian Bay. That was the report of an eye-witness, Miss Bess Munroe, of Pinconning, Mich., the ship's social hostess, to Capt. Lewis Mantel.

Miss Munroe's report of a 60-foot, green-and-purple, scale monster with a huge horned head, was confirmed by more than a dozen passengers and several of the ship's crew.

The "thing" was sighted by the travellers Thursday as the ship was entering the bay near Flowerpot Island, en route to Midland. It came within 500 feet of the ship and remained in sight for approximately 15 minutes, they said. It then disappeared in the fog and rain.

"I've sailed the Great Lakes for many years," Capt. Mantel said soberly, "and have yet to see any monster. However, some of the informants in this case have always been persons of sound judgment and character."

Residents of Midland said they had not heard any previous reports of a sea serpent in their neighborhood

Flowerpot Island is just off the tip of the entrance to Georgian Bay, some 50 miles northwest of Owen Sound.

Britain Likely Soon Approve Starting Firms In Canada

LONDON, July 23—(CP)—The British government is expected soon to approve proposals enabling British Industries to establish branches in Canada.

Dana Porter, Ontario Minister of Planning and Development, said today at a press conference that the prospect of government approval "looks very favourable."

"I think we have made considerable progress along two or three lines that would ease the difficulty of transferring funds," he said.

The matter was discussed by Premier George Drew of Ontario during his recent visit here and has been pursued by Porter since the planning minister came here last week from Holland. The premier said British industries could make sterling deposits in London against advances to them by Canadian firms with British branches as one way of financing the project.

Porter was in Holland to arrange for the movement of Dutch immigrants to Canada.

Discussing the plan for British firms to establish branches in Canada, Porter said "a considerable number of excellent firms are in various stages of negotiations with us on the matter." Scottish textile firms were among those which had shown interest.

Porter said there had been no hitch in plans since Premier Drew discussed them with British officials in London.

Will Carry Out Berlin Duties

WASHINGTON, July 23—(AP) —Gen. Lucius D. Clay today told members of the House of Representatives that United States forces in Germany can and will carry out the United States Government's intention to remain in Berlin.

Clay, United States military governor in Germany, left a 35-minute closed session with some foreign affairs committee members and headed toward the White House, where he had another engagement with President Truman.

Charles Eaton (Rep. — NJ), chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, said he had read "with some interest" a report quoting Soviet Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky on the proposal to lift the blockade, Sokolovsky was represented as saying the Russians would act if the Western Powers stopped insisting that Russians must have special passes for travel in the western zones of Germany. The Soviet always have required special passes for travel into their zone.

In Berlin, however, Maj.-Gen. George P. Hays, Deputy United States Military Governor, said the American occupation has placed no one-sided restrictions on Soviet travel in the American zone.

7 Murdered In 14 Days By Partners

One Shoots Way Out, Other Surrenders At Police Road Block

VAN WERT, O., July 23.—(AP).—Two youthful former bandits who terrorized Ohio with seven slaying in the last 14 days, hit the end of their crime career today at a Van Wert county police road block. One was dying, shot between the eyes, and the other captured.

Two police officers were wounded in the wild flurry of rifle and pistol shots which ended the widest man hunt Ohio ever has witnessed.

James C. West, 24 year old former resident from Parkersburg, W. Va., described as the "gun-happy" member of the bandit pair, was shot between the eyes.

His partner, 22 year old Robert M. Daniels, of Columbus, put up his hands and surrendered—and then confessed all seven of the killings which have kept the mid-western United States in a two-week turmoil.

The highway patrol, local police, Federal Bureau of Investigation and other officials had set up road blocks all over the northern half of the state after two more killings early today. The road blocks paid off.

A drive-away truck, with four automobiles aboard, approached. The officers stopped it for a routine check.

Comes Out Firing

The drivers of the truck came out of the cab, an army rifle blazing. Sgt. L. D. Conn, 42, Van Wert policeman, went down with a bullet in his chest. Frank A. Friemoth, 55, county game protector, also fell with a bullet in his breast the slug lodging in his arm.

Both officers, with Sheriff Roy Shaffer, blazed away with their guns despite the wounds, and Conn finally hit the driver between the eyes with a machine-gun bullet. The driver was identified as West.

As the firing ceased a man crawled from one of the four cars on the drive-away, his hands in the air. He said he was Daniels, and the highway patrol said he admitted he and West had committed the seven killings for which they had been sought over 20 states and the last two weeks.

Won't Live

Conn's condition was reported as critical at Van Wert hospital, and attaches there said West "could not possibly live."

No trace of the regular driver of the drive-away truck had been found, opening the possibility

GEN. H. D. G. CRERAR has been appointed by the King as his first Aide-de-Camp General from Canada. This is regarded as a tribute to the General and the Canadian war effort.

King Appoints Gen. Crerar Aide-de-Camp

OTTAWA, July 23.—(CP). — The King has appointed Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, CH, CB, DSO, his first aide-de-camp General from Canada, it was announced today.

The appointment was recognized both as a tribute to the retired 60-year-old General and to the Canadian war effort in which the 1st Canadian Army he directed in its European campaign played so large a part.

Gen. Crerar lives in Ottawa. He is the first Canadian military officer to hold this special appointment. When the King comes to Canada, he will be his chief Canadian aide.

Gen. Crerar was born in Hamilton in 1888 and attended its schools, later going to Upper Canada College, Toronto, and Royal Military College, Kingston. He was an artillery officer in the First War. His miliary career saw him as Chief of the General Staff, Commanded of RMC, a divisional Corps and Army Commander. He was the first man to command a Canadian army in the field.

The announcement, made by Defence Minister Claxton, also disclosed the retirement of Col H. M. Urquhart, DSO, MC, of Victoria, as an additional aide-de-camp to the King. He has reached the retirement age of 37.

Col. Urquhart was appointed an aide in 191, after a brilliant First War record. With the 16th (Scottish) Battalion and as Commanding Officer of the 4rd (Ottawa) Battalion, he won the DSO twice and the MC.

Marie, a tall, grey-haired Norman, apparently will face the outright oppositon of only the Communists. His colleagues said even Gen. Charles De Gaulle's Rightist followers had promised him "watchful neutrality."

Confederation Group Ahead With 3,256 Majority In Newfoundland Voting

Believe Government Will Recommend Canada Accept Island Into Union; 13,000 Votes Still Left To Be Counted

ST. JOHN'S Nfld., July 23 — (CP). — A growing but still slim majority for Confederation with Canada emerged from today's count of Newfoundland's constitutional referendum ballots. At 11.20 p.m. EDT, with an estimated 13,000 ballots to be counted—most of them from predominantly pro-Confederate areas—Confederation had 72,756 votes against 69,500 for responsible government.

But confusion remained as to whether the majority was sufficient to recommend Confederation to the British Government and the Canadian Governments.

One high Government authority told The Canadian Press that in his personal opinion the old colony's commission government would recommend that Canada accept Newfoundland as a 10th province in any case.

This informant said he thought this course would probably be taken in spite of the fact that the trend in Thursday's national constitutional referendum indicated that Confederation will get only a scanty majority.

Attitude Unknown

He said he would not care to hazard a guess whether Canada would accept such a recommendation.

It was recalled, however, that External Affairs Minister St. Laurent recently told the Canadian Commons: "If the government of Newfoundland, having consulted the population, represented to us that the population wished confederation to be consummated, I think we would not go behind that declaration to examine to what extent they were justified in making such a representation."

Justice Commissioner Walsh of the Newfoundland government, who recently accompanied Governor Gordon Mcdonald to London to discuss the constitutional procedure which would follow the referendum, declared today that no statement concerning confederation would be made until the view of Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada was received as to wether he felt the majority recorded confederation was "clearly, beyond all question of doubt Newfoundland's choice."

Meanwhile, responsible government supporters declined to comment on the outcome of the voting, and confederate Joseph Smallwood, who ran the union-with-Canada campaign almost single-handedly, was out of town and could not be reached.

In the first referendum held June 3 when retention of com-

British Outlaw Reds In Malaya In New Drive

SINGAPORE, July 23—(AP)— British officials today outlawed the Communist Party in the Federation of Malaya and the neighboring crown colony of Singapore.

An official statement said the Communist Party "for some time past has been secretly responsible for planning, superintending and carrying out a campaign of violence for purposes of upsetting the existing authority of lawful governments in the Federation of Malaya and Singapore."

Malayan Communists have directed not only the current armed revolt but also have carried out "subversive propaganda" and forwarded cash and goods to Guerrilla bands, the statement said.

Others Under Ban

Acting High Commissioner Sir Alec Newboult and Singapore's Governor, Sir Franklin Gimson, also banned as "unlawful societies" three other organizations which went underground with the Communists when a state of emergency was proclaimed several weeks ago. They are:

Malayan People's anti-Japanese Army Ex-Comrades Association, which the British officials said now "is engaged in armed conflict with government forces."

New Democratic Youth League, a Communist-front organization.

Union to Defend the Malayan Fatherland, also a Communist-front group.

Scores of persons have been killed and wounded in Malaya in the last few months in a series of disorders and raids by guerrilla bands on rubber plantations and isolated communities.

Dr. E. Carefoot Stands Trial On Drug Charge

BELLEVILLE, July 22.—(CP). —Dr. E. M. Carefoot today was committed for trial on a charge of having illegal possession of opium, the charge being laid under the Narcotics Drug Act.

Date of the trial will be some time this autumn, the date to be arranged to suit the convenience of counsel. Bail for the accused was renewed at $2,000.

The charge against Dr. Carefoot is the sequel to a police raid made on the doctor's residence in March, 1946, when it was alleged a quantity of drugs was seized

Fraud Charge

Late in 1946, a charge of fraud was laid against Carefoot on grounds that he had represented himself as having a cancer cure. He was acquitted after more than a score of citizens testified he had cured them.

"This procedure is an entire abuse of the administration of justice," said Frank Ward of Picton, appearing for Mr. Carefoot. "All the seizures were made at one time. All were drugs. The Crown proceeded on a former charge summarily, then by a stated case, and several Supreme Court judges who reviewed the evidence finally directed a new trial. For reasons best known to the Crown, it has seen fit not to proceed under Mr. Justice Lebel's direction, but to lay a new charge here today. If that isn't an abuse of justice, I haven't practised law for 30 years, or else I'm in a mental wilderness."

"I don't see where all this affects me," interjected Magistrate Wills.

"You can grant a stay in this case until the other charge is disposed of," said Mr. Ward.

Separate Charges

"Where there are different drugs, there must be separate charges," said Norman Matthews, special Crown prosecutor. "Whether the Crown proceeds with the other charge has not yet been decided. If my friend insists, we might be induced to proceed with it."

"I defy you to proceed with it," shot back Mr. Ward. "Constable Keays (Provincial Police officer who investigated) may tell us later before a judge and jury why he didn't proceed with it."

"That is unfair and incorrect," said Magistrate Wills. "This is an RCMP matter entirely, and it is not up to anyone else to proceed."

"Keays is only a witness. It's not up to him whether we proceed or not," saiad Mr. Matthews.

'Oh, yes, he's the whole thing in this case,' shot back Mr. Ward.

Only two witnesses, Prov. Const. Keays and Walter Styran, retired sergeant of the RCMP, were called at the hearing. Const. Keays said he had gone to the Carefoot residence on March 19, 1946, accompanied by Inspector Monaghan, College of Physicians and Surgeons investigator, and Constables Siple and Armstrong.

"We searched the premises and found what appeared to be narcotics in vials contained in a black bag," testified the officer.

Produce Bag

A black bag, similar to that used by doctors, was produced, identified, and entered as an exhibit. Numerous bottles and vials were found in the bag, including a four-inch vial marked "Dover powder" and tablet triturates." This vial was entered as a separate exhibit.

"Did you mention this vial at the trial in 1946?" asked Mr. Ward in cross-examination.

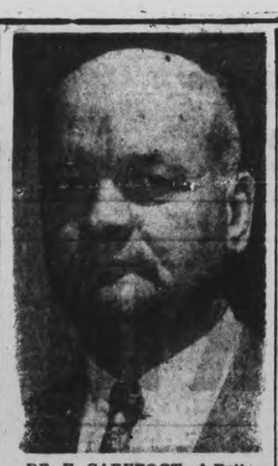
"No. It was not the subject of that charge. It was not made a charge to my knowledge."

Witness said he found the bag behind a chesterfield in the room used as an office in the Carefoot home At the time Insp. Monaghan was talking to a "stranger."

"Why didn't you mention this stranger before?' asked Mr. Ward.

'Because I wasn't asked."

When Mr. Matthews objected to the defense counsel expressing an opinion on the conduct of the witness, Magistrate Wills said: "It seems the witness is being exceedingly technical and trying to avoid furnishig any additional evidence."



DR. E. CAREFOOT of Belleville was committed for trial on Thursday on a charge of having illegal possession of opium.

Can See No Split In Tito Ranks

BELGRADE, July 23—(AP).—The Yugoslav Communist Congress today heard an appeal to all Communist countries to settle their differences and unite to fight "Anglo-American warmongers."

All speeches of this third day's meeting lauded Marshal Tito's war record, reconstruction efforts and stand against the Cominform. The Russian-ruled Cominform (Communist Information Bureau) had castigated Tito as departing from the party line.

Bozidar Maslarich said Communists in Poland and Czechoslovakia told him they doubted whether their party was telling them the truth about Yugoslavia and that they saw no reason for breaking friendly relations.

"The question is how to get out of this situation," the all-Slav committee president said, "all progressive and democratic countries are united against Imperialists and warmongers on the principle of national equality and not on the principle of mixing in the internal affairs of others."

"The democratic people demand that their leaders arrive at an agreement and unite in the struggle against the Anglo-American warmongers," he said.

Every event of the Yugoslav Communist Party Congress is underscoring this solidarity. Cheers erupted time and again Thursday for Tito, Stalin and the Yugoslav party as Interior Minister Alex Rankovic addressed the 2,000-odd delegates.

Borba, the Communist newspaper, carried a demand from Montenegro Communist leaders for re-election of the "Old heroic central committee of the party."

Rankovic indicated that Tito and his men intend to insist on the right to handle internal problems as the Yugoslav Communists see fit. This policy was belived to be one of the fundamental issues causing the split between Yugoslavia and the Cominform.

Hear Crack, Bridge Snaps 2 Fight Current Futilely

DES JOACHIMS RAPIDS, Que., July 23 — (CP). — Henry Allard, who witnessed the death plunge of six men here Wednesday, said Thursday night the Bailey-bridge they were rigging suddenly sagged, snapped and "just folded down into the rapids." A fellow-worker, Allard had been with the victims a few minutes before they fell into the swirling Ottawa River. With five others of the 12-man rigging crew, employees of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, he had left the span to get more materials.

Allard, who comes from Allumette Island, Que., home of three of the victims, told his grim story as new attempts were made to recover the bodies from the foaming river, 60 feet deep.

"I was standing below one of the supporting towers on the ground waiting to take up more transom bars which the other riggers were laying on top of the bridge.

"I heard a sudden loud crack. I looked up and saw the centre of the bridge give way about four feet. The riggers on top just stood there when the bridge continued to sag.

"Then the bridge snapped right in the middle. The span, with the men on it, just folded down into the rapids."

Bob Briscoe of Pembroke, Ont., another workman, said he saw two of the men fighting against the current seconds after the plunge. Blood was streaming from their faces, he said.

Baxter in court today as he fined Lorne Wells of 547 Hamilton St. $5 and $2.50 costs for uttering a "wolf call" to a young lady on Charlotte St. about one o'clock this morning. The accused pleaded guilty to the charge of vagrancy.

Defence counsel G. N. Gordon had suggested to the magistrate that "a fine of five dollars ought to be enough for a wolf call on Charlotte St. at one o'clock in the morning."

The magistrate warned the accused that "women have the right to be protected from such things when they are walking along our streets."

Fined $30 For Having Case Of Beer In Car

Percy Mace, Burleigh Falls, was fined $30 and $2.50 costs in court today when evidence given by provincial constable Len Brown was that the accused had been caught with a case of beer and an Indian who was drunk entering the reservation. Police had been called because of a fight on the reserve in which there had been drinking.

The accused, who pleaded guilty, told Magistrate Baxter that an American had given the beer to the Indian and that he was just driving him out to the reserve.

Acting crown attorney John Bradshaw asked that a more severe fine than the usual $10 be given, because of the circumstances.

In giving the fine, the magistrate agreed "that it's easy enough to think up these stories after you're caught."

Confederation

mission government also was on the ballot, 155,777 voters voted this way: Responsible government 69,400; Confederation 64,066, commission government 22,311.

Want Good Majority

Prime Minister Mackenzie King's statement several months ago first raised the possibility of a second indecisive result. In the June referendum neither responsible government nor Confederation could get clear majority because commission government, though running third, split the vote.

Mr. King said Canada would be prepared to make union effective "should the people of Newfoundland indicate clearly and beyond all possibility of misunderstanding their will that Newfoundland should become a province on the basis of the proposed terms."

This was taken at the time to mean that the Canadian governmen would decide what size majority would be "decisive."

If Canada decided not to make Newfoundland into Confederation a provisional government might be set up to hold further negotiations, but observers said it would be hardly likely that responsible government would take over in this case.

If Canada, on the other hand, decided to accept Newfoundland, then a delegation would go to Ottawa to cement the terms of union. A general provincial election would be held and seven members would be elected to the Federal House at Ottawa.

England's Score Highest To Date

LEEDS, Yorksire, England, July 23.—(Reuters). — England was all out today for 496 runs in the first innings in the fourth test cricket match agains Australia.

At close of play Australia had scored 63 runs for one wicket. Arthur Morris was dismissed for six runs.

England's score was the highest of any innings to date in the current series of five matches. Today was the second day of a five-day match.

At the lunch interval England had tallied 360 for two wickets and the tea interval count was 488 runs for seven wickets.

Alec Bedser scored 79 runs before he was dismissed and Bill Edrich went over the century mark with 111.

Edrich and Bedser punished the Australian bowling after lunch, as more than 30,000 spectators filled the stands. The two Britons, primarily bowlers, reached their century partnership in 2¼ hours and carried it to 155 before Bedser was dismissed with the total at 423.

Both batsmen included sixes among their drives and runs came so quickly that 58 were added in 45 minutes. Edrich, pulling Arthur Morris for his twelfth four, reached 101 in 4¼ hours. It was his second test century against the Aussies. The first was 119 at Sydney in 1947.

7 Murdered

that he, too, may have been a victim of the killers in their search for transportation with which to evade capture in the ever-closing net which authorities had thrown around the up-state sector.

The pair of gunmen hit the end of their trail only a few hours after they had killed the last two of their seven victims—farmer James Smith, 25, of Tiffin, slain as he sat in a car with his wife, and another man tentatively identified as Glenn Beard Gschwind, a 24-year-old navy veteran of Fremont, whose body was found early to day in a roadside park.

The car in which the killers launched their career 14 days ago by slaying Earl Ambrose, Columbus tavern operator, was found beside Gschwind's body.

May Be Driver

Fremont police later said the victim was not Gschwind, who was reported at his home today. This left open the possibility that the body was that of the driver of the drive-away truck which the killers rode into the roadblock here.

After the Ambrose killing, the two youthful gunmen blazed a bloody trail which had law enforcement officers baffled and had all of Ohio in a state of "jitters."

Next on the list of victims was Frank Kerech, middle-aged tourist camp operator at Flat Rock, Mich.

Then the killers, after being seen momentarily in southeastern Ohio, swept into the northern section and back to the Mansfield reformatory where both had served time for previous crimes.

There, before dawn, they routed a reformatory official, his wife and 21-year-old daughter from their beds in their night clothes, ransacked the residence to obtain a shotgun, rifle and revolver, and then shot the three to death in a rain-swept cornfield.

The nude bodies of reformatory farm superintendent John Biebel, 50, his wife, Nolanda, 52, and 21-year-old Phyllis, her red hair done up in pin curlers, were found hours later.

Strike Again

The Biebel killings occurred Wednesday, and five law enforcement agencies joined in the hunt to halt the marauding men.

But before they could be captured they struck again Thursday night, adding two more victims to their bloody toll.

James Smith, 25, Tiffin farmer, and his wife were en route home after having some ice cream when a gray car crowded their auto to the side of the road. One of the occupants of the gray car accused Smith of speeding, and asked to see his driver's licence.

Smith produced it, but remonstrated when the man attempted to walk off with it. The man turned and fired, killing Smith, then climbed into the rear seat with Mrs. Smith—threatening to kill her if she screamed.

The killers' car drove down the road, turned and came back, and the slayer left Mrs. Smith to get into his own car, driving away The young widow ran to a nearby home, notified police, and police sped to the scene, setting up road blocks.

Later, at a roadside park near Tiffin, deputy sheriff Grover Leopold found an abandoned car. He called for help, and officers surrounded a nearby home, thinking the two fugitives had "holed-up" there.

They were not located, however, and a few minutes later a search of the park disclosed the body tentatively identified as Gschwind. He had been shot twice, once in the back of the head and once in the heart.

The disturbance which has been responsible for Ontario's dull showery weather is centred just to the north of Toronto. Its direction of movement is still eastward, but it has slowed down considerably during the last few hours. As a result the clearing will be slower than was previously anticipated, and clouds will persist over most of the province throughout the day. The disturbance should move into Northern Quebec during the night, and the week-end promises to be pleasant and sunny in all sections.

Golds Edge Upwards In Very Light Trading

TORONTO, July 23 — (CP) — Golds edged firmly upwards in very light trading here today, followed by western oils and industrials, both of which were stronger. Base metals were steady.

Milton Brick led industrials in a continuation of their recent firmness, gaining 5 cents. Aluminum New, Building Products, Page-Hersey, and Brown Preferred were other issues to show strength

Golds traded actively for several good gains. In seniors, Bralorne gained 50 cents, Dome advanced 1, Hollinger gained 25, Wright Hargreaves was up 10 and Teck Hughes advanced 15 cents. Giant Yellow Knife, Kirkland Lake, Madsen, Sylvanite and Sigma made gains of better than 10 cents each in juniors.

Base metals were steady after showing strength in very dull action throughout most of the morning. Waite Amulet gained 20 cents but was balanced by a 20-cent dip by Falconbridge. Sherritt Gordon, Golden Manitou, Gulf Lead, and Lake Dufault gained from 3 to 4¾ cents.

Western oils traded lightly, most action being observed in Calgary and Edmonton, which gained 20 cents and Home Oil, which skidded 10 cents.

Three B-29's Off On World Trip

WASHINGTON, July 23—(AP). —Three United States Superfortresses are off on a round-the-world scouting flight to see whether big bombers will be able to use fields and facilities in distant parts of the world should trouble come some day.

The second stop of the trio of B-29's was scheduled for today at Lagens air base in the Azores, which the United States uses under an agreement with Portugal.

The bombers, taking off from their home base at Tucson, Ariz., stopped at Macdill, Florida, on Thursday afternoon for fuel, then headed eastward out across the Atlantic.

The flight is the third projected globe-girdling trip for superfortresses—but drastically scaled down from the original plan.

In October, 1946, Air Secretary Symington announced to a press conference that "if the State Department approves, the air force will send a group of B29's on a flight around the world.... this flight will compare with around-the-world voyages by the American fleet."

The new flight of three planes has "the concurrence of the State Department," the United States air force took pains to say on Thursday. Three bombers do not constitute an alarming display of air power.

COBOURG, July 23. (ENS) — Cobourg town council at a meeting last night approved the plans of the proposed rink and recreation centre for Cobourg and the site on South Division St., facing the park, with the rear of the building bordering on Division St.

The town voted $50,000 to the project but the Municipal Board will not approve issuance of the debentures until a similar amount is raised by private subscription Robert Holland, chairman of the building committee, said that plans called for a concrete block building with brcik front, the dimensions to be 224 x 110 feet.

Mayor Joseph Smith expressed confidence that by Sept. 15 enough money would be raised to start building, with further contributions to come for the ice making equipment, estimated at $25,000, so that the building would be ready by the first of the year. He felt that, counting what was on hand now, $68,000 additional could be raised without too much difficulty. Including artificial ice, total cost would be around $135,000.

SIMPLE ABC TREATMENT HELPS END ATHLETE'S FOOT

IRRITATING, PAINFUL, BURNING FEET—RAW, CRACKED, PEELING SKIN BETWEEN TOES RELIEVED OVERNIGHT

Foot Specialists examining thousands of patients have found that many common foot ailments are due to one cause — Tinea Pedis—a virulent infection known as "Athlete's Foot".
If you have peeling, soggy skin and painful cracks between toes; if you are plagued by persistent itching and excessive, malodorous perspiration, start using AERO-PED Powder at once. It contains P.M.N. (Phenyl-mercuric nitrate) — a powerful germicide and fungicide which kills the germs and fungi that cause "Athlete's Foot".

ABC ROUTINE FOR QUICK RESULTS

Make this test:
(a) Wash feet night and morning with soap and warm water. Dry well between toes.
(b) Dust AERO-PED P.M.N. Powder over feet and between toes, also inside socks and shoes. Change footwear daily.
(c) Notice how quickly pain and irritation are soothed, cracks between toes begin to heal, perspiration is checked. Get a tin of AERO-PED P.M.N. Powder and start your A-B-C Treatment today. You'll get fast, lasting relief.

"MIRACULOUS RESULTS," says C.D.U.": . . . I am very pleased to tell you that what we sailors call "Toe-Rot" appears to be completely cured — no itching whatever and the skin quite clean and absolutely healed. This strikes me as miraculous. I have had it since I was a Midshipman, 45 years ago and had tried everything else."

Conflict Over Berlin

The lowering reverberation of American planes once again over Britain, of British and American planes again over Berlin, resounds in the ears of Britons and Germans ominously, even though the planes carry food, not bombs. The analogy of these air movements with those of war years is too sharp not to occasion fear. Will there be war? Could such an incredible event come to pass as a war for Berlin, fought between former allies who little more than three years ago were fighting together for the same city?

* * *

The situation is dangerous, but war, though not improbable, is impossible. Neither Britain nor Russia wants war, neither can afford it. And the United States, if it could afford it, does not want it. There must be peace, but—in a famous phrase — there must be peace with honour. The Western Powers must remain in Berlin, and insist on it as a right. They might make a reverse deal with Russia by removing from Berlin in exchange for getting Thuringia back again. (They had it by conquest in 1945, but as a part of the bargain of joint occupation of Berlin, Thuringia was given over to the Russians.) But that would not be peace with honour. Berlin has capital prestige. To withdraw from it would be weakness in German eyes. Further, one of the Russian reasons for demanding complete control in Berlin—the setting up of a West German state with a capital at Frankfurt—no longer exists. The western German Minister Presidents have themselves rejected the proposed union.

* * *

Seventy years ago war threatened between Russia and Britain. An old man went to Berlin in July of 1878, to a European Congress under the chairmanship of Bismarck. The old man stood firm in his demands, the Russians compromised. Agreement was reached. So the old Prime Minister—Disraeli, later Earl of Beaconsfield — brought back to England "peace with honour". Perhaps now in this July seventy years later another European Congress should assemble in Berlin, and another old man, also a great British Prime Minister, should go to Berlin and sternly present his country's demands. Perhaps he who had the vision of reality to cable the dying Roosevelt in 1945 urging that victorious American troops go on to take and occupy Berlin (alas, it was not done), could bring back peace with honour. For Winston Churchill knows the meaning of the phrase.

Candidates For Liberal Leadership: The Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe

The Rt. Hon. Clarence Decatur Howe, B.Sc., LL.D., is fifth on the alphabetical list of those mentioned as possible successors to Prime Minister Mackenzie King as leader of the Dominion Liberal Party. Mr. Howe, it is true, has virtually removed his name from the slate of possible candidates, but that does not mean his name will not come before the convention, and a discussion of the possible candidates would hardly be complete if it did not include one of the ablest Ministers ever to hold a Federal portfolio in the history of Canada.

Born at Waltham, Massachusetts, in 1886, Mr. Howe is a descendant of Hon. Joseph Howe, great Nova Scotia statesman who championed Maritime rights. He was educated in Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Coming to Canada in 1908, he became a naturalized citizen and was internationally famous as a consulting engineer when he was first elected to the Federal House of Commons in 1935 for the riding of Port Arthur.

Clarence Howe's brilliant executive and administrative gifts were applied to the service of the Dominion immediately after the election of 1935; they have served it with distinction ever since. He refashioned the old Department of Railways and Canals into the Department of Transport; his first major achievement was establishment of the National Harbours Board — a move for economy and efficiency acclaimed by Conservatives as well as Liberals. Other achievements under Mr. Howe's leadership were revision of the management and financial set-up of the Canadian National Railways; extension of the powers of the Transport Commissioners to cover shipping and air travel; reorganization of national broadcasting facilities, and establishment of Trans-Canada Air Lines.

All these were dwarfed by the magnificent record of the war-time Department of Munitions and Supply under the leadership of Mr. Howe. Starting practically from scratch, he led in the building of a national production machine which amazed and won the admiration of the Western Allies. The act which created the department virtually gave Mr. Howe the power of dictatorship over Canadian industry. It was never used, for his friendliness, his acknowledged industrial experience and his brilliant analyses of production needs early gained the full co-operation of Canadian industrialists and workers generally.

Mr. Howe is as tough physically as he is brilliant mentally. His rugged physique served him well on one occasion during the war years, when the liner Western Prince, on which he was a passenger, was torpedoed, and he spent a December day in an open boat on the North Atlantic. No orator, his speeches are fortright and concise, and he is formidable in debate. He is married, the father of five children, and is a member of the Church of England.

Spare The Rod?

Last week the principal of a public school in North Bay was convicted in police court of imposing excessive punishment on a 15-year-old boy. He was given a suspended sentence of a year. What is "excessive" punishment? In this case the teacher (a man) was punishing a boy big enough to frighten a woman teacher who had previously taught him. When the boy refused to hold out his hand the convicted teacher gave him eight or nine strokes across the buttocks. Up to this time, in the magistrate's opinion, the teacher's punishment was not excessive. Excess came when the teacher apparently lost his temper, seized the boy by the scruff of the neck and propelled him towards the the door, where the boy fell. It seems that as a result of this disciplinary action the boy had to be given hospital treatment.

We are not questioning the court's judgement in this case but would regret its occasioning a storm of protest against corporal punishment in our schools. School days are rule days, and not always golden rule days. Schooling is an unnatural process, frequently irksome to restless, vigorous children, but it is a required civilizing process. Discipline must be maintained. There are people who think that any corporal punishment is barbarous. They forget that teachers are dealing with young natural barbarians, some more barbarous than others.

"Moral suasion" is effective some of the time but not all the time. And moral suasion—persuading a pupil to be attentive, good and courteous because it is a good thing to "play the game" according to the rules—can be more cruel than a few short, sharp strokes of a strap or cane. The best teachers are not always the ones who smugly say, "I never have to use the strap". Sometimes a teacher who maintains discipline by dominating the class by will power or appealing sentimentally to a child's emotions, can be more harmful to a developing young personality than the teacher who upon occasion lays on the rod, not as a last resort but as a preferable measure.

Maintaining good discipline in schools is a vexing problem. The war and post-war home conditions have made it more difficult. It is possible to spare the rod and spoil the child. A teacher can damage a child more by rasping his soul with sneering sarcasm or sniping at his heart with mawkish emotion than by some efficiently aimed strokes which warm the well-padded buttocks that Nature has conveniently provided for chastisement.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The city of Toronto has postponed its war on rats, on the ground that the rats leave the city in the summer. That's the kind of crack we would never dare to make in a small city like this.

A contemporary complains that new bathing suit designs leave the men out. They leave quite a lot of the girl out, too.

An M.P. says that Canada's representatives abroad "should be able to talk wheat, potatoes, bacon, fruit, cheese, fish and furs". He picks up such notions as this in Parliament, which is full of old fruits talking cheese. What we really need abroad are some fellows who know how to talk turkey.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Our readers are invited to send questions, either of general interest or related to local lore, to this column.

WHAT are the red and white poles in waters like Buckhorn Lake used for?

ANSWER: They are used by gulls and fishermen, apparently for the same purpose, viz., to keep a look-out for fish. The gulls perch, the fisherman parks (no meter fee). The gulls stain them, the fishermen strain them. They are really buoys to mark the safe navigation channel. There are few white ones remaining in the Trent system, for the white are being repainted black. This is to bring the colours into conformity with international buoying regulations. Therefore, soon all the buoys will be either black or red. They are usually cedar timbers anchored to blocks of concrete. If the water is so deep that the buoy cannot be anchored, no buoy is needed. The rule of the water-road is: Keep black to the left going up. If you can see the poles but do not know which way is upstream, stop and ask a tadpole as it floats past.... I, like my questioner, have carefully used the word 'pole', for fear of slipping up on my pronunciation of 'buoy'. Really it is easy, being the same as the young human male—not 'boo-oi". If you do not pronounce the 'u' in 'buoyant' and 'life-buoy', why try to do it in 'buoy'? The word comes from the Latin 'boia', a chain.

QUESTION: Was Sir Wilfrid Laurier a dandy, and vain about his personal appearance?

ANSWER: Sir Wilfrid was a handsome man. Sir John Willison, his biographer, gives this fulsome description: ". . . a face luminous, mobile and responsive to all the human emotions; ample stature, erect, commanding and finely proportioned; a head like a sculptor's model, once crowned with a wealth of luxuriant wavy locks; ease and freedom of movement which suggested perfect physical development". Laurier was not the man to neglect such prodigal gifts of nature, and was conscious of their value in his political career. He dressed with scrupulous care, and on electioneering tours across the country took his valet with him. Whenever and wherever his train stopped, no matter how small or wild-western the community, it was not a secretary or cabinet colleague who had the last word with him before he stepped to the train or station platform; it was his valet. No dandruff was allowed to mar his elegence, no hair was unpicturesquely out of place in his crown of glory. Dandy? Vanity? Good politics and good grooming. He had no beard to die, like Lord Palmerston, but white of egg might have been used to give lustre to his silken locks.

WHAT exactly is the difference between 'horseplay' and 'horsing around'?

ANSWER: I cannot say exactly. 'Horseplay' is standard English, 'horsing around' current slang. It is curious that 'horsing around' has come into use in horseless carriage days, and not in horse-and-buggy times, though horsing around is a species of horseplay associated with night mares. It includes another current animal term 'wolfing'. Here is an example of horseplay in Peterborough's wild-and-woolly eighties. Ben Shortly's harness shop on George Street (where Woolworth's now is) was a well-known establishment; many readers will remember the model of a horse that served as its entrance sign. One spring two young apprentices were sent up to the roof of the three-storey building to shovel off the snow. They decided to have fun, rolled a big snowball two feet in diameter and poised it at the edge waiting for a victim to pass below on the street. One came; they aimed, but—fortunately for the pedestrian—the snowball fell in front of him. However, it landed with such force that it gouged a big hole in the board sidewalk (George Street was then not paved) and the man who was spared death by a crack on the skull stepped into the hole only to injure his leg. I do not know if this incident brought warnings of hell-fire from the pulpits the next Sunday, but it did bring reprimands to the two apprentices.

IS it illegal for a man to kill himself?

ANSWER: Yes, suicide while of sound mind is illegal according to our British criminal law, and a person who has attempted suicide and failed to achieve success is liable to arrest and punishment. Suicide ("felo de se") may even entail penalties against the deceased's estate. In only a few states of the U.S.A. is suicide a criminal act. Church canon also frowns upon suicide. In French Canada the combination of ecclesiastical and secular law made suicide in early days a particularly serious offence. Under French-Canadian law the offender's possessions were confiscated by the Crown and the culprit's body dragged, face downwards, through the public thoroughfare. Suicide victims were denied a Christian burial during our pioneer days, and were buried at crossroads. The last recorded suicide to meet this fate, Amery Girod, who took part in the rebellion of 1837, was buried at the corner of Guy and Sherbrooke Streets in Montreal.

FOR THE RECORD: The strawberry season ended in the first week of July. The crop was plentiful. At the height of the season the berries sold at 25 cents a quart basket, though they could be had in several stores on one or two days for 19 cents. Berry-pickers were generally paid four cents a box for picking. This contrasts with the cent a box paid for picking in the depression years (mid-1930's). The retail price of strawberries was then, in full season, three boxes for a quarter. Strawberries are called by that name because of the likeness of the plant's runners to straw.

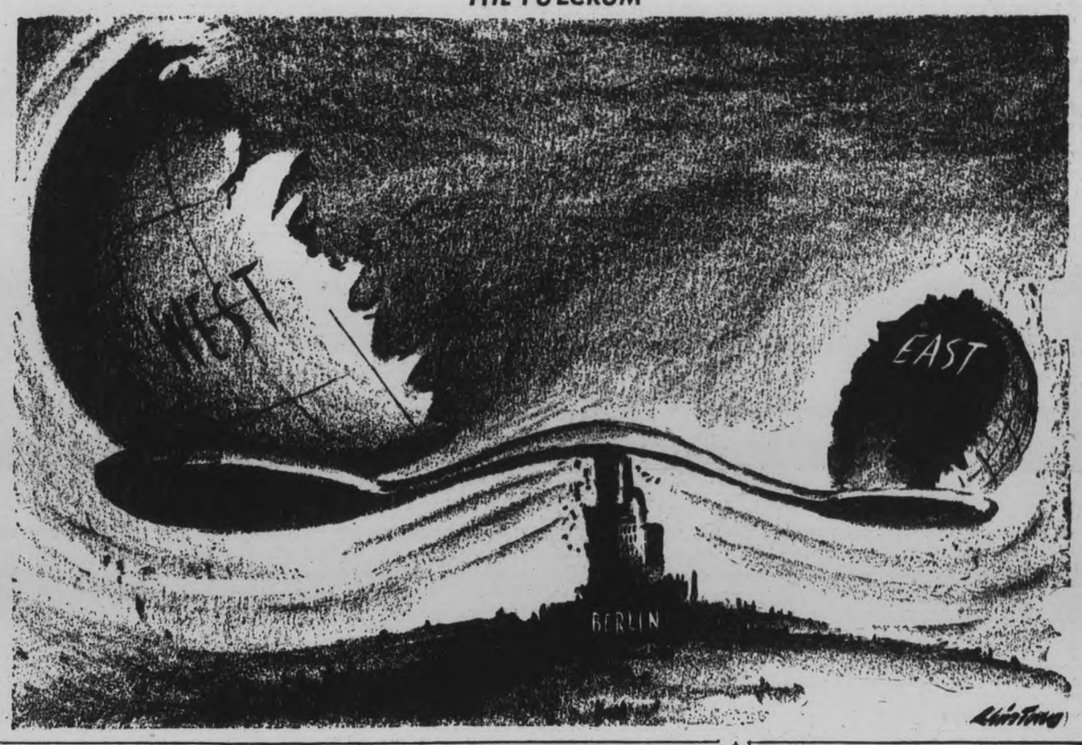
THE FULCRUM



A Saint In India

(MANCHESTER GUARDIAN)

INDIA has had three great saints in the last generation: Gandhi, Aurobhindo Ghose, and Maharishi Raman. Every superlative saint is an individualist and cannot run true to any fixed type. Outstanding saints are therefore less characteristic of India than are the smaller fry with which India has abounded from earliest times and still abounds today.

It is hard to travel fifty miles in Rajputana or in parts of South India without seeing the glimmer of one of these lesser lights. I was introduced to a minor saint in a Rajput city by one of his followers, who began by explaining the sheer usefulness of his spiritual master. It seemed that he acted as a kind of reincarnated St. Anthony of Padua. Anything that was lost he could without difficulty locate and put the owner on its track. He did this by divination. It was this capacity which had first attracted the interest of his particular disciple. He spoke of the saint with the same mixture of pride in possession and anxiety which an Indian often shows towards some object which he has acquired because fashion borrowed from the West has made it desirable but about which he feels nervous, such as a pedigree dog or a racing motor-car.

The saint was a Moslem, but had even more Hindu disciples than Moslems. This was not unusual in the quieter parts of India, at least until the explosion of last year. What has happened since then to Islamic saints in Hindu India it will be interesting to discover. He was said to have been a great Persian scholar and to know all the Sufi poets, but he had long since given up reading. Where he was born nobody knew for certain, nor was there any surprise that different disciples made quite different assertions about his origin. He was only a minor saint and his celebrity did not extend very far, but at this time his prestige had risen suddenly. This was because the Prime Minister of the state had taken him up and was sending all the state guests to visit him. Saints were a good advertisement for a state, a pleasant change from the usual round of sights, the mediaeval fortress, the new palace built about the time of Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee, the model prison, and the state distillery.

The saint lived in a trim little hut near the colony of railwaymen. He was looked after by his son. The first room of the cottage was full of shelves on which there were rows of souvenirs given by the faithful and their photographs and also a number of paper calendars with pictures, rather surprising for a saint's household. Outside was a small garden with a light-green lattice. The saint received his visitors in a much plainer inner room. There the only ornaments were two alarm clocks. The saint, when I visited him, was lying on a string couch. He was suffering from rheumatism and looked old and ill and rather neglected. He knew no English, and his son interpreted. He made the surprising remark that India was turning away from religion and the next great religious movement of mankind would come from the West. This would have caused a stir among Hindu listeners. But he was little interested in general conversation. Neither did he have any religious instruction to give. He assumed that we had come to be benefited and was anxious to convey his benefaction quickly. He asked us to write down the names of so. Dr. Martin Schwarzschild of Princeton this he gave much importance—the places where they lived. His son took charge of the papers when we had written the names and assured us that it would now go better with our friends. The saint had no more to say to us and withdrew his interest so perceptibly that we knew ourselves dismissed. He took no notice of our departure. The last we heard was the light groaning of the old man racked by his rheumatism.

This saint hardly gave out any emanations of spiritual power. Yet he was certainly a respectable member of his class. If he had taken alms too readily there would have been gossip even though the alms had been given nevertheless. Unlike the lower type of Moslem holy man, he sold no charms to his followers. Even against his son no word was spoken, though the keepers of holy men in India are usually as venal as the Pope's relatives in the Middle Ages. But though this saint was not predatory it was hard to discover what satisfaction he brought his disciples, what balm or spiritual solace, other than to find their lost property, which they rightly regarded as the least valuable of his spiritual powers.

The Stars Then and Now

ONE of the mysteries of astrophysics is the "red shift" of the light that comes to us from nebulae on the outskirts of the known universe, two hundred million and more light-years away. By "red shift" the astrophysicist means that all the lines of the spectrum are moved toward the red by an amount which increases with the distance. The relativists compare the phenomenon with a locomotive whistle, which, as everybody knows, howls down as it rushes away at high speed. So with the distant nebulae. They howl down toward the red or low "notes" of the spectrum because they are speeding away at a speed which increases with distance and which in extreme cases amounts to 24,000 miles a second. If this shift to the red is real we have tangible evidence that the universe is blowing up like a soap bubble.

But is the evidence as good as it seems to be? At the recent joint meeting of the American Astronomical Society and the Astronomical Society of the Pacific, Drs. Joel Stebbins and Albert E. Whitford announced that direct measurements of the light from nebulae 200,000,000 light-years distant did not confirm the simple arithmetical increase of redness with distance. The outer nebulae are two and a half times as red as they seem to be spectroscopically. Various hypotheses have been suggested to account both for the red shift as well as the discovery of Stebbins and Whitford.

First of all, we have the theory that as it speeds toward the earth light loses energy—wearies, so to speak. The original red rays dropped by the wayside ages ago, and only the more intense blue and violet rays survive to appear red through sheer loss of energy. There is no experimental proof that this is so. Or. Martin Schwarzschild of Princeton suggests that we are looking at distant nebulae as they appeared two hundred million years ago and hence at an earlier stage of their evolution. If there are not many giant red bodies near the earth it is because they burned themselves out rapidly, so that we see them more or less as they are now. In the course of two hundred million years bodies undoubtedly have changed. We are looking at galaxies as they were long before dinosaurs appeared on the earth—galaxies that then contained red super-giants.

That the universe is not static, that the stars have changed as geological eras passed, every astrophysicist is certain. But how is he to support his conviction with unassailable evidence? The 200-inch Hale telescope of Palomar Mountain may not give us the complete answer, but it will certainly put some of the current theories to the test. The universe is in need of an astrophysical Darwin—a man who can see relationships to which the rest of us are blind.—New York Times.

Warning Salmon

THE salmon may not listen, of course, when the Navy speaks to them through its underwater loudspeakers, but we like the spirit behind the project anyhow. Fish life along the Columbia River is not what it used to be, apparently, since all those dams, turbines and spillways were built, and it takes an unusually discerning salmon to know its way about.

The thousands that don't know their way get killed in the hydro-electric monsters, without even the dignity of being caught and canned for a gourmet's table. The Fish and Wildlife Service, which is feeling somewhat contrite about it all, has asked Navy scientists to try guiding the fish to safer routes with underwater messages.

This is only fair. Every salmon has the right to expect a river of dark pools and cool waters, uncluttered by the stark equipment of modern engineering. The new dams have fish ladders and elevators, it is true, but it's asking a lot of any fish to use these conveniences instinctively on its first trip.

For this reason it is the younger salmon that have suffered most. With the overconfidence of youth they have plunged carelessly into midstream, little suspecting that they would be gulped by a turbine in their first brush with the outside world. We are glad the Wildlife Service realizes that they should not be penalized for their early enthusiasm.—New York Herald-Tribune.

To Keep the Boys in Line

TORONTO'S Communist weekly, the Tribune, apparently is having circulation trouble—subscribers, we gather, are showing reluctance to renew their subscriptions, and 2,000 are expiring between now and October.

In an effort to meet this situation the Tribune has set up a circulation committee under the chairmanship of no other than Tim Buck, leader of Canadian Communists. In the new scheme the management of the paper regularly sends this committee lists of subscribers who have failed to renew and the committee takes the recalcitrants in hand. "In most cases," says the Tribune, subscribers can be persuaded to renew "when visited personally." The editor of the paper, who is a member of the committee, says he has visited several ex-readers who had not renewed—"in each case there was a reasonable explanation as to why they had failed to do so by mail."

Presumably extreme cases get the personal attention of Mr. Buck—we are looking forward to a visit from him when our own subscription to the Tribune expires—Ottawa Journal.

Lambeth Palace

LAMBETH Palace was struck hard and often during the war. In 1941 fire bombs burned half the magnificent hammer-beam roof of Juxon's great hall and many of its bookcases. Last year it still lay derelict. Today it is restored to its original condition.

Not only the structure has been restored but also the intricate carving of the roof. The original oak has been cleaned and the new oak left in its natural state; they cannot be distinguished. The floor level is as it was in Juxon's day, and the old dais has been restored.

The interior has, if anything, been improved, and the exterior, too; for the tiles with which the roof has been hung blend better with the brickwork than the slates of the early part of last century.—Manchester Guardian.

100 Students Try Living On Tablets Only

By JOAN CAPREOL

LONDON, July 23 (Reuters).—In a castle "somewhere near London" 100 male medical students at the end of this month will live for five days and five nights on tablets only. These tablets may ultimately alleviate famines.

The students, all between 23 and 30, will be participating in a nutritional research test under supervision of a medical board headed by Britain's top doctors, surgeons and pathologists who wish to remain anonymous.

Dr. Hellmuth Heitz, London research chemist who has been experimenting with his tablets since 1931, said they constitute a new development in nutritional research.

"We are sure they will become in due course an important element in the efforts made to combat disease and starvation if and where they are brought about by natural causes," Dr. Heitz said.

The brown tablets, weighing one-third of an ounce, contain vitamins, minerals, carbohydrates, proteins and thirst-quenching chemicals. They may be used as emergency rations during shipwreck or siege.

The Students, leading an active life in the 50 acres of timbered parkland surrounding the "secret" castle, will undergo daily medical examiantions and muscle power tests. Intelligence tests will show whether the diet is causing mental strain.

"The students will get a little variety at their meals," Dr. Heitz says. "The tablets are lemon, banana, caramel orange, pineapple and chop suey flavor. The chop suey one took me weeks to get. But they will all have the same ingredients."

Twenty of the students will try to fast completely for five days. Their condition at the end of the test will be compared to the others to judge the food value of the tablets.

HELSINKI, July 23.—(AP).—Finland's political leaders prepared for the formation of a new government today following the resignation of Premier Mauno Pekkala. DIVORCE IS NO SOLUTION

Divorce is NOT an open gateway to happiness, for "you can never be wholly free of someone you once loved," says Nina Wilcox Putnam, twice divorced herself. In August Reader's Digest, this famous writer (now happily married) discusses the causes of divorce and shows what tragic mistakes most divorces are. NOW ON NEWSSTANDS

SCENE OF SIX drownings on the Ottawa River is this broken Bailey Bridge which linked Rolphton, Ont., and Des Joachims, Que. The victims, engaged on a $57 million project of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission, were working on the top span Wednesday when it suddenly collapsed, throwing them into the fast-flowing water.

Will Develop Natural Resources More Rapidly, Gardiner Pledge

OTTAWA, July 23 — (CP) — Agriculture Minister Gardiner, who already has announced his candidacy for the Liberal leadership, made public Thursday his personal program for stepping up Canadian development should he achieve the prime ministership of Canada.

The government should, he said in an interview, be "pushing ahead" with development of natural resources "as rapidly as possible."

"We should not be leaving so many development projects on the shelf, as we have been doing, as a backlog for a possible trade and employment recession here or elsewhere in the world.

He then outlined a 10-point program calling for greater immigration, decentalization of industry n Quebec and Ontario, continuaton of social security policies, a country-wide system of national highways and policies to stimulate trade.

He is expected to expand the outline of the platform when he speaks, probably on an agricultural resolution, at the national Liberal convention here Aug. 5, 6 and 7 where the successor to retiring Prime Minister Mackenzie King will be chosen.

Outlines Platform

His platform includes the following points:

1. More aggressive development of Canada's natural resources, with government aid if necessary, through greater processing in this country of raw materials which now are exported.

2. Less centralization of industry in Ontario and Quebec and more equitable distribution of industry throughout other parts of the Dominion through a $150,000,000 program for the harnessing of water power sources and the greater utilization of iron and coal deposits.

3. An aggressive immigration policy which would double the country's population by 1963 on an increasing scale of 500,000 to 1,000,000 a year during the next 10 years.

4. A program of spending $150,000,000 over a period of years on the storage and utilization of water in Western Canada for expanded agricultural purposes.

5. Continuation of social security policies, including a contributory old age pension plan at 65 years of age and a national health insurance scheme.

Highway Development

6. Dominion Government expenditure on a system of national highways to complete construction at an early date of a modern highway from coast to coast with strategic north-south feeder highways linking up with United States roads. This would promote U.S. tourist trade as well as domestic motor traffic.

7. Development of Canada's fishing industry on inland fresh water lakes, including the Great Lakes and deep cold water lakes in northern sections of the Dominion.

8. Active policies to enlarge and balance Canada's three-way export and import trade with the United Kingdom and the United States.

9. The building of a greater number of ships following expansion of Canada's steel production.

10. A foreign policy of integrating trade, defence and other policies more closely with Britain and other Commonwealth countries—while continuing to cooperate with the U.S.

Butchers Contend Whale Isn't Meat

VICTORIA, B.C., July 23 (CP)—Some butchers here challenge the scientific classification of whales as mammals and insist that they are fish.

Sale of whale steaks in city shops as a substitute for beef and other meats caused the butchers to deny the biological classification. They argue that whales live in the sea and that makes them fish.

"I'm not against sale of whale," one butcher said, "but I won't handle it. I'm going to let the fish dealers sell it — that's where it belongs."

Another contended: "Whale meat is not meat at all. I don't know what you'd call it — but it isn't meat."

A few meat shop proprietors, however, sided with the biologists that whale meat is meat.

"Sure I'm selling it and it seems to be going over well," said one. "My customers seem to like the idea of getting no bone."

Ex-Advertising Man Thomas Dick Dead

REGINA, July 22—(CP).—A former advertising manager of the Moose Jaw Times-Herald, 39-year-old Thomas L. Dick, died in a Regina hospital Wednesday.

He went to Galt at an early age from Scotland and rose to foreman of the Galt Reporter composing room. Later he entered the advertising department and became assistant publisher.

He came to Moose Jaw in 1946 and had been ill since October.

A noted marathon runner, Mr. Dick had raced at Toronto and Boston.

Survivors include his widow and two sons of Moose Jaw, his mother at Galt, and brothers William, at Kitchener, and Robert at Toronto. Funeral services will be held at Galt.

Films On Canada

NEW YORK, July 23.—(CP).—"Neighbor to the North," a 14-minute newsreel pertaining to Canada and Canadian life, will be released simultaneously today in Canada and the United States. The producers sought the co-operation of Canadian authorities in making the film — part travelogue, part documentary and part editorial—which deals with one of the dominant economic facts of the post-war era, Canada's dollar shortage.

Cree Children To Attend $100,000 School

MOOSONEE, July 23—(CP)—A new $100,000 public school is ready to teach new habits of living to 90 boys and girls, most of them Cree Indians, in this remote Northern Ontario community 200 miles north of Cochrane.

Premier Drew, as Ontario Minister of Education, Thursday officially opened the five-room Quonset school which stands at the end of the Ontario Northland Railway, only a few miles south of the point where the broad Moose River empties into James Bay.

Under the fluorescent lights of its well-equipped domestic science room, Indian girls will learn nutrition and cooking which later may lead to improved family health standards.

Indian boys will take carpentry and woodworking courses in the manual training department. When grown to manhood they will be able to build houses and cabins to replace the tents in which most of the Cree families now live all year 'round.

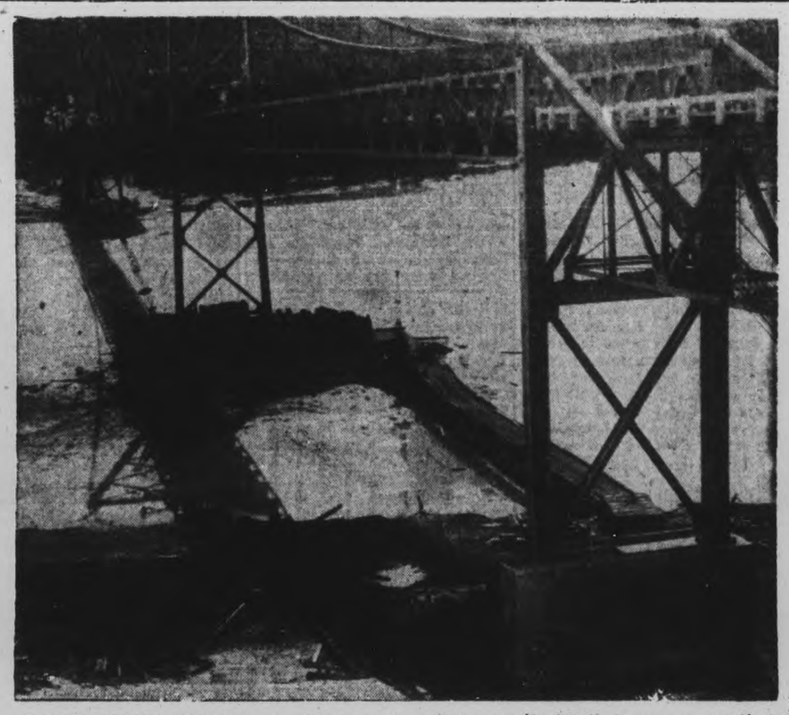
Some students who live outside Moosonee will come to school, by canoe in summer and dog team in winter. At the school they will be fed four cups of milk daily as well as biscuits and cod liver oil and in winter they will receive hot meals.

Hard Task

"Education here is not an easy problem," Premier Drew told the crowd of district residents, Indian and white, at the opening cermonies. "A very large percentage of the pupils who will attend this school will be Cree Indians and they will be frequently moving with their parents to trapping grounds."

The curriculum would be expanded and adapted to give every child in the area an opportunity for a proper education. Many pupils would understand only Cree and would have to be taught English before they could enter regular classes.

The school was built by the Ontario Northland Transportation Commission, with the cost borne by the Ontario Department of Education.



PILE DRIVING STARTS on coffer-dam to prevent collapse of Peace River bridge, vital link in the Alaska Highway. This was opening round of fight to prevent north pier from sinking into gravel on which it was built in wartime emergency move, rather than on shale 15 feet further down.

Report 4th Murder

TIFFIN, O., July 23.—(AP).—James Smith, 25, a farmer, was shot and killed Thursday night by two men who stopped his automobile about two miles north of here. Sheriff John Steinmetz saaid "it undoubtedly was the work of the same fellows wanted for the slaying of the Manfield reformatory farm superintendent, his wife and their daughter."

BA and Knights Gain Wins Over Legion and Comstock's

B-A beat Legion 7-3 as Knights edged Comstock's 8-7 before a big crowd at the Bowl last night to scramble things up further near the tail-end of the City Softball League schedule. It was discovered that an error had been made in drawing up a schedule calling for 22 games each, instead of 24, so two more double-headers have been added. Thus, while three teams are tied for first, no team has yet clinched a playoff spot, and none is out of the running yet. They may go again Saturday night.

Ken Guilfoyle fanned 11, giving nine hits, in a nice slab showing, in the B-A Victory. He had perfect support. Dalton gave but seven hits, but had poor backing. Borland led the winners at bat with a triple and single in four, while Blewett homered and Pryde had a double. Lewis led the Legionnaires with two for three, as Withers—going in late—got one for one. Lewis had a homer and Pagett also banged out a four-bagger. A Legion twin killing was a fielding feature of a snappy game. The box score:

Tight One

While the second game was long and loose, it was exciting enough as the scrappy Knights fought back in the late innings to jerk out the nod. They drove for seven runs in the seventh and got the winner next heat on a double by Woods, a wild pitch and a fly Crowley relieved Woods in the fourth and got the win, while Wilson took over in the ninth from Harrison. Crowley led the winners at bat with two for three, while Anderson, Mackness and Cournyea topped Comstock's. Homers were hit by Tompkins, Garvey, Mackness and McCarthy. O'Heron had a triple, while Jaquith got two doubles, and Mackness, Sullivan, Crowley and Woods one each. Nice catches were pulled off by Ralph, O'Heron, Jaquith and Mackness The box score:

Pat Macken Has Edge In Tournament

OTTAWA, July 23.—(CP). — With the Ontario championsip final matches scheduled for tomorrow, the last batch of hectic preliminaries was played today at Ottawa's Rideau Club. Throughout the week-long tournament, experience has paid off handsomely. But the top-notchers have had close calls.

The toughest loss Thursday was that suffered by Mrs. Louise Brown of Toronto. She had the first-seeded Pat Macken of Montreal 5-1 in the third set of a best-of-three semi-final. It was match-point numerous times but the steady play of Miss Macken edged the contest gradually to a 62, 3-6, 8-6 finale.

Mrs. Brown was not inclined to talk about it afterward—and few blamed her.

In the men's singles top-seeded Don McDiarmid of Ottawa played gruelling tennis with Don Hawley of Newark, N.J., in a match which lasted three hours. McDiarmid won, 10-8, 3-6, 6-3.

Most surprising mtach of the day saw Yves Sarra-Bournet, an Ottawan who generally shows at his worst in tournament play, score a 36, 6-3, 6-3 upset victory over Jack Hopkins, Toronto city champion.

Another surprise came when Miriam Rainboth of Ottawa, took a junior finals set from Pat Lowe of Ottawa, the pick of Canadian junior. Miriam lost, 6-1, 4-6, 6-0, but by taking the middle set she placed herself among future junior champion stock.

Just 15, with three years to play in the junior bracket, she outshone Miss Lowe in that one set.

Grafton Victors

Grafton's won from Nicholls' Cartage 4-2 last night at King Edward Park to make it two wins in their three out of five playoff series. Hall for Grafton's and Moss for Nicholls' Cartage were the pitchers. Both pitchers went well, allowing few hits, and each had four walks chalked up against them.

Babe's Place and Bell Telephone meet Monday evening for their third game, each team having won one so far. Grafton's meet Nicholls' Cartage again Tuesday night at King Edward Park. The game will start at 6.30 sharp.

Teams:

Grafton's—Jamison ss, Livingston c, Byers cf, Riches lf, Taylor 1b, Conroy 3b, Hall p, Sheehy 2b, Lake rf, McGillis rf.

Nicholls Cartage—Thorburn 1b, O'Toole 3b, Nicholls ss, Condon 2b, Hill c, Heffernan lf, Richmond cf, Plumpton rf, Moss p.

Canadians Do Well

CLAYTON, N.Y., July 23.—(CP).—Canadian yachts made their presence felt during Thursday's inaugural events of the three-day annual Lake Yacht Racing Association regatta. Canadian Craft placed well in the opening two races of the lightning class. C. J. Whitehead of the Queen City Yacht Club, Toronto, finished fifth and W. White, of the Royal Hamilton Yacht Club, Hamilton, seventh.

THE LOWER AND UPPER HOUSES of the Japanese Diet buried the hatchet in politics while they competed in their annual baseball game in Hibiya Park, Tokyo. Minister of Commerce and Industry C. Mizutani, who is at bat, swings and misses for a thir dstrike. Behind the plate is Senator Hoshino, whose brother is now awaiting a verdict from the international military tribunal for the Far East as a war criminal. The Lower House, having more younger members, trimmed the Upper House by a score of 17 to 7.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Huntsville and the Petes have at each other tonight—in a manner of speaking—at nine p.m. in Miller Bowl, an OLA senior "B" scheduled fixture. The undefeated Creighton crew will be out to keep that record intact, and the visitors will no doubt throw everything they have into it. Made it too close for comfort their last clash, but they'll have to be hotter than a hula's heels to take the locals on their own pitch. A good game, likely, before a big crowd. We hear the senior "A" leaders, Owen Sound, will play the Petes an exhibition here on Civic Holiday, bringing along the full squad—including Gillespie and Slater, top scorers in the group.

* * * * * *

Howie Macdonald tells us that Ruth McKee has entered in the Ontario tennis tourney ladies' singles and the mixed doubles (with Neil Mackenzie), starting in Toronto shortly. Quaker Oats club championship draw is being made now. Over 80 racquet-wielders have been at it regularly on the Quaker courts this warm weather. In the Kawartha Tennis League, Quakers defeated Cobourg 7-0 the other night here to wind up the schedule. Though a Lindsay-Cobourg postponement may be picked up yet. Quakers finished first, with Lindsay next, then Kawartha and Cobourg last. Top two clubs go shortly in home-and-home matches for the league championship.

Batawa and Petes

Batawa Shoemen tangle with the senior Petes at three tomorrow aft in Riverside, an important COBL contest. The men o' Murphy are but half a game ahead of Batawa now in the league lead and can either take a tight grip on top spot or drop back into the second slot. Probably Bill Edger will hurl and it could be that Gordie Muffitt might go right back against the Petes, having beaten 'em his last two starts. Throws a lovely sharp hook and has control. The local team is idle all next week till Oshawa comes here on Saturday. Which suits them okay. Tomorrow's tilt will pack them in.

* * * * * *

Girls' games tonight at the Bowl, weather being okay, are: Woollens vs. Westclox at seven, followed by Lock Co. vs. Lakefield here. And Monday has Westclox and Lindsay here as the schedule concludes. Unless the odd postponement has to be run off. We haven't yet heard the playoff setup, there being a senior sawoff, an intermediate dog-eat-dog, and the junior scramble. Senior winner will go into PWSU intermediate playdowns, and juniors hit the junior trail. Plans proceed for a big exhibition girls' fray locally on Aug. 6 between the Cleveland colleens and Toronto Sunday Morning Class. Of which, more again.

Schedule Not O'er

At the Bowl last eve, B-A beat Legion 7-3 and Knights won from Comstock's 8-7 in men's softball. You think that winds it up? Not at all. On account of the league executive discovered that the schedule was incomplete. It called for 22 games for each team, whereas it should have been 24. So, along with a postponed twin bill, it means three more double-headers are necessary to finish it up. An unfortunate error in drawing up the schedule, but those things will happen. It would never have been noticed but for the tightness of the race. As it stands now, no team has clinched a playoff spot and no one is out of it yet. Look at the standing—in elsewhere—and see how tight it is. Some talk of a Saturday double-header, but many players say they won't be here for it, on account of holidays. Don't blame them.

* * * * * *

Guilfoyle, getting back in form, pitched nice ball for B-A, though Dalton also threw a good game, but Legion were quite loose in the field and kicked the apple around. Borland and Lewis were the best hitters. The other scrap was slow and loose, but quite exciting as Knights came from behind to yank out the verdict. Both sides used two twirlers, and you've got to give Knights credit for their showing of late, after some poor playing a few weeks ago. It's developed into a real battle all the way, and the crowds are growing (and going) for them.

Mrs. Ben Is Grateful

A large crowd saw the soccer exhibition last evening, with the classy Downer family team nosing out a 3-2 decision over the good CGE-ers. Two referees used, and bleachers for the first time. A right interesting tilt and Mrs. Ben McMaster is most grateful to both clubs, to those who donated prizes and to everyone who made this Ben McMaster benefit match such a success. O'Halloran's play Lindsay in Omemee tonight at 6.30, opening a new sports' field there. And Kingston will be here for the return fixture with Legion on the Civic Holiday field program.

Downer Team Wins 3-2 Against CGE

One of the largest crowds to seen a soccer game here in years last night witnessed the Ben McMaster benefit match at King Edward Park, when the Downer family team defeated CGE 3-2. H. Downer was brilliant in goal for the winners. This was the first time a two-referee system was in force here. After the game 15 prizes were given out.

It was good playing during the first part and it required 15 minutes for a score. Welland evaded defence neatly to swing the ball over to Attard, who bulged the net with a nice one. Toward the interval, the Downer front line moved smartly into CGE territory with G. Downer passing to left-winger J. Downer on the run, and he slammed a rocket drive out of reach of the Electrics' custodian to make the count 1-1.

After the rest, they opened fast again and CGE soon scored on an individual run by Strong. A bit later, D. Downer evened it up through a spot kick. Welland was conspicuous with his dribbling and shooting, and H. Foster had to hustle to save. The Downer team began punting right up centre to cause a series of scrimmages in front of the goal and it was from one of these that Art Downer scored the winner. CGE drove hard after that but could not even it up. The teams:

Downer Family—H. Foster, Jr., goal; T. Foster, Jr., and Alfred Downer, full backs; K. Downer, Dalton Downer and Eldon Downer, half backs; H. Foster, Newton Downer, Arthur Downer, George Downer, and Jack Downer, forwards. Subs, William Downer, Donald Downer and T. Foster, Sr. Managers—Jack Downer, Sr. and William Downer, Sr. Asa Downer acted as referee.

Canadian General—J. Greenhorn, goal; S. McGann and F. Booth, full backs; H. Steele, R. Wilson and W. Wilson, half backs; R. Strong, E. Cotton, F. Attard, J. Welland and C. Murduff, forwards. Sub, T. Craig.

Quakers Rub Out Westclox Squad

Quakers last night eliminated Westclox 19-14 at Quaker Park in their Industrial Softball League playoff series. It was a free-hitting game, with Quaker blows more timely in the early innings to roll up the count. Shine, who relieved Horton on the winners' mound had nine strikeouts, as Guerin fanned three but walked nine. Hay and Dixon of Quakers each had four hits, while homers were smacked out by Dixon (with two), Fisher and Shina. McDonald led the losers at bat with four safeties. The teams:

Westclox: Watson, 3b; Heffernan, 1b; Thompson, lf; Guerin, p; McDonald, cf; McMasters, rf; Guerin, ss; Stanger, 2b; Ferguson, ss.

Dimaggio's Heavy Homer Gives Yankees 6-5 Edge

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Four clubs are battling for the American league pennant but two teams, Cleveland and New York, are making all the money.

The Indians and Yankees are headed for a new all-time attendance mark of 850,000 and more than $1,000,000 for their 22-game inter-club series.

Thursday night's turnout of 68,258 New Yorkers, who watched Joe DiMaggio's grand slam homer give the Yanks a 6-5 edge over the Indians, was the third largest to watch the teams struggle.

They packed in 78,431 for a Sunday doubleheader at Cleveland May 23 and drew 68,586 for a June 12 Saturday doubleheader in New York.

DiMaggio's home run—his 21st of the year—backed up by a splendid relief performance on the part of Tommy Byrne sent Bobby Feller down to his 12th loss. Once again, as in every start since the all-star fuss, Feller was soundly booed by the customers.

Philadelphia's A's took advantage of Cleveland's misfortune to advance to within half a game of the lead by nosing out St. Louis in 12 innings, 8-7. Hank Majeski's single with the bases loaded and two out turned the trick against Al Widmar. Lou Brissie hurled hitless ball for 5 2-3 innings to earn credit for his 10th victory.

Take Twin Bill

The big noise of the American league again was provided by the on-rushing Boston Red Sox who won another doubleheader, stretching their string to eight straight.

Vern Stephens, high-priced shortstop purchased from St. Louis during the winter, hammered homers in each game to humble Chicago White Sox. Denny Galehouse shut out Chicago with five hits, 3-0, in the first game. Ellis Kinder gave the White Sox eight hits in taking the second 5-3, with Stephens knocking in three runs.

The double victory boosted the Red Sox past the Yankees into third place, their highest position of the year and only two games out of the lead.

Detroit fell below .500 again, bowing to Washington 9-8 in 12 innings after scoring six runs in the first frame. Hal Newhouser couldn't hold that generous early lead as the Senators rallied.

Rained Out

Boston's National league lead was boosted to 6½ games when the Braves were rained out at Cincinnati and Brooklyn lost to Chicago Cubs.

Johnny Schmitz beat the Dodgers for the fourth time this year 6-3, although nicked for 10 hits Bill Nicholson's 13th homer and big hits by Andy Pafko and Peanuts Lowrey cost Hank Behrman his second setback.

St. Louis Cardinals and New York Giants split a pair. Sheldon Jones outpitched Murry Dickson for a Giant 6-3 edge in the opener but the Cards came from behind to take the final in 11 innings, 7-6.

Pittsburgh trimmed Philadelphia Phillies 5-3 in the opener but wound up in a 1-1 tie in the second game that was stopped by rain after five innings. Ralph Kiner's 27th homer was the only Pirate run in the tie game.

97 Winners Down

INGLEWOOD, Calif., July 23—(AP) — Ninety-seven winners down and three to go. That was Johnny Longden's Hollywood Park record after he booted home Thursday another pair, Minstrel Boy and Nursery School. The former Taber, Alta., jockey, 1947 United States champion, has set 100 victories as his goal for the 50-day meeting here. He has today and Saturday to go.

Seek Actress To Replace Cathy O'Donnell

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, July 23 (AP).—Samuel Goldwyn is seeking a young stage actress to replace Cathy O'Donnell as Farley Granger's team-mate.

Only a few weeks ago, Goldwyn was hailing the O'Donnell-Granger duo as his greatest love team since Vilma Banky and Rod Laroque. Then the executive and Miss O'Donnell encountered some difference of opinion and her contract was ended "by mutual agreement."

Marxes Mum

Harpo Marx tells me he and his brothers are making no statements about their retirement as a team after their current "My Blonde Heaven." That's 'something new for the boys, who are often forecasting their break-up. They will do a picture based on their lives after this one, and let's hope there'll be many more. Harpo says their changed attitude has something to do with a letter from their uncle, veteran actor Al Shean. He signed it, "82 — and still looking forward to next week."

Mighty Trim

Barbara Bel Geddes gets the glamor treatment in "The Luckiest Girl In The World," after playing adolescents. I saw her in a low-cut gown and $35,000 mink and she looks mighty trim . . .

Joel McCrea and Frances Dee head for Europe next Spring. He'll visit relatives in Scotland and scout picture possibilities.

Vic Mature was happy to learn he won't have to grow a mane for his Samson role. He'll have a falsie . . . Ayn Rand is preparing a book about the railroad industry. She treated the architectural in "The Fountainhead" . . .

Cattle Run Up 1,500 Head From July, 1947

TORONTO, July 23 — (CP).— A cattle run of 6,915 head on the Toronto Livestock Market this week was some 100 more than the previous week, 1,500 head more than for the same week in 1947. The prices were unchanged for good to choice butcher cattle, but few were offered. Common to medium grades were slow and draggy and finished 50 cents lower for the week.

Monday's cattle receipts were heavy as almost 4,000 cattle were pushed into the yards, but a large percentage of these were stockers and buyers found few choice weighty animals in the bunch. Good to choice quality were absent and by mid-week the buyers snapped up any good quality cattle they found at steady prices. Thursday saw little action on the market as buyers presumably waited for good quality cattle to be offered in next Monday's trading.

Cows found a ready market at prices steady last week, although at the close a weak undertone was felt. Bulls sold steady with a few sales reported stronger than last week's close. Fed yearlings closed strong with a top of $24 a hundredweight. Weighty steers sold from $18-$23.75. Last week's high was $23.50. Butcher steers sold from $19-$21.50. Heifers ranged from $16-$22 and good butcher cows sold from $15-$16, with light heifery cows up to $17 and common to medium downward to $12. Canners and cutters sold downward to $5.

Good butcher bulls sold from $14.50-$15.50, with a few up to $16 and common to medium bulls sold downward to $11. Fed yearlings sold strong at $20-$24. Ordinary quality milkers and springers sold from $100-$160 each. Grass cows sold from $9-$13 a hundredweight. Stockers sold steady with good quality selling from $15-$18 and commoner kinds downward to $12.

Calves totalled 2,229 head. Good to choice vealers opened steady at $21-$23, but mid-week saw the market slow with a top price of $23. Common to medium were draggy throughout the week and closed steady at $2.00 lower for the week selling downward to $12. Grass calves sold at $10-$12.

Hogs totalled 2,027 head. Prices remained steady throughout the week and closed unchanged. Grade A were $31.25, Grade B1 $30.85. Sows were $21 dressed.

Sheep and lambs were $1,373 head. Good spring lambs sold steady at $23 on a strong market. At the close of the market buyers still had unfilled orders. One dollar was discounted on bucks. Sheep sold up to $9 for good lightweights while culls and fat sheep were slow at $4-$6. Cull lambs sold at $16-$20.

Mining Man Recalls Finding Of Uranium

WINNIPEG, July 23 (CP). — The failure of a Manitoba gold mine led to the discovery of the first large deposits of uranium in Canada.

The man who made the discovery, 59-year-old Gilbert Labine of Toronto, president of Ogama Rockland gold mine, in Winnipeg for a visit, recollected the finding of the first large deposit of pitchblende.

Engaged on a prospecting trip, Mr. Labine, with his partner, Charles St. Paul, arrived on the frozen edge of Glacier Bay on Great Bear Lake, May 14, 1930.

On the morning of May 16, Mr. Labine investigated a small island in the bay and found the first uranium. All this happened, he said, because Eldorado Gold Mines Ltd., which was founded in 1925, did not come up to expectations, and permission of shareholders was given for the acquisition of new properties.

Take Ship Off Reef

PORT COLBORNE, July 23.— (CP).— Capt. R. Scitt Misener, general manager of Sarnia and Colonial Steamship Companies, said Thursday arrangements have been made for the removal of the freighter Milverton from a reef in the St. Lawrence river near Iroquois, Ont., about 30 miles southwest of Cornwall. The Milverton has been on the reef since last September when she collided with the tanker Translake.

Refused Silver Trowel

PRETORIA, South Africa (CP) —Field Marshal Smuts refused to use a specially made silver trowel to lay the cornerstone of a new building here. "It's too good," he said, borrowing an ordinary trowel from a workman.

Timber Output In BC Likely Over '47 Record

By ROBERT PHILLIPS

VANCOUVER, July 23 (CP).— The warning shout "Timber" will probably be yelled more often in British Columbia woods this year than at any other time in the province's 77-year-old history.

Timber, B.C.'s largest industry, has had some hard knocks this year but the industry's officials expect the annual output still will exceed the 1947 record.

Two of Nature's furies — fire and flood — set back the year's total production by an estimated 75,000,000 board feet.

Out of a total anticipated yield exceedingly last year's 2,545,000,000 board feet, June's unprecedented production loss is not too great, officials said.

Fire Damage

In the seven-week period ending July 17, fire cost the timber industry an estimated 50,000,000 feet of lumber. Three mills, all on Vancouver Island, were gutted by fires estimated to result in more than $3,000,000 damage.

During the flooding of the Fraser River Valley in late May and early June another 25,000,000 feet of timber production was lost. Never in the industry's history has such widespread flood damage been experienced.

Today, industry officials have their fingers crossed against a further setback arising from the current operator-employee wage disputes, which they said, could result in an industry-wide strike.

The timber industry, which includes logging and lumber operations, brings an estimated $100,000,000 annual income to the province, directly, with inestimable returns from the many secondary industries geared to it.

Another Record Year

LONDON (CP). — An extra 9,000,000 passengers a week now are travelling on London's underground railways, buses, trams, trolley buses and coaches — a 10 per cent increase over 1947, itself a record year.

FOUR MASONS FROM Fort Francis who journeyed to Toronto to attend the Ontario Grand Lodge Masonic meeting travelled the 1,200 miles by a mobile house designed and built by Wellington Smith, owner of a brick factory there. The 8,300-pound house is built on a ton-and-a-half truck chassis which was lengthened five feet and has a living room, kitchen, sleeping quarters for four, inside plumbing and plenty of cupboard space. Owner-driver Smith stands near the front of the vehicle.

Seek Exemption On Income Tax For Arena Gifts

Dick Ouimet, chairman of the Civic Arena committee, said today that he and Alderman Hurrell Dodds had completed all papers for the Department of National Revenue, seeking application for income tax exemption on all donations to the arena. Mr. Ouimet is optimistic and feels the request will be granted.

All bills have been paid up to date, and so far members of the committee have charged only $20 for transportation. This is the actual cost of gas and oil for the trips to Hespeler, and Cannington. On these trips the men paid for their own meals and took no money for time off from work. The books are kept by Allan Cameron at the Bank of Montreal and are open to inspection.

Concrete foundation for the arena has been completed along with the basement. Hugh Wilson, of Cannington, the general contractor, has advised that work on the walls will start in two weeks. At present the contractor is working on the horse barn at Oshawa Fair Grounds and this project will be complete in ten days.

Approved By City

Next week sewer and water connections will be completed as far as the arena walls. This work has already been approved by the City Council.

Mr. Ouimet explained that all organizations wishing to hold affairs to raise money for the Arena are requested to discuss their plans with his committee before taking action. He said too, that a few events have been held for the purpose of raising money for the arena but no money was turned over after the events were held.

The Belleville Band which took second prize at the Toronto Exhibition in the open class last year has offered to hold a band concert in Peterborough on Sunday, August 8. The offer has been accepted, and a silver collection will probably be taken, to go toward the arena.

Service Pleases Yacht Owner

Largest boat to dock this season at George St. wharf was a forty-foot cruiser owned by Mr. and Mrs. Eaton of Boston, Mass., and Fort Lauderdale, Florida, which docked here on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Eaton were "exceptionally pleased with the facilities Peterborough has provided. All along the Trent we have been told Peterborough has the only hose supply of fresh water in the district. If only people in the United States were as courteous and obliging as Canadians."

While complimenting the service received on their trip from Trent Canal lockmen, the Eatons said they were surprised that more U.S. boats do not use these waterways. They said they had met another cruiser owner from the States, whose boat had engine trouble here. This man, they said, was amazed at the repair service available.

HOLD BICYCLE SHOW

A bicycle show was held on Thursday morning at Confederation School playground, and 17 children entered their bicycles, decorated with colored crepe paper. Parents from the neighborhood judged the show, and 62 children watched the parade. As prizes, the children had their picture taken.

WOLF NEAR CITY

Sanitary Inspector Ron McPherson reports seeing a large brush wolf run across the road near Indian River. Mr. McPherson had just turned north off the highway on the road east of the river when the wolf crossed the road, and cleared the rail fence in one leap. This is less than eight miles from the city.

GETS A WIDE BERTH

A province of Ontario pick-up truck passed through the city today, and on the backboard in big letters was the word "explosives." A large steel box on the truck was also labelled "explosives." In the truck were Messrs. Hogg and Wolfe, geologists returning from Haliburton, and they said the box contained only instruments. "Motorists give us a wide berth, just the same," Mr. Wolfe said.

NOT A PRAYING MANTIS

A boy brought a large winged insect in a jar to the Ontario Agricultural office on Hunter Street this morning, thinking the insect was a praying mantis. It was an adult helgamite or as the anglers say, a gallanipper. The larva of this insect makes excellent bass bait, and the adult is much larger than the praying mantis and brown in color, while the mantis is usually green.

SIGNS NOT ADEQUATE

Signs indicating that Chemong bridge is under repairs are not large enough nor are they properly placed according to complaints from motorists. One sign is about 200 feet north of the highway at Fowler's Corners instead of being right at the turn. Another is placed the same distance from the Chemong road on the road leading to the bridge. In other words a car has to turn down this road before the driver sees the sign. The sign at the Chemong Road-Lindsay turn is said to be much too small.

600 Inquiries Every Month From Veterans

Three years have passed since the end of the war and veterans still send in an average of 600 inquiries monthly to the Department of Veterans' Affairs office in Peterborough, DVA representative A. B. Burrows said today.

The peak year for inquiries of all sorts was 1947, when an average of 1,100 queries were received each month. Most of the present inquiries are for es-establishment credits, though questions on housing run a close second.

Applications for vocational and education training are petering out now, said Mr. Burrows, but war veterans' allowances are on the increase. A jump of $10 has been made in these allowances, for both single and married men

Several Boer War Veterans

Veterans of both world wars are drawing these allowances, which are improperly called "burned out pensions." There are even several Boer War vets drawing their allowance, Mr. Burrows added.

Many inquiries are received concerning housing, and requests or priorities are also frequent Each week scores of requests for temporary living accommodation are received. Free medical treatment has been cut down but calls continue to come in. According to regulations, free medical treatment is available for 12 months after discharge.

Pension inquiries come in by the dozen, and are perhaps the steadiest; while applications for out of work benefits are on the wane.

Plans To Erect Small Factory

Permission was given at the Thursday night meeting of the Peterborough and Suburban Area Planning Board for the erection of a small factory, and a store, and also to estblish a woodworking shop at the rear of a residence.

Cecil Gonnett who has been manufacturing insecticides and similar products at his own home was given permission to erect a factory on the south side of Lansdowne St., near the CNR tracks The lot, 80 ft. by 110 ft. wil contain a small building that will be used for manufacturing cleaning agents, paint strippers and other chemical preparations.

He assured the Board that the factory would not be unsightly and there would be no unpleasant odors. His application was accepted with the rider that he submi his plans to the city engineer for final approval.

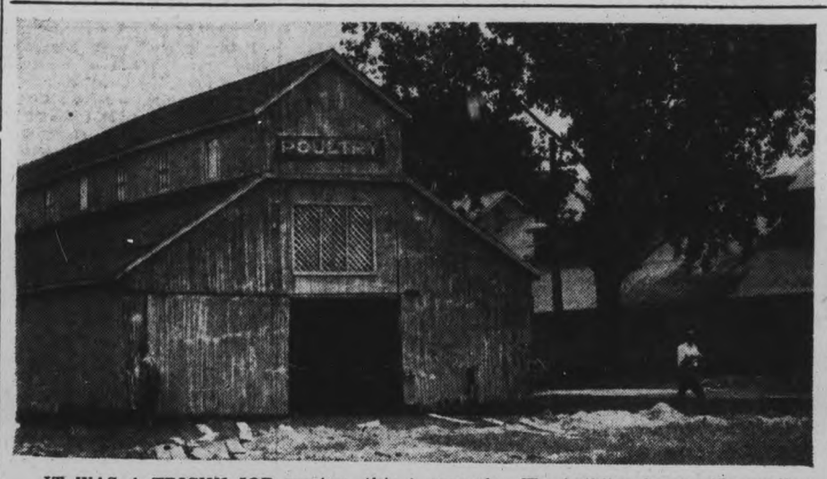
Kenneh tM. Hanbidge, Stewart St., asked if he could operate a woodworking shop at the rear of the building on 219 McGill St. This was found satisfactory and approval was given.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lee, Monaghan Rd., received permission to erect a store on that street, just below the Nashua Paper factory. Originally he area was marked off as inndustrial, but the need for houses was considered more important.

Tourist Ditched On Sharpe Curve

Merlin Elder, 1843 Dufferin St., Toronto escaped with a shaking up and a few minor bruises late Wednesday night when his car left the road on a sharpe curve four mlies east of Hastings.

Elder was driving from Campbellford to Rice Lake where he is spending a holiday. At the top of a high hill there is a sharp curve, not marked by a sign, and the hill beyond the curve is steep. Not knowing the road, he swung wide on the curve and his car rolled off the road, and was damaged to the extent of $150. Provincial Constable Archie Grayling investigated.



IT WAS A TRICKY JOB moving this shell of a building at Exhibition Park from its old location west of the main road to a new site east of the road, and close to the barns along the southern boundary of the grounds. The building houses the poultry exhibits and has been placed on a concrete foundation. The horse barn will also be moved across the road to a concrete foundation.

Big Honey Crop Quality Good

Apiarists in this part of Ontario will have one of the finest honey crops in years, Allan Brown, past-president of the Ontario Beekeeper's Association said today.

"Honey quality is excellent, in fact I would say the crop this year will be normal. It is clear, thick and heavy bodies," Mr. Brown said. He explained that for the past three years beekeepers have been plagued by poor quality and small yield and the reason for such conditions was not definitely known.

"It is was believed weather conditions were to blame, but nobody could explain just what had happened. Certainly the bee men have had slim pickings for the past three years," Mr. Brown said.

He added that sweet clover had been plentiful last year but had not produced any honey, while this season the sweet clover is responsible for yielding most of the honey.

Mr. Brown said that no price had been established for this year's crop, but a statement on prices should be made soon by government officials.

Seek Information On Ivan O'Beirne

Peterborough Public Library is continually being asked for genealogical information. Today, a letter was received from T. W. Tweed, of Toronto, requesting data on Ivan O'Beirne, known to have lived in Peterborough and to have died in 1874.

F. H. Dobbin's Index gave the following information: Ivan O'Beirne, school teacher and afterwards barrister. Appointed second master at the Grammar and Common Schools of the town in 1851. On the death of Mr Fortye was appointed clerk to the County and Surrogate Courts. Died July 16, 1874.

The old files of the Examiner which the library possesses as far back as 1860, are often useful in answering genealogical queries. A short obituary in the copy of July 18, 1874, stated that Mr. O'Beirne's family came from Inniskilling, Ireland, that his father was the Rev. Andrew O'Beirne and that he had emigrated to Canada more than 30 years before. Information from other sources showed that he was superintendent of schools, first secretary of the Board of Education from 1863 to 1874, and town clerk for a short time in 1857.

Most of the known original documents of the Peter Robinson Emigration are now in the possession of the Public Library, and many queries have been answered regarding settlers at that time.

Removing Street Boulevards Cause Traffic Bottleneck

Peterborough's 30-year plan for the development of the city and district was brought before the Peterborough and Suburban Area Planning Board when that body met Thursday night.

Before recommendations of the official plan will be put into effect they will have to be accepted by Council and then passed on to the Minister of Planning and Development for approval. Even after approval alterations can be made by by-law.

Discussion at the Thursday night meeting chiefly revolved around the question of congested traffic conditions. It was decided that widening Charlotte St. between Aylmer and Park Sts. by removing the curbs would only add to congestion, causing a bottleneck at Aylmer. The Board taking "a long-term view" recommended to Council that a set-back be made on Charlotte St. with a view to widening the street at some future date.

Pave Sherbrooke St.

Hubert Sills was in favor of paving Sherbrooke St. between Park and Water Sts, thus re-routing the through traffic from Highway 28 and reducing the number of motor vehicles on Charlotte St. He also pointed out that part of the heavy load of traffic could be routed by way of Park and McDonnel Sts.

A petition was read from residents of Stewart St., between Charlotte and Hunter Sts., protesting the classification of the east side of the street as fourth class residential or commercial property. The west side of the street had been classed as second class reidential.

It was pointed out that immediately adjacent to this area there are three large churches and St. Peter's School. And the petition also stated that the residents were professional and business people who had endeavored to keep the area as first class residential property.

Names on the petition included Mrs. Constance Paris, Mrs. Helen Kidd, David A. Kerr, Emma C Clementi, Christopher Wood, R. J Young, MD, C. A. Joseph Duranceau, M. H. Sargen, E. Munro, T. D Kulchychi, W Stanton Fitzpatrick, MD, and W. Tinker.

On a motion by Mr. Sills and Alderman Hugh Waddell, the Board recommended that the east side of Stewart St. lying between Charlotte and Hunter Sts. be also considered second class residential property.

James Dutton, chairman of the Board, said that the subdivision in the north end of the city, west of Dumble Ave., was an excellent residential area. On his motion the Board recommended to Council that this area be used for future housing developments.

Mr. Sills made the suggestion that revenue from parking meters go toward the purchase of off-street parking lots where a motorist could leave his car for at least 10 hours.

Mr. Dutton suggested that Peterborough follow the lead of other cities that have had planning boards and seek the appointment of advisory committees. This matter also was left for further consideration.

Present were Mr. Dutton, chairman, Mrs. W. H. Morton, James Hamilton, G. Wilson Craw, Alderman Waddell, Hubert Sills and City Clerk E. A. Outram.

454,000 Trees Set Out In Ganaraska Forest Area

To June 30, 19 minor forest fires were reported in the Trent district, which comprises that watered area between Lake Couchiching and the mouth of the Trent River. District Forester A. B. Wheatley's quarterly report shows that all of these fires were suppressed in the early stages. The report also says that 47 per cent. of these fires were caused by careless smokers, who throw their burning cigarette butts away.

Reforestation is on the move and the spring planting in the Trent district this year covered 788 acres, on which a total of 591,000 trees were set out. These trees were mostly pines and white spruce. Planting in the Victoria, Durham and Genaraska forests included more than 454,000 trees. In the Northumberland forest, about 137,000 trees were set out on 149 acres.

Forester Wheatley warns woodland owners that this is the time of year when the sawfly is due to appear on red pine plantations. This insect can be controlled by spraying with arsenate of lead or arsenate of lime, used in the same strength as for potato bugs.

Sale of Crown lands under summer resort regulations is now in full swing. During June, 62 applications were received from hopeful cottage owners in southern Ontario. It is expected that a large number of completed sales will be affected during this year.

20,600 Fingerlings Put Out

Distribution of maskinonge fingerlings from two to four inches long in the Trent district has now been completed, and 20,600 fingerlings have been planted, the quarterly report shows. Of these, almost 10,000 have been placed in Kawartha waters. In addition, three million lunge fry have been planted in suitable waters.

The fingerling lunge were raised at Deer Lake Hatchery, which has been equipped to raise the necessary fry to feed the carniverous lunge. Live minnows or the fry of scavenger fish are used for this feeding. Production in 1948 was 24,000 fingerlings, more twice the number produced in 1947.

Planting of bass, trout and pickerel has also continued. This year two-and-a-half million pickerel eyed-eggs were set out in the district. These eyed-eggs are fertilized eggs which have developed far enough that the eyes may be clearly seen. The bass production this year is 50,000 which in addition to 7,000 from the Brantford Hatchery, have been planted in district waters.

Streams in the Trent district have been restocked with 125,000 brown and 25,000 speckled trout. Basis for these restockings is governed by the pressure of fishing in each stream. Those streams that are fished more heavily will naturally need more fingerlings.

Forester Wheatley reports that both beaver and brush wolves are on the increase. No count is given of the beaver population, but several have had to be moved, because their dams have backed up enough water to flood good lands.

South of Lindsay, two dens of brush wolves were found, and between them they produced 15 wolf pups in the spring. In Peterborough county, a herd of five elk was seen near Jack's Lake. Elk were introduced into this area several years ago.

Trent River, 2,400; Rice Lake, 2,400; Emily Creek, 250; Balsam Lake, 750; Cameron Lake, 750; Sturgeon Lake, 750; Pigeon Lake, 750; Pigeon Creek, 250; Scugog River, 500; Chemong Lake, 800; Pigeon Lake, 600; Pigeon River, 600; Pigeon Creek, 400; Katchawanooka, 800; Stony Lake, 800; Belmont Lake,800; Scugog Lake, 500; Lake Couchiching, 1,000; Lake St. John, 200; Sturgeon Lake, 400; Deer Bay, 600; Buckhorn Lake,450; Bald Lake, 300; Little Mud Lake, 300; Stony Lake (South Bay), 600; Kashabog Lake, 300; White Lake, 200; Clear Lake, 200; Katchawanooka, 300; Little Lake, 150; Otonabee River, 150; Chemong Lake, 200; Pigeon River, 200; Lovesick Lake, 300; Round Lake, 400; Trent River (Frankford), 250.

Tourists Find Canadians Friendly

Four Men From Virginia Get Poor Start But Are Impressed

This is a hands-across-the-border story, a shining example of Canadian friendliness and hospitality.

A week ago four men from Wyoming county, West Virginia, reached the Peterborough district after a 1,200-mile drive. They didn't bother to enquire in the city but headed north, and drove down two side roads, both of which ended in swamps along a lake. In Virginia, the smart people stay away from swamps because of the number of poisonous snakes. Finally, they reached York's cabins on Highway 28, near Burleigh.

Still they didn't ask any questions, and after having a meal at Burleigh Falls, went fishing. They were casting from shore when they met Charles Heath, who lives on Lovesick Lake. After a few questions, Mr. Heath took over. He invited them to his house for a meal, arranged to get two boats for them, told them where they could get bait, showed them how to fish, and in short made they feel right at home.

Now the quartet are living in the same cabins and eating at the Heath home.

Today Sam Gibson dropped into The Examiner, and told the story. "I just couldn't leave this part of Canada without telling about the friendly reception we got. This man Heath is an expert. He showed us where to fish and how to catch fish. We got 24 bass, not counting the small ones which we put back. That's something he told us too, what size to keep and how to measure them."

With Mr. Gibson were his son James, a police officer in Wyoming county; Cudge Cline and Ernest Bazzic.

Sam Gibson is the champion angler, he caught a 5-pound small mouth black bass. They had several feeds of panfish, such as perch, sunfish and rock bass, all dish that the Canadians scorn.

"Mr. Heath really looked after us, and we are coming back again next year. Maybe it would not have been so difficult at first for us, but we just don't like asking favors of people. In the case of Mr. Heath we didn't have to ask him, he just went ahead and did what we wanted done. It made a perfect holiday for us," said Mr Gibson.

The American spoke with the pleasant voice of a Virginian and he wound up his little visit by saying, "Don't tell Mr. Heath about this, just write a little story, then he'll know how much we appreciated his help."

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Lately there has been a lot of controversy over the distributing of the prizes in our afternoon and evening tournaments. Some of the boys have expressed themselves quite strongly on the subject.

It is generally agreed that all three-game winners should receive prizes according to their standing, but the rub is, how many two-game winners and how many one-game winners should have prizes? There must be a stop to it somewhere.

In the past and before the Wednesday half-holiday came into being, it was nothing unusual to have a two and three-day tournament run on the straight elimination system — there was no three-game winner or a two-game winner, or even a one-game winner to contend with. It was a case of play right down to the finals in each competition.

But when times changed and this half-holiday tournament came along, the old methods and systems had to be discarded and some new ideas brought forward, hence all this trouble that we are facing today.

As far as we know there is no perfect system of running these abbreviated tournaments, and we will just have to use the system that we have until someone comes along with a better one. In the meantime, to elleviate all this worry about one and two-game winners, we suggest that you win all of your three games and then you will be sure of a prize.

That made good bowling news yesterday, E. Wall's rink winning the H. B. Rosevear Memorial Trophy at Port Hope and G. Gimblett and R. Hutchinson winning the Walker Trophy up in Lindsay.

Don't forget the men's doubles tonight at 7.15 o'clock.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Halifax's feud with Kingston, Ont., over the site of hockey's Hall of Fame has flared up again Halifax is going to have its own hall of fame to rival the one in Kingston set up and recognized by the National Hockey League.

Major J. E. (Gee) Ahern said Thursday the Halifax hall will open in February, 1949. Although nominations for entries into the hall will not be made until within the next two months, the first name has been chosen. It is Frank (Cyclone) Taylor, former NHL star now living in Vancouver.

As far as Mayor Ahern is concerned Halifax can prove its claim of being the site of the first hockey game played in Canada He said hockey was played there as far back as 1779, while Kingston can only claim to have played the game since 1885. He based his claim on an article in an old publication found in Province House library.

A par-busting bunch of four golfers Thursday equalled a course record of 65 made only once in the 26-year history of the Berkshire Country Club at Reading, Pa., to head a field of 146 professionals and amateurs in the first round of the $15,000 Reading open. E. J. Dutch Harrison, Rod Johnny Palmer all toured the Munday, Fred Haas, Jr., and course in seven under par.

Frank Stranahan, British and Canadian amateur champion, was among the host of 70 shooters. Bill Ezinicki, Toronto Maple Leafs hockey star, just got in under the wire with a 72.

Daniel Carpio, 36-year-old bank clerk from Peru, swam the treacherous currents of the Straits of Gibraltar Thursday in nine hours and 20 minutes. The official time for the distance of about eight miles was announced by his manager who followed in a boat. Carpio is the first man ever to swim from continental Spain to Spanish Morocco.

Canada has not yet decided to ask for the 1950 British Empire games, Prof. Nelson Hart of London, Ont., general manager of the Canadian Olympic team, said Thursday at London in an interview. "I understand that British Columbia is interested in staging the games but I have yet to hear from them," he said. Vollmer Leads Chiefs To Victory Hits 14th Homer

By The Associated Press

Clyde Vollmer hasn't made Syracuse fans forget Hank Sauer but the 27-year-old outfielder is on his way to his greatest season in organized ball since 1940.

Voller banged his 14th round-tripper Thursday night with one on in the first inning to lead the Chiefs to a 2-0 victory over Jersey City Giants.

The second-place Newark Bears crushed Baltimore Orioles 8-1. Clarence Marshall spun a four-hitter while the Bears slapped Fred Wollpert and George Hooks for 12 safeties.

Errors figured prominently in the Toronto Maple Leafs' 7-6 victory over the leading Montreal Royals. The Leafs committed five boots and the Royals four.

The Royals overcame a 5-4 deficit by scoring twice in the ninth on three errors and a double but they handed the game back to the Leafs in the bottom half, committing two misplays to set the stage for a two-run bases loaded single by Johnny Welaj that broke up the game.

The scheduled game between Rochester Red Wings and Buffalo Bisons was postponed because of rain.

Most Veterans Find Good Post-War Jobs

OTTAWA, July 23—(CP)—Remember all that fretting and publicity three years ago about the rehabilitation of the squadron leaders and majors and commanders who had been office boys when they enlisted? And that job that anywhere from one to five men were coming back to?

Somehow those and the other problems have largely faded in the months since the troops started flooding home. The two basic reasons, as officials here see it, are that the country has been blessed with a buoyant economy and with a rehabilitation program which the veterans have liked and exploited to the full.

The government has maintained a branch within the National Employment Service for looking after the jobs for veterans. By the end of May—the latest figures available—it had placed 732,660 veterans, a large number of them more than once. At that time, there were 27,700 veterans registered as unplaced compared with 38,100 th year previous, but "a fair number" of them are employed and merely seeking something better.

Col. A. L. Tosland, supervisor of veterans' placements, harked over the three years and the problems that had divulged. The former office boys who rose to high rank had either gone to university at state expense or remained in the forces or forged quickly to their rightful place in their old offices.

The job that several veterans had held went, by law, to the man who held it first. But the others had also been absorbed, many by the old firm, others into other lines.

Generally, the absorption of former servicemen into the national economy had "gone very smoothly."

Ontario Distributes 30,000 More Fishing License Forms

Most provinces report increased demands for fishing licenses this summer as more Canadians and Americans seek the variety of fish lurking in the Dominion's fresh and coastal waters, a Canadian Press survey shows.

Ontario officials said they had distributed 30,000 more license forms than they sent out last year. They have opened 300 additional distribution points, bringing the total to 2,000.

The Windsor area reports that pickerel and bass are caught in Lake St. Clair, the Detroit River and the western end of Lake Erie. The over-all picture is "only fair" although small-mouth black bass are being taken from Lake Erie and large-mouth black bass from Lake St. Clair.

Like Last Year

North Bay fishing is reported to be on a par with that of last year. Smaller pike and pickerel catches this month have been balanced by bass catches.

Fish in the district include silver and black bass, lake and speckled trout, muskellunge, whitefish, pickerel and great northern pike.

Anglers say the best waters are the West Bay district of Lake Nipissing, French River and the Kippewa district, northeast of North Bay.

Fishing in the Kingston district fluctuates, experts say, because shad are running heavily now. Game fish prefer the shad to baited hooks.

Bass are reported to be good west of Kingston and near Brothers Island. Pickerel have been caught at Hay Bay and lake trout at Loughborough Lake. Some large bass have been taken from Cranberry Lake, near Seeley's Bay.

The Pembroke area still draws its quota of anglers seeking lake trout, bass, pickerel and pike. Huge sturgeon are caught in the Ottawa River.

Muskie Record

A 1948 muskellunge record for the Kawartha Lakes, near Peterborough, was set recently by George Christiansen, camp manager, who hauled in one weighing 28 pounds 12 ounces.

The district also boasts good catches of small-mouth black bass and pickerel. A Toronto resident landed one of the former, 22 inches long and 5 pounds 2 ounces in weight.

Quebec officials report that 27,000 residents had taken out fishing licenses up to June—an increase of 14,700 over the same period last year. Non-resident licenses are up by 7,000.

'Dixiecrats' Determined To Force Truman Defeat

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

WASHINGTON, July 22 (CP). —Rebellious Southern Democrats —"Dixiecrats" — seem determined to ensure defeat of President Truman and victory for the Republicans.

But they may cool off before election day, Nov. 2, as they have so many times in the last 70 years.

Led by Alabama and Mississippi, the old Confederate States now are seeking to put their own presidential and vice-presidential ticket in the field and to gain control of the Electoral-College votes in those States.

If they succeeded in all 15 so-called Southern States they could control 171 of the 531 Electoral College votes which, technically, elect the President of the United States.

There is not a ghost of a chance of them electing a president of their own choice but they could make certain no other Democrat was elected unless Truman won by a landslide.

Rump Convention

Because of the unofficial and somewhat frienzied organization of last Saturday's rump convention in Birmingham, it is difficult to know just what part of the official Southern Democratic party is involved.

For years the Southern States have rebelled against any federal interference with their treatment of the Negro problem. They have voted almost solidly Democratic since the first Republican President, Abe Lincoln, freed the slaves.

Each presidential election year the two major parties adopt a platform containing a fairly non-committal civil right plank calling for equal treatment of all citizens. But nothing was ever done about it.

Civil Right Planks

Last week at Philadelphia the Democratic convention platform committee wrote in the usual non-committal plank on civil rights. The Southerners would not let well enough alone but demanded a definite plank making civil rights a matter for State control.

This roused the liberal majority in the party who countered with an amended plank spelling out in full the Truman legislative demands and adding a line against segregation of races in the armed forces.

It was carried by a small majority in the convention and as a result 13 of the 26 Alabama delegates walked out, taking the whole 22-member Mississippi delegation with them.

Governor Fielding Wright of Mississippi called a rump convention of the Southerners to meet in Birmingham last aSturday. They met and nominated Governor J. Strom Thurmond of South Caroline for President, and Wright for Vice-President.

Many believe that before long the Southerns will gain a greater respect for their features. abandon the nose-biting attitude, and swing back as usual behind the national party's candidate as they have done before.

No Sign Of Diphtheria Among DP's

CALGARY, July 23—(CP)—Fear of a possible outbreak of diphtheria in Alberta ended today.

Dr. W. H. Hill, city medical officer of health said a medical examination of a group of 25 European displaced persons who arrived here last week had shown they were free from the contagious germs. Fear that the group might spread diphtheria in Alberta arose Thursday following reports that a girl leaving the group at Winnipeg had contracted the disease.

"I feel that there is nothing to be alarmed about," Dr. Hill said following his examination of members of the group. All throats were found to be in a healthy, normal condition.

Medical officials also pointed out that it now was eight days since the girl left the group at Winnipeg. The normal incubation period for diphtheria is about four days although it is known to take as long as eight or 10 days.

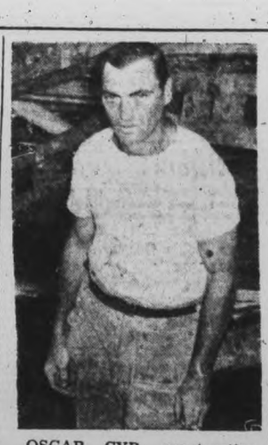
Since no sign of diphtheria was found in the group examined here, it is felt that all danger of the infection spreading is passed.

Alberta medical officials moved rapidly to check any possible outbreak immediately upon learning of the diphtheria threat during a long distance telephone conversation between Dr. Hill and selective service officials at Winnipeg.

Thursday, Dr. Hill criticized what he described as "laxity somewhere along the line," the situation which allowed the group to arrive here and disperse about the district with the danger of possible infection existing. He suggested the group should have been thoroughly checked at the port of entry.

DESTRUCTIVE RODENTS

Damage caused by all types of rodents in the United States is estimated at $500,000,000.



OSCAR CYR, construction worker at the $57,000,000 Des Joachims power development at Rolphton, Ont., was an eyewitness to the accident which claimed the lives of six men when a Bailey bridge collapsed. The six tumbled 120 feet to die in the raging torrent of the Ottawa river.

Presentation At Staff Picnic

Mr. and Mrs. Clare G. Collins were hosts to 40 members of the Neil's staff at their summer home on Lake Chemong Wednesday afternoon. This annual event was highlighted this year when Mr. W. A. Cochrane was inaugurated as the seventh member of Neill's Quarter Century Club and presented with a cheque for $100 and a diamond set membership pin. The sports enjoyed included fishing, swimming and horse-shoe pitching. Reversing the usual procedure, first prize was given for the smallest fish caught and won by 12-year-old Bobbie Beaubiah. The middle-size fish was brought in by Master John Allen, aged four and a half years, and Mr. John Hajnik hooked the larges one. Extra boats had been provided for convenience of the guests. After a delicious supper, many went swimming, and later the younger members enjoyed dancing at the pavilion.

ANOTHER CLASSIC — No matter what the current fashion fad may be the one-piece dress with a separate skirt and blouse look, has become firmly entrenched and is well on its way to join the category of the classics. Tissue weight woollen is used for this neat one-piecer made with a simple but effectively handled top of cocoa brown wool and a black wool skirt that is back buttoned in diagonal wrap-around effect. Black and brown will be a big color combination this fall.

Fall Coiffures Convertible With Pin-on Curls

Convertible long-or-short, coiffures are advised for fall by Bernord Az Guo, noted American haid stylist.

Hair should have adaptability, Guro believes and offers a number of variations on the short sleek, neat and feminine coiffure which is the complement to the 1948 fashion silhouette. Hair should be shaped and arranged so that it can be combed into many attractive coiffures. It should be possible not only to make hairdos conform with the shape and character of the face but also to make them co-ordinate with the general ensemble.

"A coiffure should cimpliment the individual and make her look more alluring frivolous and happy but should also lend itself to transformation depending on the time and mood of the day," says Guro.

Th short, fluffy hairdo, which combines all the feminity of long hair with style, comfort and neatness, is favored by Guro for daytime wear. These hair styles are made even more alluring in the evenings by the addition of hair pieces. These, matched to perfection to the texture and shadings of the natural locks, can be pinned on as a coronet of coiled into a chignon and pinned at the back of the head. Clusters of curls can be pinned over one ear or at the back to give a new personality to a hairdo, which features a loosely waved half bang and a soft fluff of curl at the bottom.

RCMP Bands Impressed Indians at Treaty Signing

WINNIPEG, July 23 (CP). — Few things set the pulse racing or stir the heart more than the swing of a martial air played by a good band. The people of Manitoba had this aptly demonstrated as they heard at various points concerts by the RCMP band which has just completed the Manitoba leg of a Dominion-wide tour.

The scarlet-clad aggregation is the seventh band possessed by the force. Official records covering earlier musical groups were destroyed in a fire in 1897. But what is known of the earlier bands forms an adventurous and sometimes rollicking history.

The RCMP Quarterly, official publication of the force, relates the experiences of one such band formed at Swan River Barracks in 1876. It tells of the band's debut on Queen Victoria's birthday in 1876.

"The Indians had never heard a band before and showed intense surprise; especially the squaws and youngsters, who ran to their tepees in terror. The men liked the big drum and offered to trade a good horse for it."

Later bands were used to impress the Indians ar treaty signings and other functions. In 1877 when a chieftain of shady reputation marched to the government encampment with his procession headed by the Mounted Police band, the brass was lustily playing "Hold The Fort For I Am Coming."

Sly Allusion

When asked why he chose such an inappropriate tune, the bandmaster, aware of the chieftain's bad reputation, said, "Isn't there a verse commencing, 'See the mighty host advancing, Satan leading on'?"

The Quarterly let the cat out of the bag in describing the sudden and rather disastrous end of the Fort Walsh band in 1881. Those used to the courteous efficiency of the Mounties may find it hard to believe, but the Quarterly says it's so.

In celebration of the news of a smashing victory by Lord Roberts in Africa, the colonel ordered a special issue of grog to the men who were giving a concert in the officers' mess. Stimulated by this the band decided to turn out on the parade ground and give vent to patriotic airs.

"Apparently they had obtained some liquor in addition to the official issue," the sad story goes, "and whether the first trombone player objected to having a clarinet wailing in his face or whether they couldn't agree on what piece to play is not known.

"Shortly a free-for-all ensued. The instruments became weapons in the fight and most were destroyed. As a result the band was disorganized."

Grandparents Do Get Tired Of Acting As Baby-Sitters

DOROTHY DIX

worked long and hard in order to provide for and educate our four children. Now they are married and have families of their own. But here is our problem: We still work hard all week and have only our week ends to do the little things we would like to do, and have missed doing a great part of our married life. But instead of being able to go on little trips and take modest pleasures we would enjoy so much, we find ourselves being baby sitters most of the time. We have eight grandchildren, who range in age from six months to 12 years, and we are expected to take care of them whenever their parents want to have a fling. It is hard for us even to attend church, because the little ones have to be nursed and looked after.

We love them all very much and they are always welcome, but we would enjoy being left alone once in a while. Is there any way to solve this problem without hurting anyone? — GRANDMA AND GRANDPA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It appears that Grandma and Grandpa have raised a new issue in domestic life with which the younger generation do not seem to be able to cope. For the present generation of young parents are sold on the old theory that Grandma and Grandpa never want to go anywhere, or have any fun, do anything more exciting than taking care of the youngsters when they want to go on a bat.

Entitled To Rest

But, alas, Grandma and Grandpa have become modernized and they hold a different view on this subject. They think that they have done their duty in baby sitting and diapering one generation of children and that they are enttiled to a little rest and diversion themselves.

To this column come hundreds of letters from grandparents who resent being offered us as a sacrifice to their selfish children, but they don't know what to do about it because they lack the nerve to say to their sons and daughters: "Keep your kids at home. They are your job."

How it is all to end, nobody nows. For, believe it or not, the married children really believe that they are giving Grandma and Grandpa a great treat when they send down their offspring to spend a day whooping and yelling and fighting and banging up the furniture and raising general pandemonium. Maybe Grandma and Grandpa eventually will get enough intestinal fortitude to rebel against the attack of the infantry and will lock their doors and flee on Sundays at least to some place where they can say their prayers in peace.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband refuses to take me to dances because he is afraid some other man might ask me to dance. He won't let me go out on windy days because my dress might blow sideways and someone will see my legs. He does not want me to smile in public because he thinks it shows I am getting friendly with some man. I can't raise my hand to my head to fix my hair because he thinks I am waving to some guy.

Is there any cure to such jealousy? I am a decent woman who has never done a wrong thing in my life.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: No, because such jealousy is the outpouring of the vile thoughts that fill your husband's mind all the time. He cannot even imagine a decent woman. Such a man is pitiful, not only because he tortures you with his insults, but because he must make himself unhappy by trying to drag you down to his level.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: There are two men I can marry. One can povide me with food. The other can provide me not only with food, but with a big estate in New York, mink coats and servants. I don't enjoy being with one man more than I do with being with the other. Which one should I marry?—IN LOVE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: "Well, if you can't decide between the two, it seems to me that the best bet is the gentleman with the mink coats and servants. But why marry either one when you are in love with neither? Marriage without love and a real companionship is a dreary business.

Housewives Seek Spices In Place of Salt, Pepper

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK, July 23 (AP).—The United States housewife is spice-conscious again for the first time since great-great-grandmother disguised jerged venison with a judicious measurement of fennel.

For more years than a gourmet like to contemplate, cooks just reached for salt and pepper shakers when the recipe called for seasoning. Now they are blossoming out with a spice shelf of some 20-odd spices.

Spices have been rediscovered, violently. In some places — such as New York — spice cooking is definitely a fad. Here and there lies danger that the enthusiastic, heavy hand of the fanatics will overdo it.

Fortunately, most cooks have learned about spices the hard way: through war-induced food shortages and the need to fuss over cheaper, tougher cuts of meat. They know that spice is designed to enhance flavor, not disguise it.

In pre-war days, almost every housekeeper had a little cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves and paprika in her food closet. Now the ladies who thought of cloves for ham and cinnamon for toast can discuss items like "cardamom," "coriander," "mace," and even "fenugreek."

Pepper Still Scarce

Peppercorns, mostly grown in the Netherlands East Indies and India, are still war casualties The world's supply is down from a pre-war 182,000,000 pounds to 60,000,000.

Spice for the home kitchen runs alphabetically from allspice, fruit of a West Indian tree with a flavor resembling a blend of cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves, to tumeric, an Indian-grown root of the ginger family widely used in pickling.

The big mystery in the spice business is saffron, probably the most expensive, retailing for about $60 a pound. It suddenly has become very popular but no one quite knows why. It's prized for its brilliant yellow color and pleasant taste, but heretofore wasn't used for much except Spanish dishes.

What is a spice? It is the buds, leaves, seeds, bark, roots or berries of aromatic plants used for seasoning and usually grown in tropical or semi-tropical countries. Herbs are usually the leaves leaves of annuals or perennials grown in the temperate zones. Condiments refer to a blend of spices or herbs with other things — such as a tomato puree — to make a flavoring sauce. Aromatic spices are anise, caraway, cardamom, cinnamon, cloves, cumin, ginger, mace, nutmeg and a few others. Stimulants among the spices are mustahr, pepper and tumeric.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, July 24

The sidereal operations encourage a very direct and lively attack on ambitious projects and ambitions, especially where change, travel, entirely new contracts and agreements are more likely to bring desired results rather than forging along in outgrown grooves and static combinations. Fresh fields, with bright ideas and bold plans, shrewdly worked out, with ingenuity, skill, perhaps with and "smartness," may bring pleasant relations of a private nature, which public approval as well. All things of interest to the young and adventurous should thrive.

Those whose birthday it is are encouraged to attack a wide range of operation for fresh pastures may prove most prolific and promote pleasant relations or shrewd adventures affecting the private as well as business, professional and public career. It is a time to push toward new objectives, fresh places and faces, with lively experiments, bright ideas, versatility, ingenuity. Along the way there should be much adventure of a romantic and thrilling aspect, amusements, sports and intellectual diversion.

A child born on this day should be blessed with much ingenuity, versatility, liveliness in thought and action. A vivid imagination and keen intuitions are also to be relied upon.

4 Women Visit Germany To Study Needs

LONDON, July 23 (CP).—Four energetic wives of Dominion bishops attending the Lambeth Conference leave for Germany tonight to find out how the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of England in Canada can best help German women.

They are Mrs. Philip Carrington, wife of the Archbishop of Quebec; Mrs. H. W. K. Mowell, wife of the Archbishop of Sydney, Australia; Mrs. J. Hunter, wife of the Bishop of Kimberley, South Africa, and Mrs. P. W. Stephenson, wife of the Bishop of Nelson, New Zealand.

Mrs. Carrington Thursday told The Canadian Press that she would concentrate on heavily-bombed towns in the Ruhr Valley where women with families are most urgently in need of help."

Send Parcels

She said that the Women's Auxiliary of Canada has undertaken to adopt 50 groups of German Christian women and would be sending them parcels of food and clothing and assisting them "in every way possible."

The women are travelling to Germany together by sea and rail but on their arrival they will undertake separate surveys of different regions.

"We hope to establish useful personal relationships with members of women's religious groups in Germany," Mrs. Carrington said.

Thursday, she was one of three wives of overseas bishops who were guest speakers at a conference of the Central Council for Women's Churchwork, an auxiliary of the Church of England.

She said that the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of England in Canada had adopted a number of families of clergymen and was sending them regular food parcels.

The Anglican Communion of Western Canada is so scattered, she said, that much church work in the lonely regions has to be "kept alive by devoted women travelling vast distances" and generally assisting the clergy.

Royal Garden Party

LONDON, July 23 — (AP). — Buckingham Palace today had its most festive garden party since war's end. The King and Queen and more than 6,000 guests shared hospitality and sunshine in a setting showing scant signs of anti-aircraft shrapnel that fell there only a few years ago.

ONE-YEAR-OLD SON of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baird, of Verdun, left aboard a four motor aircraft recently for Prestwick, where his grandmother will meet him. For months Mr. and Mrs. Baird have been looking for a home but were told by landlords that children were not wanted. Their six-year-old daughter Sharon is presently staying with friends and Bobby had to leave also until they find a home.

BALAAM — In loving memory of Mrs. Dorothy Balaam, who pssed away July 23, 1945.

And friends from day to day,
But never will the one I loved
From memory pass away.
—Ever remembered by her Son Ronald.

DWYER — In loving memory of Pte. Norman Dwyer, who was killed in Sicily July 22, 1943.
It's lonesome home without you, son,
And sad the weary way,

Like ivy on the withered oak,
When all other things decay
Our love for you will still keep green
and never fade away.
—Ever remembered by Mother, Brother and Sister.

LUNDY — In memory of Baby Sharon, who passed away July 26, 1945.

SAUNDERS — In loving memory of Albert E. Saunders, who passed away one year ago, July 23.
His smiling way and pleasant face
Are a pleasure to recall;
He had a kindly word for each,
And died beloved by all.

Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.
—Ever remembered by his Wife Bertha, and Family.

FALLIS. — In loving memory of our dear son and brother, who lost his life by drowning four years ago on the 23rd July, 1944.

In the hearts of those who can never forget.

Detector Helps Cow

Expect Wallace To Split Vote

PHILADELPHIA, July 23 (AP) —Henry A. Wallace today comes to town to take charge of a third party he and his friends are trying hard to prove is not being run in a left-handed way by the Communists.

Wallace's arrival marks the formal launching of the first serious attempt since 1924 to cut across Democratic and Republican lines with a third candidate for the presidency of the United States. In that long-ago era, the ticket of Robert M. Lafollette, Sr., and Burton K. Wheeler got only about 4,500,000 votes.

Estimates now range between that and 9,000,000 for the vote total likely to be amassed by Wallace and his running mate, Senator Glen Taylor, esrtwhile Iraho Democrat.

But if the new party convention opening officially tonight itself gives Wallace almost no chance of election, there was none in the Republican or Democratic camps to say that his race will not affect vitally the November outcome.

The Republicans hope that Wallace and Taylor, to be formally nominated tomorrow afternoon, will take from the Democrats enough votes in the big-population states to cinch the election of their nominee, Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

The Democrats hope that Wallace, himself a former Democrat, will lure as many votes away from the Republicans as he does from their party.

Two Painters Turn Into Balls Of Fire

PHILADELPHIA, July 23. — (AP).—Two painters were turned into 'balls of fire" yesterday and hurled 45 feet from a pole carrying the main power line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. They were injured critically.

More than 11,000 volts passed through the men, Lawrence Bokafegio, 37, and Joseph Palese, 27. Their bodies were covered with deep burns.

Rokafegio was working near the top of a pole when Palese, foreman of the crew, and other painter saw him topple across a girder. Palese, realizing the painter had touched a live wire, climbed the pole after directing others on the ground to rig up a chair. After fastening the chair to a rope, the painters on the ground tossed the other end to Palese. He pulled up the chair and managed to place the stricken painter in it. A blinding flash followed. Bokafegio and Palese were hurled to the ground head first.

OTAWA, July 22.—(CP).—Canadian Legion headquarters confirmed Thursday they have been notified of a resolution from the Quebec Command asking for a referendum on admission of men called up under the conscriptionist NRMA measure during the war and who wouldn't volunteer for active service. It asked that provincial commands be polled tn the question.

Liberal Captures Another Seat In Saskatchewan

REGINA, July 23. (CP)—The Liberal opposition in Saskatchewan's 52-seat legislature was increased Thursday with the victory of Lorne Blanchard in the deferred election in the remote, northern riding of Cumberland.

The balloting in that riding was one of the two deferred elections in isolated regions of Saskatchewan Thursday, but the result in Athabasca constituency could not be learned immediately because of the interruption of radio transmission from the area.

In Cumberland, Mr. Blanchard's election was conceded on Thursday night over two opponents—Joseph Johnson, CCF candidate, and Joseph Buote, who ran as an independent.

Returns from 16 of the 21 polls gave Mr. Blanchard 591 votes; Mr. Johnson 318, and Mr. Buote 34.

Mr. Blanchard's election increases to 19 the number of Liberals in the provincial house.

In the June 24 general election, the CCF party led by Premier T. C. Douglas, obtained 31 seats. One went to a Liberal-Progressive Conservative candidate.

Leslie W. Lee, who represented Cumberland in the last legislature as a CCF member, did not contest the seat in Thursday's election, Mr. Johnson replacing him as CCF candidate.

THE STRONGEST ANSWER

WE ALL KNOW that we ought to bid with a hand which is utterly worthless in either high cards or distributional values in responding to an informative or takeout double across the table from us. We also know that if we have a fair amount of strength we should make the response more than minimum to show that our holding added to that of a doubler should produce a game. Now, for the top extreme. What is the way to show at once that we hold an extremely good hand across from him? By bidding the opponent's suit.

	♠ A 10 8 6 ♥ Q 9 8 6 ♦ Q 9 5 4 2 ♣ None

(Dealer: West. North - South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♦	Dbl
Pass	2 ♦	Pass	2 ♥
Pass	4 ♥

Yes, North had passed on his first turn, as he should have. But that was far from a sound excuse for South to pass the 4-Hearts bid. North had made on his second turn a call which is so strong that it is very seldom heard at any bridge table when he bid the opponent's suit. It was really a very fine bid. He knew from the double that South should be ready for either major, and he himself had a marvelous fit for either, plus the ace of one and a complete blank in one minor. Even his diamond length figured to be of value, making it likely his partner was extremely short in the suit.

Then North, as soon as he heard that South's main suit was hearts, jumped all the way to game in it. If South had been drawing proper inferences from that bidding, he could have felt certain of slam, and could have probed for it by whatever means he preferred or else bid small slam at once.

It is easy to see that grand slam is in the cards if South plays West for the spade Q as he should in view of the fact that East's bid was pretty well shown up as a psychic nuisance bid. As it developed, South did not even have to guess the spade suit since West led the club A. When it was ruffed in the dummy, South had two good clubs to discard spades and so walked home with the unbid grand slam.

UN Statistics Department Provides Valuable Data

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., July 23 (CP).—The big Australian sheep rancher seeking a wool market in British Columbia can turn to the United Nations for the latest Canadian commercial statistics.

Through the UN Monthly Bulletin of Statistics, a Vancouver lumber king can learn the possibilities of sales in Melbourne.

Montreal-born Louis Shapiro and his staff at the world agency's headquarters here act as the statistical interpreters between wool and wool salesman.

Use of the tabulated information in the bulletin edited by the 29-year-old Shapiro is by no means confined to research departments of large manufacturing concerns. The publication goes also to some 5,000 government departments, international organizations and libraries the world over.

The fact that a newborn male in Siam can expect to live 37 years while his counterpart in New Zealand can expect to live 65 years, is useful to insurance experts and educationists as well as business men engaged in foreign trade.

The Bulletin, published by the UN statistical office also provides data on such subjects as population, employment, industrial production, raw materials, foods, trade, finance, wages and prices.

For instance the International Civil Aviation Organization in Montreal wants to know the per capita air miles travelled in different countries; the Food and Agriculture Organization wants per capita food consumption; the World Health Organization asks for birth and death rates; the UN Educational, Social and Cultural Organization wants literacy figures; the International Bank and Monetary Fund is interested in per capita national income.

Shapiro, a graduate of McGill University at Montreal, describes in an interview the difficulties of assembling information from around the world and interpreting it for international consumption.

Data arrives by cable and mail. It is arranged by a staff which includes Czechs, New Zealanders, Norwegians, Indians, Britons, Americans and Russians.

"And they work in amazing harmony," said Shapiro, past President of the UN Employees Association.

A member of Britain's staff on the Wartime Joint Production Board in Washington, Shapiro came here in 1946 at UN's request. He had planned a career in sociology but jumped at the UN job which offered a world of interest.

"Statistics are not dull," he said. "Figures tell the story of civilization."

Shapiro said one of the main problems on international statistis is to standardize terms us so the Burmese government officials can understand Norway's tables. To this end the UN has established a statistical commission to set up an international standard for gathering and comparing statistics.
